

TWENTY ARE KILLED IN WRECK

GREAT NORTHERN WORK TRAIN RUNS INTO WASHED-OUT CULVERT IN CANADA.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 28.—Twenty Japanese were killed and 15 injured, several of them fatally, in a wreck of a work train on the Great Northern railway between Vancouver and New Westminster today.

One of the injured is George W. Kemp, a commercial traveler of Vancouver, who was riding on the work-train. His feet were crushed and he was internally injured. His condition is serious.

The train left Vancouver at 6 o'clock this morning on the way to Stumas. When within a mile of the city limits of New Westminster, the train ran into a washed-out culvert. The engine passed nearly over and then fell. Fireman Kent and Engineer Beat-tiger jumped, escaping injury. Immediately behind the tender was the bunk car, in which 35 Japanese were sleeping. The engine settled back until it stood almost on end.

The Japanese car was caught and smashed between the engine and the tender. Half the car was crushed to kindling wood and the remainder smashed in on the sides, slid further into the gully. Three flat cars were piled on top of each other, while the caboose at the rear remained on the tracks. In it was Conductor Ellis, who escaped injury. How Kemp happened to be on this train is a mystery to railway officials.

That the work train and not the crowded Owl passenger train from Seattle met the disaster is simply a piece of luck for the passengers of the night express. Had the work train not been on the line the express would not have been held at New Westminster. The Owl passenger train under normal traffic conditions would have continued through to Vancouver without stopping and it, instead of the work-train, would have plunged into the gully.

STATE DEPARTMENT GETS VERSION

Washington, Nov. 28.—The state department today received a cablegram from the Chilean minister of foreign affairs stating that the Spanish version of the protocol between the United States and Chile, referring the Alsop claim to arbitration, had been sent to Washington for verification. Both governments have agreed to the proposition that King Edward be arbiter in the dispute, which involves damages to an American syndicate of more than $100,000,000 and, while no formal attempt has been made to discover whether the British monarch will act, it is believed that he will accept.

To Ask King. Santiago, Chile, Nov. 28.—The request of the Chilean government to King Edward that he act as arbiter in the Alsop claim will be made through the charge d'affaires in the Chilean legation at London. It has not been announced whether the request has reached his majesty.

Great Interest. Rio Janeiro, Nov. 28.—The Journal de Commercio today publishes a four and one-half column statement of the Alsop claim, cabled by the state department at Washington to the American ambassador here, and several of the other papers print large excerpts, indicating the interest that the promise of arbitration has aroused. All the papers express satisfaction that an amicable agreement has been reached.

RESIDENTS OF VALLEY AT JACKSON OBSEQUIES

Carlton, Nov. 28.—Scores of residents of the Bitter Root valley were in this city yesterday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Helen M. Jackson, the well-known young woman who died a few days ago. Services were conducted in the Methodist Episcopal church, and beautiful music was rendered by the choir. Many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the young woman had been held by her friends in the valley. Interment was in the Carlton cemetery.

AT DALY ADDITION CHURCH. Rev. J. W. Tait preached at the Daly addition Methodist church yesterday afternoon before a large congregation of south side people. Miss Irene Cox rendered a vocal solo during the meeting. Services will be held there again this evening. Mr. Tait preaching again.

INSURGENTS NOW IN LAST FIGHT

UNOFFICIAL REPORTS RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON SAY BATTLE IS NOW ON.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Nicaraguan insurgents are now engaged in what is expected to be the final struggle with the Zelayan forces, according to an official dispatch tonight reaching Salvador. The Nicaraguan insurrectionary forces here. The dispatch indicates that fighting is in progress at Rama and Greytown and that a general assault on Managua, the capital, will follow.

Sinews of War. Arms and ammunition landed this week from the Norwegian steamer Ulfstein are believed to be in the hands of the insurrectionists, and prompt use of them by Estrada's forces is expected. Senator Castillo pointed out tonight that it would require less than three days to transport the munitions from Bluefields, where the Ulfstein landed them, to Rama, and that as soon as his compatriots were supplied, immediate conflict with the government troops was inevitable.

The department of state tonight declared it had received no advices of any kind from Nicaragua. All inquiries as to the landing of marines on Nicaraguan territory were met with evasive replies, but these were such as to give rise to the belief that some force had been put ashore to protect American interests and to reconnoiter. Just how large this force may be or how long it may be intended to be kept there could not even be guessed.

JOHN D. CHALLENGED BY PREACHER

New York, Nov. 28.—John D. Rockefeller's most needed contribution to religion, according to the Rev. Oscar Haywood of this city, is words, not money. Such an expression of his, Dr. Haywood contends, would do more than anything else to equalize religious differences and establish a broad bond of brotherhood.

"Rockefeller has the brain of Caesar and unlimited moral influence," said the clergyman in his sermon at the Church of the Covenant today. "Then, let our most conspicuous man of wealth define his position with reference to evangelical Christianity. For one, I would await with confidence his answer."

"He is the founder of a scientific university which proposes to substitute scientific for the speculative philosophies and scientific hypothesis for the simple religion of faith, creating an aristocracy of scholars and accentuating the imaginary gulf between the rich and the poor. Now let him make the contribution of 100 words to the world's religious literature."

REPORT DEALS WITH STATE LANDS

ation and reclamation of the Indian reservations in Montana. "The most notable success is shown on the Fort Belknap reservation," says he, "where about 30,000 acres are irrigated at a cost for construction of $4.61 per acre. Splendid agricultural results have been obtained by the Indian farmers among these Indians. Over 100,000 bushels of grain have been harvested this season."

Education exceeding the capacity of the Indian is deplored by Mr. Ballinger, and as an instance, he speaks of the work on the Crow reservation in Montana, saying: "It is a mistake to construct irrigation works upon Indian reservations beyond the agricultural capacity of the Indians or their willingness to utilize them, so that these works will be dormant for years and fall into disuse and decay. The works on the Crow reservation are, to a large extent, an example of this kind, and I fear others have been projected which will result in a like manner unless the Indian is skillfully supervised in agricultural pursuits and his labor is directed to the construction of the project, and he is thus encouraged and educated to make beneficial use thereof, and to understand the importance of its use."

Among the bird reserves created during the year, Mr. Ballinger mentions the "Coeur d'Alene" creek reserve in Montana, which he says is of unknown acreage.

Government Robbed. Of interest to the western country is Mr. Ballinger's recommendations for legislation relating to the public domain under his department. The government has been robbed of millions of acres of land, he says, through the lax methods of classification and its asks for specific legislative authority to classify and segregate the lands into well-defined divisions according to their greatest apparent use, with the continuing power of reclassification to meet changing conditions and the increased knowledge of their character which may necessitate the transfer of lands from time to time from one class to the other. As to coal land laws, he recommends a law authorizing the lease or sale of the coal deposits in the lands, subject to forfeiture for failure to exercise the rights granted within one year. Similar legislation should also apply to oil and gas fields, and the disposition of the three to be in terms of quantity of the product extracted, rather than of acreage. He asks for the reservation of oil lands in sufficient quantities to guarantee a supply of oil for the navy. He also recommends the repeal of the timber and stone acts, and the enactment of a law providing for the disposition of all the remaining timber upon the public lands separately from the soil and for the disposition of the land after the timber is removed, under appropriate agricultural or mineral laws.

Two amendments to the Carey irrigation act are also recommended by Mr. Ballinger, one authorizing the interior department upon application of the state to withdraw areas of public land that appear to be susceptible of reclamation under the Carey act, pending examination of the lands by the state officials and the preparation and filing of their map and plan of irrigation if the state determines to attempt the reclamation. Also the adding of a provision that unless actual construction of reclamation works is begun within three years after the segregation of the lands, the interior secretary shall declare the annulment of the contract and restore the lands to the public domain.

Bitter Root Valley Irrigation Company

HAMILTON, MONTANA

Did You Notice

what Prof. Thomas Shaw, whom James J. Hill calls the greatest farmer on earth, says of the Bitter Root valley? He says that "he doubts very much if there is any section in the whole United States which will furnish so much diversified production and wealth for its area as the Bitter Root valley. The soil is splendidly adapted to fruit, especially the apples."

Our land is the pick of the valley. It was considered by Marcus Daly the best land in the valley at a time when he could have had his pick.

We are selling this land today on terms of 25 per cent cash and the balance in ten yearly payments. Let us show you how to make it pay for the start.
