

SWEDISH LUTHERANS OPEN SESSION

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE OF MONTANA MEETS FOR THREE DAYS IN MISSOULA.

The district conference of the Swedish Lutheran church of Montana convened in this city last evening and will continue today and Sunday. This is the regular quarterly conference of the church, and is attended by practically all the pastors of the Montana district. The first session was held at the Swedish Lutheran church, and opened with divine service. The first speaker, Rev. C. W. Vestil of Anaconda, had for his subject "The Word of God is Firm and Worthy to Be Accepted in Every Way." He spoke in part as follows:

"This life, in its very best, cannot give peace to the soul of man—neither does the law of God grant to man peace to his soul. But the Redeemer, Jesus Christ, alone gives forgiveness of sins and the true peace to the soul. And where the word of God is accepted in its fullness and simplicity by the obedient soul the true light and love of God will be kindled in the believer's heart. This love will be felt not only in the individual but also in the community and society at large, and be a blessing to all."

The second speaker was Rev. C. T. Carlson of Great Falls, who chose for his subject "The False and the True Prophecy—a Warning Against False Prophecy." A vocal duet was sung by Misses Amanda Johnson and Hedstedt, the title of their song being "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." There was other music and the large congregation was appreciative.

The altar services were conducted by Rev. A. P. Fair of Helena. The president of the synod, Rev. J. W. Nyall of Butte, was prevented by pastoral duties at home from being present at the interesting services last night, but he will arrive for today's meetings and will preside during the remainder of the sessions. It is expected that he will deliver the principal sermon Sunday evening. His theme is to be announced.

Today's services will consist of a business meeting at the synod at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and an evening devotional service at 7:30 tonight. All Scandinavians are urged to attend the evening service.

Sunday's services will be interesting and will attract general attention amongst the Scandinavians. The morning service will include communion, and will begin at 10:30 o'clock. The original announcement assigned Rev. C. W. Vestil of Anaconda for the preparatory sermon and Rev. C. T. Carlson of Great Falls for the sermon on the text of the day, but there may be a change from this arrangement on account of the fact that Mr. Nyall did not reach here last night, and these gentlemen took the opening service of the conference.

Sunday is the 16th Sunday after Trinity, and the text for the day is John 5:19-21. A strong sermon is expected, possibly by the president. There will be Sunday school at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when short addresses will be made by the visiting clergymen. The evening service will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the sermons will be by Rev. P. A. Fair of Helena and Rev. J. W. Nyall of Butte, the president.

At all of the services of the conference there will be special music, and a cordial invitation is extended to all Scandinavians to be present at as many of the meetings as possible. Rev. M. Anderson of the local church is assisted by his parishioners in the endeavor to properly entertain the visitors, and it is hoped that there will be large audiences at all of the meetings.

RAILROAD CONTRACT GOES TO ELLISON

An announcement made yesterday was to the effect that J. H. Ellison of this city had been awarded a contract for double-track work on the Kalispell division of the Great Northern. The contract is a large one, and the assembling of men and equipment is now going on. Mr. Ellison is as well known among railway construction men as he is in Missoula. He was with Winston Bros. during the construction of the western extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

MINING COMPANY FILES FINANCIAL STATEMENT

In the office of County Clerk Kuphal has been filed the annual report of the financial condition of the French Bar Gold Mining & Milling company. The report shows a gratifying state and reflects credit upon the men in charge of the company's interests. That the incorporators are protecting the interests of the company's stockholders is shown by the amount of treasury stock retained, and that the stockholders are remaining loyal to the incorporators is shown by the fact, as reported by the men in charge of the company's affairs, that holders of stock have refused to sell on receiving good offers. The assets of the company are listed as follows in the report: Treasury stock, $818,000; office fixtures and supplies, $434.79; mining property, $673,000; cash in treasury, and in course of collection, $8,565.21. The authorized capitalization is given as $1,500,000, while, outside of this, there are no liabilities.

BODY OF GENERAL BURIED AT ARLINGTON

Washington, Sept. 24.—Almost side by side with the bodies of General Lawton and Wirt, the body of the late Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin was buried in Arlington National cemetery today in the presence of the members of the distinguished officer's family and his close personal friends. The body of General Corbin has reposed in the receiving vault of the cemetery since September 10. The brief religious service at the grave were conducted by the Rev. W. W. Brandin, chaplain of the Fifteenth cavalry, stationed at Fort Myer, Va.

IN THE THEATERS

Tonight marks the start of the Isis popularity contest, the winner of which is to receive a handsome and valuable diamond ring at the end of the time allotted for the contest. A great deal of interest has already been evidenced in the novel scheme, and it is anticipated that there will be a lot of enthusiastic and friendly competition among the 10 contestants for the ring. The plans for the conducting of the contest are such as to insure fairness toward every participant and assure them all an equal chance to win the prize. The pictures, illustrated song and the talking pictures shown last evening were of the Isis standard and of engaging theme.

The Bijou Theater.
Tonight the Bijou will put on a masterpiece film of the famous Pathe brothers of Paris, entitled "The Tower of Nestle." This film was enacted by a select company from the Theater Grande of Paris, France, and is an especially fine subject. The picture will be exhibited this evening only at the Bijou and then goes on to Spokane. The baby contest continues to increase in popularity, and tonight the results of the count will be given, showing the standing of the 10 babies receiving the most votes. The other pictures and the illustrated song are very pleasing.

NEW YORK WILL PAY HOMAGE TO EXPLORER

German schools made by J. P. Morgan and other connoisseurs have been assembled and are now open to public view in the galleries of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The parades of street floats down Fifth avenue and through the court of honor, past the reviewing stands, have been planned two years in advance and worked out by a great staff of artists, sculptors, costumers and designers, night and day, in a specially designed factory. Captain A. H. Stoddard, master of the Mardi Gras parades that made New Orleans the carnival city of the world, has been brought to New York and placed in full charge of his specialty.

Aviation.

But impressive as the naval parades will be, and colorful as will be the pageants, there is no question but that the greatest popular interest attaches to the airship flights that will be made from Governor's island some time during the first week of the celebration. Just what the performance will be must depend on the conditions of the atmosphere and the willingness of the aviators, but the program calls for a flight from Governor's island up the North River, across Manhattan island in the neighborhood of Spuyten Duyvil and down the East River, under or over the four great bridges that now span it, back to the starting point. Nothing so daring before has ever been attempted, but both Wilbur Wright and Glenn H. Curtiss, his most formidable American competitor, have signed contracts to attempt at least as much of it as their judgment will warrant.

Illuminations.

Busy as will be the days, the nights will be perhaps even more beautiful. For a week during the Hudson-Pulton celebration the city of New York in all its boroughs will be the most brilliantly illuminated in the world. The decorative uses of electricity were first realized on a scale worthy of their possibilities at the World's fair, in Chicago, in 1893, and from that time on every succeeding exhibition has been more lavish in its appropriation for lighting, until this year it is estimated conservatively that, in addition to the regular lighting of the city and exclusive of the contracts placed by private firms for advertising display, there will burst into blaze, on the night of September 25, 25,250,000 candle power.

This great aggregate is apportioned, as nearly as can be determined, between the four boroughs as follows: 1,500,000 incandescent globes, 7,000 arc lights, 3,000 flaming arcs and two batteries of searchlights—total of four lights, aggregating 400,000 candle power, and the other of 12 lights, aggregating 1,700,000 candle power. The smaller battery will play continuously from all sides on the white marble of Grant's tomb, high above the river on the Manhattan shore of the Hudson, and the great battery of 1,700,000 candle power will light up the river itself in both directions from the Flatiron building, the Times building and all the better known and more conspicuous municipal buildings, will be made the objects of special display. Hidden searchlights will play on the white marble until they will stand out against the night glowing the luminous as if from within, through transparent walls.

The four steel spans across the East river between New York and Brooklyn—the Queensborough, the Williamsburg, the uncompleted Manhattan and the Brooklyn bridges—will all be outlined from end to end. The route of the parades will be bordered on both curbs with festoons of incandescent globes, and the Washington arch and the reviewing stands will punctuate the long lines with a contrasting arrangement of colored floral designs. In the huge bronze urn topping the marble shaft of the Martyr's monument at Fort Greene, in Brooklyn, designed by Stanford White, will burn a continuous fire of faggots, as was the original intent of the architect, never before realized.

And on the closing night of the celebration, beacon fires will flame from every headland all the length of the path that Henry Hudson traveled from Manhattan island to Albany 300 years ago.

Educational emphasis will be laid on all the more spectacular features of the celebration by arranging that wherever possible the 1,000,000 school children of Greater New York shall have a part in them, and it has been the design of the promoters throughout to arrange their displays in such wise that they may be seen by the largest number of persons.

Great care has been taken to see to the comfort and safety of out-of-town visitors. The city will be cleaned of old offenders; out-of-town crooks will be looked for with an especially sharp eye, not only by local detectives, but by details sent here from other cities; field hospitals and ambulance stations have been placed where they can be most promptly of service in calls of emergency, and, finally, the information bureau of the commission, in its offices at the Tribune building, will give out a list of reputable hotels and boarding houses which are not so likely to be overcrowded as those better known.

The Program.

On Friday, October 1, will be a junction of the up-state and New York City divisions of the celebration, when the lesser of the ships of war will escort the Clermont and the Half Moon to Newburgh, where they will be turned over to the authorities from Albany. During the following week, beginning October 3, there will be dedicatory, historic and spectacular exercises at various points between New York and Cohoes.

A synopsis of the program follows: Saturday, September 25—Naval rendezvous, naval parade, official reception of Half Moon and Clermont, evening naval parade, illuminations.

Sunday, September 26—Religious observances.

Monday, September 27—Beginning of airship flights, opening of auxiliary exhibits, dedicatory and musical exercises, official reception to foreign delegates.

Tuesday, September 28—Historical pageant and parade of 50 street floats.

Wednesday, September 29—Commemorative and educational exercises, aquatic sports.

Thursday, September 30—Military parade, aquatic sports.

Friday, October 1—Naval parade to Newburgh.

Saturday, October 2—Children's festivals, farrowed to the Clermont and Half Moon, which go up stream and do not return.

Monday, October 4—Beginning of up-state celebration.
