THE HOUR'S NEED.

In the work of relief which the citizens of Missoula have undertaken through the agency of the chamber of commerce, there is need for funds. The effective work of yesterday was creditable to the organization, but there is much more to be done.

Secretary Breitenstein, who is in charge of the work of the chamber of commerce, will be glad to receive subscriptions to the relief fund. There were some gratifying contributions yesterday; a good many people sent or brought money without being asked.

THE QUESTION.

At this time and under the existing conditions which call for the direction of our every effort elsewhere, we do not wish to engage in any controversy regarding the case of the under-world secretary who was found guilty by a local jury and sentenced to ten days in jail.

THE COUNTRY'S POPULATION.

Only the extremely cautious will be inclined to find fault with the policy of deliberation pursued by the census bureau. It is manifestly the purpose of the director to make unnecessary or impossible, the recounts that have had to be carried on at great expense and great loss of time.

Missoula's response to the night call for aid was characteristically prompt and hearty. When Secretary Breitenstein called for help, he found plenty of willing, able volunteers.

READY FOR BUSINESS.

The Missoula laundry has completed the repairs to its plant and will resume business this morning, full blast, after the interruption caused by the fire which damaged the place last week.

SERIOUS CONDITION.

Guest Moser was one of the Saltsee people who came in on the rescue train. He brought his family and was glad to escape, he said, with them.

with popular expectation and to look for a population of 90,000,000 now. One fruitful source of disappointment, both as regards local and national gains of many years, has been found to the proclivity to use liberal round figures in making future estimates.

THE BIBLE STYLE.

Every now and then, when things get dull, some preacher, insurgent or progressive, comes forward with a suggestion for improving the style of the Bible. In some quarters there seems to be a mania for tampering with the Great Book.

The style of the preacher and the style of the Bible are different matters. Some one has recently said, "Along with issues of faith, an important literary equation enters. The book has grown old in sonority and a superb dignity, as well as in purity of tone."

The situation is bad enough without any effort to make it worse, and the circulation of unfounded stories should cease.

The men who have sneered at the alarm felt over the fire situation wish they hadn't been so brash.

It isn't the first time Wallace has been damaged and she has always come up standing.

If you have some clothing to spare send it to the chamber of commerce for distribution amongst the needy.

In the mad whirl, if snowdrifts and floods fall, there is always the chance of a fire to fall back upon.

When Secretary Breitenstein called for help, he found plenty of willing, able volunteers.

Missoula's response to the night call for aid was characteristically prompt and hearty.

By way of shop talk, we may remark that you get the news in The Missoulian.

Everybody can help some. Offer your services at the chamber of commerce.

Sympathy is the "one touch of nature that makes the whole world akin."

The Sisters of Charity, as always, are the heroines of the situation.

We grieve for Wallace, but we glory in her pluck.

It is bad enough, but it might be much worse.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial.

The German Advance

XVIII.—Political Agitation.

(By Frederic J. Haskin.)

Deep seated political discontent is responsible for the preliminary mumbings of political revolution in Germany. The people are angry with their government, and there is more political agitation in Germany now than at any time since the formation of the empire.

Involvement in the complexities of the German constitution, and obscured by the multiplicity of political party organizations, it is difficult to describe the exact nature of the pending political battle. However, the chief aim of all the progressive elements in imperial politics is to change the working constitution so that the government will be responsible to the parliament elected by the people.

The framers of the American constitution sought to separate the three chief functions of government, and to that end entrusted all administrative duties to the president and his cabinet, wholly irresponsible to congress.

Immediately after the finance bill was passed the reichstag session was closed, and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg was appointed imperial chancellor to succeed Von Buelow.

ment. It is certain however that the lines succeeded in precipitating the political agitation of the ministerial question, and that that agitation will continue until the problem is solved.

REMARKABLE CASE OF ADVERTISING SUCCESS

One of the most remarkable cases of advertising success during the past decade or more is that of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. While this medicinal whiskey has been before the American people since 1880, vigorous advertising was only begun 11 years ago, and during these 11 years this company has paid to the daily newspapers of the United States about $4,000,000 for advertising.

"I always felt that with a meritorious article, if one could have the courage to use the daily press liberally, so as to acquaint the reader with the real worth of the article advertised, he would inevitably meet with success."

"Advertising is a science requiring knowledge and skill. Your copy must be convincing so as to attract the attention of the consumers, the rest depends on the standard of the goods advertised."

A Telephone Accomplishment

For the first time in the history of the telephone industry in the United States a telephone exchange has been opened for service at full capacity. The Automatic plant right here in Missoula holds this record.

Success never comes without a cause. Success in this instance is attributable to two causes—pride in a home enterprise and a widespread appreciation of a service which, aside from its modern advantages, has shown Missoula telephone users the difference between public service and private service.

Missoula is now connected by long distance lines with Butte, Anaconda, Deer Lodge, Stevensville, Helena, Great Falls, Bozeman, Livingston, Billings and intermediate points—all independent and all better.
