

WOMAN IS WOUNDED AND ROBBED

WEALTHY TEXAN IS HELD UP AND NEARLY KILLED BY THUG IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 2.—Mrs. Mabel Mills, wife of a wealthy land owner of San Antonio, Texas, knocked at a stranger's door in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, last night and exclaimed she had been robbed of $4,500. She was bleeding from a deep scalp wound and before she could finish her story she collapsed. Examination at a hospital showed she was suffering from concussion of the brain and is perhaps fatally wounded.

According to the police, Mrs. Mills came to Chicago from Texas less than a week ago. Shortly before noon Saturday she deposited $4,500 with a cashier of the hotel at which she was staying. In mid-afternoon she called for the money and discovered she had lost the receipt, but succeeded in getting the fortune. She went to Evanston to dine at a friend's home, carrying the money in a handbag in which there was a pocketbook containing a smaller sum.

After dinner Mrs. Mills started for Chicago and on the way discovered that the small purse was missing. She turned back, lost her way and at 9:30 o'clock she was seen by a policeman whom she did not see.

Her movements during the night bear the mystery. At 10:30 o'clock she started into a residence and asked for aid. A physician and her friend were summoned. She revived long enough to say that she had ridden past her station on her return to Evanston and had been felled by a blow struck by some one who sneaked up behind her. When she recovered consciousness her money was gone.

Four blocks from where Mrs. Mills sought assistance the police found the handbag. It was lying open on the sidewalk and had been rifled. Friends of Mrs. Mills with whom she had dined, found the missing pocketbook in the hallway of their residence where it had apparently fallen. It contained $1,945.

Well Known in Texas.
San Antonio, Texas, March 2.—Mrs. Mabel Mills, victim in Chicago of an apparent assault and robbery, is the wife of E. W. Mills, a widely known real estate dealer of San Antonio. She, too, is in the real estate business. Before her marriage two years ago, she was Mrs. Mabel Luther, and was accounted one of the most successful real estate brokers of Texas.

Mills only had word tonight that his wife had been slightly injured and was in a Chicago hospital. He knew nothing of the robbery and could not account for such a sum being in his wife's possession, although he supposed it to represent the proceeds of one of her own real estate transactions.

JEWELER IS ROBBED BY BANDITS IN AUTO

New York, March 2.—Scores of detectives searched the haunts of the underworld today for the two automobile bandits who early today, in one of the boldest raids on record here, held up a Broadway jeweler in his store in the white-light district and ran to a waiting taxicab with a tray of jewelry valued at $2,000. Quick pursuit of detectives caused them to abandon their booty, but two of the three men alleged to have participated in the holdup got away by dodging up a side street.

One man stood in the doorway and fired two ineffective shots at Moses Bach, proprietor of the store. The robbers had shot the contents of an ammonia can in Bach's face, nearly blinding him, he declared today. The chauffeur of the taxicab, George G. Ferguson, was arrested and identified by Bach as having participated in the holdup. The police think they may have another of the trio in William Andersen, a partner of Ferguson in the automobile business who also was arrested today. He answers the description of the man who fired the shots at Bach, the police say. Both prisoners denied participating in the holdup.

SUFFRAGISTS MOBBED ON LONDON STREETS

London, March 2.—The public temper is rising against the suffragettes. Wild scenes were witnessed this afternoon in Hyde park when a mob of several thousand broke up a suffragette meeting held under the leadership of "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond.

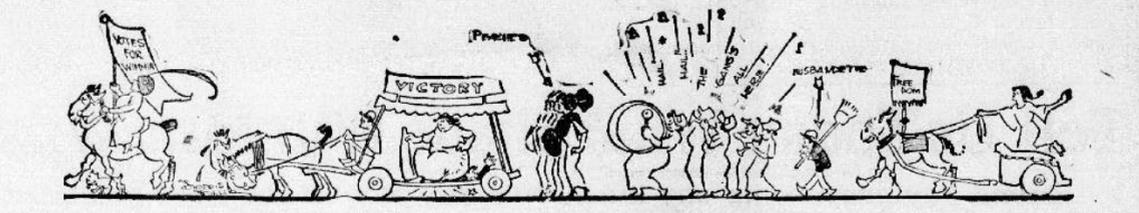

Several free fights occurred and masses of turf torn from the ground were hurled at the speakers. It required a strong body of police to protect the suffragettes and escort them to a place of safety.

Similar scenes marked a meeting at Wimbledon commons, in both cases women were knocked down and bruised.

INVESTIGATION TODAY.

Hamilton, March 2.—(Special).—C. W. Ward arrived in Hamilton this morning from his home on Ray creek, to attend tomorrow's meeting of the board of county commissioners. At their meeting tomorrow the commissioners will undoubtedly investigate T. J. Heffling's information to the effect that Ravalli county has something over $4,000 coming to it as a result of a mistake made in the appointment of the forest reserve allowances to Missoula and Ravalli counties.

With Magnificent Fete and Splendid Pageant American Women Urge Suffrage Cause This Day

Washington, March 2.—Women will have a gala day in Washington tomorrow, a fete and pageant day to the spirit on the cause of equal franchise. Plans for a suffrage procession have been made on a most elaborate scale and 5,000 women are expected to march up Pennsylvania avenue from the monument of the treasury building and then to the Continental hall where a big suffrage meeting will be held.

Accompanying the procession, which will consist of seven divisions, will be an allegorical tableau on the steps of the treasury building in which will be impersonated Columbus, summoning to her side Justice, Charity, Liberty, Plenty, Peace and Hope. These, attended by groups of nations, will view

Professors' will be the motto of the fourth section; "The Appeal of the States" that of the sixth; the fifth section will comprise non-uniformed women marchers, and the seventh section will consist of delegations of states where suffrage has been wholly or partly granted.

Two large suffrage meetings guarded by policemen were held today in theaters. Suffrage questions were discussed by speakers, who placed upon the shoulders of the men the burden of the white-slave traffic, child labor and under-paid women workers in the sweat shops and the factories of the larger cities of the country.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who made the principal speech, charged street corner are evergreen trees of almost mighty size. Gifford Pinchot is no longer on the job in Washington, or maybe these trees would have been spared.

Directly opposite the president's reviewing place is a stand which dwarfs all the others. It takes up the greater part of the east front of Lafayette square, and in it will be seated those who want to pay two prices, one to see the parade pass and the other to see the president watch it pass. The treasury building has started all about it, and from the treasury to the capital they are to be found in multiplication.

Flags and Prices.

The city, while it is waiting for the big event, is busying itself in running up prices and flags, although it is true that some of the high price stories which have been told are out of sight of the truth. The democrats are to come into their own Tuesday, and they are making the most of the chances to decorate. If there is much noise on Tuesday as there is color today, Mr. Wilson will not lack for acclaim on the occasion of his induction into office.

It is possible, of course, that, as was the case four years ago, the lucky few who witness the oath taking of Mr. Marshall may have a chance to witness that of Mr. Wilson, for unless Dr. Moore and the fates are inclined kindly the incoming president may have to swear fealty to the constitution and deliver his first address to the American people in the shelter of the senate chamber.

The troubles of the senators and representatives spring from the fact that each one is given two gallery tickets, and each one has some thousands of applications for his holdings. Telegrams and letters are coming into Washington by the scores daily to officials and non-officials saying "Please reserve me four seats in the senate gallery for the doings on March 4."

Letters answering these appeals are not frankable, and yet every member of congress feels they must be answered, for, although wrath will be his portion in any event, it is perhaps better to suffer it with an explanation than without one.

"Movies" to Reap the Harvest.

There is no desire to keep any visitor away from Washington, but it might be said here that if the plans do not fall it is probable that within a few days after the inauguration most of the men, women and children in the United States can see the whole thing in moving pictures. Stands have been erected everywhere where anything worth while is to be doing for the use of the motion-picture takers.

Mr. Wilson, if he speaks out of doors, and possibly, if he speaks within doors, will stand so that every motion of lip, arm, body and head can be readily transmitted to film. The parade will be pictured and the passing regiments and the marching civilians will continue to pass and to march before the eyes of their fellow citizens for months and perhaps years to come.

Four years ago the pansies, the crocuses, the little yellow jasmines, the cornishs and the dandelions were in full bloom a week prior to inauguration day. The same thing is true in Washington today. Four years ago next Tuesday, however, the blossoms were covered with snow and no visitor got a glimpse of their beauty.

This has been a most remarkable winter in Washington for there have been only two snowstorms, and neither one brought with it more than an inch of downfall. Tuesday of this week was one of the coldest days of the year, and some of the pessimists look for a repetition of the conditions when Mr. Taft was inaugurated in 1909, and if the pessimist happens to be a democrat, he adds fearfully to his croaker's prophecy these words: "And just what happened to the administration."

GOVERNMENT FEARFUL OF NEW REVOLUTION

Constantinople, March 2.—The government appears apprehensive of a fresh revolution since the discovery of a conspiracy on Thursday last when several prominent officers and civilians, including a former military governor, were placed under arrest. The Young Turk leaders are nervous, and the garrison has been increased by two regiments. The guards at the ports also have been strengthened and other measures have been taken to enable the immediate suppression of any attempted coup.

Many officers have been dismissed from the army for meddling in politics. Thirteen officers, delegated by the army at Tokat to make representations to the government, were arrested today on their arrival at Constantinople.

TO OPEN MILL.

Stevensville, March 2.—(Special).—Fred Marks, formerly a resident of Stevensville, has returned to this neighborhood again and is busy installing a saw mill on the west side of the river at the Webber ranch where a supply of logs is waiting the starting of the mill. Mr. Marks will have charge of the engine and mechanical part of the work, which is assurance that the machinery will run smoothly and the mill run at its capacity. About 29,000 feet of lumber will be cut daily.

INCREASE FOR TUMULTY.

Washington, March 2.—A salary of $7,500 a year for Joseph E. Tumulty, who will be President Wilson's secretary at the White House, was agreed today when the house agreed to accept the senate amendment to the general deficiency bill fixing that amount instead of the $6,000 originally proposed.

This picture shows Mrs. Caro G. Moore and Mrs. Owens, prominent suffragists in the costumes that will be common in the parade today.

The procession, after which they will march to the hall where the final rally of the day will be held.

Mrs. Richard Cole Burlington will be the grand marshal of the parade and Miss Inez Mulholland of New York is her herald. The first section of the parade will carry the world-wide movement of women's suffrage and will be headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage alliance. The second section will represent "Seventy-five years' struggle for freedom, or justice conquering prejudice," and will be exemplified by a series of floats to be piloted by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Miss Grace Ross,

Senator Elinor Root with ignorance of history when he recently said the question regarding woman suffrage was whether granting them the franchise would give the country better government.

The Grand Marshal.

Mrs. Richard C. Burlington, who will be the grand marshal of the parade, is the wife of a lieutenant in the United States army. She felt indignant when a scheme was set on foot to give the place of honor in the parade to the suffragist colors instead of the American flag. She announced flatly that she would not serve as leader of the procession if the national colors were not given the position due them. Texas is proud of Mrs. Burlington, for that is her home state. She is related by marriage to Representative Albert S. Burlington of Texas.

Dawn Mist.

Dawn Mist will be one of the features of the parade. Dawn Mist is the daughter of Chief Three Hours, and she is a suffragist. She will ride side by side with society women in the "votes for women" pageant to demonstrate that the suffrage cause embraces all classes of women. She will be in the cavalry brigade at the head of the procession in which such suffrage heroines as Miss Inez Mulholland and Miss Gladys Hinckley will ride in costumes representing famous women of history.

As For the Weather.

The unanimous consent rule of the house of representatives is in force in the municipality of Washington today. All persons of one accord are praying for good weather Tuesday. All except the anti-suffragists are praying, also, for good weather tomorrow.

Dr. Willis Moore thus far has kept his own counsel and it is to be taken for granted that he will consent to a study questionnaire, the worst mathematical invention of the evil one, rather than to trust to the doctrine of chances and run the danger of miscalculation, and another March 4 "fiasco."

"THE CHAINS OF AN OATH"

Extraordinary Feature in Two Parts

This dramatic production portrays a Russian romance that shows the application of the customary oath imposed upon a young girl to marry a man of her father's choosing. It arouses a most intense feeling in the observer as we realize the nature of the oath and its injustice. It is intensely exciting throughout.
