CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

There were rapid strides made yesterday—long strides, too—in the work of getting ready for the apple show. The big tent on Patton street was visited yesterday by hundreds of curious people—most of them knew what the tent was for and most of them were interested in the plans for the show. President Dorman was the busiest man in town, and that is saying a good deal, for this is a busy town. He had the general direction of affairs and he had exactly 17,000 questions to answer every minute of the day. His good nature held out, however, and bedtime found him with the smile that refused to be eradicated. He had good reason to feel happy, for the reports that came in from all quarters during the day were encouraging. There were exhibits on the way and more were packing for shipment this morning. The day developed so that the trouble will not be in filling the tent, but in finding room for the good things that are coming. It will be the best and the biggest show ever made here.

EVERYONE HUSTLING

Word from Hamilton yesterday afternoon was that everybody in the valley city was hustling for the display at that there will be a fine representation of the orchard products of the Bitter Root when the show in the big tent begins. "You can't get anything done here today," was the answer which came over the phone to "The Missoulian." In the afternoon, "Everbody in Hamilton is getting ready for the apple show. If you want anything you'll have to wait till tomorrow; we haven't time for anything else today." The promise is that the Bitter Root display will include large and small collections of apples from orchards down to plates, and that there will be a fine variety. There will be interesting displays of vegetables, also, that will show what the Bitter Root orchards are doing as well as the orchards. Stevensville, too, is lining up to show what the older part of the valley can do and there will be a good show made by the people there. Everything points to a large and excellent showing from the valley.

FINE BIRDS

Fred Post was in town yesterday from his ranch up the Bitter Root and he had, amongst other products of his farm, some Parrot Plymouth Rock chickens that he showed with justifiable pride before he sold them. "I have always been nutty on chickens," said Fred, "and I like to have them around. These birds are well bred; I have some old birds that I sent east for a good while ago and paid fancy price for; these are their chicks and I think they are about the best in the world. There's no more trouble in raising good chickens, and there is a lot of satisfaction in having the real article. I'd rather bring these chickens to town than mongrels, even if I don't get any more for them. There is something in knowing that you have the real thing, and that is what I have. There is no mixing of breeds at my place; these chicks are kept apart from any others. I have just two kinds and they are never together. And that is the way I am raising chickens; I like it and good birds pay."

BOOSTING CAR LINE

Jim Rhoades was busy yesterday, lining up a campaign for the sale of the lots in Car Line addition. H. L. Lyons, who has been the sales agent for the addition, has retired from his connection with the company and Rhoades & Rhoades have taken entire charge of the sale of the addition. There was plenty doing yesterday while the new agents were getting things lined up. Jim was writing ads and telling visitors about the location, while Bill got the business end of the machine working for the big sale. "We are going to handle those lots exclusively," said Mr. Rhoades to a Missoulian man, "and I think we will make them go fast. The addition is a good thing and the immediate extension of the electric car line to the addition, as well as the light and water service, is assured, so that a man can live in Car Line addition and yet be nearer to town than the man who lives inside the city limits is now. The street cars are going to revolutionize locations in Missoula and this addition will be one of the first to receive the benefit. We want to interest everybody in Missoula in this proposition. It is a good one. I never sold a piece of Missoula real estate that was not a bargain to the man who bought it, and here we have a long list of exceptionally attractive propositions. We just want a chance to explain them to our friends; the lots will sell themselves when they are seen." And he turned to the difficult task of telling in black and white all of the good things that there are to be told about the Car Line lots.

"Will you speak a word for us?" asked a south-side woman yesterday. "We have to have to walk back and forth across the tent, and there are such clouds of dust blowing up from both the roadways—and such dirty dust it is—that it is almost impossible for us to get to town. Is there not some way to clean the roadways or to sprinkle them or do something that will make the temperature bridge more comfortable until the new one is done? We would like something done."

BUSINESS LECTURER STOPPING IN MISSOULA

S. E. Webb, lecturer on "Science Applied to Business," arrived in the city yesterday and is stopping at the Savoy hotel. Mr. Webb is a lawyer, having taken his degree at Northwestern university. He lectured Thursday evening to the merchants and other business men of Wallace, talking to them in regard to their relations with their employees and what the attitude of the employees should be toward their employers. He created a very favorable impression. He will spend several days in Missoula, and will probably deliver a lecture on "Business Science" to business men of the city. Mr. Webb's wife, who is visiting her mother in Portland, is a Montana woman, and is the daughter of the late Dr. J. Hood Owings of Deer Lodge.

DRUNKEN EXPRESSMAN TRIES TO SHOOT WIFE

James Hevers, an expressman of this city, is in the county jail, where he was taken yesterday afternoon, it being alleged that, while intoxicated, he pointed a gun at his wife, at their home on the north side, and attempted to shoot her. It is alleged that he snatched the trigger several times, but the gun refused to shoot, whether from lack of ammunition or defective loading, is unknown. The officers were notified, and found the man "beating it" for the hills north of the city. A complaint charging assault in the first degree has been sworn to by A. E. Hart.

THE WEATHER

For the fall of the year, yesterday was an ideal day. Old Sid was on the job all day and made a decided hit with Missoula residents. The observations were:

FOR STEALING REVOLVER.

A man who gave his name as W. H. Smith was arrested last night by Officer Vance and taken to the city jail. It is alleged that he stole a revolver and overcoat from the pavilion in Greenwood park. When arrested in the Waldorf saloon, on West Front street, the gun was found on him. He will probably face a charge of petit larceny.

MISS BISHOP PLAYS SPLENDIDLY

RECITAL AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH SHOWS RARE TALENT OF YOUNG MUSICIAN.

The violin recital given by Miss Marie Bishop of Seattle last evening at the Christian church proved a rare treat to the music lovers of Missoula, and on all sides were heard enthusiastic and appreciative comments. The program rendered covered a wide range and exhibited in a most delightful manner the technical skill and natural talent of Miss Bishop undoubtedly possessed. One of Miss Bishop's charming assets is an easy, gracious stage presence, worthy of a far older and more experienced performer. Miss Bishop is a former Missoula girl and has been the pupil of Herr Moritz Rosen of Seattle for the past two years. Speaking of the program given, Herr Moritz Rosen says: "Miss Bishop's program would tax the powers of some of our greatest virtuosos and well stamps her ability and youthful accomplishments. Musical authorities predict a brilliant future for her."
