

STATUE IS UNVEILED IN SEWARD'S HONOR

BRONZE FIGURE REPRESENTING GREAT STATESMAN IS FORMALLY DEDICATED.

Seattle, Sept. 10.—A bronze statue of Secretary of War William H. Seward, the father of Alaska, who bought for a trifling sum the richest colonial possession of Russia, was unveiled today on the green lawn in front of the Seward mansion on Seward avenue at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. The mansion, copied after the Seward home in Auburn, N. Y., is New York's building at the fair and the fair was conceived to tell the world of the prodigious worth of Alaska in gold, coal and other minerals, timber, fish and fertile valleys.

Secretary Seward said that a generation would pass before his purchase was appreciated. His son delivered the oration at today's unveiling and his grandson was present. After music and prayer, Judge Thomas Burke of this city, introduced General William H. Seward of Auburn, N. Y., to pay a tribute to his father.

A little girl, Harriet May Baxter, grand daughter of former Governor McGraw of Washington, drew a card and unveiled the statue and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The statue of Seward had its origin in the desire of citizens of Seattle to show their appreciation of his far-seeing statesmanship of his contemporaries.

The sculptor is Richard E. Brooks of New York, whose studies of the subject were assisted by members of the Seward family with the result that an excellent figure of the statesman was obtained.

The statue, which is to stand permanently in the grounds of the University of Washington, was cast in Paris and exhibited in the Paris salon. The figure is nearly nine feet in height and rests upon a pedestal 10 feet high. On the pedestal are engraved Seward's memorable words: "Let Us Make the Treaty Tonight."

GIBBON IS ELECTED COMMANDER IN CHIEF

Tacoma, Sept. 10.—After voting to drop the word "United" from the official name, Spanish war veterans decided on Denver as the encampment city for 1910 and elected Colonel Edward J. Gibbon of Wakefield, Mass., commander in chief at the closing session of their sixth annual convention here today. Mrs. Ida M. Galloway of Washington, D. C., was named president general of the women's auxiliary and Napoleon White of Boston was elected leader of the military order of the organization.

New England delegates controlled the convention from the outset and checked efforts of Washington delegates to make G. A. R. veterans honorary members of the fraternity.

The senatorial contest in Mississippi has reached an interesting stage. Hon. A. J. McLaurin, the incumbent, and ex-Governor J. K. Vardaman are already avowed candidates, and it is now rumored that a third aspirant may enter the race for the top.

ROSEBERY ATTACKS BUDGET

FORMER PREMIER OF ENGLAND DENOUNCES THE BILL AND ITS AUCTORS.

Glasgow, Sept. 10.—Lord Rosebery today cut himself adrift from modern radicalism, as exemplified by the house of commons, and in a "straight talk" to the business men of the north vehemently denounced the budget and its authors.

The former premier's speech had been awaited eagerly by those opposed to the budget.

Lord Rosebery prefaced his remarks by saying that he intended to express his unamterred opinion, and characterized the budget as "a revolution, which put the future of Great Britain in the melting pot, and which, in the best interests of the nation, should not become law."

He declared that the first result of the budget would be an immediate increase in the ranks of the unemployed. If the Lloyd-George budget was the only alternative to tariff reform, Lord Rosebery declared many would cease to defend the doctrine of free trade. He said the government was dallying with socialism, which was the end of all things.

Lord Rosebery's address was discussed keenly in the house of commons, and the prevailing opinion in the lobbies seemed to be that the fate of the financial bill had been sealed there and that the house of lords would reject it.

EXPECTED TO SAIL WEDNESDAY

COMMANDER PEARY MAY LEAVE BATTLE HARBOR FOR NORTH SYDNEY SOON.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 10.—Commander Robert E. Peary is expected to sail from Battle Harbor, Labrador, where he put in last Wednesday, for North Sydney, C. B., tomorrow.

The Roosevelt was at Battle Harbor late today. Mariners acquainted with the Roosevelt do not look for her appearance at the Cape Breton port before next Monday or Tuesday. Unless it is necessary to put in at Blanc Sablon for a fresh coal supply Peary will probably not stop at any port until he reaches North Sydney.

The Peary-Cook controversy is of intense interest throughout Newfoundland. Today Captain Moses Bartlett of Brigus, who commanded Dr. Cook's schooner, the John R. Bradley, which was fitted out at Gloucester, Mass., in 1907, said:

"Dr. Cook is correct in stating that Peary took his provisions after the steamer Erik returned to Brigus in the fall. Three of my crew who belonged to Brigus told me that when Peary arrived at Etah that summer he took possession of all the stores I had left there the previous fall for Cook for his return from the north. Both the men say they helped to move the stuff from where I left it. The men are now on the Labrador coast. This supply consisted of two dry loads of stores, food and kerosene which our crew piled on the beach and placed the dories over, bottom up, making stones around and above them to make a cache.

A BUOYANT MARKET REMAINS OF CORBIN INTERRED

WALL STREET'S RESPONSE TO DEATH OF HARRIMAN IS ADVANCE IN PRICES.

New York, Sept. 10.—Wall street's response today to E. H. Harriman's death was a buoyantly strong stock market, in which securities made sudden gains and held them to the end. The volume of business was enormous, well over 1,500,000 shares, and to this vast amount the better known Harriman stocks—Union Pacific common and Southern Pacific—alone contributed over one-third, while other properties in which the late magnate was more remotely interested added as much more to the total.

The day resulted in a complete rout of the short interests. Even before the opening here it was evident from the tone of American securities in London that the strongest support was forthcoming, and initial prices in New York dispelled all doubt with advances in which all issues of the Harriman list were leaders.

The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific trading posts were the center of all attraction, and enormous buying of both stocks soon caused a hurried scramble to cover. There was a brief recession from opening prices, but before the end of the first hour an official announcement was made that the Kuhn, Loeb-City bank interests were acting in unison, and this gave the market another uplift to a level above the opening prices. By this time the bears were in a state of utter demoralization, and before long there was talk that private settlements had been made.

Many Rumors. While the Harriman stocks were soaring Wall street was teeming with rumors, some of which hinted at a contest for control of the Union Pacific. No one took these very seriously, but considerably more attention was paid to the persistent reports that Morgan & Co. were buying heavily of Union Pacific. None of these stories was either denied or confirmed.

The market's rapid pace was maintained to the end, and at the close the extent of the short covering was estimated all the way from 200,000 to 500,000 shares. There is little doubt, however, that no small part of the day's operations represented buying of an investment character. No official statement was issued by the Harriman officials relative to the future policy of those properties, but banking interests in touch with the situation announced Mr. Harriman's plans for constructing and development would go steadily forward.

To Meet Monday.

Meetings of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific directors will probably be held next Monday, and it is believed something more than the expressions of regret at the passing away of Mr. Harriman will then engage the board's attention. A noteworthy event of the day was a new high record for United States Steel common, which touched $3 3/8, an eighth above its best previous figure.

The more important gains follow: Union Pacific, 12 1/2; Southern Pacific, 7; St. Paul, 3 1/4; Reading, 5; New York Central, 3 1/2; Louisville & Nashville, Atchison, Missouri Pacific, United States Steel common, Western Union and International Pump, 3 or more, with numerous advances ranging from 1/2 to 2 points.

FAILS TO SECURE THE COVETED NUGGET

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 10.—That brass as well as brains are needed for success in the burglar's profession was forcibly brought home to one of these light-fingered gents a few nights ago. The unknown, for such he is as yet, finding it inexpedient to crack a safe of a bank, decided to pay a nocturnal visit to the blacksmith shop of August Menck. Perhaps he knew that a few days before August had added a large, glowing chunk of brass to his stock in trade, and figured that its removal by him would mean a good many millions in his jeans, and he shaped his actions accordingly.

The usual pale moon was actually casting its silvery light over the humble establishment as the unknown drew near. The rest may be left to the imagination, and in case imagination happens to be poor a parallel to the actions of the jimmy man may be found in almost any detective novel. At last the door swung open. The pale light of the moon fell on the glistening nuggets of brass in the corner of the shop, and all was over but the counting of the money.

But the bent figure of the unknown strained at the nugget with might and main. It seemed as though the thing had been nailed to the floor. Not well versed in specific gravity matters the jimmy man was non-plussed for a time; but soon remembered that brass was somewhat heavy. How to move it was a puzzle. But the evil doer of the night knew that all metals are amenable to the influence of the steel saw. There was no difficulty in finding one in the blacksmith shop. Soon the tool ate its way into the brass nugget. With a diligence and perseverance worthy of a better cause the jimmy man kept to the work. But time fled. Through the little grimy window above the door of the shop stole the light of day. All the results of the night's hard labor were confined to a cut in the chunk of brass less than five inches deep. Pevailing his lack of brain and the inertia of matter not governed by mind, the jimmy man slunk to his lodging. August still chuckles over the joke.

RETIRED LIEUTENANT GENERAL IS GIVEN APPROPRIATE MILITARY FUNERAL.

Washington, Sept. 10.—With military honors befitting his rank as lieutenant general of the army, the funeral of Henry C. Corbin, who died in New York last Wednesday was held here today.

All of the available military force in Washington acted as an escort to the body of the distinguished soldier on the long march from St. John's Episcopal church to Arlington cemetery.

As the hearse entered the gates of the cemetery 15 guns were fired. After a brief prayer three volleys of musketry and the customary sounding of taps, the body was deposited in its temporary resting place in a vault. Interment will be made upon the arrival of one of the general's daughters, Mrs. Esther M. Parsons, who is now hurrying home from Europe.

The services were conducted by the Rev. E. S. Dunlap, the assistant rector of St. John's, who was assisted by Chaplain W. W. Brander of the Fifteenth United States cavalry, and by the Rev. Dr. Balsom, the rector of the church at Ardley-On-The-Hudson.

The casket, draped with the flag and covered with wreaths of roses, orchids and lilies of the valley, was placed on a caisson at the entrance of the church, while the entire military escort stood at attention and the engineer band, forming the lead of the military escort rendered "Nearer My God to Thee." Standing behind the caisson was the general's favorite horse carrying saddle, trappings and led by Alexander Oglesby, who served with the general during the Civil war and who was his personal messenger at the war department for many years.

EXPORTS DECREASE THE REPORT SHOWS

Washington, Sept. 10.—According to a statement of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, issued today, there was a decrease of more than $10,000,000 in the value of exports of domestic breadstuffs, meal and dairy products, food animals, cotton and mineral oils this August over August a year ago, and a decrease of $94,000,000 for the regular eight months ending August 31 over the corresponding period of last year.

NOTES OF GOTHAM.

New York, Sept. 10.—Probably never before in the history of any city has so much money been lavished on a single civic celebration as will be expended by New York during the final days of this month in the combined observance of the three hundredth anniversary of Hendrick Hudson's discovery of the river that bears his name and the centennial of Fulton's invention of the steamboat. Five hundred thousand dollars is being raised by public subscription to pay the expenses of the Hudson-Fulton commission which has charge of the general arrangements. The Hudson monument which is being erected under the auspices of a committee of prominent men on Spuyten Duyvil hill at the point where the great explorer had his first encounter with the Indians will cost a hundred thousand dollars. The outlay for private decorations and appropriations made for various purposes will amount to a quarter of a million, and the official Hudson-Fulton dinner, which is to be given at the Waldorf-Astoria, will represent an expenditure of between fifty and sixty thousand dollars additional. Three thousand guests are expected to assemble at this dinner and five thousand dollars is being expended to prepare the decorations for the banquet room, including mural paintings by well-known artists especially done for the occasion. Altogether New York will spend over a million dollars on processions, decorations, illuminations and other plans for honoring the memory of two of the most famous men connected with her history. Apparently every imaginable contingency has been provided for except the matter of taking care of the vast throngs of spectators. This is causing some uneasiness, as it is estimated that between four and five million people will assemble to witness some of the spectacles—a crowd large enough to tax the resources of even the metropolis.

Now that it has been finally determined that Edward H. Harriman is not afflicted with any fatal ailment likely to cause his immediate demise, but that he will find it necessary to give up many of his business cares, the financial world is eagerly studying the man who has been selected as the personal representative of the railway emperor in directing his vast interests. This man, who in future

Beware of Imitations.

Cheap Substitutes and "Just As Good As."

Unscrupulous dealers, mindful only of profit and caring nothing for the health of their patrons, are offering for sale low-grade, impure concoctions, which they tell you is "good as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey." This is done to deceive the people. Of course, when a remedy has been before the public so long, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in all the prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessing of health into so many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. But they can imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus producing a liquid food, requiring no digestion, in the form of a medicinal whiskey, which is one of the most effective tonic stimulants and invigorators known to science; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

BWARE OF FRAUDS!
Any firm that will sell imitation or substitution goods will sell impure goods. The firm that is dishonest in one thing would not hesitate to be dishonest in another. Whenever you see imitation and substitution goods offered for sale by a firm, beware of anything and everything put up by that firm. You endanger your own life and the lives of your family and friends by dealing with them.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk. A fac-simile of the genuine bottle is printed here so that you may easily recognize it. It is our own patented bottle—round, amber colored and with the name "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Company" blown in the glass. The trademark—the Old Chemist's Head—is on the label, and over the cork there is an engraved paper seal. Be certain this seal is not broken.

It is the only whiskey recognized by doctors everywhere as a family medicine. At all druggists, grocers, dealers, or direct.
