

MANY CRACK SHOTS AT MEETING

MACCOLL OF REMINGTON ARMS. U. M. C. COMPANY HOME FROM NEW YORK.

E. S. MacColl, district manager of Montana and Wyoming for the Remington Arms-U. M. C. company, with headquarters in Missoula, has returned from New York. One of his first comments upon reaching home was that the famous "bright lights" of Broadway look like a "dirty deuce in a new dock" in comparison with the lighting of Missoula's Higgins avenue.

third annual convention of the district managers and salesmen of the Remington Arms-U. M. C. company held at Bridgeport, Conn. The crack shots of the whole country attended the convention and they had a high old time for four days. The following clipping from a Bridgeport paper tells of the gathering:

The third annual convention of the district managers and salesmen of the Remington Arms-U. M. C. for the purpose of receiving and getting certain information and instruction on ammunition and guns (technical phrase "crack"), opened in the Stratfield yesterday morning. There were 150 in all, under the head of representatives, and a clear-eyed bunch they were, but in order to accommodate some of the officials, the company engaged 300 rooms at the Stratfield so that the hotel will be headquarters for "arms and ammunition" the coming week. The delegates to the convention leave for New York Friday afternoon. It is an interesting group when they get together as most of them are specialists with the gun, and most of the representatives have trophy rooms at their homes to hold their guns and medals. While the Remington Arms-U. M. C. company has representatives in the old countries, those men will not be present, except the Canadian representative, Court Thompson. However, the representative from San Francisco, J. G. Booth, will be present, and he comes a longer distance, by rail, than the Canadian representative. Perhaps for long distance traveling, W. A. Hills, who has just returned from Alaska, had the biggest hiking to do to get to the convention.

Elton Arrives. Carl G. Elton arrived home from his trip to the convention on the Olympian last night. Mr. Elton spent some time visiting at his old home in Virginia, in New York, Washington and other cities and states that he has had a splendid trip. Mr. Elton comes home with added laurels, too, for at the professional shoot, which was the feature of one day at the convention, a contest in which only professionals entered, he secured fifth place in scoring from a field of about 100 shooters. His record was 94 per cent.

I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." No opiates. Missoula Drug Co.—Adv.

HARWOOD IS HERE ON VACATON

WELL-KNOWN YOUNG MAN HOME FOR VISIT AFTER SUCCESSFUL STAGE CAREER.

The many friends of Lloyd Harwood will be pleased to learn that after an absence of two years he is back in Missoula to visit his parents and to take a good rest after spending the time he has been away in a successful career on the stage. Mr. Harwood's talent was recognized even before he left Missoula and when he decided to go east he quickly found a place in a high-class stock company and advanced rapidly. For some months he was with the Leota Howard company and played through the interiors of Washington, Oregon and California. Then he became a member of the "Hies" company and is now with the Laura Winston company, which he left to come home on his vacation. In June he will go to Kansas City to fill an engagement that has already been booked for the season. Mr. Harwood has been playing the leading male roles in each of these companies and that he has made good and is climbing higher in his chosen profession all the time is good news to his many friends in Missoula.

Edison's masterpiece, "It Is Never Too Late to Mend." This special two-reel release illustrates the famous story by Charles Reade and affords, well-marked dramatic incidents, exciting and full of suspense. So powerful was this story that it was one of the greatest factors in the reformation of England's prisons. The Fielding brothers, farmers, are served with notice of foreclosure of mortgage on their farm. George, the older brother, is engaged to Susan Morton, who is also beloved by John Meadows, the wealthiest man in town.

Meadows realizes the futility of his efforts to win Susan by fair means, and plans George's undoing and his own abandonment. George goes to Australia to seek his fortune, and Meadows, sure of success, selects the house for his bride, and ousts the present tenant, Isaac Levy, thus gaining the custody of the Old Jew. Levy has been protected from Meadows' plans by George Fielding, and he now determines to protect George from the plotters. He rents an office next to Meadows, and through a hole which he borrows in the wall keeps informed of their plans. Meadows' schemes are frustrated, and George returns with six thousand pounds to clear the home and claim his bride. In addition to this production two excellent Biograph comedies will be shown, entitled "The Best Man Wins" and "The Bite of a Snake."
