

MARKET MOVEMENT
IS BETTER

UNEASINESS OF TUESDAY IS DISPELLED AND PRICES SEEK HIGHER LEVEL.

New York, Jan. 10.—The uneasiness which was displayed in the stock market yesterday seemed to have been dissipated overnight, with the result that there was a reaction toward a higher level of prices this morning. The action of the governors of the stock exchange permitting the indefinite postponement delivery of the securities tied up by the equitable fire enabled the traders to proceed with more confidence, although the fact that vast quantities of stocks and bonds were unavailable tended to restrict business. Bear operators covered extensively at the opening and their operations were a decided factor in raising prices. When the demand from this source was satisfied the market became dull; bull operations were resumed in some of the speculative issues, including Lehigh Valley.

When Union Pacific had receded nearly to yesterday's closing, buying orders were distributed again and it crept up gradually. Bonds were steady.

Aside from a brief spurt of activity around midday in United States Steel, when some large blocks of stocks were dealt in, the announcement of the increase of 942,506 tons in unfilled orders was without effect. This showing was just about double the estimated gain. Operations in other stocks were on a much reduced scale and fluctuations were unimportant.

Occasional spurts of activity sent prices to a higher level. United States Steel was absorbed freely at times. Union Pacific rose 1% in all and Reading was marked up a point. The market closed strong. Only a limited supply of stocks was available for covering purposes when the shorts began their customary evening up prices toward the close.

FISH HATCHERY HEAD GETS DISMISSAL

no receipts sent in for. And it does not show that I am nearly $1,400 poorer than when I took this state position and that my salary has gone in with the rest. I have been propagating fish for the United States, for myself and for the state for nearly 15 years in Montana and am too deeply interested in the work to sacrifice any part of it for personal interests. My sole aim has been to make good. I feel that I have done so. If it is necessary for me now to be locked up with thieves, robbers and cutthroats, I have nothing to say.

Four Years in Charge.
Charles F. Heales has been in charge of the Montana state fish hatchery in Anaconda for the past four years, coming here from the hatchery at Columbia gardens at Butte. He came to Butte from the government hatchery at Bozeman, and has been identified with private, state and government fish culture for 15 years. State Game Warden Avare, one of the members of the state fish commission, in speaking of the dismissal of Mr. Heales, said last night: "I greatly regret this trouble. Mr. Heales gave the state of Montana excellent returns for the limited resources at his command. In fact, he is one of the

BOZEMAN PEOPLE SEEK THE COMMISSION FORM

Bozeman, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Enough signers have been secured for the petitions for the commission form of government for Bozeman to require the city council to call a special election to vote on the proposition and the petitions will be presented at the next meeting of the council. The law requires 25 per cent of the legal voters to sign the petitions before they are to be recognized, and more than that number are already enrolled here, with the number increasing every day.

It is probable that the election will be called for sometime about the middle of March. Many of the prominent citizens of Bozeman are engaged in an energetic campaign for the adoption of the new system.

let me have the money you will not hear from me any more. I leave it to you."

The letter was dated May 15, 1911, a short time before the indictments were returned against Connors, Maple and Bender.

Parks told of the first meeting with Connors at the labor temple when both were members of the strike committee. "Connors came to my desk the afternoon of September 8, 1910," Parks testified, "and told me he was going home to rest. He said he was going out that night to blow up the hall of records."

Parks, who declared he also knew Maple and Bender, said he next met Connors at the labor temple April 27, 1911.

"He told me the police had nothing about the dynamite he had with him and how Maple and Bender also carried explosives."

COEUR D'ALENE MINER BURIED BY AVALANCHE

Wallace, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Jack Orville, miner, and John Hanson, camp cook, were caught by an avalanche at the bunkhouse of the Oreano mine, a half mile above Burke, at 7:30 tonight, and buried to a great depth. Hanson finally dug out, but had no knowledge of Orville. Hanson at once ran to Burke and summoned aid and a large party of miners is now engaged digging in the hard-packed snow and debris covering the site of the bunkhouse. It is feared that the unfortunate miner has been either crushed or smothered. Orville was married, his family being on a visit in California. This is the first snowslide of consequence in this district this year, but owing to the heavy snow and other conditions many localities fear trouble from this source.
