CHAUTAQUA PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

SITE ON SOUTH FOURTH STREET IS CHOSEN AND GOOD ATTENDANCE IS ASSURED.

A meeting of the Chautauqua committee was held last evening and a vigorous campaign was planned for the three weeks that intervene before the opening session of the Missoula Chautauqua assembly, July 22. The half block opposite the Garden City Commercial college on South Fourth street west has been chosen for the place of assembly. This will be central and easy of access, and at the same time reasonably quiet. An official program of all the attractions to be offered during the entire six days will be placed in every home in Missoula and its suburbs during the next two or three days. Season tickets will be placed on sale in many of the stores of Missoula today. Leading business men to the number of 50 have guaranteed the sale of at least 500 tickets. The genuine interest shown in the coming Chautauqua by citizens of Missoula promises an attendance far larger than the minimum of 800. President E. A. Newton and the committee members, F. A. Roberts, George Flaherty and L. L. Buben, will be happy to answer inquiries about the splendid Chautauqua course offered.

STATE WITNESSES FAIL TO GIVE NEW EVIDENCE

the prosecution that testimony would be forthcoming which would support the charge that Donovan was shot by one of his mates. Nothing more was brought out, however, than has already been told by the principal witnesses—Nola Ross, whom the pickets were pursuing at the time of the shooting, and Duane McMillan, who saw the chase from the Bennett house. The men on trial are William Ford, P. M. Campbell, Robert Kelly and Earl Davernport. Because of the failure of a witness of the defense to appear, the continuance of the trial was postponed until this morning at 11 o'clock.

GRANT IS PLEASED WITH TREATMENT

P. F. Grant has returned from Hot Springs, S. D., where he went for treatment for cancer. The specialist at the sanitarium removed all of Mr. Grant's nose and are confident that they have reached the seat of the trouble. Mr. Grant will return in a short time for further treatment. "It is a remarkable place," said he yesterday to a Missoulian reporter. "They make a specialty of cancer treatment and there are patients there from all over the world. Some remarkable cures have been effected there and I am to return after a short time, to have my nose built up again. They tell me they will be able to make me just as good as new."

CRUELTY ALLEGED CAUSE.

Suit for divorce on the grounds of failure to provide for her and their two little boys, and of cruel and inhuman treatment, was brought in the district court yesterday by Eleanor Parish against George Parrish. The plaintiff alleges that although her husband is able to support the family, she has had to maintain herself and the boys by her own work, and that he has on several occasions seized her and threatened to kill her.

YOUTHFUL HORSETHIEF HAS BAD REPUTATION

George "Kid" Armstrong, a 19-year-old boy of Choteau, was arrested by Sheriff Kelley yesterday on information from Teton county, charging him with stealing horses. Armstrong had a horse with him that he had secured in a trade for a stolen animal, but none of the stolen horses was brought to Missoula. Sheriff McKenzie of Teton county is expected here today to take Armstrong back for trial. Armstrong was arrested in Missoula county on a similar charge a year ago, and at that time served a sentence of 60 days.

PRINCIPAL THOMAS IS WARMLY GREETED

FORMER HEAD OF THE HIGH SCHOOL VISITS HIS OLD FRIENDS IN MISSOULA.

J. Franklin Thomas, formerly principal of the Missoula county high school and now secretary of the New York city branch of the State Charities Aid society, is making his Missoula friends glad by spending a few days with them. He stopped here yesterday morning on his way to Seattle, where he will attend the national congress of associated charities societies. He spent the early hours of morning with Dr. Sanford H. McCall and later in the day went out to the country home of his parents in Orchard Homes. He will remain here until after the Fourth.

Mr. Thomas is much changed. He has grown stout and handsome. He met many old friends on the streets yesterday morning who did not recognize him, so the extent of the change in his appearance may be realized, for he was once the best-known man in Missoula. However, there were enough of his old friends and pupils who did recognize him, to keep him busy for a few hours before he could break away and get out to the Thomas farm. Since he left Missoula, Mr. Thomas has taken an advanced degree at Columbia university. He has been notably successful in his specialty, sociology, and has also achieved more than local fame in musical circles. The position which he holds upon the board of charities came to him in recognition of his work in sociological lines. Of himself, Mr. Thomas was not willing to talk much yesterday morning when a Missoulian reporter interviewed him, but he did speak interestingly of his work and of his delight at getting back to Missoula again, if only for a brief stay.

"The New York city branch of the state charities society," said Mr. Thomas, "is doing extensive work among the poor in the great city. Its purpose, of course, is to systematize charitable work and to prevent unworthy people from receiving the aid which should go to deserving ones. There is also a vast amount of being made to improve the conditions and the environment of the very poor in the slum districts. All of this work is interesting. Some of its experiences would make incredible stories if they were told. I enjoy the work and the climate agrees with me.

"My office is next to Colonel Roosevelt and I see him often. I admire him greatly and, next to one man, I esteem him the greatest man in this country. He is a wonderful man and my acquaintance with him has been a rich experience for me. He is much misunderstood, but I know him for a man of high ideals and pure motives. It is good to get back to Missoula. I am delighted with the improved appearance of the city. Everything looks so bright and clean and your new streets are marvelous. The lighting and the paving and the new buildings make me prouder than ever of the city which was my home so long.

"I enjoyed my life here. I liked the high-school work and, though I shall never return to it, I often think I would like to be back with the boys and girls once more. I am sorry I cannot stay longer. I hope, however, to come back to Missoula after the meeting at Seattle is over and then I shall spend several weeks here. There are many people and many places I am anxious to see again. The busy experience of this morning have made me hungry to meet more of the old friends and pupils."

RESERVATION PEOPLE WANT OUR REDSKINS

John Herzog, formerly a Missoula alderman, and now a farmer, was in town yesterday from his home near Evaro. He says the rains have been general through the Jocko valley and that crops are looking fine. "We can stand a few days more of rain," he said, "but it will be just as well if the sun shines till after the Fourth. There will be a celebration at Arlee, and when I left last night there was an effort being made to induce the Indians to remain there. The big tent had been raised and there were strong inducements offered the Indians to stay away from Missoula."

MEDILL M'CORMICK REACHES MISSOULA

Medill McCormick, one of the owners of the Chicago Tribune, arrived in Missoula early this morning on the Olympian and will spend three or four weeks here. Mr. McCormick plans to go up the Blackfoot, probably to Salmon lake, and about the trout fishing in western Montana that he has come to try it. While no definite plans have been made, it is expected that the start on the hills will be delayed until after the Fourth. The trip will be made with a pack train, carrying the camp outfit.

BAKKE RETURNS.

Architect Ole Bakke came home yesterday from Thompson Falls, where he secured the contract for remodeling the public school building. The entire interior is to be made over. When the work is completed, Thompson Falls will have a 12-room building, with double exits and a modern heating and ventilating system. Mr. Bakke will proceed as rapidly as possible with the plans and hopes to have the building ready for occupancy by the opening of the school term in the fall.
