CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

Just before noon yesterday, in the presence of an admiring audience, the big pile driver hammered home the very last of the piling that is to enter into the construction of the big bridge. It was driven in the up-stream hole for the foundations of pier No. 3, and as soon as it had struck bottom the big hammer was moved away and the construction of the forms for the concrete foundation was begun. The concrete mixer is in position and the construction of the pier will be started today or early tomorrow. While this interesting work was going on there were things doing on the south end of the bridge, and there was another big girder swung across during the day. Everything is in readiness to raise the companion piece of steel this forenoon, and the bridge is creeping this way at an encouraging rate. "If they don't look out," said one of the real mean critics of the bridge last night, "they will keep fooling around here until they get this bridge done. Then we won't have anything to talk about. But we'll try to find something else, and we don't want them to delay this work on our account."

According to the reservation visitors in town, the sale of town lots on the reservation plats, which Uncle Sam conducted last week, was a great success. There was lively bidding at both the Polson and the Dayton sales, but Polson was the better so far as cash receipts went. Joe Alford was in town yesterday and said that the competition was fast at Polson. For one of the cogger lots $1,000 was paid, and there were many that went for between that figure and $500. The total receipts from the Polson sale were in the neighborhood of $40,000. There were some of the buyers who sold immediately afterward for an advance of $50 or $100 over the prices they had paid the government. At Dayton the aggregate of the sales as reported here yesterday, was $10,000. A land agent at the showing which is made by Uncle Sam is a hummer.

Andrew Stinger was in from the reservation yesterday on a business trip. He says conditions are fine on the reservation. THEY GO AND COME Crops are good and there never were better cattle than there are on the reservation this fall. "We are having a lot of visitors this fall," said Mr. Stinger, "but they are not staying long. They drive up and drive back and that's all. They think they are seeing the reservation and some of them have an idea that they are selecting land. The procession has been moving a long time, but it has not ended yet; they are still coming."

Colonel Marshall, through John Deffenbach, has purchased the handsome country home of John Shryock, west of the city, in the orchard Homes district. The place is one of the most delightful in the beautiful region in which it is located, and Colonel Marshall announces that he is going there to live. He has lived so long in the Spruce street home that he will forget which way to go when he starts home after he gets moved. But he has one of the most desirable places in this part of the country, and it is just as true that he knows how to enjoy it as it is that he is entitled to the comfort which he will find there, and that, well, that's the surest thing you know.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sherett have as their guest this week Clinton Smith, a banker and stock grower of Russell, Iowa, who has just completed a tour of the national park and is now spending a short time with his old friends before he goes to the Seattle fair. Mr. Smith is much pleased with Missoula and with the country about it. Yesterday he had some interesting sessions with local breeders of fine cattle and hogs, and last night found him well content with this region; it seemed much like home to him.

There was a lively meeting of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce last night, at which a wide range of topics was discussed. The meeting was made interesting by the presence of T. T. Black of the state board of horticulture and State Inspector Dean. These gentlemen discussed with the members of the chamber of commerce the question of proceeding along vigorous lines to stamp out completely the last trace of the pear blight which has made its appearance in some of the orchards in this section. It was explained that the tree disease has traveled five miles in the Bitter Root this year and unless there are stern measures taken it will spread more rapidly next season. A resolution was offered and adopted that the chamber of commerce endorse the vigorous campaign which has been undertaken for the protection of western Montana orchards, and that its support be given to the state board in its present work. There was also considerable discussion of the apple show which, it was admitted, is going to be a big thing and worthy of the support of the entire business community.

GERMAN SINGERS END SESSION

FIRST ANNUAL MEETING OF SAENGERBUND CLOSURE WITH GRAND BALL.

After having spent the last three days in the Garden city, during which they were shown every courtesy possible by the local German-Americans and other residents of Missoula, the first annual saengerfest of the Montana State Saengerbund came to a close last night, after the orchestra had played the last strains of "Auf Wiedersehen" the dance which ended the ball in Elite hall, and today the delegates, their wives and sweethearts are leaving the city, leaving with the best possible impressions of Missoula and its citizens and surrounding country.

Yesterday opened with the second business meeting, which convened in the Elites hall at 9:30 in the morning. After the reports of the various committees, the selection of the meeting place for next year was in order. Helena and Butte were the candidates for this honor, and each was strong in its claims, but the people from the Capital city won out, after which the choice was made unanimous. Next the election of officers for the ensuing year was in order. The results of the election were as follows: President, Carl Weiss of Helena; vice president, Frank A. Long of Butte; secretary, Conrad Schimpf of Helena; treasurer, F. W. Herweg of Missoula; custodian, August Pfister of Butte; leader of the saengerbund, Arthur Seiler of Helena.

The committee on finances was appointed, to consist of John Commers of Helena, L. A. Schneider of Butte and William Elzner of Helena. The committee on constitution and by-laws is made up of Frank Kenck of Butte, Fred Schimpf of Helena and Fred Hensolt of Missoula. Arthur Seiler of Helena, J. K. Witzman of Missoula and Emilio Saverio of Butte comprise the committee on music. These committees will serve during the ensuing year.

The delegates expressed in the highest terms their appreciation of the efforts of the Missoula Maennerchor and the citizens of Missoula to make the meeting a success, and gave their heartfelt thanks to the press of Missoula for help in making the meeting so successful. It was decided to elect the delegates from each society belonging to the saengerbund in June of each year, so that ample preparation may be made for each saengerfest.

During the business meeting the visiting ladies were taken by their sisters of Missoula for a tour of the city in automobiles. They were delighted, and have become the strongest kind of boosters for the Garden city.

In the afternoon the delegates and their families and friends were taken to the ranch of Otto Quast, up the Battlemore, where a regulation German picnic was given. Refreshments were served and an impromptu program of sports pulled off, and everybody got generally busy and had a good time.

But the grand affair of the whole saengerbund was the ball given in Elite hall in the evening. Here several hundred of the visitors and their hosts were given the best kind of a time. The ball was handsomely decorated with streamers of red, black and white crepe paper, which covered the ceiling, and German and American flags covered the walls. The guests danced to the strains of an eight-piece orchestra led by J. K. Witzman, and made merry until late, after which everybody went home, tired but happy, and the first annual saengerfest was at an end. The floor company of the ball was composed of P. W. Herweg, Karl M. Andahl, F. W. Kuppel, Theodore Stumpf, George Scott, Nick Freund, Hugo Sontag, A. Koltsch, L. Streiberger, Carl Schindler and C. F. Ruebenack.

HELL IS NOT A LAKE OF FIRE

BREEDEN PREACHES INTERESTING SERMON ON MUCH-MOOTED QUESTION.

Before an intelligent audience that packed the church to the doors last night Dr. Breeden delivered a remarkable sermon at the Christian church on Christian teachings concerning hell. His first sentence was a question, "Can sin exist without misery?" Can sin exist apart from suffering? "Hell" is not a penalty arbitrarily inflicted by an angry God, but the legitimate and inevitable outcome of sin. Where is hell? It is where sin is, whether in this or another world. What is hell? It is the state, physical and psychical, to which sin unrepented of brings one. It is the careening of the moral ship past the center of gravity where the power to right itself is lost. It is the crystallization of character that comes as the result of persistence in sin up to and beyond the point where repentance is possible. A man can reach the point where he is held in the leash of his own desires—where he becomes a prisoner behind the barred doors of his own being.

"Forever 'round the mercy seat the guiding light of love will burn. But what is habit-bound thy feet shall lack the power to turn. What if thine eyes refuse to see, thine ears of heaven's free welcome fall. And thou a willing captive be thyself thine own dark jail?"

Such a one is in hell, whether he be in this or another world. Two men walk the streets together, their elbows touching. One is in heaven, the other in hell. Each is in the place to which his character assigns him."

The learned doctor took the position that all the descriptive applied to hell in the scriptures, such as "fire" and "bottomless pit" are figures of speech employed to suggest a reality that cannot be put into words; the anguish born of memory and conscience. Byron, who burned out his better nature by indulgence of sin, describes hell in these words:

"From zone to zone still more and more remote
Still, still pursues where'er I be
That blight of life, the demon thought."

The interest of the large audience was attested by the breathless attention with which they hung upon every word of the speaker.

Tonight Dr. Breeden will deliver the companion piece to this sermon, when he will preach on "What and Where is Heaven?"

Gradually but surely the interest in the meetings is deepening, and there is every ground on which to base the hope of a great religious awakening in the city. Plans are being perfected to make the coming Lord's day "an high day"—a day long to be remembered in Missoula. It is hoped that the Harmon theater will be packed from floor to ceiling to hear the great sermon on the divinity of Christ. Every doubter in the city is most cordially invited to be present to hear that sermon. In the meantime great and vital messages are being delivered nightly in the church.

Dr. Breeden has engagements for more than one year ahead to deliver the sermons, he is preaching in Missoula in the largest churches of the largest cities in the United States. Surely, Missoula ought to appreciate the rare opportunity that is hers to hear such a man. The time is short. Let none of it be wasted.

STATE WILL RECEIVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT OF FOREST RESERVE RECEIPTS SET ASIDE.

Senator Joseph M. Dixon has received a letter from W. L. Moore, acting secretary of agriculture, in regard to the agricultural appropriation act for 1909, which provides that 25 per cent of all money received from each forest reserve during any fiscal year, including the year ending June 30, 1908, shall be paid to the states or territories in which the forests are located for the benefit of the public schools and public roads. If a forest lies in more than one state the money shall be divided proportionally. The letter is in part as follows:

"Pending settlement by the secretary of the treasury and determination of the exact distributive share of the state of Montana, the following report from the records of the forest service shows the net receipts from the national forests in Montana during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1908, and ending June 30, 1909, and the approximate (but perhaps not the exact) amount due the state:

"Absaroka, $13,312.47; Beartooth, $4,720.48; Beaverhead (partly in another state and receipts prorated according to area), $14,518.59; Bitter Root, $27,792.33; Blackfoot, $23,528.77; Cabinet, $668.02; Custer, $12,561.31; Deer Lodge, $72,358.02; Flathead, $138.45; Gallatin, $10,258.21; Helena, $17,256.11; Jefferson, $14,962.89; Kootenai, $43,110; Lewis and Clark, $1,675.14; Lolo, $24,428.23; Madison, $14,714.81; Missoula, $53,688.70; Sioux (partly in another state and prorated according to area), $4,792.48; total, $312,790.26; 25 per centum, $78,173.67."
