

ARMY AND NAVY BILL WOULD TAKE JOB

OFFICERS OF THE LINE WOULD ACHIEVE VICTORY WERE MEASURE TO PASS.

Washington, May 27.—The army appropriation bill was reported back to the senate and house by the conferees today with anti-administration amendments which would legislate Major General Wood out of his office as chief of staff and would leave the location of military posts to a commission of retired army officers and two members each of the senate and house committees on military affairs.

The amendment which would remove Major General Wood also would prevent either Brigadier General Crozier or Funston from ever attaining the office of chief of staff. No officer who has not spent 10 years in the line with the troops would be eligible.

Many army officers charged that the fight between the line and staff, which recently resulted in the retirement from the army of Major General Ainsworth, is responsible for the provision.

Lieutenant General Young and Major Arthur, Major General Randall, Lee and Humphrey would be the retired army officers on the proposed commission which would report to congress by January 1, upon the location and distribution of army posts and the proposed abandonment of many recommended by the war department.

The report was not acted on in either house today.

Senators Curtis and Smoot blocked immediate action in the senate by insisting on time to study the changes.

Secretary of War Stimson, in a statement on the proposed action by congress, said the provision supposedly aimed at General Wood would have rendered ineligible for service as chief of staff every one except four of the 19 generals who have served as chief in command of the American army since General Washington.

"It would," he said, "have disqualified General Winfield Scott of the old army."

"It would also have disqualified Sheridan, McClellan, McPherson, Meade, Warren, Halleck, Schofield, O. O. Howard, James H. Wilson and Horace Porter, among others of the union army in the civil war; and Robert E. Lee, Jackson, Beauregard, Forrest and Wheeler of the confederacy, while General Grant would have barely escaped its restriction by one year's service and General Sherman by two months."

"Coming down to modern times, it permanently disqualifies practically the entire engineer corps—the honor men of West Point. It disqualifies, for example, Colonel Goethals and all of his assistants on the Panama canal; General Crozier, the chief of ordnance, General Funston and many other officers."

"In fact, this order tends to put a premium upon mere routine service and to exclude from the highest post in the army the men whose force, intelligence and opportunities have brought them quickly to the front."

"It is currently said that this provision is aimed at General Leonard Wood, the present chief of staff. If so, this is a pretty high price to pay for personal legislation."

"I doubt whether the American people have any great sympathy for an attack upon a capable officer who served his country well in the Philippines and who is serving with energy and efficiency as chief of staff."

The conference report left intact the present cavalry strength of the army and struck out the proposed consolidation of the office and the establishments of the quartermaster general, commissary general and the paymaster general into a quartermaster's corps. It also eliminated the home proposal that nothing in the bill shall be construed to separate an officer from the army or diminish his rank.

The conference agreed that enlisted men hereafter should not be allowed double time for foreign service in computing retirement credit, but allowed an additional 10 per cent increase in pay of enlisted men on foreign service, not including the Panama canal zone.

G. N. LOCKWOOD TELLS HIS STORY

avoid said that at that time he had no intention of allowing himself to be bribed, and that he was acting on the advice of the district attorney.

Lockwood then told of another conference with the district attorney and of a visit to his home by Captain Fredericks. Detective Browne and several others connected with the prosecutors' staff.

All of them concealed themselves about the premises after Lockwood had called up Franklin and told him to come out. Franklin, he said, had asked if he should bring out the "big one" and he told him to do so.

"Three of the men concealed themselves in the tank tower and two of them in the house," said the witness. When Franklin came, Lockwood asked him where Darrow was. He replied, said the witness: "Did you think Darrow would come out here?"

"I told him," said Lockwood, "he referred to Darrow when he mentioned the 'big one.' He said that he had named Captain White, whom he had selected as custodian of the money."

Meeting Agreed Upon. The witness said it was agreed that Lockwood should meet White the next morning at the corner of Third and Los Angeles streets, where the first payment of the $500 would be made.

Lockwood then told of the meeting with White when he was given a $500 bill by White and shown $2,500 more. He said he saw Franklin across the street at the time and when Franklin approached, he said he told the McNamara detective he feared there was something wrong. He believed, he said, that someone had overheard their conversation at his home the previous night. Franklin looked back and uttered an oath, he said, then cautioned him not to look around.

"Let's get out of here," Franklin told me," said the witness, "and he and White walked toward Main street. Near the corner a man was coming toward Franklin, but Browne, of the district attorney's office, stepped between them and waved him back."

"Then he arrested Franklin," said the witness. "Who was the other man?" asked the district attorney.

"I have learned since," said the witness, "that it was Clarence Darrow."

"What did Darrow do?" "I really lost sight of him. I did not see him again," said Lockwood.

The witness then told of being taken with Franklin and White to the district attorney's office, where the $4,000 was turned over to Captain Fredericks. His direct examination was not concluded when court adjourned until tomorrow. The resumption of his testimony will be preceded by the contempt case of Detective Foster.

CONCURRENT TERMS SERVED BY CONVICT

HELENA, MAY 27.—(Special.)—According to an opinion given today by Attorney General Galen to Warden Conley, of the state prison, John Conlon, who was sent to the penitentiary on two convictions, one of one year for burglary, and the other of three years for entering a public jail, will serve the two sentences at the same time. The commitment for the longer term did not state whether the sentence was concurrent or cumulative.

CAN'T GO TO STOCKHOLM.

KANSAS CITY, MAY 27.—Leo Tolstoi, who was expected to make the hammer throw for the American team in the Olympic games at Stockholm and also was to have entered in the discus throw, wired New York officials today that he would be unable to take part in the games because business requires his attention.

LEWIS AND CLARK DEMOCRATS WILL VOTE FOR HELENA MAYOR AS DELEGATE.

Helena, May 27.—(Special.)—Though unopposed for a presidential candidate, the Lewis and Clark county delegation to the state convention at Butte, selected by the democratic convention this afternoon, goes ineffectually instructed to vote as a unit for Mayor R. R. Purcell as a delegate to Baltimore.

When the resolution instructing the delegation was offered by H. S. Hepler, Joseph O'Kerr offered a substitute pledging the delegation to vote for a national delegate who stood for progressive policies, the delegation to name whoever this might be.

The substitute was lost by a vote of 81 yeas and 162 nays and then the Purcell instruction was adopted. Friends of T. J. Walsh sought for him to have the Lewis and Clark county place on the national delegation.

Mayor Purcell informed the convention that Champ Clark was his first choice for president and Woodrow Wilson second, but that he was not a Harmon man.

GERM LADEN DUST CAUSES CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM KILLS THE DEADLY CATARRH GERMS—NO STOMACH DOSING.

Catarrh, which is bad enough in itself, often results in loss of taste, smell and hearing, and leads to serious throat and lung troubles. The seat of catarrh is usually in the back of the nose, and its natural course is downward, into the throat and thence to the lungs.

Don't take any chances. If you have any symptoms of catarrh—stuffed up feeling in the head, nasty discharge from the nose, sore throat, or dry, hacking cough, get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and begin the treatment at once.

This remedy is not a "burning out" or "drying up" process. It is simply a cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm, taken through the nostrils back into the head and throat where it instantly reaches the seat of the trouble. That's the only way to effectually and permanently cure catarrh.

Catarrh makes you offensive to yourself and friends. Start using Ely's Cream Balm today, and in a short time you will be permanently cured of this nasty, disgusting disease. Missoula Drug company.

FOR CLARK.

Butte, May 27.—The Yellowstone county delegation to the democratic state convention will leave Billings tomorrow for Butte. The members will wear badges on which appear the photograph of a "bount" and under the picture will be printed the words of the song, "You've Gotta Quit Kickin' My Dawg Around." It is understood that at least 14 out of 18 delegates are staunch supporters of Champ Clark.

In the contingent is John B. Arnold, a prominent capitalist who has been an intimate friend of the speaker for 30 years and was born in a county in Missouri adjoining that where Mr. Clark resides. Mr. Arnold was also a classmate of Wallace Bassford, private secretary of Speaker Clark.

In England there has been invented a machine which is said to perform with mechanical precision the action of a hand polisher.

BUSINESS IS DULL ON 'CHANGE

TRADERS IN WALL STREET DISPOSED TO AWAIT OUTCOME IN WASHINGTON.

New York, May 27.—For the greater part of today's stock market session business almost was at a standstill. Traders were plainly disposed to await the outcome of events at Washington, where the supreme court was holding open session. Additional excuse was found in the closing of all the important exchanges abroad, where the Whitsun holiday was being observed. General improvement was reflected in the reports submitted by western traffic managers, which told of an increased demand for merchandise and liberal buying. The building boom which seems to have reached the stage of reaction heretofore continues unabated further west. Western bankers have low hopes of optimism and the only deterrent to the general prosperity are continued unseasonable weather and labor troubles. Monetary conditions are unchanged.

In the final hour the market eased off to lowest prices of the day with especial weakness in Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific, United States Steel and specialties. The closing brought no change and the total output of 220,000 shares was the smallest in some weeks.

Bonds were relatively more active than stocks and reflected increased heaviness. Total sales (par value), $2,079,000.

Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, May 27.—Reports that the first wheat of 1912 would be harvested today in Texas wiped out nearly all of an advance due to fear of damage in Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. The close of the market here was weak.

"Ideal weather for harvest," formed part of the story told of the beginning of work for the year. Almost simultaneously advices were received that the Pacific northwest would produce 70,000,000 bushels against 55,000,000 bushels last year, and that the conditions were perfect. The outlook in the Dakotas and Minnesota was said to be good, and plenty of moisture. All this caused losses to unload freely and forced a sharp backset in which the market ran into stop-loss orders. Previous to the collapse wheat prices had been on a steady climb, mainly on account of statements from experts that Kansas fields were either at a standstill or going back.

Although crop complaints were received from Ohio and Kansas, the oats market after a good advance reacted. At the close the provision market stood almost precisely the same as 24 hours before.
