SKATEER SEASON

These are the days of the skater's delight—he's busy now all day and night, whenever sliken hose he slips, straight for the ankle within he flies; then he flits and takes a crack, through a peek-a-boo hole, at a fair, plump back; anon lest something should be missed, he jabs away at a taper wrist; venturesome, he waxes bolder and takes a bite at a rounded shoulder; then he veers around, by Heck, and bores his drill in a lovely neck; an expert he leads his hand over the back of a dainty hand; captivated by its charm, he feeds his tribe on a pretty arm; sometimes for nothing feazes him, he makes a stab at a nether limb; his life is short but also gay, he jabs and stabs "most any way; in the light and in the dark, the frisky skater makes his mark; elusive, he is hard to catch, but when he leaves one eke must scratch; he's a regular pirate, bold, he bites the young, he bites the old; he bites the plain, he bites the fair, anytime and anywhere; he's not particular at all, he bites at one, he bites at all; but he admires, as you can guess, the peek-a-boo style of summer dress.

There was one continuous stream of people before the bulletin boards yesterday. The greater part of the crowd seemed to be strongly in favor of Wilson and the results of the forty-fourth ballot were held with much enthusiasm.

EAGER WATCHERS

When I come back from dinner I expect to find him nominated. The fight has been a hard one, but it has demonstrated that the democratic machine is not the dominant factor in the convention. They could not have chosen a better man." The sentiments expressed by Mr. Besancon were echoed by a great part of the democrats, who were waiting for the returns. Mr. Besancon's prediction came true before he had gotten half-way across the bridge. Wilson was nominated and the contingent which passed up dinner to watch the bulletin was rewarded for its vigil by being the first ones to get the flash which announced the New Jersey man's victory.

ONE SIDE IS OPEN

The west side of Higgins avenue is now open for traffic from the depot to Front street. The barricades were taken down yesterday morning and the teams were permitted to make use of this pavement. This will prove a great help to all business houses on the avenue, as the east side of the street is practically impassable. The street car company is making good progress with its work and they have been placed in the street and are now ready for the concrete work. The grading will be finished within a few days and then the concrete will commence their work. The concreting is to be begun at the north end of the avenue and hurried right through. The street car company's material is all here and that company will not delay matters in any way. The concreting on Front street will be finished before that work is commenced on the avenue. After the concreting gangs will come the brick layers and they will finish Front street before commencing on the avenue. By the time they finish Front street, the concreters will have a good start on the avenue and the laying of brick can be commenced.

PLANS MADE

Commissioner Price has been cogitating deeply over the demand for a bandstand in Greenough park and he has finally arrived at a solution of the problem, which appears eminently satisfactory and will probably be put in execution as soon as it has been approved by the board itself. The original suggestion in regard to the bandstand was that it be placed where the bear pit is now located and that the pit be used as a foundation for the stand. However, Mr. Price declared this as impracticable even before the council decided to take over the bears and thus made use of the pit impossible. "Mrs. Greenough has given permission for the city to use a small part of her property close to the pavilion for a bandstand," said Commissioner Price. "This would be much more satisfactory than a location on the other side of the creek, because the roadway there is narrow and it would be so congested with rigs that movement in either direction would be impossible. If the bandstand is placed close to the pavilion it will give much more room for people to stop with their machines and rigs. There will also be more convenient places for the pedestrians to rest while listening to the concert. I think that this will meet the approval of the board, and if it does, we will probably go ahead with its construction at once."

Tom Bateman was in town yesterday from Ravalli on business connected with his auto stages across the reservation. He has lots of business now and is planning for more. "We are running two sixteen-passenger cars now," said Mr. Bateman to the Man About Town yesterday afternoon. "One of them leaves early in the morning to connect with the boats at Polson and the other waits for the morning train at Ravalli. This gives two quick trips each way across the reservation and makes it possible for the travelers to visit all of the towns, as we allow passengers to stop over from one car to the next, at any of the stations along the line. The roads are good and our passengers are enjoying the new service.

HALF PRICE

We offer you, for a few days, your choice of Whiting's fine box papers at one-half the regular selling price. This is a bona fide sale of our regular stock of well-selected and up-to-date paper. We are making this big reduction because of an over-stock. Remember, one-half price, or two boxes for the price of one. Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

Missoula Drug Co. WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Missoula, Mont.

You can leave Missoula in the morning now and get to Polson, at the foot of the lake, for lunch."

GOOD RAIN

Andrew Stinger is in town with his family for the Fourth and the circus. He says the reservation is fine and that the rain brought satisfaction everywhere. "The rain came in time to save practically all of the crops," said Mr. Stinger yesterday. "It would have been better if it had come a few days earlier but it was mighty fine when it did arrive. The outlook is good all over the reserve and the crops will be larger than ever before."

BIDS ARE TO BE ASKED FOR INTERSTATE ROAD

Yesterday the county commissioners authorized the county clerk to advertise for bids on the construction of a wagon road, four and three-eighths miles long. The road is to run from the end of the Polleys Lumber company's railroad, near Taft, to the Montana-Idaho line on the divide. This is Missoula county's share of the Missoula-Mullan highway, in so far as actual construction goes. The Polleys railroad right of way, which is not in operation now, will be used for a mile and five-eighths out of Taft. The rail, of course, will be taken up. Yesterday the commissioners appointed Professor A. W. Richter of the university a member of the county examining board, on account of the fact that Dr. Book is out of the state.

DAVID H. KING DEAD IN PHOENIX, ARIZONA

R. T. Richardson of the Missoula postoffice yesterday received a telegram from Mrs. David H. King telling of the death of her husband Monday afternoon in Phoenix, Ariz. Mr. King came to the postal service in this city from St. Louis about two years ago. He had a homestead on the reservation which he later relinquished. His home in Missoula was at 330 Locust street. Last April Mr. and Mrs. King and three children went to Arizona hoping that the climate might be of benefit to Mr. King's health, which was affected by tuberculosis. No arrangements for burial have as yet been announced to the friends in Missoula.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED BALLOONS

A GREAT FLEET OF AIRCRAFT WILL SAIL FORTH FROM THE M. M. CO. STORE TODAY.

The Missoula Mercantile company will be in the balloon business today to a heavy extent. Undaunted by the two serious aviation accidents of the past two days, this company will engage in a balloon venture today which is without precedent in this part of the country and, perhaps, in the whole world. The best feature of the venture is that absolute safety is guaranteed. There will be no perilous descents from great heights, for these balloons are so constructed that loss of life is not possible, even should one of them collapse.

In the big Higgins avenue show window of the Missoula Mercantile company this morning there will be 1,500 balloons inflated. It will be the greatest assemblage of air craft ever gathered in the northwest. These balloons will be distributed among the juvenile customers of the big store during the day. The distribution will begin at 9 o'clock this morning and will continue as long as the balloons and the kiddies hold out. With every 25-cent purchase in the store—no matter in what department—there will be one of these balloons for the youngster of the family.

LOCAL SOCIETY

For the Misses Johnson. Mrs. E. M. Rundquist asked a company of young ladies to her home on South Fourth street, west, yesterday afternoon, to meet her sisters, Misses Thekla and Margaret Johnson of Chicago, who are her guests in Missoula. Tables were placed for the game of "500" in rooms richly decorated for the occasion with red, white and blue in American flags and red, carnations. After a lively game, scores were Florence Coen and Miss Abbie Lucy. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. George Lantz, served delicious and dainty refreshments from the small tables. The guests were Misses Thekla and Margaret Johnson, Mildred Ingalls, Margaret and Abbie Lucy, Marguerite, Florence and Helen Coen, Merle Kettelwell, Myrtle Armstrong, Gertrude Sloane, and Marguerite Bonner.

A Birthday Party.

A merry company of young people were entertained at the Schreiber home south of town, Monday evening, in honor of the 15th birthday of Miss Dorothy Schreiber. The good time began with the drive out from town in the roomy vehicles sent for the guests. Chinese lanterns lighted the lawn and porch and decorations of red, white and blue added charm to the scene. Games and music filled the evening until midnight when a beautiful supper was served by Mrs. Schreiber. It was a fired but happy company that climbed into the coach for the drive home. Those present were Misses Dora Swant, Mary Pew, Edith Baker, Bulaß Waltemate, Lella Paxson, Dorothy and Josie Schreiber; Messrs. Clarence Beaman, Harold Panchot, Carl Swartz, Lloyd Brown, Howard Swant, Dayton Shields, Jack Swartz and Clarence Swant.

KEEP MOVING TODAY ON HIGGINS AVENUE

Keep moving today on Higgins avenue. With only half the width of the street open there will naturally be much congestion of traffic. The paved side of the street can be used by all. It was fixed up for this purpose yesterday, but Police Commissioner Houston last evening gave notice that rigs must keep moving at all times along the avenue. There must be no stopping and no loitering. Those who wish to sit in their rigs to view the parade or any of the other events must take up their stand upon some side street. This order will be enforced by the police today and tomorrow. It is considered on account of the safety of all concerned and also that traffic along the street may be kept open at all times.

WHILE IN SWIMMING LAD IS DROWNED

CARL JONES GETS INTO CURRENT OF STREAM AND COMPANIONS UNABLE TO HELP.

Carl Jones, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jones whose home is on Poplar street, was drowned in the Missoula river yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. The boy had gone with Roger Trafford and William Buswell to swim in a shallow pool formed by a bay just above Hughes' gardens, across the river from the Prescott pumping station. The water was not deep and the place seemed perfectly safe. The boys left their clothes on the bank and young Jones dived from a log. The next his companions saw of him, he was struggling and calling for help. Roger Trafford swam after him, but he appeared at the surface only at rare intervals and it seemed impossible to get hold of him. "The boys think they saw him just as he was borne into the swift current around a log at the turn of the bay, 75 or 80 yards below where he went into the water. An alarm was given at once and Coroner Marsh and Sheriff Kelley with a number of neighbors and friends began to search the river for the body. It was not recovered last night.

Mr. Jones' father, is a driver for the Thomas F. Farley company, grocers, and his home was on South Ninth street. Daily addition, until two months ago, when the family moved into a house on Poplar street. "Carl Jones was a member of the eighth grade B class in the Roosevelt school, a bright spirited lad, well-liked by teachers and school mates. Every effort is being made to recover the body and the parents of the unfortunate lad request that all residents along the Missoula river west of the city watch the stream near their homes for its appearance.
