

PITY NOR MERCY SHOWN BY RIOLLE

JUDGE ADVOCATE PAINTS MME. STEINHEIL AS BORN LIAR AND GUILTY.

Paris, Nov. 12.—The entire session of the Steinheil murder trial today was taken up with an impassioned plea by Advocate General Trouard Riolle for the conviction of the woman who is charged with having killed her husband and her stepmother. As Mme. Steinheil's counsel, M. Aubin, is yet to be heard, doubt has arisen whether the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

The prosecutor showed neither pity nor mercy in his address to the jury. He painted the accused woman in the blackest of colors—as a born liar, and as one whose whole life, before and after the crime, justified the presumption of guilt. He developed the theory that after the rich and generous lover, Chouanard, abandoned her in 1897, Mme. Steinheil realized she was almost at the end of her tether and, that when she got Maurice Broderel in her clutches she was determined to hold him even at the price of murder.

The prosecutor insisted that Madame Steinheil's story that burglars committed the crime was a myth, and he undertook to reconstruct the scenes that actually happened, claiming that while the accused woman and her accomplices were tying Madame Japy, M. Steinheil was aroused by the noise and jumped out of bed. Thereupon they attacked and killed him and, returning to Mme. Japy's room, found her in a bad fright.

M. Trouard Riolle undertook to account for the stopping of the clock in the Steinheil home after the murder, advancing the theory that Mme. Steinheil in her anguish could not endure the ticking. An expert testified during the trial that the clock had been stopped by hand and as it was being wound up.

Dramatic Climax Expected.

The argument of the prosecutor left the impression that the testimony upon which it was based was too conflicting and that his fine spun presumptions were too precise, leaving him vulnerable to his antagonist, M. Aubin. The latter received heavily at the conclusion of the prosecutor's address when he challenged M. Trouard Riolle to name Mme. Wolfe, the cook in the Steinheil home, and her son, Alexander, whom throughout the argument M. Trouard Riolle had hinted at as being accomplices of Mme. Steinheil.

Throughout the day Madame Steinheil seemed terribly depressed. Not once did she interrupt the proceedings, though frequently she clenched her fists and showed signs of anger when the prosecutor made particularly odious insinuations against her. It is understood that at the conclusion of M. Aubin's address, Mme. Steinheil intends to address the jury in her own behalf. This would make a dramatic climax and it is believed it would have a powerful influence on the jury, which is reported to be evenly divided.

Two things must be remembered in connection with a French verdict. First the majority vote prevails, the opinion of the jury having two votes if there be a tie; second, the jurors are not confined but are permitted to return to their homes at night, where they are subjected to the possible influence of their wives. It is notorious that whereas a majority of the men here favor the acquittal of Mme. Steinheil, the women almost unanimously believe she is guilty.

Mme. Steinheil is being deluged with letters of every character, many of them containing offers of marriage if she is acquitted. Enterprising theatrical managers are trying to arrange for her immediate appearance on the stage after release, one having offered $2,000 for 20 appearances. Mme. Steinheil is represented as having thrown these letters away in a rage.

H. M. MARSH STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP IN ATHLETIC ORGANIZATION.

Missoula had its first real introduction to the Amateur Athletic union yesterday, when H. M. Marsh, who is acting at present as state organizer for the union, visited the city and started a campaign here for membership. Mr. Marsh is working for the love of amateur sports alone. He receives nothing for his work, but purely out of sportsmanship he is touring the state in an endeavor to gather the amateur athletes into the national organization. Mr. Marsh's task is a great one, but yesterday he was unusually successful, and, if the plans which he made last night do not go wrong, Montana will have a fairly large membership by next spring. Mr. Marsh arranged with Physical Director Rhodes of the state university to register all of the high school athletes into the Pacific Northwest association of the Amateur Athletic union.

Free Masonry.

Nothing better describes the union and its purposes than Mr. Marsh's statement last night, when he described the organization as a free masonry among amateur athletes. Nothing is worse for amateur sports than a lack of organization. College and high school athletics are held together in Montana by nothing stronger than the rules of the schools they attend, and while these rules are lasting during the college course, they have no binding force afterward.

The Amateur Athletic union has done more for amateur sports than any other organization or influence in the country. In the east, where it is strongest, every athletic team, from grade school organizations to the athletic clubs, is governed by its rules and affiliated with it.

This is Mr. Marsh's idea for Montana. He would have every man or boy who is interested in sports a member. The fee does not amount to much, and the influence is so great that it is an opportunity which Montana should not overlook. Anyone who has not professionalized himself may belong, with the proper formalities, and is then eligible to compete in any amateur contest in the country. The rules explain the matter better than anything else. Those which apply to membership are:

Membership Rules.

No one shall be eligible to compete in any athletic meeting, games or entertainment given or sanctioned by this union unless he shall be a duly registered athlete, a member of the organization which he enters, and shall not have competed from any other club in this union during a period of three months next preceding such entry; nor shall any member of any club in this union or any club in any district in this union be allowed to compete as a representative of such club in case he has within one year competed as a member of any other club than in this union, except with the consent of such other club, which consent shall be filed with the registration committee of his district prior to such competition, unless such other club shall have disbanded or practically ceased to exist; provided that the requirements of this section shall not apply to any athletic meeting, games or entertainment the entries for which are confined to the club or organization giving such meeting or entertainment.

No athlete who has been released from a club which is a member of this union, and who competes for another club directly thereafter, shall be allowed to compete again for the club he was released from for one year from the date of his release, except that the club has disbanded or ceased to exist.

No person shall be eligible to compete for or enter any competition as a member of any club in the territory of any active member of this union unless he shall have resided within the territory of said active member at least four months previous to entering for competition; nor shall any person be eligible to enter or compete in any district championship meeting unless he shall have been a bona fide resident of such district for at least six months prior to the holding of such championship meeting. These restrictions shall not apply to an undergraduate when competing for any college belonging to an allied body.

A student attending a university, college, school or other educational institution may consider such institution his residence for the purpose of registration to represent such institution in competition. Such student during the period between the close and the opening of the scholastic year may transfer his registration to a club or other organization belonging to an active or allied member of this union, located in the district of his actual residence, which for this purpose shall be the residence of his parents or guardian if he be a minor, or his last place of abode before entering his educational institution if he be an adult, and upon the opening of the scholastic year he may be retransferred to his educational institution.

His Plans.

These are the rules which govern the organization. Under these regulations any high school, grammar school, college or independent athlete may become a member, and under these simple regulations may continue to be a member in good standing. Physical Director Rhodes will soon be able to register any local men who may wish to become members, and additional information may be received either from him or from The Missoulian. According to Mr. Marsh's plan, county organizations will be formed and county meets held. At these meets men will be picked to take part in a state meet, and the winners there will go to Seattle to attend the district meeting. In this way Montana will have a good standing in the amateur athletic world, and, in view of the fact that Mr. Marsh is making this move purely out of good sportsmanship and a desire to see amateur athletic in Montana bettered, every athlete in the state should register as a member.

A Religious Author's Statement.

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick, white sediment, and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Garden City Drug Co., Geo. CONDITION IMPROVES.

The condition of Massey McCullough is reported to be very much improved. He was operated on again Thursday and, although not entirely out of danger, is in a fair way to recover.

MARRIED BY JUSTICE.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to George Korbett of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Alice Maxwell of Missoula. The couple was married by Justice of the Peace Harry Small.

MOB SPIRIT QUELLED AT CAIRO

by Judge W. N. Butler of the circuit court. However, we shall have a regular grand jury when the court convenes here in December, and I shall present to it any evidence that comes into my possession before that time. I don't expect to collect that evidence myself, as detective work is not a part of my duties."

The only ground for holding Alexander was declared to be the dying confession of James. None of the officials would acknowledge that any evidence of this alleged confession had come to him.

In an effort to clear up the murder case the police searched the houses frequented by James and Alexander for the missing money, handbag and bracelets of the murdered girl. They found nothing. Blame for the riot condition is generally ascribed by the officials to an inadequate police force and the fact that many men accused of felonies have been acquitted here, despite seemingly strong evidence against them.

"A whole regiment of soldiers could not have stopped the work of last night's mob," declared Mayor Parsons, and Sheriff Davis echoed this sentiment, adding: "There would have been wholesale bloodshed had soldiers been here last night."

Sheriff Davis today told his story of the manner in which James had been taken from him. After detailing his wanderings in the woods of Union county after he had left the train at Dongola, he told of leaving James in charge of the deputy sheriff, while he went to Karnak to obtain provisions.

Sheriff Relates Capture of James. "The postmaster at Karnak, who is also a storekeeper there, recognized me," said Davis. "Because of this I made a detour through the woods about this town and walked east five miles to Belknap, where we struck through the woods until the water drove us to the railroad track. We entered a house to rest, but were warned by a citizen of Belknap that a crowd had left Cairo to intercept us. So we took to the country again, walking across the cornfields for a couple of miles.

"The whistling of the train warned us that the crowd had reached Belknap. We lay down in some tall weeds to conceal ourselves, but in a few minutes a scouting party of three passed. A few minutes later another party went by, one of whom I recognized as the Karnak postmaster. He was carrying a gun. The next party numbered five, and one of them mounted a stump and saw us. He fired several shots in the air and a crowd began to gather. One of the party was Mr. Logan of Cairo, and I appealed to him to see that no violence was committed.

"He assured me that all they asked was that James be taken back to Cairo and given a speedy trial. I promised them that this was to be done and they then started us toward the train. At Belknap, while waiting for the train south, I was asked to pick six men to question James. This committee refused no answer from the prisoner except 'Not guilty.'"

Sheriff Assaulted.

"In the train I stationed myself beside the prisoner, but as we entered Cairo some one threw a rope around James' neck. I at once took it off and was struck several blows by members of the party. Others caught the end of the rope and dragged James from the train, several members of the mob pushing me to one side. I heard no confession from James and nothing to indicate that he had implicated Alexander in the murder of Miss Pelley."

The entire Fourth regiment of the Illinois national guard was on duty tonight. Besides the two companies that accompanied Alexander north there were nine companies in the city. Discussion of events of last night centers about the conditions that brought mob rule to the city. Local politics was generally blamed for failure of the courts to convict, and in some instances there were open charges that the police had long been lax in their activities.

Mayor Parsons declares that the laxness has been on the other side and that the police have not received the support of public opinion, but he acknowledged that politics had played a part in many court cases.

pockets when he was picked up in the woods. It was returned to the bank tonight. Many threats were made against Bullock when it was learned he had robbed the bank a second time. When the report came that he had shot himself the threats ceased. He was brought here, where his wound was attended. Bullock was unconscious.

Fred Starr has been taken to a hospital in Lawrence. He wound is said not to be serious.

Rumors that Bullock had been brought here and placed in jail caused a noisy crowd to gather at the prison tonight, but when it was explained that only McKay was incarcerated here the crowd left.
