

Our Thanksgiving Proclamation

We have much to be thankful for in this year, 1911. We thank the public whose favor has enabled us to do the biggest jewelry business between two Thanksgivings days, and accept this favor as an obligation to still further improve our service in every way possible.

Especially do we thank the many friends who found our ways satisfactory and have spoken their words of approval to their friends and so have increased the number of our customers.

The best of everything in the market.

For a certainty it was a dandy finish. The testimony of the clerks and the storekeepers last night was that it was the liveliest Thanksgiving sale that Missoula ever knew. The rush started early and continued late. There were things doing all day in every place where there was for sale anything to eat. The delivery wagons in most of the stores found over-night orders waiting for early trips and it was a quick like into the frosty morning; the selling forces had worked overtime the night before to get the orders all up and to clear the decks for the morning trade. It was well they did, for early buyers came in crowds. By the time the first delivery was finished, there was another one ready for the wagons. By that time the rush was fairly on; from the time the morning mists cleared until the curfew rang last night, there was no rest for the man who sold turkeys, cranberries, nuts or apples. "It has been a wonderful day," said Bob Pugsley in the grocery department of the Missoula Mercantile company. "It has been merciful from the start; we worked half the night to get things ready for this morning and if we hadn't done so we would have been swamped. I don't believe there was ever a day like it in the Thanksgiving history of Missoula. We shall be thankful when it's over, just as we are thankful that it's here."

TIMELY FREEZE

In Massachusetts we used to think that it was not Thanksgiving if there was not skating. The traditions there called for the first skating ice for Thanksgiving week and the day was not a complete success unless there was a bit of skating in the afternoon. Judged by the Massachusetts standard, the day is all right in Missoula. The skating's fine. Yesterday there were some youngsters trying in out on the river and for two days the ice has been slick and strong on the lake at the power plant up at the mouth of Blackfoot. There were a few skaters there Tuesday; yesterday found a good many more and the indications are that there will be plenty of them today. The electric cars make it easy and comfortable to go skating at the lake. It was a favorite diversion last winter and the co-operation of the weather man in starting the season early this year. "The ice is better now than it was any time last year," said Superintendent Bickenbach yesterday to the Man About Town. "There is a lot of it and it is as smooth as glass."

BOOSTING THE BOYS

"I don't think much of this football business," said a business man yesterday afternoon to the Man About Town, "but I am strong for the boys. I am going to overcome my scruples against the same enough to go over to Montana field tomorrow and boost for them all I can. There isn't a finer lot of lads in the country than these boys of ours and they are playing the game fairly; they are making it as square as it can be made and I hope to see them win when they go up against the big fellows from Butte tomorrow. I am no football fan, but I am just eager enough to get out and help our chaps to the extent of being there and rooting as hard as I can. It is one of the things we have to do if we don't want to be left behind in the procession; we have to keep moving or else get run over and I want to mix with the boys as long as they will let me. When they bar me out, then I am ready to quit."

A FINE PAPER

The first issue of the new monthly paper of the Missoula County High school made its appearance yesterday. It is called "Kohi-no-ri." This is the Indian word for Rattlesnake and gives the paper local significance and, if it lives up to its name, makes it dangerous to trifle with. The initial issue is a credit to the school and specially to the young people who had in charge the preparation of the work. "We will have a better one next month," said the business manager yesterday. "We had to hurry a good deal with this issue and there are some things which we expected to improve next time. The business men have been generous in their support of the paper and we appreciate their interest. There has been fine support, too, in the school and we are going to have a paper that will make the folks take notice of us."

PULL HARD

The general weather forecast for today predicted snow; the local prophets last night said it would be clear and warmer. It is up to all good citizens to pull hard for the success of the local prophets. It is a warmer and a clear day that we want in order that the football boys may have the right sort of weather for the game with Butte this afternoon. Some of the lads will take hard falls and nobody wants them to tumble upon such ground as that of yesterday. It will be pretty good, however, if the day is bright and warm. There will be a big crowd and plenty of interest and that will help the boys more than anything else that could happen. They're a good lot of boys, as has been said, and we all want them to have the best there is in the market.

A THANKSGIVING SOCIAL.

The Ladies of the Macabees of the World have arranged a social to be held this evening in the I. O. O. F. hall once the right sort of weather for the game with Butte this afternoon. Some of the lads will take hard falls and nobody wants them to tumble upon such ground as that of yesterday. It will be pretty good, however, if the day is bright and warm. There will be a big crowd and plenty of interest and that will help the boys more than anything else that could happen. They're a good lot of boys, as has been said, and we all want them to have the best there is in the market. The price of admission is 25 cents.

NOBLES HEAR CALL OF MUEZZIN

MISSOULA SHRINERS RECEIVE INVITATIONS TO ANNUAL STATE SESSION.

Shriners at Missoula have received invitations to the state's 23d annual session for business and ceremony, followed by the traditional banquet, which will be held December 15 at Helena. These semi-annual events are always eagerly looked forward to by Missoula nobles and, as is usual, a large delegation will go over to the Capitol city to see the novices hang on to the rope.

The proclamation is quite nifty and is as follows:

"Once more the Muezzin calls from the Minarets of Algeria, and the faithful with eager feet and joyful hearts are turning from the sterile sands of the past to the refreshing waters of the fountain of Zem Zem, which ever play within the gardens of Allah; the fruitful date palms have yielded generously of their life-giving fruit; Allah has been merciful and many unregenerate have turned from their way to seek rest and refreshment under our protecting dome. Algeria, with open gates and hospitable tents, awaits the returns of her faithful children, that the pilgrim to Mecca may be one of great splendor, and that the offering on the altar of the prophet may be worthy of the many mercies we have enjoyed. All who safely accomplish the great pilgrimage will be suitably rewarded, and they shall enter amidst great rejoicings, and sweet music shall fill the air. Come all ye faithful."

Those from Missoula on important committees are Tyler B. Thompson, A. J. Bretonstein, F. N. Truesdale and W. G. Elliott.

CLARK OFFERS PRIZE FOR THE BEST SPUDS

A trophy is offered by Charles W. Clark, son of W. A. Clark, for the best bushel of potatoes grown in Montana and exhibited at the Twin City land show, which will be held at St. Paul, December 12 to 23, at the Auditorium. These potatoes can be displayed in the state or the Missoula exhibit, which will be conducted under the auspices of the chamber of commerce. It is hoped that the farmers in this vicinity will go after this and not say, "Oh, someone will have better than I." Western Montana has the best spuds in the northwest and the fact should be demonstrated by the producers exhibiting them for prizes. At New York the potatoes at the chamber of commerce booth were the largest and best among the exhibits. Those contemplating making any entry for potatoes can secure particulars by communicating with the Missoula Chamber of Commerce.

CONDUIT IS DELAYED TILL SPRING

GROUND IS TOO HARD FOR TELEPHONE COMPANY TO PUT WIRES UNDER GROUND.

When Mayor Evans and Commissioner Price entered the council chamber yesterday morning—Commissioner Peat was referee of the Thierault-Murray scrap and was unable to attend—they found ground about the table George L. Pavy, local manager of the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company, Edward F. Pavy, the company's Anaconda manager and brother to the local man, and Assistant Superintendent of Construction Powers of Denver. In George L. Pavy's right hand was clutched the business end of a pick. The council hesitated and meditated on the advisability of retreat, but noticed the genial smile upon the local manager's countenance and decided to take a chance. They moved up and sang of Asia Minor (joke used by permission of the Elks' minstrel) entitled "We will not dig a conduit while the ground is so blamed hard." The audience did not insist upon an encore, but thought the sentiment of the piece admirable. Mr. Powers then corralled Commissioner Price in one chair and told him just how hard the ground was and Mr. Pavy surrounded the mayor and showed him the pick, which he said had been telescoped by trying to pry up a piece of street. "One man went out, struck four blows and called for his time," said Mr. Pavy. Mr. Powers then stated that it would be absolutely impossible for the telephone company to dig the conduits and get the streets back into any kind of shape.

"If you will let us wait until spring," said Mr. Powers, "we will be able to get the work out of the way before the paving starts and we will guarantee the work. In Denver I have torn up a street that was paved three days afterward. We never had any trouble there and I am sure that we can finish our work here in two weeks and not delay the pavement a particle. It is practically impossible to do the work now and we ask that you allow us to put it off until the frost gets out of the ground."

Mayor Evans stated that he was of the same opinion as the telephone people, but that they had been notified in July to have the work done and that the delay was the fault of the company, not the city. However, the sentiment of the council was that the work had better be postponed till spring, but the provision that the company was not to delay any city improvement was made very emphatic. The council then adjourned until Friday morning.

As the council was making its way down the front stairs to board Commissioner Price's automobile for an inspection trip on the south side, it encountered City Engineer Buck and the humpy bridge came up for discussion. Dr. Buck suggested that the bridge was suffering from a torpid liver and that the excrecences on its face might be caused by that. Commissioner Price suggested that an incision be made along the edge of the pavement and that a felt paper be used to fill the crack. He allowed that the paper would give the blocks a chance to stretch themselves without getting up. It was not absolutely decided that this method would solve the question, but it is thought that the street department will diagnose the case correctly and hit upon a method of reducing the swelling. Leaving Engineer Buck with all six cylinders of his brain running full speed in an endeavor to evolve a solution for this vexing matter, the council annexed Commissioner Peat and set sail for the South Third street improvement district.

Mayor Evans stated that he had consulted with the county commissioners in regard to the payment on the bridge and that they had agreed to pay one-half of the cost of repairing it in the spring. Although the county owns the bridge, the city is liable for keeping it in repair and damages on account of accidents arising from defects can be collected from the city.

A DENIAL.

In justice to all parties concerned, I wish to state that the notice given in the Missoula Sentinel, under date of Wednesday, November 29, that the Methodist Episcopal church choir, assisted by Mrs. G. A. McMichael and Mrs. E. W. Schutes, would furnish the musical program at the Palace hotel dinner Thanksgiving evening is an error. How this mistake was made is beyond my understanding, as I know of no information that has been given upon which same could be based.
