PUBLIC INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS

MAJOR PARKE HAS ISSUED INVITATIONS TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO ATTEND.

"To the President of the Chamber of Commerce, Missoula, Montana.—Sir: On behalf of Major Shattuck, constructing quartermaster, and myself, as well as the other officers of the post, I have the honor to extend to you and to each and all of the members of your body a cordial invitation to visit the post on Friday next, from 2:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., to inspect the new quarters on the eve of their opening and to witness a special musical drill and parade, which will be given if the weather is favorable, and a band concert, which will be given in any event indoors if the weather is unfavorable.
"Hoping you will see that this invitation reaches every member of your club, I have the honor to remain, yours very respectfully,
"J. S. PARKE,
"Major Fourteenth Infantry, Commanding.
"Fort Missoula, November 22, 1910."

The New Fort.
The above letter was received yesterday by J. M. Keith, president of the chamber of commerce. It is good news and means that the new quarters at the post, which have been in course of construction for the past year, are entirely completed and ready for occupancy. The new buildings and the accompanying outside improvements have cost nearly half a million of dollars and the completed work, which is only one unit of what is to be the new and enlarged Fort Missoula, now points to what a beautiful place will be the result of the completed plans.
The prospective occupancy of the new buildings is the cause of much rejoicing at the post by both the officers and the men. The chamber of commerce will accept the invitation of Major Parke and will go in a body to the fort Friday afternoon to participate in the formal inspection of the buildings.

W. O. W. Entertainment.
Starting November 24, ending March 23, 1911, the Woodmen of the World will give a series of entertainments monthly. Premiums will be given each evening. At the end of the series a gold watch will be given as a premium. The watch may be seen on display in the window of Schanders Brothers' jewelry store. Admission, 25 cents. Public cordially invited.
