George Heimbach walked home in a barrel from a swimming expedition Monday night and yesterday those who saw him do the stunt had considerable amusement at his expense. Fred Smith, John Trewhela, George Mapes and Mr. Heimbach went swimming up the river late Monday afternoon. Some of their friends learned about it and two of them, Latimer and Briggs, sneaked up to the swimming hole in an automobile. There was a stealthy approach to the river bank and the rest was easy. Easy, that is, as far as George was concerned. Trewhela was on the bank, dressing, but he didn't see the insurgents; his clothes, however, were safe. Smith's raiment was where it could not be reached without discovery by Trewhela. So Heimbach was the fall guy. His clothes were hustled to the automobile. Accounts differ as to what followed. One thing is certain, however, that George beat his way home in the twilight, tripping daintily along the south bank of the river. Some say he wore a barrel that he found in the Chinese gardens and others assert that he managed to make pair of trousers of Trewhela's coat. But he had things to say yesterday morning when he found out who had done it. And can you blame him?

Charles McInane was in town yesterday on his way from Hamilton to the east, where he is going on a month's trip. Mr. McInane was asked regarding the crop conditions in the valley and was emphatic in his statement that the yield will be fine. "There is a much better hay crop than was expected," said he, "and the grain is in splendid shape. The harvest is well along and the haystacks are rising rapidly. They are bigger and more numerous than it was thought they would be and I am sure the grain crop will turn out the same way. It is going to be found that the yield this season will be fully up to the average. There will be fine apples in the bench-land orchards and a lot of them. In the lower orchards the crop will not be as large but it will be fine in quality."

"You can say for me that Liberal's band is the greatest musical organization that ever came to this part of the country and that everybody who can do so should hear its concert next Monday," said Charlie Searles yesterday. "I heard the concert of this band at Natatorium park in Spokane Sunday and I never listened to such fine music. There is great enthusiasm in Spokane over the band and it was retained a week longer than the original engagement called for. There were thousands of people out to hear the concert last Sunday and they told me it had been that way all through the engagement. If you have the price you should go and hear the concert when the band comes to the Harraoos."

G. S. Kemble and William Reedy, recently of Oklahoma but now firmly wedded to Missoula, further cemented the ties which bind them to western Montana by catching a seven-pound trout yesterday morning at the mouth of the Rat-flesnake. Both are ardent fishermen and they are delighted with a place where such trout as that can be landed inside the city limits. "It was great fishing," said Mr. Kemble after it was all over. "We had caught others there but this is the biggest we have captured. He fought well and gave us good sport and we are more attached to western Montana than ever." Yesterday noon the successful fishermen entertained a few friends at such a trout dinner as is often read about but seldom enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tyack came down from Florence yesterday and spent the day with Missoula friends. They have become thoroughly acclimated now and are real Bitter Rooters, rooting all the time for the valley. They have made the hotel at Florence more than ever popular with travelers and they entertain many Missoula people each week. They were willing to admit yesterday that Missoula is a pretty good place for a change but they insist that the Bitter Root is the only real spot for the thorough enjoyment of life. Each of them bears evidence of the healthfulness of the climate and they are fine advertisements for the valley.

Dr. Riesland returned yesterday from an extended visit in Washington and Oregon and will be at home again for a short time before returning westward to get Mrs. Riesland, who is visiting on the coast. "I had a good trip and a busy one," said the doctor yesterday. "I visited the sound cities and Portland and went up to the mines in which I am somewhat interested. I participated in laying out a townsite at the mouth of the Spokane river and shall go back there before long to see how the town has grown. Missoula looks good—I can see a good many changes since I left. I am glad to see that the heating pipes are being properly laid; they were in bad shape before."

"I finished this noon putting up the first crop of hay on the ranch," said "Its Guest" yesterday. "This morning we shall begin cutting the second crop of alfalfa. The crop is good this year and the weather has been better than usual for haying, but we have had great trouble with labor. It has been impossible to get men who will stay with the work; they will work for a couple of days and then want to quit as soon as they get the price of a meal ticket. I have been haying since June 20; that shows how slow the work has been."

FOREST FIRE FURY UNABATED

REPORTS FROM SEVERAL FORESTS INDICATE SERIOUS DANGER—MEN NEEDED.

A call was received at the local forestry headquarters yesterday from Frenchtown for more men to fight the forest fire which for a number of days has been burning near there. Forestry officials take this to mean that recent winds have made the conflagration more serious. Efforts were made immediately to secure the men needed.

Fifteen men were sent out yesterday to O'Brien creek to help those already on the ground, as reported in yesterday's Missoulian. That this fire, which is located in Dead Man's gulch, has become more threatening is evident to residents of this city by the volume of smoke which rose to the heavens during all the day yesterday, as well as by the gleams of flame which were visible during the night along the face of the mountain to the south. The fire fighters are back-firing on the upper side in order to prevent the flames from consuming their devastating way to the very summit.

Fifteen men were sent also to Grave creek, near Iron Mountain, yesterday to help control the situation there. This is the same fire which has been reported from the Clearwater country and which has been doing great damage for several days. Some of the men who have been working on that fire have become so exhausted as to be compelled to give place to others fresh for the fight.

E. C. Kramer, district engineer, has gone to Summit to assist the rangers in the Lewis and Clark forest, who are fighting the fire reported Monday by District Forester Greeley at Wood's camp, on the line of the Great Northern. The rangers from Jefferson forest, whose assistance at this place was expected, could not answer the summons because already busy with fires in their own reserve.

A telephone message was received yesterday at local headquarters saying that little headway had been made in the work of extinguishing the fire reported in yesterday's Missoulian at Nine Mile, on the Milwaukee right-of-way. In spite of the fact that the railroad has placed on the ground 100 men in addition to the first 60 who were sent there, the fire still rages. The situation is very serious.

J. P. Martin, assistant district forester in charge of operations, has gone to Helena for the purpose of consulting with Engineer Lamo of the geological survey regarding co-operation between the survey and the forest service in the matter of stream measurements.

SHULL IS REGISTER OF OFFICE

HIS COMMISSION ARRIVES FROM THE PRESIDENT AND HE IS READY FOR BUSINESS.

It is Register Shull this morning and there is a new man in charge of the records at the United States land office. Josiah Shull, appointed to succeed Dan Arms, received his commission yesterday; it was the first receiving he did under his appointment. Having vised the document to make sure that it was all right, Mr. Shull presented himself at the land office to receive from his predecessor the documents and other appurtenances of the office to which he had been named. The necessary formalities attended to, Mr. Shull proceeded to prepare. He will enter upon the full performance of his duties Monday morning.

Mr. Shull has received many congratulations upon his appointment. Certain it is, there was never a more worthy selection made and the new receiver enters upon his duties under the most favorable conditions. The office has been admirably administered during the two terms of Mr. Arms and the excellent record that he has made will, it is confidently believed, be fully maintained by the new officer.

The Removal Sale In a Blaze of Glory

It was with that supreme satisfaction that comes with the realization of efforts well directed that we watched the crowds pack the store the last few days.

This will be our last week in the old store. The contractors tell us the new building will be ready by August 1st. We'd rather take a loss than move the merchandise. It's worth just as much to you as though you paid full price.

Closing Out of Piece Goods Forever

We have decided not to carry piece goods in the new store. Instead it will be a complete ready-to-wear store for the whole family. Outings, waistings, draperies, shirtings, towelings, Swisses, etc., at about one-half the usual selling price can be had here the next few days.

BIG GRAIN YIELD ON RESERVE

POLSON MAN TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN THE NEWLY SETTLED DISTRICTS.

C. E. Redeker of Polson is on his way to Coeur d'Alene City, where he will attend the government land sales. He is an enthusiastic as ever about Polson and the reservation country. Speaking last night of conditions on the reservation, Mr. Redeker said:

"There have been some exaggerated reports sent out as to the damage to the crops on the reservation lands—they are good. The men who have farmed right have good yields this season. There the proper methods of dry farming were followed; where the irrigation system was used, the crops are great. It is the men who got in too late who have poor crops; they tried to get grain from late sowing in the spring and they failed as they always will fall under dry farm conditions."

"This morning I watched a combination harvester at work between Polson and Ronan and I was told that the yield of wheat would be more than 10 bushels to the acre. There is certainly nothing poor in that and there are many other farms that will make as good a showing."

JOHNSTON WILL GO TO SEATTLE

THE MISSOULA BILLIARD PARLORS CHANGE HANDS—FRED SMITH IS PURCHASER.

"Pa" Johnston, the proprietor of the Missoula Billiard parlors, has disposed of his business and will soon go to the coast. "Pa" is leaving Missoula on account of the illness of his wife, which compels her to live in a lower altitude. During his stay in Missoula, Mr. Johnston has established a reputation of being absolutely square and dependable in addition to being a good fellow and a thorough sportsman. Mr. Johnston is a member of the local gun club and is no mean fisher and hunter. He will leave the city on Thursday and go to Seattle where his wife is at present. He will go on a month's camping trip as soon as he reaches that city. His many friends in this city will sincerely regret his leaving. Fred Smith, the well-known ball player, has purchased the business and will conduct it personally.

HARRY WASSMAN ON VACATION

ANACONDA MAN TELLS HOW HE LIKES HIS HOLIDAY RECREATION SENSIBLY.

Harry Wassman of Anaconda, who is foreman in the big Washoe smelters, is spending a part of his vacation in Missoula this week. He has been in Montana a long time and in the west a longer time. Last night at the Florence, Mr. Wassman talked with a Missoulian man of his summer trip, which has covered about a month and which will end when he goes from Missoula to Anaconda today.

"I have a peculiar idea about vacation," said he. "For so many years I had to camp out and do my own cooking that I didn't find much rest or recreation in this camping business. I like a cool, comfortable bed and a clean breakfast that somebody else has cooked. Consequently, when I have a vacation, I don't strike for the hills. I just travel leisurely and enjoy myself that way. This summer I have been having a fine time in that way. I have been up around Great Falls and up to Havre; then over to Kallispell and across to Missoula. I have traveled slowly, spending several days in each place and stopping wherever and whenever I want to. I have had a good rest, have met a lot of good people and have enjoyed myself thoroughly. That is my idea of a good vacation."
