DUNIWAY DISCUSSES "CIVICS"

URGES TEACHERS TO TRAIN PUPILS WELL IN MATTERS OF GOVERNMENT.

"I, myself, will state that I hope to see women vote, and that I know of no better way of your getting the right than to train the pupils under your care into such a thorough knowledge of politics that gradually your understanding of the subject will be appreciated and you will be given the ballot."

With these words, President Duniway of the state university expressed his views on the question in a speech yesterday before the teachers' institute. Dr. Duniway's talk was on "Civics" and his arguments for a more thorough course and a better method of teaching this subject were the strongest which this institute has heard.

"In your control over the children, you teachers possess a mighty power and it behooves you to use it rightly. Educate the child into the working of the government and train him so faithfully in the selection of candidates, that when he comes to vote he may be free from the evils of the party machine. In you the country has a wonderful chance, and if your powers are used rightly good results cannot fail but come."

The Second Day. Bigger crowds, better spirit and more enthusiasm offset the more disagreeable weather which threatened the second day of the teachers' institute, and the second session was in every way as good, if not better, than the first. The success of Monday's exercises was shown by the size of the crowd which thronged the hall at the opening of the morning session, and which listened to the long list of speakers throughout the day.

The morning session was started with a piano solo by Miss Helen Orvis. W. A. Sparks, a Missoula county teacher, gave an excellent reading from Shakespeare. Rev. J. N. Maclean pronounced the invocation and Miss Nora Smithley, county superintendent of the Ravalli county schools, who was acting as chairman for the day, introduced Dr. G. P. Reynolds, the new instructor of English at the university, who talked on the public school teaching of his favorite subject. He devoted most of his time to the discussion of what he termed the three "imps" which are encountered in teaching English. These are: Vulgarisms, misapplications of English and a dislike of the subject.

On these three points and on the methods of eliminating them, Dr. Reynolds spent his time, giving the teachers a lot of good advice and bringing out a lot of new points in regard to the study of the subject. Dr. Sarah E. Sprague gave another of her helpful talks, the subject this time being "Discipline." Her talk was brimming with helpful hints to the teachers on school management, every one of the little, unimportant things which bring a teacher discomfort being taken up and discussed and the method of prevention being given.

The announcement that Dr. Bell would speak again drew many people to the hall and they were not disappointed in what they heard. Dr. Bell merely continued along the line of argument which he followed Monday. Having shown that it is the duty of all to "grow," and that continual increase with the naster minds of the ages is the burning wish of the subject of literature. "There are five books," he said, "which stand out ahead of all others, and which should be known intimately by all. They are the five 'Bibles' of the creed that I have been preaching to you. The Bible, of course, comes first; in this book is found the ideal poetry, the ideal idyll, the ideal story, every form of literature which ranks highest. Then comes the 'Iliad' and the 'Odyssey' of Homer. Then the 'Divine Comedy' of Dante, then Goethe's 'Faust' and then the 37 plays of Shakespeare. These books," argued the speaker, "should be known by every one. When these have become familiar to the other great masters of the world should be taken up. They are few, but they are important."

The necessity of the assimilation of these works was the main thread of Dr. Bell's discourse and on it was based the whole of his argument. Following Dr. Bell, President Duniway spoke on the subject of "Civics," bringing in some useful hints as to the proper teaching of the subject during his talk and urging the teachers to train their pupils to vote freely and with judgment.

The afternoon session was merely a

To the woman away from home, a cake of Ivory Soap is a veritable boon.

With it, she can wash gloves, handkerchiefs, belts, underwaists, and the pretty shirt-waists in which most women look their best.

More than that; she is independent of laundress and cleaner—to the benefit of her pocket-book and the longer life of the things she wears.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

continuation of the morning session. Miss Alice Hardenburg and Miss Thula Toole furnished the music. Dr. Sprague continued her talk on the "Management of the School," and Dr. Bell further advanced his arguments regarding "Culture and Its Necessity." Dr. W. E. Book of the state university spoke on "School Management."

Evening Lecture. In the evening Dr. Bell lectured to a large audience at the Methodist church on "Robert Browning." Browning is ranked by Dr. Bell as the greatest English poet, standing above all, save Shakespeare. The lecture was an entertaining analysis of the style and work of the great poet, the wonderful message which he brings and the beauty of his expression. Dr. Bell quoted repeatedly from him and showed his thorough knowledge of the great poet by his treatment of his work. Music was furnished for the evening by Miss Irene Cox, who sang a vocal solo. Miss Irene Cox's solo was one of the most pleasant features of the evening. Miss Mabel R. Smith gave an unusually entertaining reading of "The Man Without a Country" and won deserved applause from the audience.

The house was packed to overflowing. Mrs. Marshall presided.

Today's Program. The morning program, beginning at 9 o'clock, will be as follows: Music, Miss Alice Hardenburg; Music, Miss Alice Hardenburg; Invocation, Rev. J. W. Tait; "State Course of Study," Dr. W. E. Book.

In the afternoon the following speakers will appear: Music, H. S. Saxton; Invocation, Rev. Dwight S. Bayley; "Nature Study," Dr. Sarah E. Sprague; "Geography of Montana," Dr. J. P. Royce; "Forestry," Dr. J. E. Kirkwood.

At 11:30 a. m. all of the teachers are invited to attend a special convocation at the state university.

King's Daughters' Tea. The tea given by the King's Daughters at the home of Mrs. Fred McDonald, on South Sixth street, yesterday afternoon was a pleasant occasion. Asters, dahlias, sweet peas and roses were used in decorating the house in a most effective manner. The dining room was unusually lovely, with a profusion of pink roses, and a dainty luncheon was served throughout the afternoon. A large number of guests

S. R. Inch and Jay Allison of Phillipsburg, piano solos by Mrs. Blanche Whitaker, who responded to an encore; Hermon Allison of Phillipsburg, and Fred H. Madison; a violin solo by Miss Hope Whitaker was also well received. Mrs. Theresa Bandmann and Ray Dinsmore gave a reading from "The Taming of the Shrew." The musical program was much appreciated by the many teachers who were present.

FAILS TO SCHEDULE THE FOOTBALL GAME

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Associated Students yesterday afternoon, Manager Stoddard announced that his attempts to schedule a football game with the Montana Wesleyan college of Helena had not been successful. As a result there will be no football game on Montana from this week. At its meeting last night the committee did not feel disposed to put up a big enough guarantee to bring the Fort Shaw Indians to Missoula for a game early in the season. This decision was reached in view of the fact that the games with Fort Shaw in previous years have always been heavy losing propositions. The university team is practicing faithfully every afternoon under the direction of Coach White. Practice games with the scrubs will start soon. There is an optimistic feeling among the students that the varsity team will make a strong bid for the state championship this year.
