IMPORTANT MATTER DISCUSSED

JUDGE CHEADLE LECTURES ON THE "MASTER AND SERVANTS" LAWS OF MONTANA.

Judge Cheadle delivered his second law lecture in the university library yesterday, taking as his subject the relations between master and servant under the laws of Montana.

"A great majority of people in the United States earn their living in one way or another, are wage earners, and gain their livelihood by manual labor. Such persons usually work for someone else, some man or corporation, who is their employer.

"In the hazardous employments, however, such as mining, milling, rail-roading and electrical working, other questions of liability arise. It is safe to say that in Montana alone as many men are killed and injured every year as would be killed and wounded in a good sized military engagement.

"The public has a further interest in the matter: Every year a host of dependent women and children are deprived of their bread-winners by industrial fatalities, and these dependent ones are thrown upon their own feeble resources, or upon public help for maintenance.

"The employer owes to the employee the duty of providing him with a safe place to work, with proper appliances and tools, and competent supervision of his employment.

"I believe that the laws on this subject in this state are still too lenient to the master, too harsh to the servant, and disadvantageous to the public.

"The present laws are not wholly just or satisfactory, either to the employing or the employed classes, and their practical result is often to leave dependent women and children in great distress, often making it necessary for children of tender years to earn their own maintenance, and depriving them of the advantages of education and care necessary to their proper development, physical and mental and moral.

In the main event on a wrestling bill given at the Dream roller skating rink last night, R. A. (Rube) Dishmon threw John Behr, a Chicago semi-pro, styling himself the "Battling German," twice, taking the event.

Preliminary to the big event Miller and Fitzgerald, two middle weights, entertained the audience with a good exhibition of catch-as-catch-can mat wrestling.

THE WEATHER CLOUDY

Yesterday the weather man gave further proof that the cold spell is all over, for the thermometer mounted to 43 degrees above zero, being above zero and never dropped below 35.

been elected. In fact, judging from what he hears, Silver Bow shapes the destinies of many men, and measures, Missoula, Sanders and Flathead need not have any fear of losing dirt enough to form Lake—the proposed county—until Silver Bow knows what is what about the reapportionment lineup.

Private Banks. Bankers and other business men of the state are interested in the proposition to control private banks.

Bankers and other business men of the state are interested in the proposition to control private banks. "Governor Norris" said a visitor to me today, "has recommended state supervision for all private banks. This is a step in the right direction but Montana must line up with other progressive states on this proposition and cut out the private bank."

Senatorial Contest. The senatorial contest is lifeless at this time. You can't start an argument about it. The Walsh and Conrad forces do not seem to make progress.

There is some concern about the Missoula democratic delegation. One of the propositions heard about the caucus is for an unconditional democratic caucus.

This is one of the many things facing Missoula democrats. Messrs. Woody and Berry have drawn several lucky cards here, Speaker McDowell, whom, it is said, Mr. Woody opposed and Mr. Berry supported, has been kind to at least two of the Missoula democrats.

The name of Governor Norris is mentioned freely in connection with the senatorship. Were it not for the fact that his immediate successor would name him as a compromise, there are those who believe that he will get the plum.
