

RAISING OF PEAS INCREASES

TEN THOUSAND ACRES PROBABLY WILL BE PLANTED IN GALLATIN VALLEY THIS YEAR.

Bozeman, Feb. 1.—(Special)—That the industry of raising peas in the Gallatin valley is destined to become an important one is further indicated in the fact that the coming season will see more than 10,000 acres planted to that crop. A few weeks ago it was announced that the acreage would reach 7,000, but the increase in contracts has been so rapid that the higher number is now named and even that may prove far below the actual number of acres by the time the peas are all planted.

There are now five companies in the valley, all contracting with the farmers to take all the peas they raise at a certain price, varying from $2 to $2.50 per bushel. Last year the experiment was started with only one company in the field, and a total of 1,500 acres was devoted to the new crop. A. J. Walrath, chairman of the horticultural committee of the chamber of commerce, is largely responsible for the success and thoroughness of the experiment last year. He, together with Walter Cooper, president of the same body, were instrumental in starting the industry.

It now appears that there will be at least one factory for canning green peas in Bozeman within the year, several companies having been investigating the prospects. The seed firms who are now contracting for acreage in the valley are: Jerome E. Rice Seed company, Detroit, Mich.; Peninsular Seed company, Michigan; E. H. Clark Seed company, Connecticut; The Keene company, New York; and William A. Davis, of Bozeman, formerly manager for the Rice concern. The Rice people have rented the freight depot of the Northern Pacific which has been left vacant since the uptown spur and freight house were built, and their business will be conducted from there. It will take from 60 to 100 cars to haul the seed peas into the valley this spring.

RETALIATION THREATENED.

Peking, Feb. 2.—Yuan Shi Kai's army has spread broadcast leaflets threatening that if a hair of Yuan's head is injured they will exterminate a whole generation of those responsible. The Chinese papers confirm the announced intention of the empress dowager concerning the abdication of the throne. It is believed that a definite settlement is imminent. The Mongolian princes assert that Mongolia will not join the republic.

SENATE WILL GRANT HEARINGS

METAL TARIFF BILL WILL BE DELAYED IN VARIOUS WAYS BY REPUBLICANS.

Washington, Feb. 1.—As the result of a conference of republican senators at the capitol immediately after the adjournment of congress today, the republican view of the tariff situation will be presented to the senate and to the country at large in connection with the house bill revising the iron and steel schedule.

The meeting was attended by most of the republican members of the finance committee and also by some of the other republican leaders, but none of the insurgent senators were present.

The first move in carrying out the program will be a meeting of the finance committee tomorrow. The full committee will be advised of the desire of the republicans for a general hearing on the iron and steel bill, and it is believed democratic members of the committee will offer no objections. While no effort was made to name a time, it was generally believed the hearings would begin next week.

No effort was made to decide whether the republicans would present a substitute for the Underwood steel bill, or content themselves with a direct effort to defeat that measure, but it is believed there will be a substitute, as the ad valorem system which characterizes it is unacceptable to the republican senators generally. With the bill once in the senate, whether on an unfavorable or adverse report, the purpose is to discuss it at length, so as to present all phases of the republican side of the tariff question.

Senator La Follette was among the republican members of the finance committee absent from today's meeting. He was not in his seat in the senate and as the meeting was purely informal and not confined to the committee, no surprise was manifested at his absence. Much interest is felt in his attitude on the tariff but the republicans have a majority of the committee without him.

MORGAN GIVES AID.

London, Feb. 1.—The Young Men's Christian association here received a cablegram from Lord Kinnaird at Cairo stating that J. P. Morgan has promised to give the last $50,000 necessary to complete the total of $500,000 which it was expected would be collected in the 12 days' campaign last month.

PIANO PLAYER GETS AN INVITATION

SMALLPOX PATIENTS AT KELLOGG ADVERTISE FOR DISEASED MUSICIAN.

Kellogg, Feb. 1.—(Special)—A huge sign, "Wanted—A piano player who has the smallpox," prominently displayed on the dancing pavilion now being used as an isolation hospital, added a touch of grim humor to the situation locally, and showed outsiders that the victims of smallpox who have been sent to the temporary quarters are not so seriously sick that they have lost interest in amusements. Hardly had the half-dozen men been installed in their new quarters at the isolation hospital, when they discovered the piano used for furnishing music for dances. They organized an amusement club, whose only requirement from would-be members is that they can show a certificate from a physician stating that they have the smallpox, or exhibit no less than 25 scars or marks of the disease.

There was but one new case reported yesterday. More than 200 miners employed by the Bunker Hill & Sullivan were vaccinated Tuesday evening and Wednesday, and almost as many more last night. It is believed the epidemic has about run its course, and that there will be few additional cases.

MEXICO'S GOVERNMENT IS FACING A CRISIS

alarmed the people of that city. Acting upon the consul's suggestion, Ambassador Wilson protested to the foreign office against a reported intention to remove the garrison.

To unofficial Mexico the significance of the Juarez revolt lies in the fact that insurrectionists have gained a port of entry from the United States, the identical thing for which Madero fought for so many weeks. During the Madero revolt it was assumed that possession of such a port would facilitate the revolutionists in obtaining ammunition and arms and even men.

An Army Recruited.

Though lacking a revolutionary propaganda further than a declaration that Madero has violated the promise of the "plan of San Luis Potosi," Zapata has recruited an army which operates now in the states of Morelos, Mexico and Guerrero and reaches even into the federal district.

Foiled by Madero.

Zapata in an interview published today in El Herald, said he had been foiled by Madero often and did not propose to be misled by further promises.

"I am not fighting for the state of Morelos but for the entire nation," he said. "The plan of San Luis Potosi, the soul of the revolution has not been carried out."

The rebel leader declared that the suspension of guarantees had resulted in bringing him recruits from the laboring element, who, believing they were in danger of being shot as suspects, preferred to join the rebellion.

Steps were taken by the government to place General Juvenal Robles, now at Torreon, in charge of the campaign in the hope of wiping out the rebels. Although one wire running out of Cuernavaca was repaired today the management of the National railways, unable to restore its communication, ceased all efforts to restore communication with the capital. Pascual Orozco and his men left Chihuahua on a special train for Juarez shortly after noon today, according to advices received here tonight.

President Proclaimed.

El Paso, Feb. 1.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez is proclaimed provisional president of the Mexican republic and President Francisco I. Madero is criticized in bitter terms in a proclamation circulated secretly today among the revolting Juarez garrison and members of the so-called new revolutionary junta in El Paso. The proclamation is dated "Revolutionary camp in Chihuahua, February 1, 1912," and bears the signatures of Louis Fernandez and Colonel L. Salazar as "chiefs of the forces of the north."

The proclamation is taken here as another indication of the possible connection between the revolt of the Juarez garrison and the Zapata movement in southern Mexico. It is addressed to the "valiant sons of Chihuahua" and recites how they were among the first to second the Madero revolution of November 20, 1910, to overthrow the tyranny which, for more than 20 years, looked with our rights."

"We did not go into the revolution," continues the proclamation, "that Don Francisco I. Madero might rise to the presidency to exploit the gratitude of a fanatic people, but to work out these great problems of government, namely, equal justice, equal payment of taxes, abolition of governmental favoritism which supports an aristocracy at the expense of the masses and an equitable distribution of property."

Madero Criticized.

President Madero is criticized especially for "instigating in office Victor President Pino Suarez against the will of the whole republic." The proclamation pledges adherence to the plan of Tacubaya and declares the elections of the first and 15th of October null and void; the congress dissolved and its acts void, and the motive of its adherents to be the election to the presidency of Emilio Vasquez Gomez, "who guarantees us the country, and all men that he will comply with the ideals of the last glorious revolution." In conclusion, the proclamation declares it is not intended to oppose

The South - Famed for its Cooks and Cottolene

To mention the South is to suggest "good cooking." The South is the home of Cottolene, and more of the product is used there in proportion to the population than in any other part of the country. This is simply because Southerners know that cotton oil is a pure, vegetable product, and the best cooking fat known. Cottolene is made from choice, refined cotton oil, and packed in sealed, air-tight tin pails to insure its cleanliness and freshness.

Why take chances with lard and inferior imitations when you can get Cottolene—the original cotton oil cooking fat—and still the best, most healthful, most economical in the market?

Cottolene will aid your cook to make a reputation.

M'MANIGAL LEAVES FOR ANGEL TOWN

CONFESSION DYNAMITER IS SENT FROM INDIANAPOLIS TO LOS ANGELES.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—Ortie E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, who has been here several weeks aiding the federal grand jury in its investigation of an alleged nation-wide dynamiting conspiracy, departed secretly for Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, according to announcement made by federal officials tonight. His departure was as carefully guarded as was his arrival. According to the federal authorities McManigal was escorted from the federal building without attracting attention, although they admit they chose a time when the road was clear. He walked down one of the busiest streets of the city to the union station, it is said, where he boarded a train for the west.

An Alliance?

New Orleans, Feb. 1.—An alliance has been effected between Emiliano Zapata, leader of the rebellion in southern Mexico, the revolutionists of northern Mexico and leaders of last year's insurrectionary movement in Lower California, according to apparently reliable information obtained here by secret service agents. It was stated today that Colonel Pryce, leader of the Lower California uprising, and Colonel Mosby, American soldier of fortune, conferred in New Orleans last week with prominent revolutionists and decided to enter Mexico again with "Viva Zapata" as their motto.

Colonel Pryce was followed to New Orleans from San Antonio by agents of the United States and Mexican governments, but disappeared mysteriously after being under close surveillance for two days. He is believed to have gone to Tampico. Colonel Mosby was seen here as late as Sunday night, it is said, and left for El Paso, Captain L. C. Milford, a German free lance who fought under Colonel Pryce in Lower California, sailed from New Orleans today for Porto Barrios, Guatemala. Before his departure, he made "peaceful" declarations to representatives here of the Mexican and Guatemalan governments concerning the object of his mission.

Feeling of Unrest Revived.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The revolt of the Mexican troops at Juarez, while not regarded as important in itself, is considered here as indicative of a general revival, outside of the Mexican capital, of the feeling of unrest that existed before the fall of the Diaz administration. The state department was advised today that the trouble at Juarez grew out of a refusal of some of the garrison to submit to discharge from the military service which would involve their return to paths of peace.

Consul Edwards at Juarez reported that the federal rurales were responsible for the riot, which followed an order to disarm about 40 per cent of the garrison. The consul reports that the occurrences were not marked by anti-American sentiment.

Beyond an admission to the American consuls along the border to look after the safety of Americans, there is nothing for the state department to do at this juncture but to await developments. No doubt is entertained that President Madero will rush an adequate force of regular troops to Juarez to restore order and protect American residents there.
