GETTING READY.

This week, with the exception of Thanksgiving day, President Taft is planning to spend in his office, preparing for the session of congress whose opening is near at hand. There is the message to be written and thousands of other matters to receive attention and it promises to be a busy week with the chief executive. Mr. Taft has the reputation of being able to turn out a marvelous amount of work and this capacity stands him well in hand these days for the duties of the high office which he fills are multiplying as the nation develops and a man must possess more than ordinary capacity for work to perform them. Meanwhile, an expectant nation awaits the message.

A NEW CHAMPION.

Woman suffrage has a new champion; in the current number of the Ladies World there appears an extended article from the pen of Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court, supporting the equal-suffrage claim. Justice Brewer discusses the question at length, reviewing the history of woman's participation in politics in the states where it has been a matter of years. He predicts the ultimate triumph of the campaign of the suffragists as follows: "And now, what of the future? Female suffrage will come. Not fully at once, but by varying steps. Woman's broader education, her increasing familiarity with business and public affairs, will lead to it. And why not? The chief reply is the home. God forbid that it should be jeopardized for upon it in all its fulness depend the best social life. In fact, it is the basis upon which growing humanity depends. And in it woman must ever be the great factor, the unchallenged queen. But female suffrage will not debase the home or lessen its power and influence. On the other hand, it will introduce a refining and uplifting power into our political life. It will not stop marriage, neither will a higher education."

The closing words of the Brewer article are less judicial in their tone than the main argument; the last paragraphs are: "Union in effort is the growing lesson of the times. Our first parents, guilty of a mutual sin, were, according to the allegory in Genesis, driven out of Eden, that garden which gave man all things to live with and nothing to live for. Our great epic poet closes his immortal poem with these words: 'The world was all before them, where to choose Their place of rest, and providence their guide. They, hand in hand with wand'ring steps and slow, Through Eden took their solitary way.'"

Hand in hand they went out of Eden; hand in hand they must enter the new paradise, grander and nobler than the pristine Eden, because wrought out of the thorn-growing earth by the united labors of man and woman, and into which have entered, and shall enter, all of human toil and struggle, self-denial and sacrifice, hopes and aspirations, faith and worship."

THE OLDEST SENATOR.

Shelby M. Cullom, who has the distinction of being the oldest member of the United States senate, celebrates his eightieth birthday today. Senator Cullom's career as an office-holder covers a period of more than half a century, during which time he has served four terms in the Illinois legislature, nearly two terms as governor of the state, three terms as representative in the national congress and he is now serving his fifth term as United States senator. Springfield has been the home of Senator Cullom since he came there in the early '60s and hung out his shingle as a lawyer. He was born in Kentucky, but was brought to Illinois in his infancy. His father was a member of the Illinois legislature and a warm friend of Abraham Lincoln. Soon after his admission to the bar Mr. Cullom was elected city attorney of Springfield. He was elected a representative to the state legislature in 1856, was re-elected in 1860, and was made speaker for his second term. The Springfield district, which previously had been strongly democratic, elected him to congress in 1865, and he was returned until March 3, 1871. He then returned to his home to accept the presidency of the State National bank. He was again sent to the state legislature in 1872, and was re-elected for another term, with the speakership. As chairman of the Illinois delegation to the republican national convention he placed General Grant in nomination for the presidency in 1872, and also nominated General Logan in 1884. The voters of Illinois gave him a good majority for the governorship in 1876, and he was re-elected by a greatly increased majority in 1880. He resigned from the gubernatorial office in 1883, having been elected United States senator to succeed David Davis, independent democrat.

GOOD BOOSTING. One of the best special editions of all that have come to the exchange desk of The Missoulian is the Thanksgiving number of the Pend d'Oreille Review, received yesterday. Under the management of George R. Barker, formerly in the newspaper business in Missoula, the Review has become a model publication and a power for good in its community. This special edition presents impressively the advantages of Sandpoint and is admirably edited. The mechanical work is excellent and the illustrations are effectively selected and well displayed. Such an edition cannot fail to benefit the city in which it is published and in whose behalf it is produced.

To the man who faces the pecuniary demands of the holiday season, the addition of "S. O. S." to his vocabulary is welcome. Supplementing it with "C. Q. D." succor should arrive. If western Montana's boosting is to be successful, it must be systematized and unified in method. Ravalli, Sanders and Missoula should all pull together.

Samuel Compers has the justification of his own people; they seem willing for him to be the one to go to jail, provided somebody must go. If the executed Americans had been dynamiting—literally, not figuratively—in Nicaragua, we have no kick coming if they were executed.

It is noticeable that the dispatches contain no mention of any prostration of John D. Rockefeller over the dissolution of Standard Oil.

The story of the rescue of the Cherry miners records deeds of heroism as brilliant as ever illumined the pages of the history of battles.

Moreover none of the Great Falls and Helena census experts have visited Missoula lately. They would profit by a call here.

NOTES OF SUPERIOR. The Iron Mountain mine has been closed and will remain inactive for an indefinite length of time. The O. R. & N. mine has reported the strike of a 15-foot ledge of good paying ore in iron and lead. This mine will become a producer within a very short time and will greatly add to the activity of the Carter district. Westfall Brothers have rebuilt their mill here and in view of a recent strike in their property expect to begin active operations within a short time. The boys of the Superior public school have organized a society which they call the "Anti-Smoking-Swearing-Chewing-Drinking league."

NOVEMBER BUILDERS ARE BUSY

CONSTRUCTION RECORD OF THE WEEK SHOWS GOOD PROGRESS ON MANY FINE STRUCTURES.

The local contractors are sunny tempered these days, and do not seem to take any slight vagaries of the weather clerk in a serious way. Although the buildings in which concrete is an important factor, expect to need a slight setback during the week, the general progress on these buildings has been such as to allow liberally for these trifling delays. At the new court house, where the workmen are busy on the tower, which is concrete clear to the top, and on the upper floors, everything in moving along nicely, according to the notion of Mr. Dysart, the superintendent. On the first and second floors, the plaster work has been completed, and the rough plaster work on the top floor will be about finished by the end of this week.

With the exception of a little mason work yet to do on the tower, that part of the work is also very near completion, and inside the next week or 10 days, the contractors will start taking down the staging. Within a day or two the bricklayers will be all through with their contract.

Started two months ago, the one-story brick building on Stevens near Main street, being built to the order of Smith & Thomas, the superintendent, and the carpenters are busy putting in the fronts. Mr. Lyons, the contractor, expects to have no difficulty in getting the building ready for occupancy within the specified time—the first of next month. The owners have all the stores already rented, and they figure on adding a couple of stores some time in the near future. The building, which will be known as the Marble and which is of white pressed brick, was constructed according to plans submitted by Link & Haire, the architects.

Among the contractors who are kept busy with orders on hand and to be executed is Harry Gilbertson, who has the contract for the brick work on the six-story Cowell-Dixon building at Cedar and Higgins avenue. The forms are now being taken off the concrete on the fifth and sixth floors, and early next week the bricklayers will commence operations. This contractor has also secured the contract for the vault to be built for the Scandinavian bank in the Evans block, and will begin work on it next week.

Orville G. England's one-story red-brick building at the corner of Spruce and Higgins avenue is coming along in fine shape. This building which consists of seven stories was started about three weeks ago and has a frontage of 55 feet on Higgins avenue. The brick work is now all complete and the men have started at the plastering. At the back of it, on Spruce street, Mr. Gilbertson is preparing to put up a warehouse for the Worden-Dorman Mercantile company, with a floor space of 25 by 40. This company will occupy three of the stories, where it will run an up-to-date grocery and general dry goods business. When completed, which will be some time in the early part of December, this building will materially strengthen the appearance of North Higgins, and bring the general business section closer to the railroad station. Besides the Worden-Dorman Mercantile company, there will be a jeweler's store, a barber shop, a shoe-shining parlor, and a restaurant and lunch stand in this building, the lease of which has been secured by Mr. Worden.

Missoula has certainly no dearth of well-equipped modern laundries, and it will have another "bang swong" establishment in that line, when the Bakke Brothers get finished with the two-story red-brick building, which they have been erecting at Stevens and Alder. The basement and first floor will be occupied by the laundry.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jones G. Moldan, 2115 Second St. North, Minneapolis, Minn. Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from the distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

ELDER HENRY CUNNINGHAM Recommends Vinol For Weak, Run-Down People. "I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength, and am now feeling unusually well."—HENRY CUNNINGHAM, Elder Baptist Church, Kinston, N.C. Vinol contains no oil, and is by far the Best Strengthening Tonic obtainable. We return your money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it. MISSOULA DRUG CO., Missoula.

and the machinery is already being installed in the basement, which is nearly finished. The carpenter and plaster work is now in progress, and the contractors, who are also the owners, expect to have the building ready for occupancy before the end of the year. It is understood that the second floor may be leased by a local doctor as a hospital. Yesterday saw the completion of the brick work on the new west-side school house, and if the weather keeps good, the carpenters will also finish up inside in the next 10 days. The plasterers will start work on the first floor in the early part of this week. The general appearance of the school house at this stage would please even the critical eyes of the school children, and should act as a palliative to them when they enter its doors next year to be taught the three R's. J. G. Ambrose, the contractor responsible for the Penwell building on Third and South Higgins avenue, is highly pleased with the satisfactory condition of the work. He says that there "isn't a single kick coming." This building will be finished on schedule time—about the first of the year. The walls are all up on the new sub-station annex of the electric company, and the carpenters are now at work on the roof. The contractors expect to be through by the beginning of December. Olson & Johnson, the builders are contemplating the erection of a warehouse on the north side of the North Pacific railroad track, and have given the contract to Harry Gilbertson who will start work on it some time in December.

Wallace, Nov. 21.—That the Coeur d'Alene region has the resources with which to become an important factor in the copper market as it is in the lead world is the statement of former State Mine Inspector, Robert Bell, made in a letter to a Wallace friend, following a visit to the various mines and prospects of the district. "The Coeur d'Alene as a lead-silver district is without a peer in the mining world," he writes, in part. "Its resources, however, are by no means confined to lead and silver, but comprise an important variety of ores, including copper deposits that indicate a resource of the red metal of equal importance with the lead, and as free from lead and other objectionable combinations as copper ore found anywhere."

A $800 damage suit has been filed by Charles Lightner, a North Fork river rancher, against his neighbor, Edward Carlson. Lightner alleges that Carlson's cattle trespassed on his ranch and destroyed a large quantity of vegetables, especially turnips and potatoes. The owners of the Butte & Coeur d'Alene mining property, located near Mullan, have been offered $250,000 for their holdings, according to Manager James B. Short. The offer has not been accepted, no decision being reached by the stockholders. Six feet of galena ore was opened up in the property recently.

The crosscut tunnel on the Imperial mining property is in over 1,600 feet with less than 200 feet to go to tap the ore shoot at depth. The Imperial adjoins the Copper King, near Mullan, and in the upper workings a fine showing of galena ore has been made. District Judge W. W. Woods and Mrs. Woods had a narrow escape from painful if not serious injury as they were walking through the court chambers to reach their private apartments. A section of plaster 17 feet square and an inch thick suddenly broke from the ceiling and fell. Judge Woods heard the crackling sound and seizing his wife by the arm stepped aside and pulled her out of the way just in time. On account of the weight of the plaster and the distance it fell it might have easily caused severe harm to either.

James A. Wayne, to whose hands was committed the petition asking a pardon for Jesse W. Baer, forwarded the papers to the department of justice at Washington, D. C. On the petition are the names of 200 business and professional men of importance in the county. Among the signers are B. F. O'Neil, chairman of the republican county central committee of Shoshone county. Baer is serving a 10-months' sentence in the county jail for embezzling government funds when he was postmaster at Gem. C. E. Jones, master mechanic at the Alice mine, was robbed of $200 worth of clothing and personal effects and $20 in cash by an unknown person, and James Brown, a carpenter, lost a $30 watch in the same mysterious way. The sheriff has been unable to find any trace of the stolen goods or the thieves.
