IN THE THEATERS

In the new and what is said to be the best edition of the famous George Primrose minstrels, which comes to the Harnois theater Tuesday, November 29, the management has neglected none of the apparently trifling details which go to make up a perfect minstrel production. The roster of talent supporting Mr. Primrose embraces 50 of the best-known names in minstrelsy, of which there are a number of splendid singers who have voices and know how to sing many beautiful melodies which are a marked feature of the production. There is a certain subtle originality to the comedy; a certain airy atmosphere that is often striven for, but seldom attained. The entire performance goes with a vim. There is a spark here and there which pleases everybody, and sends the most blasé statergoer away with the delightful sensation of having been actually amused. Mr. Primrose, himself, leads the big fun festival.

a coffee of improved flavor—slow-cooked and dry-cured, after long seasoning. It makes a delicious drink, because the bitter principle is extracted, but the real coffee tang is all there.
