In the cool of the summer morning, when you're having your beauty sleep, when the breeze blows in through the windows and makes your slumber deep; when the troubles of day are forgotten as you rest in your comfortable bed; when the petty vexations all vanish and you have pleasant dreams in their stead; when you burrow deep down in your pillow and start on another good nap; when you feel that for gloom and his legions you don't care a twopenny-rap; when you're setting a long-distance record for virtuous slumber profound, then it's tougher than blazes to walk at the telephone, bell's urgent summons, but when you jump out of your blankets and the receiver you place at your ear, it makes you forget all your morals, when this is the message you hear: "Hello—who is it—speak louder—what was that—please do shake up your phone—O, I didn't want you—the wrong number—" then you turn round and dress with a groan.

No valuation has yet been placed on the large rainfall, which has been given to western Montana during the past few days. However, reports from the reservation are to the effect that the rain could not possibly have been timed better and that it has done much toward making the crops through that district the best that have ever been raised there. The fierce heat during the early part of the week threatened to burn up the grain, but along came a made-to-order rain and the day was saved. The reservation is not the only district where the rain was welcomed. Reports from Kalispell, the Bitter Root and our own Orchard Homes were that the rain was of inestimable value and that it would prove a great aid to crops of all kinds. From the way it has been performing during the past few days, the ground will have enough moisture to last for some time. Estimates from two million dollars up are expected daily.

During the first part of last month the police department recommended that the colored "club," conducted by George Lucas, be closed. The council adopted this recommendation, but the trial was never held. Instead, Lucas was granted until the first of July to dispose of his stock of liquor and leave the business. The first of the month is here and Mr. Lucas will quit, or find himself involved in a serious entanglement with the police department. Speaking of the colored "club" closing, Commissioner Houston said: "I agreed to give Mr. Lucas until the first of the month, because I did not wish to be hard on him. The time is up and he will suspend immediately, or we will close him. The police department will stand for no foolish business in this connection. We have the dope on him and the club had better close up peacefully. He has had all the consideration to which he is entitled and now we will be a little strict, if necessary. I understand that several of the saloons are going out of business. As I understand it, the saloons which are to suspend are ones of a rather low type and it all goes to show the strict regulation of the saloons is the best thing. The orderly and well-conducted saloon should have the business and if you keep a strict rein on them all, the dive will close up of its own accord."

The first summer school to be held by the University of Montana is proving an absolute and unqualified success. The registration records show that 107 pupils are enrolled in the summer school. This is much in excess of the expectations and Professor G. P. Reynolds is quite elated over the record made by the school. "We thought there was some demand for a summer school in Montana," said Professor Reynolds, "but we did not think that we would have anything like this number of students registered for the work. I think that for a first attempt we have been remarkably successful and that the future of the university's summer school is practically assured."

Biding roughshod over the protests received concerning the placing of bears in Greenough park; disregarding the request of Mrs. T. L. Greenough, wife of the donor of Missoula's beauty spot, and incurring some extra expense to accomplish this, Missoula's council yesterday morning voted to accept the offer of the two bears cubs and keep them in Greenough park to amuse the children. "I don't think it is right," said Commissioner Price, who fought the measure to the last ditch. "We had an awful time getting rid of the other bear. We now have a damage suit pending on account of a runaway caused by the former inhabitants of the pit and it is an expense to keep them the year around. Mrs. T. L. Greenough has told me several times that she did not want the bears in the park and I think that some attention should be paid to her wishes. It wouldn't be so bad if the pit were located in some other part of the park, but its present location makes it dangerous. The cubs are doubtless very fine cubs, but I don't see why we need them and particularly when we have received so many protests against them. Of course, I admit that there are some people who want them, but I think the protests outweigh the sentiment of those who do want them for the children to inspect."

WELCOME SHOWERS EVERYWHERE

M. ROBERTSON BRINGS PLEASANT NEWS FROM THE RESERVATION COUNTRY.

M. Robertson returned yesterday from a trip through Flathead country and the reservation region. He says the rain was general all through the country west and north of Missoula and that it came in time to be of great benefit to the farmers.

"When we left Kalispell," said Mr. Robertson yesterday, "the rain was just beginning to fall. By the time we started across the lake, the storm was a real one and the trip was something to remember. I stuck close to the rail and I was glad the voyage was no longer than it was. I would dislike to have six days like that; I don't think there is enough inside me to keep it up that long."

"On the reservation the rain was welcomed cordially. The farmers needed it and it didn't come any too soon for them. The crops brightened up amazingly right away and the complete drenching which the ground received makes it certain that there will be a good yield this season."

"The automobile trip from Polson to Ravalli was no less exciting than the voyage across the lake. The rain had made the roads very slippery with mud and the wheels didn't hold well. We pushed up some of the hills and held our breath down some of the others. The result was that we got to Ravalli in time for the train and the excitement of the trip made us all feel fine."

FIGURES ALL READY FOR NEW ROAD

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS WILL CONSIDER SPECIFICATIONS AND CALL FOR BIDS.

Late yesterday afternoon County Surveyor James Bonner finished the work of preparing the specifications for the new road to be constructed by Missoula county from Taft to the Montana-Idaho divide—that piece of road to become an interstate highway when it connects with the road now being constructed from Mullian to the summit of the range. The county commissioners were to consider the specifications yesterday and authorize the calling for bids, but decided to put it over until another day.

The figures prepared by Mr. Bonner from his survey notes give a total of 16,120 yards of earth to be moved in the grading of the road. A total of 20 bridges will be constructed along the route of six miles. Most of these are small, an average of the 20 being but 16 feet in length.

As stated before, the route selected for the road is along Randolph creek. The road is to be 14 feet wide in the clear and the specifications call for about half of the width to be cut into solid earth along the hillside, the earth thus removed forming the fill for the other half of the width.

PLAYGROUND SCENE THIS BOOK APPEALS TO ALL IS CHARMING

SUPERVISED PLAY AT UNIVERSITY IS DEVELOPING PLEASANTLY THIS SUMMER.

The summer work at the playground on the university campus is getting well organized; the classes have been formed and the play is enjoyed by a fine lot of youngsters. There are now nearly a hundred of the children enrolled for the play season and under the direction of Miss Carpenter, the demonstration of supervised play is convincing.

The evening work at the playground is under the direction of Miss Forrest and a group of the teachers who are studying in the normal course in play; these directors are organizing a captain-ball team, besides leading the children in playing "Hole-run-sheep," "spelling stick," and other active games.

One teacher takes the little children who like to play "Farmer in the dell," "Rig-a-jig-jig," and other singing games, and the scene at the grounds is delightful on a pleasant evening.

The folk-dance club for boys and girls under 13 years, which meets at 10 o'clock in the morning, three days in each week, will change its dates somewhat this week on account of the rainy Monday and the celebration of the Fourth. The class will meet this week on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday mornings. All children who wish to join this club for regular work are urged to report at once.

Tomorrow is Balloon Day at the Missoula Mercantile Co.

LOCAL SOCIETY

American Women's League.

Another one of the delightful social seasons, inaugurated by the Missoula chapter of the American Women's League, will be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Prescott, near the university. All friends who may be interested are cordially invited to be present.

Seventy-Seventh Birthday.

In honor of the seventy-seventh birthday of Charles E. Beckwith, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs had a family supper at their home on East Pine street. The rooms and the supper table were made festive with a profusion of beautiful roses and there was a birthday cake crowned with seven lighted candles, representing the mystic number that the guest of honor has multiplied 11 times in his long years of usefulness. The supper party included Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Boos, Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs, Miss Helen McLeod, Roy Beckwith and the guest of honor, Charles E. Beckwith.

Up the Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McLeod with a number of guests drove up the valley Sunday by automobile. They dined at the Ravalli hotel in Hamilton and returned to the McLeod ranch for supper. Those who had part in the happy day's outing were Major and Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Foote, Lieutenant and Mrs. Von dem Busche, Lieutenant and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler B. Thompson, Harold Sloane, Walter McLeod and the host and hostess.

Complimenting Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville G. England complimented two young ladies visiting in Missoula with a brilliant social function at the Elks' clubhouse last evening. The guests of honor were Miss Mary Hogan of Chicago, who is visiting Mrs. England, and Miss Katherine O'Leary, who is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Mulrony. Mr. and Mrs. England asked a large number of the younger society folk to meet Miss Hogan and Miss O'Leary. They had the ball room and the supper room made bright with red, white and blue, effectively presented in flowers, flags and lights. Miss Jeanne Sloane and Miss Giselle Scholberg served punch in an attractive bower and a delicious supper was served in the dining room whenever the guests chose to rest from dancing. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mulrony, Mr. and Mrs. F. Y. Van Patten; the Misses Margaret and Abbie Lucy, Edna Power, Dorothy Sterling, Edmee, Juliette and Lauretta Deschamps, Marjorie Ross, Annette Ross, Margaret Roman, Isabel Roman, Madeline McCullough, Dorothy Polley, Olive Wheeler, Phyllis Gagnon, Mary Elrod, Charline and Cecile Johnson, Mildred Ingalls, Marguerite and Florence Coen, Leona Forbis, Helen McLeod, Gertrude Sloane, Ona Sloane, Marjorie Wood, Lucile Marshall, Mayme Reilly, Mary O'Brien, Mary, Grace and Edna Rankin, Myrre Converse, Edith Tietjen, Ruth Worden, Beattie Bloddard, Helen Orvis, Evaro Avery, Marie Snyder, Beattie Rhoades, Ethel Parker, Messrs. # THIS BOOK APPEALS TO ALL

"THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT" MEETS THE REQUIREMENTS OF YOUNG AND OLD.

The publication of a book which has an equal appeal both to the schoolboy and the settled man of affairs is accomplished only a few times during each generation.

The demand for copies of "The American Government" by Frederic J. Haskin, indicates that there is something in this new work which has a peculiar appeal for both old and young, because the persons who have applied for the book since its distribution was begun by The Missoulian have included coupon holders ranging from children in the public schools to grandparents who in another generation fought and worked to make this country what it is. It is a matter of great satisfaction to The Missoulian that so many school children are securing the book.

The men at the desk in The Missoulian office take great interest in observing how each new owner receives his book. The boy or girl usually looks at the pictures, then hurries away as if to show it proudly to the parents at home.

The older person pays more attention to the physical appearance of the book, often pausing to read passages here and there. Women readers frequently handle the volume as they would a new novel, turning to the last few pages to see how it ends instead of beginning with the first chapter. Both young and old, however, express keen satisfaction with what they have obtained for so little effort and such a small amount of money.

Many inquiries are made daily by persons who want to know if it is too late to start saving coupons. Although the demand is extremely heavy, a second edition has been put in the press and The Missoulian can promise that every reader who wants a copy can have it. Cut the coupon from this issue.

ROAD TO ANACONDA IN GOOD SHAPE

PRESIDENT MATHEWSON OF THE GOOD ROADS CONGRESS SENDS MESSAGE.

Secretary Breitenstein of the chamber of commerce, who is arranging for the automobile excursion to Anaconda next Sunday, when Missoula's delegation goes over to attend the Montana Good Roads congress, has received a number of enquiries from auto owners concerning the condition of the roads. Granite county has promised that the roads this side of Phillipsburg will be in splendid shape, as a road crew has been busy for some days making some badly needed repairs. The condition of the route between Phillipsburg and Anaconda was not known until yesterday when word was received from President Mathewson of the good roads congress in answer to a message sent him by Mr. Breitenstein. "Tell your delegates," said Mr. Mathewson, "that the roads between Phillipsburg and Anaconda, by way of Georgetown lake, are in fine condition and that no trouble will be experienced in making this portion of the trip with automobiles."

That was good news and insures a most pleasant drive from Missoula to the convention city. The Missoula delegates will leave here early Sunday morning.

FAMILY TROUBLES.

Rose E. Merrick commenced two suits against her husband, Martin Merrick, in the district court yesterday. One was for separate maintenance and the other was a suit in equity to settle some property between the two.
