

NUMBER DEAD IN MICHIGAN WRECK

ESTIMATES VARY, BUT LIST OF TWENTY HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED AT DURAND.

INJURED TO HOSPITAL

Full Details of Appalling Disaster on Boston & Montreal Express Are Yet Meager. Cause of Wreck Is Still a Mystery and Inquest Will Be Held—Passengers Could Not Escape.

Durand, Mich., Aug. 25.—With the clearing away today of the ruins of the wrecked and burned Pullman sleeping car Nebraska probably has disappeared all hopes of determining the actual number of lives lost last night, when the rear section of the Boston & Montreal express from Chicago crashed into the forward section of a Grand Trunk train three miles east of this village. Estimates of the number of dead vary from eight or a dozen to possibly 20.

The known dead: MRS. ALMA WOODWARD, Bellefield, N. D.

MRS. E. OILPIN, 425 East Forty-sixth place, Chicago.

JAMES M'BREAN, letter carrier, Chicago.

MISS SWINGER, trained nurse, traveling with Mrs. Woodward.

MRS. KATHERINE SQUIRE, Chicago.

HAROLD SQUIRE, aged 10 years, son of Mrs. Katherine Squires. Portions of bodies from 6 to 12 persons were also found.

The following are at the Jurley hospital, this city, badly injured: Burt Mitchell, Battle Creek, engineer of train No. 14; head bruised; condition critical. Arthur Wall, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada; face and hands burned. Mrs. Kate McBean, Chicago; right leg fractured and bruised. Mrs. Lester Doehler, Taclostock, Ont.; fractured leg and bruises.

Injured to Hospital. The injured who were taken to the hospital at Durand are: George Nelson, Battle Creek, fireman on No. 4; badly scalded, probably will die. Clinton A. Davis, Montreal, scalded, probably fatal. Mrs. M. Steitzy, Dubuque, Iowa, upper lip cut and severely bruised. Charles Spencer, Battle Creek, engineer on No. 4, is said to have been badly injured, but his name does not appear on the list given out by the railroad officials.

One report was that 20 passengers had been in the Nebraska yesterday at Chicago, and that eight more were taken on as the train proceeded eastward, but the car porter said there were only 18 persons asleep in the car when the wreck occurred. If the number on board was 18 the six injured passengers today taken to Flint and Durand hospitals and the six bodies recovered would account for 12, leaving six persons to be accounted for.

The forward section, which was known as No. 14, had stopped because of an accident to the airbrakes, and Engineer Mitchell had crawled under his engine to locate the trouble. Mitchell's head was terribly crushed when his engine was jolted forward by the shock of the collision.

Ploughed into Sleeper. The locomotive of the section section, known as No. 4, ploughed half-way through the rear sleeper of the forward train and the locomotive's firebox set fire to the Pullman car.

The passengers in the rear berths had not the slightest chance to escape, and those not killed as the locomotive forged through the sleeper, were burned to death. Half a dozen passengers, however, seriously injured, were rescued from the forward berths.

The body of James McBean has not been identified, but he is known to have been lost in the wreck, and the woman and child who have not been identified are believed to be mother and son, as the little one was found in the woman's arms. A blackened watch, a diamond-studded crucifix and a locket bearing the initials "H. S. L." were found in the search for clues to the identity of the burned corpses.

Cause a Mystery. The cause of the wreck is a mystery and an inquest will be held.

Engineer Spencer of the second section of the train, when he heard the torpedo signal that there was a train standing on the track ahead of him, said today that he was almost on top of the forward section. An exploded torpedo was found today 50 rail lengths from the scene of the collision, and Assistant Superintendent Ehreke of the Grand Trunk railroad said that the second section could have been stopped in 800 feet.

Brakeman G. Graham of the forward section today asserted that he ran back nearly a mile with the torpedo, and that he waved a red light to stop the oncoming train. Graham also disputed Engineer Spencer of the section train that the rear lights of the forward section were not burning.

This evening Graham could not be located by the officials.

Growsome Scenes. The wreck was characterized by all the growsome scenes attending a railroad disaster at midnight. Farmers, who ran from their homes to assist in the work of rescue, were held back by the flames and compelled to stand helpless witnesses of the roasting of a human body, which burned and fell to pieces before their eyes.

Superintendent Ehreke's statement says that there were 18 passengers in the Pullman, and this is borne out by Captain Haynes' chart and the list given out at Chicago by H. G. Elliott, first assistant general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk.

SIX PASSENGERS KILLED

Durand, Mich., Aug. 25.—Superintendent Ehreke of the Grand Trunk tonight gave out a statement that six passengers were killed, five were injured and eight escaped without injury late last night in the Grand Trunk rear-end collision three miles east of here, when the Pullman car Nebraska on eastbound train No. 14 was demolished and set on fire by the locomotive of passenger train No. 4.

MAYOR GAYNOR IS INTERESTED IN BUSINESS

New York, Aug. 25.—Mayor Gaynor's recovery has advanced to the stage where he is beginning to make plans for picking up municipal business where he left it 16 days ago when he was shot. No date for the mayor's discharge from St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, has been fixed, but Sunday is now spoken of.

WEATHER MAN OFFERS RAY OF HOPE

will cause many of the fires to die out. In the present state of mind of the forest service and the public, however, the paramount question is the safety of rangers and settlers. The trees can take care of themselves.

Water Supply in Danger

Portland, Ore., Aug. 25.—With forest fires sweeping across into the Bull Run watershed, Portland's water supply is in danger tonight. A strong guard has been placed at a bridge west of McIntyre's Inn, which carries the big pipe line, while at other points employees of the city water department and the forestry service are co-operating to protect the aqueduct with every drop of water used here which comes from the Bull Run stream.

In the district between Portland and Mount Hood fires are burning. It is estimated that 20 families, having lost their homes and all their belongings, are now walking the 30 miles distance between the worst fires and Portland. Campers and vacationists have been telephoning to the city all day for automobiles and vehicles of any kind with which to escape from the threatened district. Two summer hotels have been burned and the town of Sandy is in danger. Ashes and cinders have been falling in Portland today.

Fires Abate in Idaho

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 25.—The forests which border Bayfield creek, near Salmon City and Spencer, towns in east central Idaho, are abate tonight, according to advices which have reached District Forester B. E. Sherman. Railroad employees have been battling throughout the day against the fires. An area 20 miles in length and eight miles wide is in the grasp of the flames. Forester Sherman has arranged to send a crew of rangers northward tonight.

Perish at Avery

Butte, Aug. 25.—Two fire fighters, shipped from Butte, have perished in the fire at Avery. They are G. A. Blodgett and Peter Googan. There is a Peter Googan, who was also shipped from Butte and is still at the fire center, and his Butte relatives have been apprehensive lest he may have been the man who perished. Forest Supervisor Schick checked up on the shipments of men made to Avery this morning and found that two men with names quite similar, Googan and Grogan, were shipped August 4. The dead man is Peter Googan. He was in the party which was penned in the fire near Avery with all avenues of escape cut off.

Under Control at Gallatin

Bozeman, Aug. 25.—Forest Supervisor Conkling tonight announced that he would order the Bozeman militia company to return to their homes, as the fire in the Gallatin forest is under control. Many of the soldiers have been engaged as private citizens, however, to fight fires which are still menacing an immense area of fine timber and in the event of a stiff wind would spread rapidly.

Serious at Elk Park

Butte, Aug. 25.—The forest fire at Elk Park today jumped the lines set by the rangers yesterday and an additional force of 25 men was sent out to the locality by Supervisor D. T. Mason. A gang of 50 men is now combating the fire.

"The light rain and fall of snow, which seemed to quench the fire for a time, will do little good unless it is followed by more," said Supervisor Mason this evening. "Furthermore, we will have to maintain strict vigilance for many weeks until the snow falls, for the danger of fire is very great."

The fire at Elk Park, which covers an area of approximately 500 acres, is the most serious one in this locality.

Fires Incendiary

Klamath Falls, Ore., Aug. 25.—The belief is becoming stronger that many of the forest fires near here are of incendiary origin. It was said here today that a reward of $10,000 will be offered by the government and that detectives will soon enter the district to search for evidence. The worst fires are being kept on the western slope of the Cascades.

Oregon Town Destroyed

Portland, Ore., Aug. 25.—The town of Flora, Ore., has been destroyed, according to reports which reached Astoria, Wash., tonight. The flames came from the forest on the south side of the Blue mountains. The town is in ruins and its 400 inhabitants are homeless. Communication is cut off.

SPENDING MILLIONS FOR HOTELS

NEW YORK IS HITTING THE HIGH PLACES HARDER THAN EVER IN MANY WAYS.

New York, Aug. 25.—With $50,000,000 now being spent in the construction of new hotels to be completed in the next few months outstrip all other competitors for the title of the greatest hotel city in the world. By January 1, it is now expected, there will be in operation no less than 2,500 hotels capable of accommodating nearly a third of a million persons, and able to feed at least 2,000,000 daily. As these figures do not include boarding houses or apartment buildings, it is probable that the total transient population which Father Knickerbocker will be able to house by 1911 will considerably exceed the million mark. Many causes have led to the remarkable increase in hotel construction in spite of the fact that on upper Broadway there is hardly a block which does not contain at least one hotel, while many squares are given over to them solidly. Of course, there are numerous hotels in other parts of the city, but for obvious reasons. Broadway has remained the hotel thoroughfare. A walk along the three-mile stretch between the old Astor house, famous before the war, to the new hotel which Charles Tector, of restaurant fame, has nearly completed at Forty-fourth street, reveals in a striking manner the advances which have been made in hotel construction during the more than half a century. Between the former, which now is the oldest hotel of any note in the city, and the latter, which embodies all that has come through 50 years' development, the successive stages of advancement are clearly marked not only in ever-increasing size, but in all other details as well. While this newest hotel is by no means the largest in the city, since size has been made secondary to completeness, it would easily make half a dozen of the old Astor house, while in point of service there could, of course, be no comparison. Certainly with all the hotel construction which is now going on, New York will be able to make a strong bid for 1915 world's fair on the ground that this city is far better equipped than any other to care for vast throngs of visitors. Incidentally, it matters keep on as they are now going, it will not be many years before hotel row will stretch almost solidly up to Central park. At present it is estimated that the amount of money invested in hotels in this city is greater than the national debt.

After a lapse of more than a year New York's most famous practical joker, who has achieved as much fame in his field as has Clarence Denny, an after-dinner speaker, has again jumped into the limelight, and this time at the expense of the city administration itself. Britan G. Hughes is the name of the man who, popularly known as "B. G.," has taken more advantage of the credulity of New Yorkers than any man living. He it was who fed and groomed an alley cat, sent it to the aristocratic cat show and won a blue ribbon over all sorts of blooded competitors. Likewise it was "B. G." who brought a proprietor of a famous restaurant almost to tears by "accidentally finding" a set of false teeth in his soup. Also, it was his alleged blooded horse "Pul-deka" which took a prize at a local horse show to the great consternation of other exhibitors. The animal in question was a street car horse, its name indicating that it had pulled a car. While all these accomplishments of Mr. Hughes were without financial profit, his latest joke, which has just come to light, has won him the new sum of $2,440. Some five years ago, according to the evidence at hand, there were 10 rooms in one of the downtown court buildings for which the city had no use. The sinking fund commission was in a quandary as to what disposition to make of the empty rooms, when a bright-eyed, smallish man with a bald head wandered into one of the meetings, explained that he understood the building was a heavy expense to the city and offered to take the rooms off their hands at a monthly rental of $25. The commissioners almost fell on Mr. Hughes' neck when he paid the first month's rent. This week, however, one of the commissioners discovered that Mr. Hughes has been subletting the rooms in question at a monthly rental of $99, leaving a net profit of $44 a month for the last five years. As a result the joke, of the most practical nature, has cost the city $2,440. Mr. Hughes' lease will not be renewed.

COLONEL OUTLINES HIS CREED

The crowd found the conversation enjoyable.

"What do you think of 'Gopher'?" a tall man asked.

The colonel turned and smote the chief on the shoulder, "he's an old friend of mine," he rejoined.

After posing for photographers the colonel retired to his car.

Refers to Car Strike

Toledo, O., Aug. 25.—Transferring of mails delayed the fast train of the Lake Shore 20 minutes this afternoon and gave Colonel Roosevelt more time than he had anticipated to address the great crowd assembled at the union station. He referred again to conditions relative to the street car strike at Columbus, O. He said: "We do not allow individuals to fight out their own differences. The government settles these differences for them. Neither can we allow big corporations to fight out their differences with employees if disorder results. We cannot allow mob rule."

"How About 1912?"

A workman at the rear of the train called out above the tumult: "Teddy, how about 1912?"

Colonel Roosevelt smiled but made no reply.

"I want to talk of questions that are alive," he continued. "Questions that affect us all. We want to shape things so that every American citizen can earn a living and be protected in his rights. Dishonesty and greed must be fought with absolute fearlessness without reference to public officials and whom it may hit."

"I say I am with the poor man. I am—I tried straight. If a man will go crooked in our interests he will also be crooked against us."

As Colonel Roosevelt concluded his remarks a policeman in the crowd moved toward the rear platform to shake hands with him. Reaching toward the officer Colonel Roosevelt remarked: "I was on the force in New York myself."

NASAL CATARRH.

Henry L. Britton Says It Is Easy to Get Rid Of.

"My head, nose and glands leading to my eyes and nose were stopped up and swollen. I tried several so-called cathartic cures, but Hyomei, used thoroughly, did the curing. There is nothing too good to say in favor of Hyomei. I cured my nasal catarrh."—Henry L. Britton, Frost St., Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mee) cures catarrh, because it gets where the germs are, and destroys them. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, mixed with other healing antiseptics. When breathed over the irritated and inflamed membrane, it gives relief in two minutes.

Used regularly for a few weeks, it will build up and heal the germ-infested membrane and drive out catarrh. If you own a small Hyomei pocket inhaler, you can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists everywhere, or at Geo. Freishelmer's in Missoula, for 50 cents. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a complete outfit, the price is $1. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup or sore throat or money back.

much brought to notice before, since statistics have been collected these figures would seem to indicate that the doctors are justified in charging more for their services here than in other places, because it costs them more and takes longer to establish a paying practice.

This city has just been treated, for what must be at least the hundredth time, to the re-discovery of the treasure which Captain Kidd is supposed to have buried somewhere between Florida and Newfoundland. This time it came to light in New York itself, or rather in that part of the greater city known as Staten Island. Its discoverer, which settled there 25 years ago has spent every Sunday and holiday since his arrival from Ireland in tramping the island in search of the treasure which he felt certain had been buried there. In spite of the ridicule of his neighbors he has persisted in his hunt, and this week his perseverance was rewarded by the discovery of a large chest filled with what appeared to be gold coins and ingots. His jubilation was short-lived however, for closer examination revealed the fact that the coins were merely gilded pennies and the ingots lumps of brass, a "plant" prepared by his neighbors who had grown tired of his search. So Captain Kidd's treasure still remains safe in spite of the great number of times it has been discovered.

One of the strongest freaks of nature which has been seen in this city for a long time is now attracting a large amount of attention at the Bronx Zoo. This freak is a white fawn which was recently born there and it is made doubly interesting because of the fact that both its father and mother are plain red deer with not so much as a single spot of white in their coats. Not only is the youngster pure white, but he has also white rings in his eyes which give him an uncanny appearance. He is a source of endless interest to children because of the frequent mention and wonderful dailings of the white deer in fairy tales. These animals are extremely rare and the great majority of hunters are so superstitious about them that they will not shoot them, it being an almost worldwide belief that to do so brings bad luck.
