

PLENTY OF THRILLS HAS PLAY

LAURA WINSTON COMPANY OPENS AT THE FAMILY—NEWS OF LOCAL THEATERS

If you desire to be thrilled, if you wish to open your nervous system to all sorts of delicious shocks, go to the Family theater and see the Laura Winston company in "The Christian and the Turk," for the play has four acts brimful of sensation with a complicated and strenuous love affair woven into its general texture.

The Laura Winston company opened last evening before a good house and if the applause of the audience is any criterion, the popularity of the Family is to return. Miss Winston showed her ability as an actress last evening as did her leading man, Cecil J. Lionel. The lesser parts were taken by W. S. Van Dyke, Edward Herne, Eugene Gear, E. Holman, W. Struss, Bog Ingersoll, Patsy Gray and Olive Spencer.

During the evening Mr. Lionel explained to the audience the policy of the Winston company, saying that good, clean and new plays would be produced and that but one bill a week would be offered. This, he explained, will be done with the belief that better productions will result, shows that are more carefully prepared, costumed and staged.

At the Grand.

As has been said, the Queen City quartet, is composed of well-trained voices and the many songs they sang met with the approval of the many people who heard them last evening at the Grand theater. The comedy vein was kept up by two of the four in a manner well deserving of the title they go by, "Hunt's Billionaire Bunch." Scooby and Earl presented an Irish comedy act containing a great deal of snarl and nearly all of the wit they indulged in was new. They are also musicians of worth. With her fancy and difficult trick bicycle riding Frances Dainty won a great deal of applause from all who witnessed her act. Considering the small amount of space Miss Dainty worked upon, her act was very well presented and her work plainly showed finish, a quality often lacking in a great many like performers. The pictures were of a nature capable of pleasing anywhere.

The Bijou.

With four picture subjects which would win the favor and praise of any audience, the Bijou theater entertained crowds last evening at each performance. "The Eternal Romance" a story of love disappointed in the budding but revived in the children of the two principals of the tale, is a beautifully colored film containing a world of interest. "The Tennessee Guards" clearly showed the well learned and executed drill of a squad of colored grenadiers. The colored men proved especially adept at gun drilling and wall scaling and the subject met with approval from the audience. "Fools of Fate," which was shown Sunday evening, was repeated at the invitation of a great many who did not witness it at its first presentation. The picture is a stirring drama with an abrupt and pathetic finish. "The Feet of the Big Horn Ranch" proved to be a tale of western plain life and about a love affair were a great many exciting situations in which cowboys and horse thieves figured prominently. The picture depicted ranch life in a pleasing manner, and culminated happily. "When a Girl and Boy Are in Love" was the title of the illustrated song.

The Isis.

Every performance at the Isis theater last evening brought a crowd that filled the playhouse to its doors. It was a safe bet that every one of the great many people who witnessed "The Cowboy Millionaire" was more than ready to praise the picture. It was brimful of western life, the fire of the cowboy "Bunch" sports as they really are in a well trained outfit are shown, roping and "hog tving" cattle, riding bronchos and wild steers and, most uncommon of all, the combat between human muscle and the brutish brawn of a "long horn" steer, the outcome of the contest ending in the favor of the horns of the story. "Bud" in the midst of the festivities "Bud" receives notice that he is heir to a million. He leaves for his new home in the east, where he soon trees of "high browed" society and to break the monotony of life, sends for the "bunch." Their arrival is accompanied by many stunts and objects of which "Bud" in his new nature, tries after a bit and jacks them all off top him. There is not a moment of dullness to the picture and it is interesting and enjoyable throughout. "Dances of Various Nations" and "The Hat Jangler" and other pictures, "Southern Girl," the illustrated song, and the chronophone subject are entertaining.

BITTER ROOT TURNS TO SPOKANE

SATISFIED WITH VICTORIES AT MISSOULA, FRUITGROWERS SEEK FRESH FIELDS.

Hamilton, Oct. 25.—Now that the Western Montana Apple show has become history, the fruitgrowers of the Bitter Root valley have turned their attention to the National Apple show at Spokane next month. Several of the fruitgrowers are preparing extensive exhibits for the Spokane show and it is expected that the Bitter Root display will be one of the best.

The showings made at Missoula last week has added new life to the fruit industry here and has demonstrated to the home growers that the Bitter Root valley is to be reckoned with at large displays of fruit.

A valley fruitgrower makes the following statement: "To be honest with myself, I must say I was surprised, most agreeably surprised, at the showing made at the Missoula show. I was satisfied beforehand that we would make a good showing, but I had underestimated it. I saw better fruit at the Missoula show than I saw at Spokane last year, and I want to tell you that is going some."

"We are going to Spokane this year to bring back the best prizes, and we are going to make good on this. The Bitter Root Valley Irrigation company will have the largest individual display, of course, but there will be others just as good, if not quite as large. I am figuring on taking some apples to the show that will surprise the natives, and will be a revelation in the fruit business of the west. We have the fruit to show and we are going to show it at Spokane. The Bitter Root fruit is the best in the world."

WATSON-BROWN.

Hamilton, Oct. 25.—The marriage of William Martin Watson and Miss Alice Brown was celebrated yesterday at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brown, at Grantsdale. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas H. Barker of the Methodist church in the presence of the relatives and a few of the friends of the young couple.

The contracting parties are well known in Hamilton and Grantsdale. Mr. Watson is a charming and accomplished young lady. Mr. Watson is in the transfer business in Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Watson will live in Hamilton.

MAY BE A CARDINAL.

MGR. DIOMEDE FALCONIO.

Washington, Oct. 25.—There seems to be systematic advancement from the post at Washington under the Catholic church to the college of cardinals in Rome. If Mgr. Falconio is chosen for elevation to the college of cardinals at the January sitting of the consistory at Rome he will be following in the footsteps of his predecessors at Washington, Mgr. Satoli and Mgr. Martindale.

Mgr. Falconio is a man of wide education and unusual diplomatic ability. Being not yet 70 years of age, it is not too much to prophesy in many some day he will be chosen head of the Catholic church.

As a lay Mgr. Falconio lived in Abbeville, which lies in the mountainous country east of Rome on the Adriatic. At the early age of 31 he desired to become a priest, and three years later he entered the Franciscan order. By the time he had reached his majority he was made a priest, and was known as Father Diomedes. The following 12 years he spent in Newfoundland. While in Italy on a visit to his home, he was selected to act as provincial of the order of St. Bernardino. The energy and ability which he brought to the task of reorganizing his old province did not escape the notice of his superiors, and he was rewarded by a reappointment for a three-year term. While he was still discharging the duties of his office he was elevated to provincial general of the Franciscan order known as Reform. This honor came to him in 1888. Three years later he was made bishop of Lacedonia. He acquitted himself so creditably in his work that he was rewarded by the pope 10 years ago with the important post of apostolic delegate to the dominion of Canada. His usual familiarity with matters of ecclesiastical administration singled him out for the still more important post at Washington when a vacancy was created on the appointment of Martindale as cardinal.

Mgr. Falconio's rise from a poor Italian lad to a seat in the college of cardinals is indeed a remarkable achievement. He is expected to be appointed in January, forming a part of a reorganizing character study.

The Bitter Root Valley

A Pacific Slope Land Famed for Its Perfect Fruit and Its Great Profits

The Valley of Opportunity

A single acre of land in this valley has been known to produce a net profit of over $1,800 in one year; $500 annual net profit from an acre of land is a common event.

Crops never fail, fruit pests are unheard of and fatal diseases among stock, hogs and poultry are unknown.

Water for irrigating purposes in accessible and inexhaustible quantities.

The beautiful mountain scenery, an abundance of pure water, healthful mountain air, unrivaled climate, good means of transportation, convenience to markets, good schools, close proximity to state university, and the lowest cost of living all combine to make this locality the most ideal place for a home in the great northwest.

What Are You Waiting For?

We are addressing those who have neglected to provide themselves with warm winter clothing, underwear, shoes and furnishings at the great unloading sale now going on in full blast at LINK'S.

You have everything to lose and nothing to gain by waiting. Wait is the motto of failure and defeat. Now is the word of men of action—of those who succeed in getting ahead of the game by saving money. Remember, it's not how much you earn, but what you save that counts. The dollar is your best friend. Again we say that this sale is the best money-saving opportunity you ever had, a big saving guaranteed on every purchase.

Make haste and select your goods quickly, as the stock is about half sold and cannot last much longer at the present rate of selling. Don't wait for the leftovers, but attend the sale today and get the cream of the big bargains that are displayed for today's selling. No matter how much you have bought or how often you have visited the sale, you should come again today and see the surprising bargains that await you. Courtesy treatment to all, whether visitors or purchasers; all are welcome.

"Big noise" and big advertisements with glaring statements do not necessarily mean that anything unusual is happening. It's the little advertisement and a "small" price that is getting the business at Link's. Flowery language is meaningless; the people have become tired of such "shop" long ago. "Straight goods" without the trimmings are what the people want, and they are getting them at Link's. Get yours today.
