

WEAKNESS IS SHOWN BY STOCKS

REALIZATION ON PROFITS OF THURSDAY AIDS IN DEPRESSING PRICES.

New York, Nov. 22.—In response to profit-taking sales following yesterday's rise and some selling by London stocks weakened today.

London selling was regarded as the significant development of the day. It was estimated that 20,000 to 30,000 shares were sold here by London, which recently has been repurchasing American securities disposed of after the outbreak of the Balkan war.

Another explanation was that the selling was London's reply to the engagement of gold there for this country. A further engagement of $500,000 gold was announced today.

The bond market was quiet and irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,375,000.

United States 2s declined one-eighth per cent.

NOTE TRANSFERRED TO SAVE BANK

Coeur d'Alene, Nov. 22.—Upon the completion of its case today by the prosecution, the trial of F. O. O'Neil, charged with violating the banking laws, was adjourned until tomorrow.

With a view to proving fraudulent intent upon the part of O'Neil on the very day that he issued the false bank statement, for which he is now on trial, correspondence between O'Neil and the Old National bank of Spokane was introduced by the state.

Under date of May 8, 1908, the date of the alleged false bank report, O'Neil wrote regarding the Lane Lumber company's note for $22,115.10, that the note had been transferred to the Old National bank as a convenience to himself, that he anticipated fathering the note later on because his bank at the time was laden too heavily, "or, in other words, the amount is too large for us to carry and pass inspection at present."

Cashier J. A. Yeomans of the Spokane bank, in identifying the correspondence, testified that O'Neil's bank borrowed $22,115 on April 2, 1909, and had given the Lane company's note as collateral.

Donald Arthur, expert accountant, resumed the stand and testified that of the bank's condition the report submitted to the directors January 24, 1909, the loans and discounts were increased $92,000, the stocks and bonds $50,000, and cash on hand $107,750, while the overdrafts were decreased $160,000.

Arthur also traced O'Neil's personal account through the books, stating that at times the account showed an overdraft of $70,000. Former Cashier Edgar S. Wyman was recalled and testified that there was an account of $10,000 opened in the name of the Anador Railroad company, which was supposed to have been secured by bonds of the same company as collateral.

He said he had never seen the bonds, but that the loans were made to the Idaho Northern Railroad company, in which O'Neil was interested.

han, financial secretary of the local union. I asked him whether he had heard the news about the Columbus, Ind., firms going to unionize their jobs thereafter and were going to use only union men in concrete work at Oklahoma City, Okla. He replied: "More power to the rough gang."

"On April 11, I left for Toledo to meet James B. at the station there. The next day we went to Detroit and were arrested."

McManigal testified that he and James B. had been promised $300 for causing an explosion at South Chicago on February 24 and that they were unable to place the bombs near enough to the plant because of the glare of nearby furnaces.

"We complained to J. J. about not getting our money," said the witness. "He answered he was waiting to receive the payment from Chicago local No. 1, but he thought they would not pay $300 for putting a bomb near a furnace."

Joseph Schwartz, who was arrested today charged with attempting to obstruct justice by intimidating Cornelius L. Crowley of Monica, Pa., a witness, was locked in jail after a preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner.

Robert J. Foster, a detective, and Crowley testified before the commissioner that Schwartz had told the witness "he did not need to tell the truth if he did not want to."

They asserted Schwartz, on learning Crowley was to testify concerning nitro-glycerine, hidden at Rochester, Pa., urged him not to appear.

"He said no court could make him squawk," said Foster. "He talked about the gunner found guilty in New York and said they did not squeal."

Schwartz, who said he lived in Chicago, testified he remarked only he "would rather have his heart cut out than be McManigal."

He was held to the federal grand jury.
