CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

Walter M. Bickford, chief counsel for W. A. Clark, is in the city this week on legal business. Mr. Bickford's influence was a strong factor in bringing about the construction of the electric railway, and he is naturally interested in the excellent start which is being made in the operation of the road. Standing last night with a Missoulian man on the Hammond block corner, Mr. Bickford watched one of the long street cars rapidly filling with passengers for the south side. "I am delighted," said he, "by the way Missoula people are taking to the trolley transportation. I had been told that the use of the cars would be slow in starting, that it would be a good while before there were many people using the cars. But I have been watching and I am greatly gratified to note that the cars are all so well filled. I am also specially pleased to learn that the sentiment in Missoula is so appreciative of the new service. It will be the policy of the company to merit this appreciation; the service will be bettered all the while and I hope that one of these days we shall see the line extended up the valley."

This morning the first shovelful of dirt will be turned in the construction of the Polleys Lumber company plant. The ground has been staked out and the work on the foundation will be rushed in the endeavor to have the plant ready for the mill machinery when it arrives. Surveyors for both the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee were at work yesterday, laying out the tracks for the mill yards and the steel will be laid soon. The mill will stand upon the edge of the big slough, west of the Bitter Root track; this slough will be utilized as a log pond and the lumber yards will be located south, on the higher ground of the tract which is owned by the company. "We are going to lose no time," said Mr. Polleys last night. "The machinery is on the road and we hope to be ready for it when it gets here; we are anxious to get to cutting early and if we have good luck there will be logging trains coming into Missoula before very long. We are pleased with the way things are moving."

Of all the roads leading from Missoula, there is none which is used more than the one which runs west to DeSmet. There are parts of this road which are good and there are parts of it which are unspeakably vile. Just at present there is some work being done near Grant creek, which is improving the road somewhat at that point, but there is a long stretch of the road that is as wild and rough as a gumbo clay road can be. There is a large irrigating ditch which crosses the road just this side of Grant creek and it is not bridged; its flood of water pours across the road, making a nasty crossing. It would be difficult to find a worse road than the stretch from the England ranch to the other side of the brickyard hill. Said an automobile man yesterday: "I would like to take the county commissioners on a ride over this road; I think when I got them back, there they would be convinced of the necessity of repairs and improvements on this highway. It is frightful." And, as to the character of the road, he was just right.

Yesterday afternoon a deal was closed by which Wallace P. Smith became the owner of the Hammond building, one of the best office buildings in the city. Asked regarding the purchase last night, Mr. Smith said: "I don't know that there is anything to say about it, except that I have bought the building. The sale includes a portion of the unimproved lot between the rear of the building and the river. That is all there is to it; I have bought it, and I don't think that the matter calls for any extended comment."

"Are we going to celebrate the Fourth or are we not?" was the question which a business man shot at the Man about Town, as the latter walked to his office yesterday morning. And there was no answer to the question, because the man at whom it was fired didn't know. So he passes the query along—are we or are we not? No? Yes?

TO BUILD AT ONCE

ROAD TO DESMET.

There are parts of this road which are good and there are parts of it which are unspeakably vile. Just at present there is some work being done near Grant creek, which is improving the road somewhat at that point, but there is a long stretch of the road that is as wild and rough as a gumbo clay road can be. ARE WE GOING TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH OR NOT?

IN THE COUNTY COURT.

Two complaints were entered in the county court yesterday. One was by Gustav Pinsonneault and M. Z. Morin against Leo Solomon, Annie Miller, Barney Goldberg and A. J. Goldberg. The Goldbergs gave a promissory note for $3,000, secured by mortgage on a piece of front street property to Morin, and then sold the property to Joseph Goldberg. He again sold it to Annie Miller, and she to Leo Solomon. Now Morin and Pinsonneault pray for the sale of the property by the sheriff to satisfy the note they hold, together with interest thereon. Another action brought yesterday in the local court is by Laura M. Cronquist against James P. Tallent, to quiet title to two feet of a lot at East Front and Madison streets.

Many incidents of Yale life were gone over and everyone present enjoyed the association with the former Yale professor. Besides the chief forester the following Yale men were present: Professor W. A. Aber, '78; W. B. Greely, '04; F. A. Silcox, '05; E. E. Carter, '04; Elers Koch, '04; K. W. Woodworth, '04; J. E. Keach, '06; W. C. Alken, '07; David Mason, '07; Robert Riley, '09, and Robert Cary, '09.

Today at noon at the Florence hotel the business men of the city will give an informal luncheon for Chief Forester Henry S. EDUCATED CHIMPANZEE SUFFOCATES IN CAR

Portland, Ore., May 16.—Charles L. the famous educated chimpanzee, valued at $75,000, which has been exhibited all over the world, was suffocated in a car last night while enroute from Seattle to this city. The animal was found dead when the car door was opened today, the heat from a steam radiator having proved too much for it. Charles L. was probably the most wonderful performing animal ever known and numbered cigars smoking and signing his own name among his accomplishments.

NEWS OF ARMY POST AT MISSOULA

ACTIVITIES OF OFFICERS AND MEN AT FORT NEAR THE GARDEN CITY.

FORT MISSOULA.

Three and one-half miles from Missoula.
Headquarters and Third battalion Fourteenth Infantry.
Major John S. Parke, commanding.

Population—
Officers..... 15
Enlisted men..... 200
Civilian employes..... 200
Area of reservation, 3,197.41 acres
Monthly payroll, $29,000
Government work under construction and planned, $1,500,000.

Lieutenant R. R. Wood is commanding company L in the absence of Captain Mullen, who is enjoying a leave of absence in Chicago.
Captain Thomason, post surgeon, is convalescing from a recurrent attack of "Cuban malaria." It is hoped that he will fully recover by the time he is expected to take his new office in Washington, D. C., recently created by the secretary of war and for which Captain Thomason has been especially selected.
Preliminary practice at the target range has begun. The men are finding the target easily and the continual popping of the rifles reminds the old-timers of days around Manila.
The walls of the new concrete stable are being put in position. This stable, which accommodates 78 animals, will be one of the show places of Bitter Root valley, inasmuch as it is up to the minute in modern construction and equipment.
A strong baseball team has been formed among the officers and men of the garrison under the management of Lieutenant Philson, the post adjutant. New uniforms have been ordered and the team will soon be prepared to meet all comers. The ball grounds have been put in excellent condition and we hope that our commodious grand stand will be well patronized this season by Missoula fans. Admission and seats are free.
Private Parham of company K left Sunday night under orders to report at Fort Logan, Colo., for examination by a board with view to discharge for disability incurred in the Philippines.
Captain P. L. Miles, commanding company M, arrived yesterday from a three months' leave, spent in Europe.
Captain William A. Burnside joined this station last night after four months spent in foreign travel. He will command company K.
Major Ruffner, the new post surgeon, who is to relieve Captain Thomason, has been granted a two months' leave. The major returned from the Philippines in April and is visiting in the east.
President Tevan (Corporal Jimmy) of the Fort Social club announces a social and dance to be given in the post at an early date. The fact that Sergeant Joyce is also on the committee makes the affair an assured success.
With Missoula building toward the post and the post building toward Missoula, we will soon be in the city limits.
Lieutenant Kierulff, medical reserve corps, who is on detached service at Fort Ward, Wash., is expected to return soon. The lieutenant is accompanied by his wife and family.
Fort Missoula news items and subscriptions to The Daily Missoulian should be sent to Sergeant Greene at the post hospital. The new arrangement whereby The Missoulian and other mail is delivered at the post at 8 a. m. is greatly appreciated by everyone.

SPECIALIZATION.

This is an age of specialization—the "Jack of all trades and master of none" will soon be a thing of the past; concentrated effort in one direction is the only way to accomplish things worth while. This rule applies to the retail trade, because it requires a shoemaker to mend shoes, for the same reason that you go to the butcher shop for your meat—you like to deal with specialists, that's why you go to the man who is best qualified to serve your best interests.
The men's clothing business is becoming a "special line," requiring the entire time and efforts of a specialist—years ago hardware, groceries and clothing were sold over the same counter, but things are different and the specialist has come to stay.
Missoula's leading specialist in men's goods is demonstrating the advantages to be had by dealing with an exclusive men's store.
The hundreds of men who are daily visiting the unloading sale at Link's proves beyond a doubt that Link is delivering the goods—read his advertisement in another part of The Missoulian.
