TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1911.

INTEREST QUICKENS.

The Missoulian's circulation contest will be a winner. This much may be safely predicted at the very start. Never in the history of newspaper work in the state was there such a quick response as was elicited by the announcement, made Sunday morning, that the contest was on.

A NEW NEIGHBOR.

The Missoula Sentinel, which has come to occupy the afternoon local field, made its appearance yesterday. The Missoulian hastens to welcome its new neighbor, whose salutatory announcements that its purpose is to assist in the advancement of the city's interests.

HONOR TO MYERS.

The people of Hamilton are planning a banquet for next Saturday night in honor of the election of their townsman, Henry L. Myers, to the federal senate. It is expected that the banquet will be graced by the presence of prominent democrats from all parts of the state and that there will be many of the personal friends of the senator-elect who are not of his party faith.

THEIR OPPORTUNITY.

It is generally understood that Harper's Weekly is owned and that its policy is directed in a general way by J. P. Morgan. This fact gives added interest to the following editorial in that publication, which needs no further comment.

entific management may have had its effect on the minds of the commissioners, but their decision is based on a study of earnings, business, wages, and the cost of supplies. "Something should be expected," they say, "from the introduction of additional economies, but perhaps not to the same extent as in the past."

LORIMER'S PLACE.

On the morning after the senate voted to retain Lorimer of Illinois, The Missoulian expressed the belief that the vote of the senators would not settle the case, even though it kept for Lorimer his tainted chair; that the people had formed their own opinion and that the public verdict would be the one which history would record.

The Chicago Tribune, which newspaper in a sense the complainant in the Lorimer case, has this to say of the senate's vote: "The vote, when corrected, leaves Lorimer a majority of four. This mathematical measure of his vindication, and the quality of the vote cast for him, will more than wipe out his majority in the senate of the nation."

The Tribune dissects the character of the Lorimer vote, calling attention to the fact that the senators who voted to retain Lorimer are those known as the "system" senators, including Hale, Gallinger, du Pont, Guggenheim, Carter and others.

There are two members of the Texas legislature who love a joke. They, therefore, yesterday introduced a resolution, asking Lorimer and Bailey to come and address the Texans on "Purity in Politics." That the resolution was not passed shows that the Lone Star men, as a rule, are devoid of humor.

Those who argue for the Canadian reciprocity measure, base their talk upon the general principle of reciprocity; this does not enter into the present case, as there is little or no general reciprocity in the proposed measure.

The transport Buford, carrying supplies to famine-stricken China, emphasizes the fact that America is the storehouse of the world and that its people are promptest to respond to the call for help.

Senator Myers is suffering already the penalties of greatness. There are hardly two papers in the state which spell his name the same way. He is everything from "Meyer" to "Mires."

The girl who wins The Missoulian's first prize, a bungalow in Residence addition, will get one of the requisites of a happy life.

Though Professor Aber was present at the Taft dinner to Yale '78, he should not be held responsible for the extra-session call.

Each one of us should adopt as his own the motto of Oscar J. Craig—"The University of Montana, it must prosper."

The entries in The Missoulian's contest will close March 14. Get your candidates listed at once.

The extra session of congress is not receiving any notable applause from either side of the house.

The Missoulian's contest offer continues to furnish the theme of great local interest.

The development of the state university shows how well its first president builded.

Rev. Dr. Aked has discovered that more money does not make a church.

The grief over the demise of Dr. Craig is sincere; all Montana shares it.

The more boosters we have, the better the work will succeed.

Boise, Idaho, has joined the grand-jury towns.

DECIDES TO REVIEW.

Washington, March 6.—The supreme court of the United States today decided to review the legal controversy which has been carried on for several years over the settlement of the estate, said to be measured by millions, of Rev. William Perry of Michigan. Rev. Mr. Perry, who was a missionary among the Indians at Mackinaw, died in 1867, leaving several children, among whom were Lieutenant Colonel William Perry, United States Senator Thomas W. Ferry and Edward P. Perry of Utah.

ASSIGNED TO COLORADO.

Denver, March 6.—Lieutenant Colonel Frederick Sibley, recently commandant at West Point military academy, is to be the new inspector general of the department of Colorado in succession to Colonel Wilder, in accordance with an announcement at department headquarters today. Colonel Sibley is not new to western territory, being an old Indian fighter.

Editors Praise Myers

Montana editorial comment upon the election of Senator Myers has been general and, in the main, flattering to the Red Apple senator. The following extracts from the state's editorial pages show how the result of the senatorial election is regarded:

(Western News.) However amazing the fecundity of this valley in any field of endeavor may appear to the outsider, the average Bitter Root accepts it as a matter of course.

Hence it was that, although somewhat dazed for a moment by the vividness, unaccompanied, as it was, by any premonitory roar, the flash of legislative lightning that left a United States senator in our midst did not cease to be gentle Bitter Rooters—the fact that the solons had to come to the Bitter Root to get the timber with which to pick the deadlock. Not at all! It's the common boast hereabouts that "anything will grow in the Bitter Root, from red apples to United States senators."

The election of Judge Myers to the United States senate is extremely gratifying to the people of Hamilton and doubtless will be well received throughout Montana. His ability is of high order; he is affable, obliging and industrious—indispensable. His career as judge has been highly creditable. Since his elevation to the bench he has held aloof from active participation in politics. As to latter-day issues, however, he is a progressive.

That he will prove true to himself, his state and country and render most valuable public service in a wider sphere is the confident prediction of numerous local friends and admirers of all parties. The Western News extends most cordial congratulations and best wishes.

(Plainsman.) Mr. Myers is judge of the Fourth judicial district, which includes Ravalli, Missoula and Sanders counties. He was appointed judge following the organization of Sanders county two years ago was elected to the same position by a handsome majority. The new senator delivered the memorial address in Plains three years ago and has many friends here who congratulate him on his new honors. Mr. Myers is one of the leaders of democracy in western Montana.

The state and the democratic party is to be congratulated in the selection of such an able, clean-cut, fearless, honest, free from trickery and upright a man as Judge Myers. As presiding officer of the court, he has retained the friendship of all litigants by his fair and impartial rulings.

(Stevensville Register.) Even though we were hoping that the democrats would fail to elect, we could not repress our elation at the signal honor paid to one of the foremost citizens of the state and a resident of this county when the legislature selected Hon. H. L. Myers of Hamilton to succeed Mr. Carter in the federal senate. It was an unexpected tribute, but none the less deserved. Senator Myers is a man of honor and integrity and is one upon whom Montana can depend to represent her ably and well. We rejoice in his election and herewith tender to Senator Myers and the state our congratulations. The state has done well in its selection and the senator will do well in Washington.

(Kallispell Bee.) Senator Myers is endowed with the intelligence, tact and statesmanship that makes good representatives and the people of the nation, as well as Montana, will soon know him as one of the ablest men in the United States senate.

(Pony Express.) Senator Myers is a poor man, and probably could not be rated over $2,000 at the outside, and his election is a triumph for cleanliness in politics.

(Livingston Post.) Judge Myers, or Senator Myers, as we should call him now, is certainly a political accident. Perhaps, and probably, he will be a fortunate accident. This newspaper has no means of knowing whether he is senatorial timber or not. The opportunity will present itself for his demonstration very shortly. He is stepping into the shoes of a big, brainy, resourceful man of long experience. Nobody will dispute that the job cut out for Senator Myers is one that will tax his ability to the straining point. Very few men in the United States could serve in the senate as Thomas H. Carter has done, being all the time with the big interests and yet so active and so cunning in "behalf of the people" as to ward off suspicion and discovery for such a length of years. It is probable that Judge Myers has no desire to emulate such a record, and it is to be hoped that he does not.

(Madisonian.) He has made good in his practice at the bar and on the bench and it is the opinion of the Madisonian that he will continue to make good.

(Townsend Star.) Judge Myers is a staunch democrat and is acceptable to both the Conrad and Walsh factions of the party. He has enjoyed public honors in various capacities, as county attorney, state senator and during the past few years he has occupied the exalted position of judge in his district. He is an able man and in no wise owned or controlled by corporate influence.

(Beaton River Press.) The new senator is not a Montana citizen of state-wide prominence; he has not been conspicuous in public affairs except on one occasion, about twelve years ago, when he was a member of the legislative assembly. At that session there was a sensational exposure of alleged bribery in connection with the senatorial contest. Mr. Whiteside flashing a $30,000 bunch of currency, which he represented as bribe money paid to three members of the assembly to vote for W. A. Clark. Mr. Myers, according to our recollection, was one of the three decoys ability, a good lawyer, a fine public speaker and to have a creditable record on the bench. He was a member of the legislature at the time of the Clark senatorial scandal, and worked with Senator Whiteside in the attack on Clark. Personally he is said to be clean and popular, and it is believed he will make a creditable representative of the state in the senate.

(Moore Nonpareil.) The result as far as can be learned at this time is satisfactory to the state generally. The democratic party are in much better position to go before the people than they would have been had they continued the deadlock and allowed a vacancy to exist for the next two years. The full facts in the matter are not available at this time but the state is to be congratulated on the final result.

(Great Falls Leader.) In appearance Judge Myers is tall, light complexioned, of slow and deliberate movement, and an earnest talker. Slow to make acquaintance, Judge Myers is not well known throughout the state, but possesses a number of loyal friends, and stands well in his profession and in the community in which he lives.

(Kallispell Times.) Twenty-seven ballots were taken on the last day of the session, Thursday, there being little hope of a choice, until the man from Victor, O'Hara, nominated Judge Henry L. Myers of Hamilton. There was a stampered and Myers received 53 votes, the full democratic strength. Mr. Carter's faithful 45 along through every ballot, in a forlorn hope that some democrat might break over. The Walsh vote went to Hartman two days before the close of the session, but Conrad's twenty-odd were always in evidence. The democrats were afraid to go home without electing a United States senator, so at the last, they flocked to Judge Myers, who is acceptable to the interests, having been attorney for the Daly estate, in Hamilton, several years previous to his election as district judge. Myers was also a member of the notorious boodle legislature, which made Clark famous. His election is said to have been a surprise to him, as his name had never been mentioned until the last night of the legislature, as a dark horse. The United States senators from the Bitter Root valley is going some.

(Dawson County Review.) The biennial talkfest, sometimes called the Montana legislature, is ended at Helena, and just at the eleventh hour—when it seemed that no election would occur—the democrats broke their deadlock and elected Judge Henry L. Myers of Hamilton to succeed Thomas H. Carter in the United States senate.

As indicating how little this man was considered a socialist or a muckraker, his name had never once been mentioned throughout the entire session up to the time he was elected. He was, in fact, the darkest kind of a dark horse, and a man comparatively little known throughout the state, except that he was a factor in the Clark-Daly struggles of a dozen years ago, being then known as a "Daly man."

And this is the man whom the people—through their accredited representatives—have chosen to displace at Washington Senator Thomas H. Carter, a republican, and one of the ablest and cleanest statesmen of the country. It is interesting to note that Senator Myers has "started right," anyway. In a speech at Hamilton, as quoted in a dispatch from that city, he told his neighbors that he would be a "thorough democrat in all matters except those pertaining to western Montana."

That his election as United States senator is satisfactory to the Amalgamated, there cannot be the least question. Did he not receive the entire democratic vote? Aye, let it be recorded, he did. He, therefore, received the votes of the three democrats from Madison county, including Senator Duncan, whose campaign was fought on the basis of his hostility to the Amalgamated and whose brilliant campaign poster, headed "Shall the People Rule?" will be pleasantly remembered by many republicans of Madison county. Let it be so recorded!

(Fromberg Herald.) Henry L. Myers of Ravalli county is the dark-horse senator, and it is said he is so strongly Amalgamated that you can smell copper in the water he bathes his face in.

(Kallispell Inter Lake.) The state does not know much of Judge Myers, the new senator, but those who know him speak highly of him. He was appointed by Governor Toole as one of the judges of the Fourth judicial district, composed of Missoula, Ravalli and Sanders counties, when a second judge for the district was provided by the legislature, and at the following election was chosen as his own successor. He is said to be a man of experience and (Virginia City Times.) Mr. Myers is a fine gentleman, a good lawyer and judge, but he will rather be found in one of Senator Carter's shoes, let alone filling both. Judge Myers' most ardent admirers will never predict his setting the world on fire. State senator from Marcus Daly's home county, he distinguished himself as an adherent of the copper king in the memorable contest of 1899, when Montana was dripping with the shame of the Clark senatorial contest. For his fidelity in that contest his friends have been grateful.
