

NEWS OF BITTER ROOT VALLEY
A PEACEFUL CANINE TWO NEW CONCERNS IS HONUS INCORPORATE

ELMER HIGHLANDER'S FATHER IS ADOPTED BY BUTTE TEAM, BUT RETURNS HOME.

Hamilton, July 16.—(Special).—The gay life of a pampered mascot and rabbit foot of a baseball team, who appears from time to time as the hero in verse and song, may be acceptable to Elmer, the luck-piece of the Missoula Highlanders, but with Honus, the head of the family from which Elmer sprang, such a gay life gets but an abbreviated look-in. Elmer took to the life from the first crack of the bat. With all the dignity of his being he has posed as the guardian of first place in the league race, while he has followed the Highlanders about the circuit. For a dog without character or qualifications such as would attract attention at a Madison Square garden dog show, this is some performance. Anyway, Elmer came back to his old haunts last week, where he showed off before Honus, his pater-familias, although of ample and unob-trusive life, is an observing individual, and during the two-day reign of Elmer at the local ball park, became wise to his son's prestige. So it was without misgivings that he allowed the members of the Butte baseball team to annex him. Why shouldn't he prove himself something more than mere dog? With visions of the gay life, revealed to him by the pompous Elmer, Honus saw Hamilton slip away in the distance Sunday morning. All went well until the train was some distance down the valley, when Honus jumped the team, and then the train, arriving in Hamilton on high speed.
This is the story of Honus' short sojourn in the Union association, according to "Skinny" Powers, who told the story this morning.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE SAVES WORRY SAVES MONEY, SAVES THE HAIR

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to New-bro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first, you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee of 110 South 4th St., Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

DAIRYMEN TO MEET
IN BOZEMAN

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT STATE AGRICUL-TURAL COLLEGE.

Bozeman, July 16.—(Special).—The Northwestern Dairy conference, to be held at the state college here, July 18 and 19, promises to be an important affair. The National Convention of Food and Dairy commissioners, which just adjourned at Seattle, brought together most of the distinguished men of the country in those lines, and many of the best known will stop here on their way eastward. They are likely to take a few days on the coast to look over the attractive cities there, and then will come to Bozeman. Professor R. W. Clark, who has charge of the meeting here and planned it, sent a general telegraphic invitation to the convention just before it adjourned for all the members to stop here. He has definite word from about 15 of the strongest men that they will come.

There will be two or three from Minnesota, two from North Dakota, one from South Dakota, two from Utah, one each from Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho, Oregon and Washington; one sent by the United States department of agriculture from Washington, D. C., and two from Canada. The purpose of this conference is to plan for the extension of the dairy interests in Montana, and especially to consider matters of dairy legislation.

able to come to Missoula to appear against Bovier in the preliminary hearing within a day or two.

BURNT TWIG FOUND
INSIDE TREE

BIT OF CHARRED WOOD EM-BEDDED IN HEART OF GEN-TURY-OLD TRUNK.

burnt end of a twig embedded in several inches of sound later growth of timber is the record on display in the office of the Gallatin National forest, which proves that there was a fire in the Gallatin forest 114 years ago. That was five years before the Lewis and Clark expedition and authentic documents on Montana history for that period are rare. This record was picked up by sheer accident near the Flanders saw mill, and is a bit of a sawed slab. When it was being cut short for fire wood some one noticed the burnt end of the twig in the wood, and happened to think of the significance of it. The sawed end was sandpapered down, and shows clearly that a small branch, about an inch and a half from the surface of the tree had been burned off, but the surface of the tree had not been injured. The tree continued to grow, and gradually reached the end of the twig, and closed around it perfectly. Then about two inches more grew outside the charred end, and left the record safe until mere chance disclosed it. The rings of wood are microscopically thin, but the officers have counted them with a microscope and find that from the time when the twig ceased to grow, and the wood began to close round it, 114 years elapsed until the tree was killed. The fire may have been one caused by lightning or the twig may have been burned off by Indians with some camp fire before the first white man had disturbed their mountain solitudes. The exact point from which this tree came is not known, or it might be possible to trace other evidences of this ancient fact.
