UP TO THE PEOPLE TO DECIDE

UNIVERSITY LECTURE-COURSE COMMITTEE ASKS MISSOULA FOLKS TO CO-OPERATE.

Whether or not Missoula will have a lecture course next winter is a question which the university lecture-course committee has put up to the people of the city directly. It is a question of no slight importance and there are many people who will be keenly interested in the outcome. The committee has prepared a statement which sets forth the situation clearly and places it squarely before the people of the city for determination. Here is the committee letter:

To the people of Missoula: For a number of years past a committee from the faculty of the university has conducted annually a series of entertainments under the name "The University Lecture Course." This work has been carried out without remuneration to the committee and during the past two years at a loss. The labor necessary to conduct the course is quite heavy. When added to the already heavy work of the members of the committee it appears to them to be too much, and they do not think the present system should be continued.

A large number of people in Missoula are anxious that the course be maintained. To make this effective it is necessary to have closer co-operation of the townspeople. This will involve an entirely new plan. The committee in charge of the course should represent the different public interests or organizations of the city. This plan would arouse greater interest in the community, would make possible a course that would appeal to a larger patronage and should be made to insure financial backing that would distribute the burden more evenly than by the present system.

It is now time to make contracts for talent for the coming year. What ever is done should be done soon. This is a matter really for the citizens to decide. It is suggested that friends of the lecture course give public expression of their opinion, from which a plan may be devised. It is believed that from such counsel a system can be evolved and a committee selected that will represent all interests, and will give the people a course that will be more attractive and in which they will feel a personal interest.

UP TO THE PEOPLE TO DECIDE

Next week will be observed the nation over as "clean-up week," occasion for raking and burning of the winter's rubbish and for preparation for a clean summer. These are the perfect days of the year. The evenings are warm, yet unclouded by flies and mosquitoes, disagreeable concomitants of summer. The lawlessness of days such as these should teach the man who enjoys resting on his back porch to prevent mid-season disturbances, yet they seem rather to lull him into a sense of false security. If every householder will observe "clean-up week" as he should, flies and mosquitoes will not be so plentiful in July. Rubbish and refuse in back yards and alleys should be buried and all pools of water should be drained. If a yard is made scrupulously clean this month and all stagnant water is drained away or treated with crude oil, the pest population will be greatly diminished. Basements and warm sheds where there are likely to be insect eggs should be fumigated. Mosquitoes are still hibernating in basements, barns, plant jars and other places whither they have been attracted by the moisture. If they are not molested they will start laying eggs as soon as real warm weather comes. Fumigation now will discourage them and drive them away. This is about the easiest way to get rid of them, and while absolute extermination is probably out of the question, prompt action will lessen the pest to such an extent that living will be much more enjoyable during the summer.

It takes a pretty good hypnotizer to buck up against John Harleycorn. The moral having come first, the illustrative tale will follow. Gil Heyfron, in search of some new stunt for the advertisement of the Elks' minstrels, arranged for an hypnotic act with a well-known corpulent coon in the role of the sleeping beauty. The corpulent slumberer promised that he would lean against a lamp-post on Higgins avenue all afternoon in simulated sleep which nothing but the magic words of the charmer would break. In order to make this stunt easier he took a few shots of red-eye before going on the job. In his enthusiasm he overstepped the mark; extra drinks and the warm sun put him soundly to sleep as soon as he reached his concrete cot. All afternoon he lay there, oblivious to the activities of a crowd of young boys who placed a sunbonnet on his head and a sign on his back. So genuine was his slumber that an enormous crowd had gathered before Gil, stepping high as behooved a magician, arrived to perform the final stunt. "Hocus, Pocus," said Gil, snapping his finger in front of the Ethiopian nose. An adoring sigh was the only response. "Hocus, Pocus," Gil shouted the magic phrase this time, but not a wink did it arouse. "Get up, you fool; that's the signal," shrieked the minstrel king, accompanying his oration with a kick. He might just as well have kicked the curb. John Harleycorn had put a time-lock on the sleeping stunt. There was a roar of laughter from the crowd and Gil slipped away. He sent a lumber wagon after his unconscious subject, who was carried home in deep disgrace and a pink sunbonnet. No doubt his colored consort will wake him this morning. She probably knows that a broomstick is a better eye-opener than a mystic phrase.

A good many Missoula people took advantage of the warm weather and the meet in Victor by motoring or driving up the valley yesterday. All morning automobiles loaded with Missoula people left the city for the Bitter Root, few of them returning until all of the festivities in Victor had ended. A dance at the Bitter Root Inn attracted a good many of the joy-riders; all spent a pleasant day on the valley roads. The weather man was unusually considerate. The sun was bright all day and there wasn't a breath of wind until long after the last party motorist had reached Victor. Uncle Dick treated us to a ride to the ball park (for a nickel) yesterday, so we know the motorists must have enjoyed themselves. Especially an uncomfortable gentleman whose car, limping on three good wheels, passed us on the bridge.

COUNCIL TO REMEDY CONFUSION OVER STREET NAMES

DUPLICATION OF TITLES AND INDISCRIMINATE HOUSE NUMBERS A PROBLEM.

The confusion of street names in Missoula, caused by duplication of titles, and the giving of several names to one street in some instances, and the hit or miss style of numbering in certain parts of the city, have created considerable criticism which will probably lead to some definite action soon by the city council.

As was stated in an article in The Missoulian a few days ago, there are a large number of streets whose names mean nothing but confusion. There are many instances of duplication. In some cases streets located across the city from each other bear the same title, and house numbers on those streets are also duplicated. A half dozen streets carry more than one name with no logical reason for changing except that they pass through several city additions or cross a railroad track.

Where a street or an avenue bear the same name, as happens in 18 instances, confusion is constantly caused by the handy method of designating a house as "1000 Grand," with a glaring instance of this in the case of Montana avenue and Montana street, where there are two of each in widely separated parts of this city.

Jumble of Numbers.

Even were the street names straightened the house numbers on them would make confusion enough to call for an instant remedy. On many streets no numbers are used at all. On others numbers have been assigned with no idea of sequence, often jumping several hundred numbers in adjacent blocks.

City Engineer Buck, with the assistance of the Missoula postoffice, has prepared a list of streets whose names should be corrected and which also show mistakes in numbering. Some interesting information is given of conditions that will probably be brought before the city council for remedying very soon.

Same Streets Named Differently.

The following, taken from Engineer Buck's report, gives some of the examples of the conditions referred to above, the first being the list of some of the streets having different names:

Russell street, in Daly addition; Oregon street, Cooke's addition; Kalkbrell street, Knowles' addition, and End street, Union addition.

Washburn street, Daly addition, and Michigan street, Central addition.

Arthur street, Daly addition, and Oregon street, Central addition.

Toole avenue, Higgins' addition, and Pine street, McCormick's addition.

Blanch street, McCormick's addition, and Railroad street, South Side addition.

Garfield street, Daly addition, and Minneapolis street, Central addition.

"Streets" and "Avenues."

University avenue, Hammond addition, and University street, McCormick's addition No. 2.

Grand avenue, Uelin's addition, and Grand street, South Missoula addition.

Beckwith avenue, Hammond addition, and Beckwith street, South Missoula addition.

Stevens avenue, South Missoula addition, and Stevens street, Higgins addition.

Arthur avenue, Hammond addition, and Arthur street, Lowe's addition.

Railroad avenue, Higgins addition, and Railroad street, South Side addition.

NEW N. P. SCHEDULE NOW IN FORCE AND EFFECT

RAILROAD GOSSIP OF LOCAL VISIONS, THEIR MEN, TRAINS, ENGINES AND CREWS.

Time table changes on the Northern Pacific went into effect at 12:01 this morning. This affects the Missoula time of but one main line train. No. 6 will arrive at 10:55 p. m. instead of at 8:28.

Both trains on the Bitter Root branch will run through to Darby instead of stopping at Hamilton. The time of departure from Missoula of either the morning or the afternoon train will be changed.

Improvement in transcontinental service is also made today. The day coaches on Nos. 1 and 2, the North Coast limited, will be dropped and the trains will be made up exclusively of sleepers. No. 2 will still carry a tourist which will be taken west on No. 5.

The running time of No. 5, west-bound, will be cut down so that the trip from St. Paul to Seattle will be made only one hour and 35 minutes slower than the North Coast. No. 5 will also haul the Chicago and North-western through coach from Chicago to Seattle.

Other changes in the time schedule affect branch lines in the eastern part of the state.

Passenger Regulations.

Supplementary to the new schedule a bulletin regulating the handling of passengers by the North Coast limited trains has also been issued. It provides for the acceptance of passengers as follows:

Passenger from points east of St. Paul will be handled to same points as present instructions. Passengers from St. Paul and Minneapolis will be handled to Terry and points west. Passengers from St. Cloud will be handled to Spokane and points west. Passengers from Staples, Fargo and Jamestown will be handled to Terry and points west. Passengers from Bismarck and Mandan will be handled to Butte and points west. Passengers from Dickinson will be handled to Spokane and points west. Passengers from Glendive, Terry, Miles City, Forsyth and Billings will be handled to Butte and points west. Passengers from Livingston and Bozeman will be handled to Spokane and points west. Passengers from Whitehall will be handled to Missoula and points west. Passengers from Butte, Durant, Deer Lodge and Missoula will be handled to Spokane and points west. Passengers from Spokane will be handled to North Yakima, Ellensburg and coast points. Passengers from North Yakima and Ellensburg will be handled to coast points.

Train No. 2 will handle passengers from coast points to Spokane and points east. Will handle passengers from Ellensburg, North Yakima, Pasco and Spokane to Missoula and points east. Will handle passengers from Missoula, Deer Lodge, Durant and Butte to Forsyth and points east. Will handle passengers from Logan to Fargo and points east. Will handle passengers from Cleburn, Lind, Sandpoint, Garrison, Whitehall, Bozeman, Livingston, Billings, Forsyth, Miles City, Terry, Glendive, Dickinson, Mandan and Bismarck to eastern terminals. Will handle passengers from Jamestown points and east same as at present.

More Big Engines.

Two more of the big 1700 class superheater freight locomotives of the Northern Pacific have arrived at the Missoula roundhouse and will be put into service between here and Helena at once. This addition makes seven of the engines on the division and leaves seven more to come.

These engines are of the "W" class and are the largest type below the Mallet articulated type. They are equipped with all the latest appliances. Fire door, reverse lever and cylinder cocks are operated by air.

Their work on the Missoula division so far has been very satisfactory. They haul a load of 2,500 tons to Helena and use only about half the coal burned by the ordinary engine for the same work.

The two new Mallets were received by the Helena shops yesterday. They have 16 drive wheels and are of the largest type used. They will be used for helper work on Helena hill.

Week-end rates of a fare are one-third as an attraction to fishermen are offered by the Northern Pacific to Rock Creek and all Bitter Root points. Tickets are sold on Saturdays and Sundays.

Eugene L. Hazard, passenger representative of the Erie and Western Transportation company at Buffalo arrived in Missoula on the Butte stub yesterday and left for Spokane on No. 3.

E. A. Shewe, general agent of the Oregon Short Line at Butte, was in Missoula yesterday. He left on No. 3 for Spokane.

Ray Webb, district claim agent of the Milwaukee, with headquarters in the Missoula office, is in Seattle on business.
