JASON JARED JONES PIONEER HAS GONE GETS JOB TO HIS REST

IS APPOINTED ON CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION BY CITY COUNCIL.

W. H. WOOD, OLD-TIME EXPRESS RIDER, PASSES AWAY AT THE HOME OF HIS SON.

Upon the recommendation of Commissioners Price and Peat, Jason J. Jones was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of M. J. Coen, as a member of the city civil service commission. Mr. Jones was present at the meeting and announced his intention of qualifying for the office at once.

W. H. Wood, trail-blazer, pioneer, pony-express rider, died early Thursday morning at the home of his son. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock his funeral will be held at the Marsh undertaking rooms, Rev. G. H. Gibbs officiating. The pallbearers will be old friends of the hardy frontiersman.

The council received a communication yesterday from Mrs. Mary Nesmith, who claims to have been injured on account of the condition of Brooks streets. Mrs. Nesmith offers to settle for $200. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

W. H. Wood was born in Missouri in 1840. In 1860, he made his first trip across the plains, going through to California with a freight outfit, as driver. He returned in a year and then doubled back to Colorado. By this time he was wagon boss of the big freight outfit and had a reputation among the plainsmen which made him a big man in the plains country.

Commissioner Peat brought up the fact that the chimneys of the European hotel were still standing and that they were liable to fall at any time and do some serious damage. He was told to look after the matter.

"Wild Bill" Hickok, who later became famous as a scout, drove Wood's lead team on this trip. "Buffalo Bill" Cody, the best-known of all the early scouts, rode cavvy for wood. Cody was then getting his first lessons in plains lore.

The report of Health Officer Rundquist was received and placed on file. The report showed that during the past month there had been 36 births and 17 deaths in the city. The general sanitary conditions were shown to be good.

Mr. Wood leaves one son, Frank, with whom he made his home. There is an only sister, living in Kansas City. The other members of his family have preceded him on the journey across the great divide.

After Commissioner Price had filed a remonstrance against the men who were blocking an alley on the south side while building a tennis court, the council adjourned until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

There will be a large attendance at the funeral this afternoon, as Mr. Wood was a much-respected citizen and had a host of friends in this part of the state.

RACE WAR THREATENED. Blacksburg, S. C., March 29.—As the aftermath of the lynching of two negroes here last night, charged with attacking a white man, the city was patrolled tonight by armed possses awaiting a threatened negro invasion.

DEAN SPENDS WEEK IN THE FIELD

HAS GOOD TRIP THROUGH FLAT-HEAD AND LINCOLN COUNTIES AND INSPECTS.

State Horticulturist M. L. Dean returned home yesterday from a trip through Flathead and Lincoln counties, where he went to look into the orchard conditions. He has been on the go for a week through these districts and stated yesterday that general conditions were fine and that there is great activity in the orcharding interests, especially in Flathead county. Here there will be thousands of trees planted this spring and the orchards already out are getting the best of attention. "I noticed that a great deal of land surrounding Flathead lake is being cleared preparatory to orchard planting this spring," said Mr. Dean, "and if this keeps up that beautiful body of water will soon be bordered with fruit orchards. The people seemed much enthused over the county road which is to be built around the east side of the lake this summer. This will open up much fine territory, a lot of it being especially well adapted to fruit growing. I found plenty of snow yet in this district but the general conditions are fine."

Mr. Dean had a nice visit over in Lincoln county and around Libby. While there is not so much fruit here yet, the people are beginning to be interested in planting on a larger scale. I attended a public meeting last Wednesday night at Libby and gave a talk on horticulture, specializing on the advantages of some of the bench lands of the locality for orchard sites. There is much interest being taken in logging off the lands which forests formerly stood in the Libby district. This is all rich soil and much of it is admirably located for farm and orchard purposes. A movement is on foot to put into effect a co-operative plan to log land on a big scale, employing a big, modern outfit for the work which, it is said, can be thus reduced to a cost of about $6 per acre. All who join in the scheme will pay his proportionate share of the cost of the machinery and will have a portion of his land logged every year, finishing in four years. It appears that the plan will be carried through successfully.

EFFICIENCY IS NOW MOST ESSENTIAL

That efficiency has been the greatest factor in making the automobile industry the big success it is today, is the opinion advanced by F. M. Shoemaker, who sells Chalmers cars locally. "A few years ago the business world was not giving much attention to efficiency," said Mr. Shoemaker. "Now one hears efficiency on all sides. There are efficiency experts in all lines. Employers no longer pay for personality, but for efficiency. It is just about the newest and most essential thing in the automobile industry. All of us who have followed the development of automobile building for any length of time can remember when efficiency wasn't even thought of. If a car ran even reasonably well part of the time it was considered a success."

"There were advocates of every new construction, and some motorists who declared each fad of construction a great thing, whether or not its incorporation in a motor was helpful or harmful."

"Today people are buying efficiency, and one does not hear much talk about new constructions, except as they are thought to add to the efficiency of the car. I note a steady tendency among builders of standard cars to follow along proved lines of construction. The standardized cars are known for the service they give, and every manufacturer wants to make his product as near one-hundredth per cent efficient as possible."

"Perhaps the most striking evidence of increased efficiency is the rapid development of self-starters. Up to a short time ago only two cars had self-starters. Since last July scores of makers have been forced to recognize the added efficiency which comes with the self-starting device. The result is that fully one-half of the cars now shown are offered with some style of self-starter as either optional or regular equipment."

DIXON PEOPLE INVITE DEAN TO GIVE LECTURE CONDEMNATION SUITS FILED BY NEW ROAD

Some time ago Horticulturist M. L. Dean told a committee of gentlemen from Dixon—the committee sent here at the time the western Montana commercial clubs became confederated—that he would deliver an address at Dixon on horticulture and would treat the subject so as to make it of special value to the new settlers planning on setting out young trees this spring. The report of this offer was made to the home folks by the committee and in consequence a meeting has been called for April 3 at Dixon. In the neighborhood of this town there are many new settlers who will make a start in orcharding this year and Mr. Dean's talk will undoubtedly be greatly appreciated.

VANDALS MUTILATE STATUE. New York, March 29.—Vandals have mutilated the statue of Admiral Farragut in Madison square, it was learned today, by removing the strap. Less than a year ago the statue was similarly mutilated. The first suits resulting from the efforts of the Missoula & Hamilton Railway company to secure right of way for that portion of the road which will pass through Missoula county, were filed in the district court here yesterday. Lew Horning, as administrator of the estate of Thomas Horning, is one of the defendants and the other case is against Verdi V. Smith and others, both properties involved being situated near Carlton. The complaints follow the usual form of condemnation proceedings, it being asked that a commission be appointed to appraise the strip wanted for right of way. R. G. Collins, Postmaster, Barnegat, N. J., was troubled with a severe laryngitis. He says: "I would be completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. I bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and before I had taken it all the coughing spells had entirely ceased. It can't be best." Smith Drug Store.
