CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

City Engineer Mayo yesterday staked out another half mile of cement walks for immediate construction. Speaking of this later, Mr. Mayo said: "It is a great season for the concrete business. We will have finished more than 15 miles of cement walk this season when this piece of work is finished. There has been less delay this season on account of weather than I have ever known. And here it is the first of November and we are starting new work. Last year the last walk we laid was built on October 13 and then it froze so that it was hard to do the work. The city is getting into better shape for its walks; there are more good walks now than there ever were before and we are going to do better next year. If this weather keeps up its lick there will be a great record made and we shall have things in good shape. I wish I had nothing to do except to lay walks; there is some difficulty attending the work, but it does not offset the comfort there is in getting things right."

Among the visitors in the city is Robert L. Stewart, who is the patentee of a process for briquetting coal which is in use at the old Higgins mine, three miles west of Drummond. Mr. Stewart says the work is getting well started and that the success of the process has been demonstrated. The one machine which is now in use can turn out 160 tons of briquettes a day; this capacity is to be increased soon by the addition of other machines. To make the briquettes the coal is washed and pressed; the finished product burns much like anthracite coal and is remarkably clean. "We can make the fuel for $4 a ton at the mine," said Mr. Stewart. "This would make it cost $4.70 in Missoula. But my plan is to look over your coal here and see if it is not adapted to the manufacture of these briquettes. If it is there will be a good field right here for the lignite of your local coal beds, which is not marketable without treatment."

J. C. Totman drove his big Winton Six down the valley yesterday morning from Hamilton and at Missoula met Mr. and Mrs. George Beckwith and their children, who had come down from the reservation. He reached Missoula before 9 o'clock and in another hour was on the way up the valley again with the visitors. "There's nothing to it now," said Mr. Totman. "The drive down the valley is merely good exercise before breakfast and the strange thing is that we got along so long without an automobile. The roads are fine now; the trip this morning was made without a stop and there was not a disagreeable feature to the ride. A man with a good automobile can do a whole lot more work than one who drives a team; I have tried it both ways and I know. These machines are the greatest benefit I have ever enjoyed."

"If you have not seen Palson lately," said a Missoula man yesterday, "you have no idea of a lively town. It is growing fast and there is a lot of business there. They have a fine newspaper and the latest addition to the town is a chamber of commerce, and this organization is for business. The first thing the chamber has taken up is the construction of an electric railway line from the foot of the lake to Missoula. I was there yesterday and they told me they would take it up with the Missoula Chamber of Commerce and would make an effort to get a road built at once. There is no doubt that an electric railway to the reserve would prove profitable and convenient; the Palson people are going to have no effort will secure it. If they succeed they will have done something worth talking about and they will have connected two mighty good towns."

General Charles D. Curtis of Helena is visiting his son in this city for a few days. Chattering with a Missoulian man yesterday afternoon, the general was warmly complimentary to the city. "There is no doubt," said he, "that you have the best city in the state. The way you are growing here is marvelous; I am amazed at what has taken place since I was here the last time. The new buildings are numerous and they are fine. You are building up a great city and you have a right to be proud of it. I am always glad to come here; I have many warm friends in Missoula and the town is so attractive that it is a pleasure to be here."

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINS VISITORS

The students of the Missoula high school gave a dance last night in honor of the visiting Butte football team. Music was rendered by Cobban's orchestra and a happy crowd enjoyed the evening. The feeling left by yesterday's game is pleasant for both sides. Butte won the game and is satisfied, and Missoula made such a good showing, considering their weight, against the visitors, that they feel as if the victory were theirs. The finger sentiment has apparently disappeared and the kindly feeling which was manifested last night augurs well for future athletic relations between the two schools.

BIG DREDGE READY FOR BUSINESS

CEDAR CREEK PLANT IS IN SHAPE FOR OPERATION AT ONCE.

Tomorrow the big dredge of the Kansas City Commercial company, on Cedar creek, will be floated and the next day it will be operated. The machinery has been ready for several days, but the company decided that it would be better to strengthen the dam a little before attempting to operate and the floating has been delayed on this account. Possibly on Monday night, certainly on Tuesday, the big dredge will be started.

The Kansas City company has expended $215,000 in the construction of the dredging plant; it has built extensive roads and has made preparations to conduct the dredging work on a large scale. In the city last night, on his way to the east, was E. Haight, superintendent of the company, who will return next week with a party of Kansas City men, who will go to the mines and inspect the property. Mr. Lacasse yesterday suggested that it would be a good idea if the chamber of commerce or the booster club were to send a delegation to meet these eastern visitors when they arrive and to accompany them to the diggings and see the dredge at work. The proposition met with favor wherever it was made and it is likely that some steps will be taken to carry out the suggestion.
