PARADISE FOR DUCKS IS NOT AT ALBERTON

There was an atmosphere of wrath about the Quik Lunch restaurant yesterday, just because the proprietor W. T. Gifford, spent all of a cold Sunday at Alberton in search of ducks. Seven hundred and fifty-seven miles did Gifford walk and his luck was so poor that he didn't even hear a duck "quack". Now, the real reason of the reddish haze that enveloped the Quik Lunch yesterday lies not in the proprietor's hard luck—for every hunter takes that chance—but in the fact that the trip to the Puget Sound's new town was made on the strength of glowing pictures of the thousands of mallards to be found there, pointed Saturday by a number of Gifford's friends. Yesterday he knew that there wasn't a duck within 1,000 miles of Alberton and yesterday he found out that his friends knew this on Saturday.

EXTRA PERFORMANCE OF GREAT PLAY

"THE SHEPHERD KING" WILL BE GIVEN AT THE HARNOIS WEEK AFTER NEXT.

"The Shepherd King," pronounced by the New York Sun to be another "Ben Hur," if indeed not its superior, is to be produced at the Harnois theater two nights, Monday and Tuesday, October 4 and 5. Special matinee Tuesday.

W. A. Thompson, otherwise known as "Colonel Bill," the advance agent, arrived in the city today. Colonel Thompson is a well-known Montana figure, having been publicity manager for the fusion forces in what is known as the Clark-Heinz fusion campaign. Now, however, he has eschewed politics and has returned to his first love—the theatrical business. He said he noted many improvements in Missoula and was more than gratified at its substantial progress.

"But to revert to the show business," said he, "I would first explain the reason for a two-night stand in your city. Such an enormous production cannot be handled in one night. It is too large to be moved daily. The play has been on the road for eight years, but this is the first western visit. As if to show its popularity, I would call attention to the fact that it was produced 16 weeks in New York, 20 weeks in Boston, 20 weeks in Chicago and 12 in Baltimore, this latter being the record for the Orpheo city. It has never failed to draw crowded houses at each performance."

"The play is under the management of W. A. Brady and has Wright Lorimer for its star. Another feature is the fact that the same stage crew is with the production as at the start and Mr. Lorimer thinks as much of them as he does the actors. The scenic effects are so pronounced and the stage settings so important, that as much depends upon the stage crew as upon the actors."

"I have measured your local play house from cellar to rigging loft and I find it ample for the entire production. I hope that during the visit of the company every resident of the city will take advantage of the opportunity to see the production, which as the New York Sun says is another 'Ben Hur.' I would explain the two night stand feature. The production is one that grows upon its auditors and it is generally the case that those who witness the first production, invariably go again. And, as stated, the production is too great proportions to be yanked out for one night stands."

From Missoula the play will be taken to San Francisco for a six weeks' stand at the Van Ness theater. J. C. Williams of Australia, is now in New York conferring with Mr. Brady with the view of sending it to Australia.

BACK FROM THE EAST WITH GOODS

MANAGER COEN OF THE GOLDEN RULE STORE RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP.

J. C. Coen, manager of the Golden Rule store, has returned from an eastern purchasing trip of six weeks and is enthusiastic over the prospects of the fall and winter trade with the stock of goods which he has selected for his customers. Most of Mr. Coen's time was spent in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago and he found a class of goods that he believes will please Missoula people.

"I found the market rather firm," said Mr. Coen to a Missoulian friend yesterday. "It is not overstocked; most of the manufacturers have been very conservative in their provisions for the season's trade, but there are larger stocks than a year ago. All along the line the prices are stiffening; cotton goods are becoming more expensive and woolen goods are already higher than they were. But I caught the market at a favorable time and have made purchases that I am sure will please."

"My trip this time was especially hard as we are seeking new lines of goods—goods of better quality than we have ever handled before—and this required more careful attention and closer inspection than if I had been buying old lines. We have given special attention to the ready-to-wear goods for both men and women. In men's clothing we have secured the high-class Stein-Bloch and the Fiedler-Elkner lines, which are standard everywhere; we will have something better than ever to offer our men customers."

"In the women's department we will have a fall and winter stock that will surpass in quality anything we have ever shown here. Our new millinery department you already know about; in this we shall have something that will specially interest the ladies. The ready-to-wear suits for women that we have this fall are the best that could be bought, I find. They are surely fine and you may depend upon it that they are right up to the minute."

"We are planning our formal fall opening. It will be, I think, an event of more than passing interest in the local mercantile world. The exact date will be announced soon; we cannot tell just when we shall be ready but the opening will be held as soon as the stock is in shape and other preparations are made. It will mark our offer of the highest class of wearables."

"In all my journey I encountered evidences that Missoula is one of the best known of western cities. Wherever I went there was talk of Montana in general and of Missoula in particular. We are getting some excellent advertising and I was glad of the many opportunities that presented themselves for putting in a good word for my home town. I had to answer a lot of questions; as soon as people knew where I came from, they wanted to know about the city, the Bitter Root and the reservation. It was thoroughly enjoyable. I think I talked Missoula as much as I did clothing and dry goods. And it was always to appreciative audiences."

SALOON MEN MOVE FROM LOLO

LIQUOR DEALERS ARE REMOVING ESTABLISHMENTS FROM RAILROAD LINE.

The saloon question in the Lolo is no longer a question is asserted by the county commissioners, who have received reports to the effect that almost all of them who started in the liquor business in that territory are either moved or moving. As will be remembered, the chief engineer of the Clearwater Short Line, a new railroad being built up the valley as an adjunct to the Northern Pacific, objected to the maintenance of saloons near the construction camps and the county officials ordered them withdrawn. "The saloon men are moving out or have already left and soon there will not be a sign of the liquor business left up there," said a member of the board of commissioners yesterday.

Yesterday County Surveyor Donner reported to the commissioners the names of 33 property owners in the Orchard Homes district whose fences encroached on the public roads. To these notices ordering the removal of the fences will be sent. The contract for the county's printing for the next two years was signed yesterday, after amendment to conform with the bid of Hassler Bros., to whom it was awarded. The successful bidder's bond was also approved, the following being its sureties: W. H. Houston, George Freishelmer, Alphonse LaCasse and Fred Johnson.

Boyle Woodfolk's song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway," is rounding out into a musical production that will take front rank among similar organizations this coming season. Boyle Woodfolk, under whose direction the piece is being produced, is showing himself to be a master producer. Max Bloom, leading comedian with the production, was seen last season with Richard Carle's production of "The Mayor of Tokio." Carolyn Ryan, Marie Montrose, Al Harrison, J. B. Coughlin, Don Clark, Mart Franklin, Alice Sher, the dancing pippins, and American beauty chorus all assist in the show which will appear at the Harnois theater Wednesday, September 22.

Gorton's Minstrels.

Among the performers with Gorton's minstrels are Fog and Alger, the "Musical Kings." Both are expert soloists and instrumentalists, and they have attained a degree of proficiency and skill. In their rendition of difficult music they are said to be especially clever, displaying an ease and brilliancy of execution which is remarkable. Their performance also provides an abundance of genuine comedy without the least suggestion of anything that could be classed as offensive. They will appear with Gorton's minstrels at the Harnois theater on Friday evening.
