CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

Among yesterday's visitors in the city was Fred J. Russell, a real estate man from St. Maries, Idaho, one of the lively towns.

FOOSTING NEW TOWN on the west side of the Milwaukee range which the Milwaukee has reached. Mr. Russell is an enthusiastic booster for his town; the railway, he says, has added much to the business activity there and the opening of the Coeur d'Alene reservation in the spring will further increase its commercial importance. "We are the coming town," said Mr. Russell to a Missoulian man, "and we want to get better acquainted with you over here. We also want you to know more about us. The Milwaukee road places us in close touch and the business relations between Missoula and the St. Joe country should become closer as the country develops. Our town is growing fast since the railway reached us and there is nothing too good for us now. You should see our side of the range; you would be surprised; we have a great country over there, and when the reservation opens it will be even better."

Charles J. Cutler, the New York Life man, has returned from his visit to New York, where he has been for several weeks. He is making Missoula a visit in the course of his first tour of the state since his return and will be here for a couple of days. He finds Missoula just about as lively as New York, and in some respects he thinks we have a bit the best of it. For instance, he writes more insurance here, he says, that he does in the big eastern town. But New York was good to him and he shows that he was well treated back there. "I had a pleasant trip," said Mr. Cutler yesterday to a Missoulian man, "but I am glad to get back to Montana. There is, after all, no place that is quite as good as this when you get to know it. New York has some attractions which we have not, but there are a good many things which we have that New York would be glad to get if she could. Montana is good enough for me."

FRUIT EXPERT TO FRUITGROWERS

was just as certainly the best day of the exposition. In his afternoon address really an informal talk with demonstrations—the famous expert began by praising the show and the men who had made it a possibility. "You have here a very creditable exhibition," he said, "and I must say that the variety shown here is much larger than I had really expected. It shows what you have done in a new country and your show will help me in my talk to you. I wish to show what constitutes the highest state of perfection of the several varieties best adapted to your climate."

Then Mr. Van Deman explained the marking and scoring of apples, using the card he has prepared for the Seattle exposition and the Missoula show. Taking up as meaning perfection, he explained his system as follows:

"First comes form. You must learn to recognize any variety in its most perfect form. You have a distinct form in the west which differs some from the eastern grades. Form on my card counts 10 points.

"Second, comes size. It is everywhere recognized that the three and one-half to four tier apples are the most desirable and of the most commercial value. This counts 15 points.

"Third is color. This counts as much as anything. People buy with their eyes and want the highly colored apple, of all the colors the Red Apple, for which this part of Montana is noted, is the best color. This counts 15 points.

"Fourth, comes uniformity. This feature means a great deal, especially when packing is considered. It is very necessary and takes 15 points.

"Freedom from blemish is sixth. I would turn this into your minds and while I am happy to find your fruit practically free from pests, a blemish which is not fully appreciated here I am afraid, still there are other blemishes which come from careless picking and packing which must be eliminated. Freedom from blemish scores 20 points.

"Last but most important of all comes quality. An apple may be ever so fine looking and perfect in size and yet if it is not good to eat it will not make a success. Quality counts 25 points in the scoring."

The Last Day.

This is the last day of the apple show. Handicapped by weather conditions, the show has made good, and if the expressed desire of the fruitgrowers of western Montana has any weight, it will become a fixed institution, an annual event of great importance. The general effect of the show has been good, has been a favorable advertisement for this part of the Treasure state. Among the final features of the final day of the exposition of fruit will be an auction, slated to begin this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

TO RUN A HOTEL.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tyack are now established at Florence, where they have assumed the management of the popular hotel just over the Ravalli county line. They have purchased the place and are getting ready to make it a more pleasant place than ever for touring parties in the valley. Bill Smith has returned to town, after having spent considerable time in getting the young folks established in their new location and he says they are well fixed for the winter. Bill was in complete charge of the hotel for several days and he showed the Bitter Root folks some things about the hotel business that they never heard of before. He made a specialty of quick service and when he left, he had the hired help all worn out with the exertion of keeping up with him. "The young folks," said Bill yesterday, "that I'd like to stay there and run that hotel if it were not for one thing? Well, I would. If there were only somebody there who could play even a fair game of cribbage, I'd just as soon locate in Florence. It's a fine town and there are some fine folks there, but they can't play crib. So I came back. But the young folks will run the tavern."

A BIG TASK.

Assessor Kroome breathed a long sigh of relief yesterday, as he folded the last sheet of the statistical report he has been preparing of the condition of the school districts of Missoula county. "There are 44 districts," said Mr. Kroome, "and there is a lot of information about each one of them. The collection of the entire quantity involved a lot of research and when it was all finished, there was enough information to satisfy the most exacting statistician. You'd be surprised to know how much there is to learn about these school districts; each one of them has its own peculiarities and some have a lot of them. But the showing is creditable to the county and it furnishes interesting figures for those who are interested in the schools. But I would rather make out an entire assessment list than to gather this information again."

WOMAN IS TALESMAN.

Los Angeles, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Johanna Eigeman, California's first jurymen, was drafted as a talesman in a damage suit in Judge Houser's division of the superior court today. Before the jury finally is impaneled attorneys for the defendants will invoke a ruling of the court as to whether she is legally entitled to sit as a juror. They will place two considerations before the court—first that she is a woman, and second, she cannot serve because she is not a citizen.

MISSOULA WILL SEND DELEGATION MONDAY

Missoula will have a good-sized representation at the meeting of the Dry Farming congress in Billings next week. Superintendent Goodell and General Agent Norman of the Northern Pacific spent yesterday in the city, interesting people here in the coming meeting on the east side. There had already been several delegates appointed to represent the city and its commercial organizations and this number was increased yesterday to the limit through the offer of the Northern Pacific people to place a special Pullman car at the disposal of the Missoula delegation. This will make the trip so comfortable and will insure good quarters at Billings that there are others willing to go. The list will be completed today and the indications are that there will be a delegation from this city that will be representative and worthy of the importance of the Billings meeting.

LAST DAY OF THE SALE OF RARE NAVAJO RUGS

This is the last day of the stay of Mrs. E. H. Cooney of Great Falls at the Savoy hotel with her collection of Navajo blankets and rugs. There have been many Missoula people who have inspected this collection, and the purchases of the rare weaves have been general. For the benefit of those who have not had the opportunity of seeing the interesting specimens of the most famous Indian weaving in the world, Mrs. Cooney will display her collection in the parlor of the Savoy this evening. Those who have not been able to see it during the week will have this final opportunity.

THIRTY DAYS IN JAIL FOR VAGRANT WOMEN

Sadie Gray and Grace Reynolds, charged with being vagrants, were tried before a jury and Justice of the Peace Dixon yesterday afternoon and found guilty, the jury fixing their punishment at 30 days in the county jail. Their attorneys gave notice of appeal to the district court and in the meantime the women are under bonds. They were arrested some time ago by officers from the sheriff's office, upon complaint of residents of East Main street, who alleged that they were carrying on their occupation in that part of the city.

NEAR-BEER DEALERS BARRED.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 22.—The Tennessee grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows today adopted a resolution denying membership in the order to dealers in near-beer, and also to men who conduct so-called "soft-drink" stands. Since the enactment of the liquor traffic law by this state, last July, the sale of near-beer in "soft-drink" stands has become widespread. The Odd Fellows had previously barred saloonkeepers.

VICTOR MOORE

Victor Moore, as "Kid Burns," walked his slangy, epigrammatic, saucy way through "The Talk of New York" last evening at the Harmonis theater before the best audience of the week and to the huge delight of the same audience. There are no great problems asked or solved in "The Talk of New York," for it is a Cuban show, but it's the stuff the people fall for, take it from me. Mr. Moore was not seen to his best advantage last evening, perhaps, for this "travel thing" is conducive to colds, but his reception was warm and his response clever. The company is good, John Conroy, Jo Smith, Marba, George O'Donnell, William A. Williams and Mae Phelps being entrusted with the best parts. Mr. O'Donnell contributed the most sardonic in the way of songs, starting this honor with "Miss Phelps and Mr. Williams."

TWO SUITS ARE FILED IN DISTRICT COURT

In a suit filed yesterday in the district court, Ralph Clark seeks to recover $42 from McKesson & Threlkell et al, alleging that this sum is due him on a contract from the making of concrete blocks. The complaint in the action states that the plaintiff manufactured a supply of cement blocks for the defendants, who decided to use brick instead in a building they were putting up.

Hannah M. Richter asks $2,000 damages from John Rodmond, C. C. Lowrey and Michael Flynn in a suit filed yesterday. She claims that the defendants allowed a water ditch to become stagnant and full of refuse, with unpleasant effect.
