COUNTERFEIT MONEY LOOKS GOOD TO BANK

"The counterfeit $5 gold pieces made by the Lee gang in its coin factory, near Trout Creek, are artistic," said a man from Sandpoint yesterday. "Fred Tissue, special agent of the Northern Pacific, and deputy sheriff in Sanders county, took a handful of them to a bank in Sandpoint and tossed them over the counter to the teller. 'Give me bills for this lot, will you, please?' he said, and the bank clerk promptly accepted every one and gave back real money. 'It's bad money,' said Tissue, and all the teller could answer was, 'Well, it looked good to me.'"

GOES AFTER COUNTERFEITERS.

Helena, Sept. 23.—The alleged gang of counterfeiters arrested at Trout Creek, in western Montana, this week by secret service operatives will be brought to Helena to await the action of the grand jury. Deputy Marshal J. H. Haigler left this afternoon to take them into custody. Three of the alleged gang are held at Trout Creek and a fourth is held at Sandpoint, Idaho. The latter also will be brought here.

"HOME IS DIVINE" SAYS BREEDEN

ELOQUENT EVANGELIST SPEAKS ON INTERESTING SUBJECT—TONIGHT'S TOPIC.

Before an audience that packed the house Dr. Breeden delivered a most impressive sermon at the Christian church last night on "The Christian Home." Taking for his text the words, "He led them out as far as Bethany," he spoke in part as follows:

"No one can read the gospels without being impressed with the sacred significance which Christ attaches to the home. The main essentials of His teachings are framed in the language of the home. He honored the home by remaining in it for 30 years, working His first miracle in it, and by choosing a spot close to the place that was home to Him on all His visits to Jerusalem to take His final leave of His beloved disciples. The home is of divine origin. The true unit of society is the home, which in its ideal perfection embraces husband, wife, father, mother, children. It is a fundamental institution from which all other institutions derive their meaning and direction. It is state and church in miniature. It is based on marriage born of love. Where love is not true marriage is not, and where marriage is not home cannot be. Marriage is neither a mere civil contract nor a sacrament, but a divine ordinance. It is not the relation of two persons to each other, but this and their relation to the sacred institution, the home.

The Highest Office.

"The highest office of the home is to fashion human character, to shape human life. The scriptures say that 'He that provideth not for his own hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel.' This obligation is not discharged when the physical and intellectual wants alone are met; but when food and drink and dress have been provided for the soul. George Stuart, the noted evangelist, says: 'You may build your palaces and adorn the walls with finest works of art and richest tapestries; you may buy the most expensive furnishings; but when you sit in such a home at dead of night awaiting the return of the staggering feet of a wayward son or a wanton daughter there is no power in them to drive out the gloom that fills your heart.' No matter what else it may possess if the home lack the evidences of Christianity, the family Bible and the family altar, it lacks the most vital thing to the home. 'What have they seen in thy house?' asked Isaiah of Hezekiah. What do visitors in your houses see? Do they see the old family Bible or a deck of cards on the table? At an evening would they see the family altar that did so much to make the home of the past, or devotion to the pages of the sacred novel?"

"Father."

"Beware what content you, by your character and conduct, put into the word 'father.' If your boy is ever to have a religious life he will pray, 'Our Father Who art in heaven.' What kind of a God will he worship if he gets his idea of Him from his own father who is a living travesty on manhood and fatherhood?"

A most impressive incident of the sermon was the singing by the choir, at the mention of the name of John Howard Payne, of his immortal song, "Home, Sweet Home."

A most pleasing feature of the service, as it is of every service, was the solo of Mr. Saxton.

Tonight's Sermon.

The subject of the sermon tonight will be "What Shall I Do With Jesus?" This will be the subject of the solo as well as of the sermon. There will be a service on Saturday night also, at which time Dr. Breeden will deliver his famous sermon on the subject, "Don't Worry."

The interest in these meetings is deepening and spreading from night to night. The stay of Dr. Breeden in the city is necessarily limited. He has no sectarian message to deliver nor any such work to do. He and his message and his work belong to the community. The whole community should show its appreciation of the man and the message he brings.

POPULAR PLAYHOUSE PRESENTS GOOD BILL

The Grand theater presented its new bill last night to a crowd which filled the house from start to finish. The program was good and it pleased the audience.

Hattie Wade Mack heads the bill with an Irish song and comedy act. As an old Irish woman Hattie is there and she made a decided hit last night.

Leonard Kane, "The Dancer in the Golden Frame," gave a very creditable performance and won well-deserved applause.

Miss Lucille Barrymore gave the closing act of the program.

Miss Maxwell sang the illustrated song, and the moving pictures were, as usual, of a high order.

HOWELL IS ARRESTED FOR GRAND LARCENY

A man who gave his name as Archie Howell was arrested yesterday afternoon and placed in jail with a charge of grand larceny to face in court today. It is alleged by the complaining witness, an old man named J. W. Vaughn, that the two had been sleeping together in a lodging house on the island, and Vaughn missed his pocket-book. A short time later a number of Vaughn's friends noticed that Howell seemed to be spending money rather freely, and reported the fact to Vaughn, who had the man arrested. When searched at the jail the sum of $17.50 was found on the prisoner, which is supposed to be the balance of the $20 stolen.

PECULIAR ROBBERY IS REPORTED

JOHN THOMPSON, AN OLD MAN, ALLEGES THAT HE WAS KNOCKED IN THE HEAD.

A rather peculiar robbery was reported to the authorities in this city yesterday about noon, and as a result a young man who gives his name as Orin Hanson is under arrest at the county jail. According to the story told the officers by John Thompson, who is an old man, he had gone to the Hanson ranch, about 12 miles west of the city, on the road to Evaro, and hired out as a farm hand. Yesterday at 11 o'clock he was attending to his work, and in his coat had $207.60. He alleges that Hanson came to him and told him that he had received word from the sheriff to look out for a man with a beard. As Thompson answered the description Hanson told him to get his coat and leave. He got on his coat and was just about to start from the place when he was struck on the back of the ear by some kind of a blunt instrument in the hands of Hanson, who then reached in his pocket and helped himself to the money. After helping himself to the money, Hanson's son told his victim to "clear out." Thompson came to the city and reported his loss and Sheriff Graham got a warrant and brought Hanson to the city.
