

AUTOS WILL CONTEST TOMORROW

CITY'S EXPERT "SHOVERS" TO MEET EACH OTHER FOR SPEED TRIALS.

Those in charge of the automobile races which will be run at the Missoula fair grounds on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons are meeting with good success in their quest for entries. As a side treat to the Western Montana Apple show, these races are expected to be a big drawing card.

First race, for two-cylinder cars—F. M. Shoemaker's Buick, Sid Coffey's Mason and Charles H. Hall's Mason. Second race, cars under 1,250 pounds—J. J. Deakin's Ford, Will Rhoades' Buick and the Standiff Ford.

SUPERIOR PROTESTS DESMET'S VICTORY

It wasn't a championship game. The score wasn't 17 to 4 and the opposing team wasn't composed of bonafide citizens of Desmet.

With these statements as the basis of their protest the Superior and Men did the regulation thing in the way of championship games yesterday and claimed a 13 to 5 with the big end of the score, however, still on the side of the so-called Desmet team.

After the state legislature of Washington outlawed gambling a few years ago, Brown went to Oregon, finally drifting to the copper and gold belts of Nevada, where he and his associates operated the whitening wheel of fortune.

Through his partners became possessed in worldly goods, Brown grew rich in friendship. Much of the money he had received as head of one of the largest gambling houses in the northwest was expended by him in making the way easier for others. And then he destroyed the tools of his trade and went to work in the mines.

"I did not pile up a fortune," he said in speaking of his experience in the hills, "but I made a little money and I am going to invest it in a clean business in Spokane and make my home here."

"I am not a fanatic nor a reformer, but in looking at it as a cold-blooded business proposition I cannot see that the liquor element has a chance to win. The saloon business is no longer a money-making venture, and in a few years a drinkery in a city under 100,000 will be a rarity."

"What is more, I am glad, because the saloon has claimed more victims one way and another than all the other pitfalls combined, and in making this statement I do not exempt gambling, whether it is the so-called friendly game of penny-ante or roulette with a fortune staked on the turn of the wheel. One may as well attempt to push back the ocean tide as to stem the sweep of the 'dry' movement."

THE SALOON DOOMED BROWN SAYS

OLD LIQUOR DEALER AND GAMBLER SEES FINISH OF HIS FORMER BUSINESS.

Spokane, Oct. 18.—"Signs point to prohibition all over the nation, and with the probable exception of a few of the larger cities, I believe it will be a permanent condition. The liquor traffic has seen its best days. It is doomed."

The foregoing testimonial comes from an unexpected source, yet no person is better qualified to read "the handwriting on the wall" than he who gives it voice—H. G. Brown, known from the Rockies to the California coast and from the international boundary to the Gulf of Mexico as "Doc" Brown, former gambler and philanthropist and always doing of kind deeds.

Brown returned to Spokane from Nevada a few days ago, and will make his home in this city after establishing a legitimate business, in which neither liquor nor games of chance will have a part. He earned his capital to embark in trade by digging in the hills, and made no man poorer in acquiring sufficient money to make a new start.

"The future of the liquor traffic has not a bright spot in it," he said in conversation with the writer, adding: "All over the country the tide of prohibition, or rather local option, is sweeping, and in all but the larger cities local option is practically prohibition."

Don't Look Good. "I suppose I know more about that business than any other man, but it does not look good to me, and the determined general movement against it than even the most enthusiastic followers of the 'dry' doctrine even predicted. Ten years—yes, five years from now, probably earlier—will see the close of thousands of saloons and drinking places throughout the country."

Brown, who came to Spokane from New England in the wild and woolly frontier days, is respected by the pioneers of the northwest as a man "on the square."

In the early days he was a gambler, but it cannot be said that he ever invited any man to risk his money against the natural odds in favor of the game, or that a minor dined a friend ready to help, and more than one unfortunate received a new start at his hands. His game was for the rich—it was not one for the toiler.

Operated Wheel. After the state legislature of Washington outlawed gambling a few years ago, Brown went to Oregon, finally drifting to the copper and gold belts of Nevada, where he and his associates operated the whitening wheel of fortune. Through his partners became possessed in worldly goods, Brown grew rich in friendship.

Much of the money he had received as head of one of the largest gambling houses in the northwest was expended by him in making the way easier for others. And then he destroyed the tools of his trade and went to work in the mines.

"I did not pile up a fortune," he said in speaking of his experience in the hills, "but I made a little money and I am going to invest it in a clean business in Spokane and make my home here."

"I am not a fanatic nor a reformer, but in looking at it as a cold-blooded business proposition I cannot see that the liquor element has a chance to win. The saloon business is no longer a money-making venture, and in a few years a drinkery in a city under 100,000 will be a rarity."

"What is more, I am glad, because the saloon has claimed more victims one way and another than all the other pitfalls combined, and in making this statement I do not exempt gambling, whether it is the so-called friendly game of penny-ante or roulette with a fortune staked on the turn of the wheel. One may as well attempt to push back the ocean tide as to stem the sweep of the 'dry' movement."

IMPORTANT COMPLAINT PRESENTED TO BODY

Washington, Oct. 18.—A complaint of far-reaching consequences was filed today with the interstate commerce commission, involving the reasonableness and lawfulness of freight rates charged by the railroads in the southwestern part of the country on shipments destined to interior middle western points.

The petition was filed by the Southwestern Shippers' Traffic association, representing shippers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado, against the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad and 37 other interstate carriers.

It is alleged that the rates on traffic through the ports of Galveston, Port Arthur, Port Bolivar and Texas City, Texas, destined to points in Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado are unjust, unlawful and discriminatory and prejudicial to the interests of the points of destination, as compared with the rates to similarly located points from New Orleans and Memphis.

LOGAN IS BACK. Attorney Floyd J. Logan returned yesterday from Detroit, where he has spent the past five weeks. Mr. Logan was fortunate enough to see a few games of the world's championship series.

IN THE THEATERS

STRONG FOURTH ACT—SCENE FROM "TEXAS"

Brims of humor and delightfully natural in plot and characterization, "Texas," the comedy-drama of south-western life, is sure to please the patrons of the Harnois theater when it is presented tonight.

Harlan Fox, who is well known as a young romantic actor, is cast for the leading character of "Freshwater Jack." Mr. Fox has scored a great hit in the role, lending to the part an unmistakable talent combined with dash, vivacity and manliness. An excellent company has been selected to support the young man, which, combined with handsome scenery, will add greatly to the enjoyment of the popular play which is now in the sixth year of unbroken success.

"Lena Rivers." Many theatergoers fight shy of the comedy offerings nowadays, for the reason that after having launched at the rapidity of the playgoers one feels heartily ashamed of such pritts, and this experience makes harsh critics of "Lena Rivers," dramatized from Mrs. Mary J. Holmes' novel of that name, is an antidote to the numerous expositions made in the name of comedy, for each situation is interesting while creating legitimate amusement.

"Cameo Kirby." Dustin Farnum, who has to his credit a long honor roll of personal hits, comes to the Harnois theater Thursday, October 21, in a new vehicle called "Cameo Kirby," from the pens of the prolific authors and playwrights Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson. This play will bring Mr. Farnum back to Missoula in a role which, according to all reports, offers him all the opportunities he could desire for the display of the sympathetic qualities of his art along lines other than the interpretation of cowboy roles. He will have the part of a Mississippi river gambler of the sort that operated on the highway of commerce in the early thirties. In the happy working out of the unexpected difficulties with which he is beset in upholding the "honor" of his craft he will have many scenes of unusual brightness as well as intense emotional moments and it is fair to assume that an actor of Mr. Farnum's abilities fully avail himself of all the chances that are thus afforded him. Liebler & Co., who are directing the tour of this distinguished play, have surrounded him with a company of exceptional merit.

"The Talk of New York." Victor Moore, whom Messrs. Colman & Harris will present as the star of "The Talk of New York" at the Harnois theater on Friday, October 22, is the same smooth, ever-ready "Jim dandy" hero he was in George M. Cohan's earlier play, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway." There are four acts in the new play and the theme concerns "Kiki" Burns, a plunger, as a friend of a wealthy society man, as a protector of that man's family honor in saving his son from an adventuress, and finally convincing the family that he is good enough to be a member of it by marrying the friends' daughter.

There are many Cohanesque scenes in "The Talk of New York" which are sung by principals, and an unusually sprightly Cohanesque chorus. The

DESK SERGEANT PLAN SATISFACTORY

NEW SYSTEM INAUGURATED IN MISSOULA POLICE CIRCLES IS MAKING GOOD.

Yesterday marked the inauguration of the new desk sergeant system in Missoula police circles, and, at any rate, for this city, it has so far proved very satisfactory. With chief of Police Vesley and "Chick" White on the day shift and Captain of Police McDonald and Officer Carver on the night job, it is now arranged so that an officer may be obtained to take care of any trouble which may arise under the new system. Those of the pattern whose hearts are anywhere near the police station, the room under the Missoula hotel, are required to report in person every hour, while those whose distance from the heart of the city would preclude any such action, are to report by telephone. A record is kept of each officer and his whereabouts is known all over town. All that is necessary for anyone desiring an officer to do is to call the police headquarters, phone 21, and an officer will do the rest.

Another advantage to the system is the fact that a man under arrest is taken before the desk sergeant, and in the presence of the officer and the arresting patrolman, he is searched, thus providing two witnesses to that operation and doing away with all complaints which might happen to

We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. N. S. Slight and Rice streets, Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of:

"I have had a remarkable case of neuritic under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for 15 years and reached a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Ever since was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily submit to my personal observation. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your liquor-bait cure and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet mailed in plain sealed envelope to Orrine Co., 641 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by the Missoula Drug Co., Hammond block.

This know Orrine is a reliable and successful remedy for drunkenness, and they will not offer you a substitute.
