CONSULTS DICKINSON ABOUT MATTER

GENERAL GRANT HAS CONFERENCE WITH SECRETARY OF WAR ABOUT CRITICISM.

Washington, Sept. 29.—General Frederick D. Grant, commanding the Department of the Lakes, and Secretary Dickinson discussed informally at the war department this afternoon the criticism which has been directed at the former because he appeared in the uniform of his rank at the head of a so-called temperance parade in Chicago last Saturday.
Just what passed between the two men was not disclosed. Mr. Dickinson said he had mentioned the subject to General Grant when he called at the department en route to Chicago from the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. In the presence of the latter which W. R. Michaels of the executive board of the United Societies for Local Self-Government has mailed to the secretary criticizing General Grant, the matter could not be treated officially, and it is believed the secretary's reference was jocular.
Earlier in the day General Grant justified his action in appearing in the parade on the ground that it was a demonstration in favor of good government, and was not a temperance parade. Inasmuch as no orders were issued to General Grant to march in the parade, Secretary Dickinson holds that the former's presence therein cannot be regarded as an official act or as giving the government's stamp of approval to the object of the demonstration.

Total Abstinence.

While General Grant is a total abstainer, he is an ardent advocate of the canteen at army posts. He set forth officially his attitude toward the liquor question in his annual report to the department in 1903, when he was in command of the Department of Texas, as follows:
"In every age the spirit of true soldiery has engendered true comradeship, and in no realm of society, in no walk of life has the radical reformer succeeded in changing the natural disposition of men to the extent of eliminating this sentiment. While passions may be held in bound, nature cannot be wholly reversed or changed by stringent laws and rules, and the sooner rules are made looking to moderation instead of abstinence and better the morale of individual department in the United States.
"To this end, no argument can be too earnest for the re-establishment of the canteen. Aside from other recreation features of garrison life, the canteen, which is the enlisted soldier's club room, is a protected circle into which no vice or degradation can intrude. To close the doors of the soldier's garrison club and send him out into the hands of iniquity and vice run by moral virtues, who degraded themselves, set up no standard of morality, but breaking down all barriers of restraint, invite and induce soldiers to join in all sorts of depravity and infamy, is a wrong to the soldier as well as a wrong to the community in which the soldier is located."

New York, Sept. 29.—James J. Jeffries is negotiating to give Johnson much time for thought. He will start after the negro as soon as he arrives in New York. Jeffries is expected home in about two weeks and, after a few days in this city, will start for Chicago, where he expects to meet Johnson. The latter will come east a day following his fight with Ketchel and Jeffries will meet him half way. As soon as he has signed the final papers, Jeffries will devote his time to getting into condition for the fight, which will probably take place in February.

MILITIA MANEUVERS ATTACKED

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—The sufferings of the national guardsmen who took part in the recent "battle" maneuvers in Massachusetts, resulted today in an attack on the entire system of militia maneuvers. The criticism was made at the concluding session of the convention of the National Guard association of the United States. The matter was brought up by General C. B. Daugherty of the national guard of Pennsylvania. General Daugherty presented a resolution asking that the joint maneuvers be abandoned.
General Chase of Colorado, said that it had been reported that some of the militiamen engaged in the Boston maneuvers were called out of their beds at midnight and kept on the march until 3 o'clock of the next day and that they did not get within eight miles of the enemy.
"We want military instruction for the militiamen, not military spectacles that will make reading matter for the newspapers and give the magazine writers a chance to criticize," he said.
Later the resolution was withdrawn without having been put to a vote. Just before the final adjournment of the convention, Lieutenant General Adna R. Chaffee, retired, said that the military hope of the country lies in conscription. General Chaffee urged that each congressional district in the union be responsible for a certain number of recruits to the army establishment and that the number be large enough that 50,000 could be recruited every year. At the end of 10 years the United States would have a reserve army of 500,000 trained men.
General Chaffee belittled the possible use of the aeroplane in warfare and also said that the transportation of troops by automobile would not do.
"I do not take any stock in these late inventions," he said, "as war utilities. The next time we go to war, you will go with a pack on your back, just as you did before, gentlemen," he said.
The military balloon sent up at Chutes park today reached an altitude of 2,500 feet. The balloon remained in the air two hours and landed 20 miles from the city without mishap.

DARLING TO INSPECT CUT-OFF

NORTHERN PACIFIC'S CHIEF ENGINEER TO RIDE HORSEBACK OVER LINE.

Chief Engineer W. L. Darling of the Northern Pacific arrived here yesterday and will start today for the Lolo country on a tour of inspection. Division Engineer Day will accompany his chief over the divide. Mr. Darling has not been in Missoula since the contract was awarded and has not as yet made a thorough personal inspection of the Missoula cut-off. The camps along the right-of-way have been finished and are ready for occupancy and everything is in readiness for active operation just as soon as the winter is over. Already a foot of snow has fallen along the road and construction is out of the question until spring. A few teams and scrapers are working at the foot of the mountains but otherwise nothing has been done as yet. Mr. Darling and his party will ride as far as is possible by automobile and will then go by horseback as far as the snow permits. The trip is a significant one. There has been a lot of unconfirmed rumors afloat during the past few months to the effect that the Northern Pacific is planning to change its route over the mountains and Mr. Darling's trip is probably being made for the purpose of looking over the situation. The party will start tomorrow morning and will be out on the road, it is expected, for a week or more.

WILL PLAY TONIGHT TO SETTLE CONTEST

Carl Shuffelt and Samuel Samuels will play the last game of the tournament being held at the Missoula billiard parlors tonight to decide which is the winner of first money and which is entitled to the second prize. At the end of the games last night these two men were still tied for first place, and the management of the parlors found it necessary to have another game tonight to settle the contest. Tonight's game promises to be one of the closest and most interesting of the tournament.

C. A. Wheeler won third prize last night by defeating Robert Manning in a closely contested game.

YOUNG ROUMANIAN SHOT.

Vasel Eochob, a Roumanian, aged 19 years, was brought from Superior late last night on a Pugs Sound special and taken to St. Patrick's hospital. He was accidentally shot in the abdomen when he attempted to put a revolver in his pocket. His wounds will not necessarily prove fatal.

NO VERDICT YET.

At nearly 3 o'clock this morning the jury in the case of the state against O. S. Johnson, charged with having looted a Northern Pacific boxcar, some time ago, was still out, with no signs of being prepared to render a verdict.

AUTOMATIC SWITCH A GOOD ONE

CALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY EXHIBITS ITS PATENT DEVICE IN THE CITY.

J. N. White of the Call Automatic Switch company of Chicago opened an exhibit on Higgins avenue in which a little model of the company's switch is shown in operation. The device is an automatic affair and a derailment is absolutely impossible on it as long as the switch is in operation, according to its advocates. No delay for the opening or the closing of the switch is necessary and it is impossible to leave it open no matter whether the operating device is in working order or whether it is broken. The affair is very simple and yet its working appears to be perfect. It operates upon somewhat the same principle as the derail on the block system. The inventors have taken pains however, to avoid all danger in the way of clogging or breaking and to all appearances they have been successful in so doing. The switches have already been installed on the Oregon Short Line and the Denver Rio Grande and their use is rapidly becoming more general. Railroad men who saw the model in operation yesterday were delighted with it and could find no fault with it whatever. The switch is on exhibition next door to the Isis theater and all are welcome to see it.

"MONTANA FOR ME."

H. H. Montgomery of the timekeeper's force at the Northern Pacific, returned yesterday from a month's visit at his old home at Wichita, Kan. "Monte" says Wichita is as good a town as there is in the middle west and he had a mighty good time, "but Montana and Missoula for me." He, like all others who go away, was glad to get back to Missoula.

WOMAN DROPS DEAD.

Butte, Sept. 29.—Mrs. T. A. Ryerson of Louisa, Mich., dropped dead in the Northern Pacific depot this morning while about to take a train for home. Her son, T. A. Ryerson, a Bozeman rancher, was notified by wire, but while galloping to the depot at Bozeman to come to Butte his horse fell, seriously injuring him.

FORESTER PINCHOT GIVES INTERVIEW

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Gifford Pinchot arrived here today en route to Washington. "Control of the water power resources of the country," said Mr. Pinchot in an interview, "probably is the greatest task confronting the people of the United States. No private corporation in the future ought to be able to secure a grant of public resources in perpetuity.
"President Taft will urge upon congress the necessity of an appropriation for conservation work and if congress responds the money will be expended for the benefit of forests and waterways, power sites, lands and mineral deposits."

BREAKS THE RECORD.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 29.—In giving an exhibition pole vault at Westville's old home day celebration, A. C. Gilbert, the Yale athlete, who won the pole vault at the Olympic games, cleared the bar at 13 feet, 2 inches, some six inches better than the world's record. More than a dozen officials measured the distance accurately, but Gilbert had not selected his apparatus carefully and will not claim the record.
