

MADERO TRIPS O'ER WAXEN FLOORS

INSURRECTO LEADER IS GUEST AT A FORMAL LATIN-AMERICAN DANCE.

HE WILL DEPART TODAY

Special This Morning Will Begin Journey to Mexico City, Preceded by Pilot Train and Guarded by Soldiers—'Long Tom,' Rebel Cannon, is Presented to City of El Paso.

Juarez, June 1.—Francisco I. Madero, Jr., tonight attended a formal ball given in the ballroom of the customs house, where two years ago President Diaz in great splendor received President Taft.

That Senor Madero, however, was not solely engrossed in the ball was evident from the frequency with which he consulted with his officers concerning his trip to Mexico City.

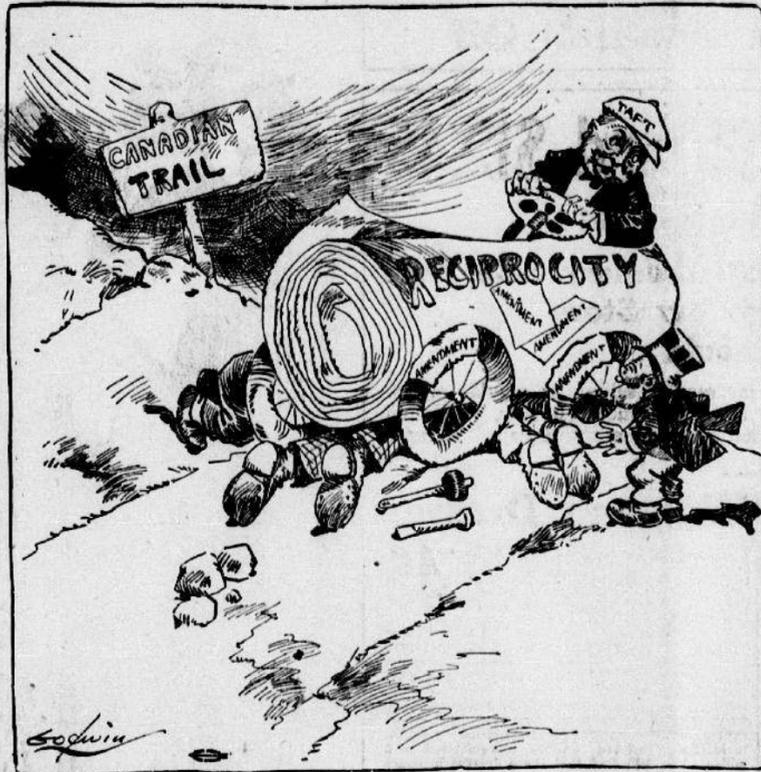

Extraordinary precautions are being taken for the safety of the train. A thorough inspection of the railroad tracks is to be made and a pilot train is to precede the special to look for any dynamite mine or for any bands of deserters from the insurrecto army who might plan to burn the bridges.

In connection with the so-called disaffection over the terms of peace, Senor Madero made it known that he does not intend to be lax with plotters against the tranquility of the country.

As a tribute to El Paso, Senor Madero with 800 unarmed troops today marched over the international bridge and presented the city with 'Long Tom,' a cannon which blew up when being used in the battle of Juarez.

Class Ad History VII.—PROMPT RETURNS. Here is a class ad which appeared in the "For Rent" department of The Missoulian: TWO BEAUTIFUL FURNISHED rooms, Hammond block; call room No. 2. This little ad was published three times. One of these publications was not necessary as the second publication brought a tenant and the owner of the rooms said: "I could have rented six suites if I had had them; there were six applicants after the rooms had been leased." That is prompt and effective work. Missoulian class ads work that way. They cost but one cent a word. If you are out of a job, The Missoulian will print your ad free.

WOULD-BE DYNAMITER USES BOMB IN BURKE. Burke, Idaho, June 1.—(Special).—An attempt was made upon the lives of Carl Sunwald and George Cornell, in this city, last night, when an unknown would-be assassin hurled a dynamite bomb with burning fuse attached, into the shoe shop where the former was working at the time. However, the cap on the bomb failed to explode and both men escaped unhurt. Complete mystery surrounds the affair, neither Cornell, who owns the shop, nor Sunwald, his employee, being able to offer a solution. The dynamiter escaped in the darkness and at a late hour had not been apprehended, although deputy sheriffs were at work on the case within 30 minutes after the attempt was made. WOMAN SAVES MAN. Denver, June 1.—The trial of Harry Bane, accused of sending blackmailing letters demanding money through the mails to merchants in Oursay, Colo., came to an unexpected conclusion in the federal court here today. Mrs. Marie Smith of Oursay testified that she had written the letters, and that Bane, who was her fiance, had mailed them without knowing their contents. Bane was acquitted and Mrs. Smith was arrested.
