

SPokane INVITES US TO EXHIBIT

W. D. FINLEY URGES A MONTANA EXHIBIT AT NATIONAL APPLE SHOW.

W. D. Finley, one of the publicity men of the National Apple show in Spokane, is a visitor in Missoula this week. The purpose of the visit of Mr. Finley is to secure exhibits from Montana for the National Apple show, and yesterday he was hard at it. The proposition which he has made is to give liberal space, free of charge, to western Montana for a district exhibit. This proposition carries with it the offer to receive the display and to hold in cold storage until the opening of the fair. Mr. Finley urges that the matter be taken up by the chambers of commerce of Hamilton and Missoula and that the winning exhibits at the Western Montana Apple show be secured here this week to form a part of the exhibit. He has presented his suggestion to the Hamilton and Missoula men and expects favorable consideration.

"I am delighted with your apple show," said Mr. Finley to a Missoulian man last night. "You should not say that it is a modest beginning; it is a fine display. Your idea of making a permanent thing of it should be adopted unconditionally; there is nothing like it to develop the interest in orchards and orchard business. It is highly creditable and deserves the loyal support of the people here and through the valleys about."

"I was particularly interested today in the display of Amos Buck of Stevensville, who shows fruit from the original McIntosh tree, now 21 years old. This is an answer to the argument that the eastern orchard men make that our western orchards are short-lived and will play out in a short time on account of thin soil or something else which they imagine. That is an exhibit which should be preserved.

"I have been promised some of the exhibits at your show, and I expect to secure the co-operation of your chamber of commerce as well as the Hamilton organization and the body at Plains. Western Montana should, by all means, have a district exhibit at Spokane. In Oregon and Washington there will be many of these district exhibits; Oregon, which was not represented at last year's show, will have several. I hope you folks will secure a district exhibit and also send us a lot of individual displays. You will not regret it."

TO BRING EVIDENCE IN COOK'S FAVOR

Copenhagen, Oct. 19.—The father of Knud Rasmussen has received a letter from his son, who lived for many years among the Eskimos and speaks the language perfectly. In the letter Rasmussen says he will arrive at Copenhagen from Greenland on November 1, bringing conclusive evidence in favor of Dr. Cook against Commander Peary.

PORTS TO BE OPENED.

Pekin, Oct. 19.—The government announced today that the four treaty ports in Chientao will be opened November 2.

ADMITS MURDERING OFFICER

PRISONER FINALLY CONFESSES TO THE KILLING OF SPECIAL POLICEMAN RILEY.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 19.—L. E. Driskell, who was recently arrested at Ogden on suspicion of having shot and killed Police Officer C. C. Riley, in this city October 5, has made a confession to the police that he killed Officer Riley after the latter had arrested him for highway robbery. Driskell, who is 24 years old, claims to be a native of California, having been born at Los Banos. In 1906 he says he was married to Mrs. Lola Jones, in San Francisco, and that since her death in Fresno last May he has been roaming about California and Utah. In his confession Driskell said that he and a negro whose name he did not know, on the night of October 5 held up a young man and robbed him of an overcoat.

Driskell was arrested a few minutes later by Officer Riley, who in searching for Driskell, failed to find a revolver which he had slipped under his waistband. While going to the station house Driskell pulled away from Riley, drew his revolver and shot him.

CRIMINOLOGIST DIES.

Turin, Oct. 19.—Caesar Lombroso, the noted Italian criminologist and alienist, died today. He was born at Venice in November, 1836. Professor Lombroso was widely known for his duties in criminology.

GLASSES WILL CURE ST. VITUS' DANCE

DR. DODD AT SAVOY HOTEL OF. FERS FEW TESTIMONIALS FROM CURED PATIENTS.

Mrs. Thomas Hudson of Loston, Montana, says: "I was so impressed with the wonderful care of Mrs. Walters, my neighbor, who I knew had suffered for several years with St. Vitus' dance. She would often visit me and I used to feel so sorry for her, every muscle in her body seemed to twitch and jerk. When she came home, from Helena in January, last, after you had fitted her with glasses her improvement was so rapid that everybody remarked about it. I am confident that she gained 20 pounds in one month. She told me she was stronger than she had ever been. That decided me to try you. Now, I had been fitted by about everybody in Montana that pretended to fit glasses but was unable to get any that I could wear. When your glasses came I put them right on and have never been without them for a day. I haven't had a headache since the day I began wearing them and before that I was never free from one. Mr. Russell's little girl, I recommended to go to you is wearing her glasses and her eyes are as straight as mine. She was the worst cross-eyed child I ever saw. I shall never forget the benefit your glasses have been. I really feel 10 years younger after two months' wearing them."

"MRS. THOS. HUDSON."

Dr. Dodd has, half a dozen cases of cross-eyes straightened with glasses here in Missoula; their names will be furnished to anyone. He has more than 200 satisfied patients here and he guarantees relief and satisfaction to you or your money refunded.

Apple Show Notes.

The automobile races begin this afternoon at the fair grounds. That they will be run under the auspices of the Missoula County Automobile club and the management of the Western Montana Apple show is enough to insure interest in the speed tests. The first race will be called at 2 o'clock this afternoon and several cars from the Bitter Root will be added to the list printed yesterday morning in The Missoulian. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

An exhibit of unusual interest is the one shown by Mrs. Thomas Holloway of Florence. Mrs. Holloway's display is just at the right of the main entrance of the apple show and yesterday it attracted lots of attention. Fruit and vegetables, honey and cider—all of the products of a red apple farm—are arranged fantastically into an exhibit that is charmingly artistic. Mrs. Holloway's name figures frequently among the premium winners announced yesterday.

A winner of many prizes yesterday was Phil Allaway. His name leads the list of exhibitors on the books of Secretary Erbert and is not spelled "Alwala." Mr. Allaway is one of the proprietors of the Vienna cafe and his prize-winning vegetables came from the Vienna ranch.

"Tell 'em to have their money ready," said Secretary Erbert last evening, in announcing that the apple-show subscriptions would be collected today. "We are all pretty busy," he continued, "and if we could get it all in within a few hours it would help a lot."

"You people are mighty lucky to have Judge Van Deman to judge your exhibit," said a Spokane horticulturist last evening. "For he is the best in the world."

C. R. Greisen, who judged the vegetables yesterday, says that all fruit men could learn a lot by visiting the local show, especially as far as packing methods are concerned.

More members of the experiment station staff are expected before the show closes and there will probably be more addresses.

Director Witzman and his orchestra scored another hit with last evening's concert.

It evidently takes more than a rap to keep people away from the apple tent.

W. D. Finley, assistant manager of the National Apple show of Spokane, secured a display of 10 boxes of Mc-

MONTGOMERY'S LUCK

It may not be fair to tell his name, but H. H. Montgomery thinks that he has the hardest luck of anybody in the world. Sure that it cannot become any worse, he walks under ladders with bravado and allows black cats to cross his path with absolute impunity. It all came about this way: A week or so ago Mr. Montgomery, craving with a great desire to eat venison, took his rifle and his hunting knife to the hills. Far and farther did he walk and everywhere about him great fat, blue grouse whirred and drummed. Still, he couldn't get close enough for a pot shot with his rifle, and that sort of an arm doesn't accomplish much slaughter when the game is on the wing. So, after tramping for two days and seeing not a deer, Montgomery returned to civilization and his job with the Northern Pacific.

In a little while, after thinking things over, he came to the conclusion that his had not been hard luck, but that he had simply made a mistake in his choice of weapons, and soon he started out again, this time with a shotgun and an appetite for grouse. Well, he traveled miles and miles and didn't see a single grouse, but two whitetails followed him about like tame cattle, keeping just out of shotgun range. The next time, says Montgomery, he is going to have as many gun-carriers as Ewano Tumbo.

the Swan Lake country, where he guided an expedition consisting of his wife and his brother. The party shot three deer and returned with the goods.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 19.—Paul Reinwald of Pasadena, a famous mountaineer climber, has written to Dr. Frederick A. Cook, offering his services in scaling Mt. McKinley in an effort to establish the explorer's claim to having reached the summit of that mountain. Reinwald, who is a native of Austria, holds the world's record for climbing Mt. Blanc, and has achieved honors in ascending the Matterhorn, Grossglockner and Zugspitze peaks.
