

VERY FIRST NICKEL HE EVER EARNED PACKEY HAS

M'FARLAND HAS MADE MONEY WITH HIS HANDS AND HE'S KEPT IT.

A BOY OF GOOD HABITS

Stockyards Fighter Doesn't Follow the Bright Lights, Doesn't Drink, Smoke or Chew and Doesn't Spend His Change—His Rise to Wealth.

New York, May 12.—When Packy McFarland knocked out Pete West, his first opponent, in two rounds eight years ago, he received $25. He was in the habit of working six days a week in the Chicago stockyards for a third of that sum, so he decided to become a professional boxer. The other night McFarland got $10,000 for boxing 10 rounds with Matt Wells in Madison Square garden—$1,000 a round, or $200 a minute. This was the largest cash guarantee the stockyards champion ever took down for a glove fight and it increased his total winning in the ring to more than $110,000. In return for exhibitions on the various theatrical circuits McFarland has earned enough to enable him to write a check for $200,000—the financial reward for his victorious career as America's cleverest exponent of the manly art. Packy isn't near the end of his ring campaign, either, so he expects to reap another golden harvest in bouts with Wolgast, Welsh and Hugh McEgan, the Australian lightweight champion, who will be here in June under the management of Joe Woodman.

To prove that all boxers are not spendthrifts it may be accepted as gospel that McFarland doesn't get rid of money foolishly. In the first place he has no bad habits. He doesn't drink, smoke or chew, cares nothing for the bright lights or gay companions and believes in arising with the sun. He has built a fine home in Chicago, where his father and mother live in solid comfort and where he spends his time when not engaged in filling ring and theatrical engagements. Although Packy is only 24 years old, he realizes that he cannot keep on boxing forever and that it is good business policy to make all the money possible before Father Time puts him out of the ring forever. "Boxing is an easy way to get money," said the Chicago lightweight the other day, "and I am making hay while the sun shines. It is a natural gift and I've been lucky enough to profit by it. Money means comfort, and comfort means happiness, particularly for the old folks at home. I'd rather take good care of father and mother than do anything else I know of. There's nothing in dissipation and many poor fellows have failed to realize this truth until too late. Health is wealth, particularly in my case, and I am very grateful. When I began to box I never dreamed that I could make enough money to be well fixed the rest of my life. But I persevered and luck always was with me. It pays to take care of one's physical condition." McFarland is a devout Catholic. He goes to church regularly and is extremely charitable. In short, he is a model young man, who has done his share to elevate boxing in this country. When Packy left the garden after whipping Wells he hurried back to his quarters and sent out for a quart of ice cream. As he slowly got away with it, he remarked: "This is my weakness, boys; it makes me feel fine!"

AS IT LOOKS

Well, we're a long way from the bottom yet.

Three errorless games in a string for Blankenship's men. Rather poor, eh?

Zamloch pitched a grand game. Eight different men made the eight hits he allowed.

Charlie Gaefel appears to be going well for Salt Lake, as has been remarked before.

Jachs, working for Ogden, got a hit. Also, he had another one or two sometime before this year.

Warren, Zamloch and Roberts broke into the stolen-base column yesterday. The Skipper was a thief twice.

The Ogden-Butte games are featured by plenty of hitting anyhow. The winning team usually collects 15 safe swats, or better.

Yesterday the Highlanders made it three and two with the Saints. A split today is all we need to take the long end of the series.

Why is the Miner's sportswriter so unkind as to intimate that our Peerless Leader is over the limit? Just because we are on top at present?

The Blankenship entry comes into the stretch a good length ahead of the Weaver stake horse. There is every prospect of a driving finish in today's twin struggles.

Jachs isn't good enough for the Union association; that's about the size of the big fellow's troubles. He's been with Salt Lake, Missoula, Butte, and now he's with Ogden. Jachs pats too many fat ones over.

Ferrine hit safely twice yesterday, as did Orist, who interpolated a home-run for the edification of the Salt Lake fans. Carman also picked a brace of blows. Roberts and Zamloch took one apiece yesterday.

Well, when Wolsler Dell pitches for Butte against Missoula on the local lot, the Bitter Root fans will be torn by conflicting emotions. They love big Dell and they love the present Missoula club. Bet they'll be here in droves.

The talk is now that when the Highlanders arrive in Missoula they will be greeted by a brass band and a procession of loyal bugs. Their performance is certainly worth some testimonial of the high regard in which they are held by the villagers.

Annie is improving. He lasted nearly eight innings Thursday and was going along in good shape during his sojourn in the box. He may be just warming up. His record is good and the southpaw may show some classy work yet. Give him time.

The Butte Miner is of the opinion that a jinx of huge dimensions is camped on the trail of McCafferty's squad and it seems as if something like this was the case. Duddy's ankle, has made it necessary for McCafferty to readjust his entire team. Mathea celebrated his return to the infield Thursday by kicking a couple.

Salt Lake Telegram: Salt Lake looked good to tie or win out in the tenth when, with one down, Portier and Bauer singled. Davis hit a hard one to deep center that looked good for two sacks, but Tobin speared the ball in midair and after making the circus catch, doubled Portier out at second while the latter was trying to advance on the out. It was a great play and saved the day for Blankenship & Co.

Last night a lot of crazy bugs here in Missoula were making and taking bets that the Missoula club would win both games today. There's nothing like sticking up for the home folks, but betting on the Highlanders to win two in one afternoon is the most sublime sort of faith. The two teams have been battling head and head all week, with every game a close one. Salt Lake and Missoula are evenly matched, although we can see a shade for Blankenship's crew. All we can reasonably expect is a break this afternoon. To win the series from Salt Lake at Salt Lake is glory enough for any team. If you were chump enough to bet on the Highlanders to win both, don't cuss the team if it doesn't come through for you today. What do you want, anyway?

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Table with columns: Club, Won, Lost, Pct. Rows include Chicago, Boston, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, New York, St. Louis.

A Joke.

Philadelphia, May 18.—Without a regular Detroit player on the team, a club representing that city in the American league was defeated by Philadelphia, 24 to 2, today. Because of Ty Cobb's suspension, Manager Jennings' players gave their uniforms to amateur and semi-professional players gathered up by the Jennings scouts, and left the field. The crowd of 20,000 persons took the game as a joke. At the end of the third inning there was a rush by a couple of thousand of bleacherites, who demanded their money back. When this was refused, nearly all returned to their seats. There was no disorder at the end of the game.

Score table for Philadelphia vs Detroit. Batteries: Travers and McGuire; Coombs, Brown, Pennock and Lapp.

Browns Win Out.

Washington, May 18.—Williams latted for Hughes in the fifth inning and a field score resulted on his out at first. Groom was then hit for three singles and a triple and St. Louis scored enough runs to win from Washington.

Score table for St. Louis vs Washington. Batteries: Lake and Stephens; Hughes, Groom, Akers, Becker and Henry.

Batting Carnival.

New York, May 18.—In a batting carnival Cleveland defeated New York in the tenth inning. Wolter dislocated his knee cap trying to take second on a passed ball in the fourth and had to be carried off the field.

Score table for Cleveland vs New York. Batteries: Mitchell, Blanding, Gregg and Easterly; Vaughn, Quinn and Sweeney.

Can't Hit Benz.

Boston, May 18.—Although Boston outplayed Chicago, the locals were unable to hit Benz safely in pinches and the visitors won.

Score table for Boston vs Chicago. Batteries: Benz and Kuhn; Bedient and Carrigan.

DONALD RESIGNS.

North Yakima, May 18.—George Donald, president of the North Yakima & Valley railroad, a subsidiary of the Northern Pacific announced today that he had offered his resignation to take effect in the near future. It is said here that Donald probably will be succeeded by George Reid of Tacoma, general counsel for the Northern Pacific.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey of Newberg Junction, N. B., writes: "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effectual and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. RALPH ROSE BREAKS SHOTPUT RECORD IN TRIALS

WITH BOTH HANDS, THE GREAT WESTERN ATHLETE PUTS SHOT 89 FEET 6 3-8 INCHES.

HIGH JUMP MARK BEATEN

Horine of San Francisco Olympic Club Clears Bar at Six Feet, Seven Inches—Jim Thorpe, Indian, Makes Good in New York Trials.

Stanford University, May 18.—Two world's records and five Olympiad records were broken; one world's and one Olympiad record were tied, and still another record was approached within one-fifth of a second today at the Pacific coast Olympic trials on the Stanford oval. Horine, of the Olympic club of San Francisco, with a wonderful new mark of 6 feet 7 inches in the running high jump, seven-eighths of an inch better than his own world's record, and Ralph Rose, Olympic, with a new Olympic and world's record in the shotput of 89 feet, 6 3-8 inches, right and left hand, were the two particular stars. Forrest Smithson (unattached) was a disappointment of the trials. The world's record holder in the 110-meter hurdles finished third. Fred Kelly, University of Southern California, won in 15 2-5, three-fifths of a second slower than Smithson's best time. Ira Courtney, Seattle Athletic club, tied the Olympiad record of 10 4-5 in the 100-meters dash.

Wonderful Jump.

Horine's wonderful running high jump of 6 feet, 7 inches flat was undoubtedly the most remarkable performance of the day. But Samuel Bellah, though actually falling short of the world's record, pushed him hard.

In the pole vault, after he had cleared 12 feet, 7, and cleared it with inches to spare, a new Olympic, but not a new world's record, Bellah, emboldened by his success, moved the pegs to the 13-foot mark, and cleared it beautifully, but fouled it in coming to earth. His second and third trials also were unsuccessful. His best vault for the day was 12 feet, 9 5-8 inches.

The Olympic record for the 16-pound shotput, which was made by Rose, is 48 feet, 7 inches. Rose broke it today with a put of 49 feet, 7 1-8 inches, which, however, was still short of his own world's record of 51 feet flat, made in 1909.

New Record.

Then with his left hand he made a put of 39 feet, 1 1-4 inches, and the two together totalled 89 feet 6 3-8 inches, a new world's record for right and left hand.

Walter McEure of the Multnomah club, came within one-fifth second of the record with 4 minutes, 3 2-5 seconds in the 1,500-meter run, and Courtney of the Seattle Athletic club came equally close to the Olympic record for 200 meters.

In this last sprint Kelly, who had defeated the champion, Smithson, finished third.

The pentathlon trials will be held Monday on the University of California oval at Berkeley. The only participant will be James Donohue of the Los Angeles Athletic club, who won second last year in the all-American championships at Chicago. It is believed Donohue is sure of a place on the American team that will go to Stockholm.

Thorpe's Fine Showing.

New York, May 18.—Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian athlete, won three and was second in two of the five track and field events in the eastern tryouts for the pentathlon competition at Celtic park today. The officials said he would be one of the competitors for Olympic honors at Stockholm.

Thorpe won the broad jump, the discus throw and 200-meter run and was second to the national champion, Bruno Brodd, of the Irish-American Athletic club, with the javelin, while T. A. McLoughlin of Brooklyn beat him by two yards in the 1,500-meter race.

WILLIAM BLACK FREED BY JURY IN KALISPELL

Kalispell, May 18.—(Special.)—A jury in the district court this evening returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of William Black, charged with assault with intent to murder I. L. Finlchpaugh, which has occupied the court life past three days.

Both Black and Finlchpaugh are wealthy and old-timers and the legal talent in the case was profuse.

Black shot away the left arm of Finlchpaugh last spring when the latter was discovered diverting water from a ditch owned by the two men and J. B. Listle.

Black admitted arming himself and going to investigate but testified that Finlchpaugh attacked him with a shovel.

Finlchpaugh's life was barely saved by the amputation of the arm and incisions of a suit for heavy damages are heard among Finlchpaugh's friends this evening.

The men had previous difficulties.
