JUST SMILE

There's no use at all in fretting over things that might have been; it is better to take matters as they are; there is always some advantage to the fix that you are in, and a smile is better than a frown; if you spend your time in fretting you will never get ahead; you may beat the game of fate if you but smile; for the man who frets and fusses might just as well be dead; the chap who laughs will beat him out a mile; if you're constantly complaining, you're no right to fall at fate; for in this case you're the one who is to blame; but you'll find yourself a winner and your record will be straight—if you only keep a-smiling through the game.

And here goes for the first smile under adverse circumstances. Yesterday morning The Man About Town tried to get a story told in this column which was a good one, as it was originally written, but which was the little tale I hope in the form it is perfectly proper to say that it is a good story, because it was Dave Von Blaricon's tale and there is no immediacy in praising it here. No matter how long the story was printed yesterday—it's better to forget that as soon as possible—but here is the way it should have been. This story will be reprinted every day until it is printed right, for The Man About Town is determined that it shall not be lost. And here is hoping that it will come out right on this, the second trial. It is a bit embarrassing, because the tale deals with typographical errors and the printing of it yesterday morning was accompanied by so many typographical errors in reality that the story didn't look at all like itself when it was in type. But here, in the next paragraph, is the little tale I hope in the form it should have had yesterday. I am not kidding or fretting, I am laughing all over. I shall smile if the story is right this time and I shall smile if it is wrong. But it will be kept going until it comes out as it should. Here goes, then, for another try.

"Did you ever hear of a typographical error by telephone?" was the question which Dave Von Blaricon flashed at The Man About Town yesterday morning. Then he proceeded to tell the story. Mrs. Mary T. Bandman wanted some ranch hands and telephoned in from her farm to Charlie Schrage. "Have you any ranch hands?" she asked. "Ranch hands?" queried Schrage. "In some surprise, 'Yes, have you any?' came the confirmation. 'Do you want them to say or to kill?' was the pertinent question which Charlie shot back. 'Well,' was the response, 'if they don't work any better than the last ones did, I want to kill them.' And it took 75 cents' worth of telephone service to get the typographical error straightened out.

MISTAKE BY WIRE

Major Wate of Denver, secretary of the Young People's Legion of the Salvation Army, and Major Jordan of Butte, now traveling together in visiting Montana cities, will be in Missoula today and will participate in special services this afternoon and evening. The children's meeting will be at 3 p. m. and the other meetings will be in the evening—on the street at 7:15 and at the hall at 8 o'clock.

Both of the visiting officers are splendid speakers, have good voices and are both musicians, each playing a number of different instruments. They are the class of workers who keep up the enthusiasm and the evening meetings promise to be very lively. The public is invited to all the services today and every day.

GOING HOME

If you want a library book, get it today. This is the last day of circulation until the library is back home in the quarters which have been enlarged and improved for its accommodation. There is a lot of work to be done in getting the books back into the old place and arranging them according to the new system which the enlarged building makes possible. It will take two weeks, at least, to get things in shape for the resumption of circulation. So if you want a book, get it today. When you return it, you will take it to the corner of Pine and Pattee. The temporary quarters will be out of business tonight. The new building is fine. You'll like it for its appearance and for its convenience.

PROFESSOR SILLOWAY MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

Word came from Big Fork yesterday that Professor C. N. Silloway, one of the faculty members of the university biological station at Yellow Bay on Flathead lake, had met with a serious accident a few days ago. Professor Silloway and Amos Eldrichen of Nigger Prairie were driving in a light wagon to Swan lake. There was another team ahead of them which was raising too much dust, to suit Professor Silloway and Eldrichen, and an attempt to pass was made. The man driving the team ahead either did not notice the team behind him, or else refused to turn aside. This obliged Eldrichen, who was driving, to go off the road in order to circle around the other wagon.

The dust was so thick that it was difficult to see, and a small tree struck Professor Silloway across the chest, breaking a rib. The tree snapped off immediately, however, or the probability it would have crushed his chest.

The professor was taken to Big Fork and is now in care of a doctor.

CHANGE NOW GIVEN PUPILS FAILING TO PASS

ALL THOSE NOT SUCCESSFUL IN EIGHTH-GRADE WORK MAY JOIN CLASS TODAY.

All pupils who failed to secure a passing grade in the recent state examinations will be given an opportunity to make up their work and be ready for the next examination, according to the plan made by Superintendent J. E. Williams of the Missoula schools. The class is to be organized at the Roosevelt school today, and all pupils who are interested should call and have a talk with the superintendent.

Concerning the plans, Mr. Williams said last evening:

"For the pupils who failed on the state examinations in one or two subjects, an opportunity will be given to review the subjects in which they are deficient. A class will be organized Monday morning and it is to the interest of every pupil who failed to get a passing grade in any of the eighth grade subjects to be on hand to review them and be ready for the next examinations to be held here the latter part of August."

"This class will also be open to pupils in physiology and geography."

SALVATION OFFICERS VISITING HERE TODAY

Major Wate of Denver, secretary of the Young People's Legion of the Salvation Army, and Major Jordan of Butte, now traveling together in visiting Montana cities, will be in Missoula today and will participate in special services this afternoon and evening. The children's meeting will be at 3 p. m. and the other meetings will be in the evening—on the street at 7:15 and at the hall at 8 o'clock.

FRUIT DISTRIBUTORS GAIN FLATHEAD MEMBERS

SACKETT OF BITTER ROOT MEETS WITH LAKESIDE CLUB AND EXPLAINS PLANS.

At a meeting of the Lakeside Country club at Lakeside it was almost unanimously decided by a roll call vote to join the Montana Fruit Distributors' association, a subsidiary of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors' association an organization for the marketing of fruit in the northwestern states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, says the Kallispell Bee.

W. M. Sackett of Hamilton addressed the meeting and explained the purposes and workings of the organization, and suggested a plan of operation that was practical.

The Flathead District.

The Flathead district will be composed of the Flathead Fruit Growers' association, the Lakeside Country club, and the fruitgrowers' association at Rollins will be asked to come in. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and bylaws, and to advise with the Rollins organization, and the secretary was appointed to represent the Lakeside Country club in an advisory board of three which is to be selected, one from each organization in the Flathead district.

Plan Co-Operative.

Mr. Sackett explained that the association would be strictly co-operative and composed of nothing but growers. The expense of marketing the output would be about $15 per car, with an additional charge of about 1 cent a box for advertising purposes or a total of about $21 per car. The North Pacific Fruit Distributors' association is composed of nine of the largest districts in the states mentioned, and will handle about 65 per cent of all the fruit grown in the northwest. It is estimated that the total output will be about 7,000 cars, valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, and he considers that the total cost of $185,000 for handling will be a very small percentage for the volume of business done.

FORESTERS ARRIVE FROM FIELD

SILCOX AND PARKER SPEND TWO WEEKS IN SADDLE ON MISSOULA FOREST.

District Forester E. A. Silcox and Supervisor Rutledge Parker of the Missoula forest, returned yesterday from a trip of about two weeks, most of which time was spent in the Missoula forest, although they have covered more than 500 miles on horseback since leaving the city. From here they went up the Rattlesnake to the head of the creek and took the forest service trail to Seely lake, where the forester looked over a proposed timber sales area. From here they journeyed to Swan river, through Jordan pass to the south fork of the Flathead river, returning by way of Big Prairie and the north fork of the Big Blackfoot river to Ovation.

"We had a very successful trip," said Mr. Silcox yesterday, "although it was not an easy one. The trails in that section of the country are in poor condition, consisting mostly of makeshift construction to serve until we could get at permanent work. There were many fallen trees in the road, and as some of the country is very rough, part of the going was very slow. It was my first trip through most of this section and I gained some needed information. We were on the go most of the daylight hours, but had time to fish several evenings and were able to hook enough for our selves and to carry a mess to the next camp within a very few minutes. The south fork of the Flathead is the greatest fishing stream I ever saw. Several times both of us had two fish on our lines from 10 to 14 inches long. We saw one herd of 30 cow elk with calves, besides numerous other small bunches of elk and deer. Big game should be plentiful there this fall."

RICH ORE IS FOUND BY LECLERE MINERS

Wallace, July 27.—(Special.)—Reliable information has been received that the Leclere mine, situated between the Hercules and the Tamarack and Chesapeake, has struck rich ore. They have sunk 20 feet and have been cutting ore all the way. The vein is continually widening. The present plans are to keep sinking.

RIO GRANDE BOOKLET.

A 98-page booklet just issued by the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, pictures and describes in a most entertaining way the joys of outdoor life in the Rocky mountains. The introduction of the book was written by Edwin L. Sabin, a noted magazine contributor, who writes knowingly about places to go, supplies to be taken, tackle to be used and other valuable suggestions to the man who contemplates an outdoor vacation. The story is supplemented by some estimates, showing the cost of outfitting in Colorado, Utah and New Mexico, which includes railroad, hotel, carriage and other incidental expenses.

FOREST BUSINESS BREAKS RECORD THIS YEAR

REPORTS FOR FISCAL YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, LAST, SHOWS BIG INCREASE.

Washington, July 27.—(Special.)—The national forest business done during the fiscal year which ended June 30 surpassed all previous records. The receipts from the forests approached $2,500,000, of which about one-half was for timber, while contracts entered into for the sale of timber to be cut either at once or in later years totaled about $4,000,000. These sale contracts permit the cutting period to extend over a number of years when large bodies of timber are involved.

Under existing laws 55 per cent of the gross receipts, or between $800,000 and $900,000, will go to the benefit of the states in which the forests are situated, for schools and roads.

Timber Records.

The records show that the volume of sales contracted for in different years fluctuates widely, with ups and downs according to general business conditions, while the actual cut has shown a fairly steady tendency to advance. In the fiscal year 1906 (July 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906), the first full year after the forest service was put in charge of the forests, the timber receipts were about $250,000. In the fiscal year 1907 something less than $700,000, and in 1908 about $850,000. In 1909 timber receipts dropped back to less than $750,000, but in 1910 and again in 1911 were over $1,000,000, and in 1912 were nearly $1,100,000, as against about $1,250,000 for the year just closed.

Governing Factor.

Forestry officials say that the principal factor in determining how much timber will be sold in any given year is the general lumber market, which in turn depends largely on general business conditions. Thus, when indications are that a period of brisk demand is ahead, with increased building activity, railroad construction, mining development, and other forms of business expansion that call for lumber or timber, operators are seeking contracts. When business halts lumbermen naturally go slowly in the matter of committing themselves by new purchases on a large scale. But cutting under earlier purchases and small sales continues even in periods of depression. The gradual diminution of outside sources of supply and the steady development of the country, which creates increased local demands, tends to offset the effects of such periods.

As an illustration of this the figures for 1907 and the immediately following years are cited. In the fiscal year 1907 the forest service sold more timber than has been sold in any later year prior to that just closed. Contracts were made covering over a billion feet, board measure. But in the fall of 1907 came business panic, followed by inactivity. Sales in 1908 disclosed of less than 400,000,000 feet, and in 1909 of less than 300,000,000. In both these years more timber was cut under sales than was disposed of through new sales. The difference was the result of cutting under the contracts of earlier years.

Last year's sales of over $4,000,000 worth of timber does not necessarily mean a prospective income from timber of this large amount in the immediate future. To bring this about there would have to be a series of big or more or less degree influences that may not see sales equal to those of the last. While general market conditions are at present less favorable to large commitments than they were six months ago, the aggressive sales policy now in force, with its opportunities for long-term purchases on fair terms where sales are possible in no other way, will probably counterbalance to a greater or less degree influences that may tend to check sales. The need of the country for national forest timber is growing and every year brings normally more of this timber within the radius of effective demand. The yearly cut and the income from the forests can reasonably be expected to rise in the future as it has been rising, however the number of sales contracts may fluctuate.

SHORT WEIGHTS CAUSE TROUBLE FOR COMPANY

Walla Walla, Wash., July 27.—The state public service commission held a 10-hour session yesterday inquiring into the general methods of handling grain shipments from this section and hearing charges of short weights, overcharges and inadequate service, brought against the Puget Sound Warehouse company by the local Farmers' union agency. After the hearing, Judge M. M. Godman stated that the commission could punish none in this case if they were guilty, but, in his opinion, it was physically impossible to ship wheat without leakages and that undoubtedly there were some new rulings which can be made to improve conditions. Such action will probably be taken by the commission after they have considered the evidence presented.
