RAOTIME MEDLEY

Each man working like a trooper on the tune he liked the best; each one trying in his ardor to out rival all the rest. With their shriekings, loud their clamor, and the tune they seemed to play from a distance, such as mine was, came out hashed and mangled this way: "Going back to Hallelujah, I'm a bum, in Dixie land; where the river Shannon's, waiting for the Robert, ragtime band; when the moon is shining bright, a maid comes knocking, it's a bear; for I'm lonesome, time to sleep and, cuddle up, each bead a prayer." That's the tune the band's been playing in the hall across the way; like a patchwork quilt and then some is the music that they play. I have heard of Mr. Sousa and they say that Pryor's strong, but I never heard a band before that played this sort of song: "In my harem, down in Dixie, oh, oh, oh, that Gabby glide; Christian soldiers, in the moonlight, squeeze me, on the other side."

All yesterday morning a wayfaring 20-piece band, which is to peddle ragtime to the hot pool of ENFORCED HARMONY

Butte next week, went through the painful rehearsals in a hall just across the street from the office in which this palladium of public liberty is printed. Almost every man has been forced to listen to the choking experiments of a trusting amateur with a trombone. Lucky indeed is he who has not had to sit in torment for hours while an ardent disciple of Pan on the floor above cracked his lips and the peace of mind of the whole block in an effort to lead an arrangement of brass pipes through the intricacies of a piece of music. Well, this rehearsal yesterday was the young-man-with-a-trombone torture raised to the nth power. There were twenty players, each working dubiously at a different portion of the program to be rendered next week. Shrieks and howls and hair-raising discords came from that hall all day. It sounded like the annual Dutch lunch of the musicians' union. One thing saved these impatient visitors from violent death. At regular intervals, correctly gauged, they repulsed the indignant citizenry by getting together for the proper rendition of some number. The band is a good one when bound by a unanimity of purpose. When left to graze undirected through their stacks of music the visitors are fit subjects for a vigilance committee.

Some one has suggested, and the city commissioners have welcomed, the plan of placing drinking fountains along the curb of the little park to be built in front of the Northern Pacific depot. The plan is to install attractive fountains on the depot side of the little park, marking them with placards telling of the purity of Missoula's water supply. The attention of travelers would thus be attracted to the water and Missoula would receive a lot of valuable advertising. The commissioners have not yet decided to adopt this plan, but they are considering it. The park will be finished soon. The beautiful natural quartz out of which the central fountain is to be built has already been placed within the enclosure and it won't be long before the work is finished.

SENATOR VISITS

J. M. Kennedy, formerly state senator, but now Montana's Commissioner of Publicity and Agriculture, spent a few hours in the city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Kennedy has been up the Bitter Root on an inspection trip and was surprised and pleased to see the size that this year's apple crop promises to be. "I have been visiting the Bitter Root for many years," said the commissioner to The Man About Town, "but I don't remember having ever seen it looking as fine. I have traveled all over the state this summer and the Bitter Root, in my judgment, has all places beaten except a certain spot near Libby. I live near Libby, you know." Speaking of Montana in general, Mr. Kennedy declared: "Montana has had a good year. More settlers have come into the state in the past twelve months than ever before in the same period of time. We, from our office in Helena, have done a lot of publicity work and we believe that it has done some good. The greatest drawback we have is the lack of money to properly carry on the work of advertising Montana, but we are doing the best we can and hope that the next legislature will give us more funds so that we may do more work. The state this year is in fine shape as to crops and I expect a record yield from all parts."

ELKS FROM ALL OF MONTANA TO GATHER FOR THE CONVENTION

BUTTE "BILLS" COME STRONG.

Butte, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Two hundred Butte Elks will leave this city in a special car on the Milwaukee railroad next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for the state convention of the Elks to be held in Missoula during the last three days of the week.

Reports like this from Butte are coming to the Elks' headquarters with every mail and from all parts of the state. Private messages and word brought by Missoula traveling men and visitors give it that Hell Gate lodge may expect as large an attendance as ever gathered at a state convention of the order. And the Elks who are coming declare they are not only going to be visitors but are going to take a lively part in the entertainment as well. The KallsPELL delegation is bringing with them their famous band that took second prize at the national convention in Portland last year; the Anaronda band will be here and the Great Falls "Bills" are coming with their drum corps. John Trewhella is authority for the story that "Skinny" Powvine of Hamilton is supplied with 10,000 freerackers, a deep-laid plot and three plumbers' helpers that he is going to put in the parade.

"Skinny" himself, however, goes further in the revelation of his plans. In a telegram sent late last night he said that he had just received 5,000 pounds of dynamite and the powder for his giant crackers from the Dupont works in Denver. He is going to load the whole "shooting match" on the same auto that terrorized the Bitter Root when he was doing advance work for the minstrels, and roll it through the streets in the parade. When this news was told Mayor Thomas he declared an ordinance against smoking on the streets to be effective during the passage of "Skinny's" bomb.

Real Work Here.

The past week has been a busy time for the members of all the committees. They have made good progress with all the arrangements and a number of the features have been brought to a completion. They believe that the program for the three days will be one of the best ever served at a Montana convention.

Dan Heyfron returned yesterday from the reservation where he had been sent as a special emissary to the Flatheads. He was successful in persuading 50 or 60 of the Red men to come down for the convention. They will arrive in Missoula on Thursday morning and pitch their camp on the Higgins lot near the Northern Pacific station, where they will give dances during the three days.

Just Like Frisco.

The cabaret entertainment is now a certainty. A number of the best local entertainers have agreed to take part in the program which will be given on all three nights, although with some changes at each presentation. Fred Angevine of the steering committee, who has been working up the cabaret stunt, did not hesitate to speak of his show. "We've got a card here that can't be beat in a Frisco kabaret," he said. "It's going to be continuous hilarity clear through from soup to nuts." The list of entertainers is made up of Miss Alice Schafer of the American theater, Miss Svea Hallgren of the Empress, Miss Maxwell, Mrs. C. E. Simmons, Lynde Catlin, J. E. Stone, Carl Wagner in violin solos, Heyfron and Angevine, Ray Bagley and his crayons.

The Elks' minstrel orchestra, and a number of stunts by visiting Elks. Nearly enough automobiles were promised yesterday to assure the success of the sight-seeing trip to be given the visitors on Thursday afternoon. Chairman Heyfron, who made the canvas, was pleased with the number of cars assured for the ride but says that a few more will have to be secured before the committee is sure of handling all the out-of-town Elks and the visiting ladies.

This excursion is routed through Greenough park, the university and to the fort, where a halt will be made for an hour, which will be spent in dancing in the post gymnasium, a short entertainment of stunts and refreshments. On the return trip the guests will be taken through Orchard Homes and on the invitation of Charles Dahlman will stop at his greenhouse where he will present them with purple and white flowers.

Trewhella Enthusiastic.

If John Trewhella is to be believed the Elks' quartet will be the best thing in the parade. When he isn't dodging seekers for sample Rol Tans he talks of nothing else, although he refuses to divulge more than tantalizing hints of what is to be expected. The members of this act are Bagley, Angevine, Trewhella and Heyfron and it is from their initials that the stunt gets its title. "I won't tell you what we've got," said this world booster, "except that it is most everything from black-face to kalsomine, and that'll guarantee it to tickle every funny bone in town. It's so good that I wake up every night and laugh about it."

The rest of the parade plans are getting into shape nicely, although little is known of the floats and other individuals who will give any information prior to the real exhibition.

CAPITAL CITY ELKS COMING IN NUMBERS

Helena Elks are growing very enthusiastic in making plans to attend the convention in Missoula next week. Already a good number have declared themselves ready to come, and it is known that a big delegation will be made up before time to leave for the convention. They have the official white and purple uniforms, which they say are the only clothes they need on the three days. Word came yesterday that the Helena Elks, accompanied by a large delegation of ladies, will leave Helena on train No. 3 on August 7.

SUNDAY NOT OBSERVED ON THE "CHAIN GANG"

The city prisoners working in Greenough park were not released last night as has been done formerly on Saturday nights. Instead those whose sentences have not expired will continue to work today as on week days. The "chain gang" has been unusually large during the last week and has proved to be a valuable addition to the city force of laborers. The men have been placing logs for the rap-rap creek in the upper end of the park. There were 12 men working yesterday. Three of them completed their sentences last night and were given time to leave the city.

BRIDGE AT SUNSET WILL BE JOINT AFFAIR

MISSOULA AND POWELL COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAKING PLANS FOR NEW CROSSING.

Contemplating the joint building of a wagon bridge across the Big Blackfoot river near Sunset, right at the county line, the Missoula county commissioners and the board from Powell county left Missoula yesterday afternoon by automobile to view the site for the crossing and talk over the details of the arrangements. The bridge to be constructed will necessitate one span of about 175 feet and approaches. The commissioners all believe that to join in constructing the bridge at this point would be a fair proposition for both counties, each one needing such a crossing. Before the commissioners return tonight or Monday they hope to have plans in such shape that the plans and specifications for the bridge can be prepared at once. Then the advertising for bids will be started and the contract let as soon as possible.

DETAILS ARRANGED FOR BANQUET

ANGLERS WILL MEET FOR IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION OF ANNUAL FISH DINNER.

The Anglers' club will meet on Monday night in Judge Bickford's office to make further arrangements for the annual banquet on August 27. The president will then appoint the other committees to work with the general committee in arranging details. An important delegation to be named is one to which will be assigned the task of supplying the fish for the feast. And its members must catch the fish, 25 pounds each, or they will enjoy the banquet from behind the chairs in the garb of waiters. An important change in the banquet plans, made since last year, is the resolution passed by the club that none but club members will be seated at the table. Membership to the club, however, is unlimited, and will be extended to anyone really interested in fishing. The paper for Monday night will be read by Tyler Thompson, and is to be a discussion of the best streams in the vicinity of Missoula.

IMMIGRANT INSPECTOR LIKES MISSOULA HOME

Missoula had a visit yesterday from P. Patrick, United States immigration inspector, who makes his headquarters in Helena. Mr. Patrick was called here to investigate the home surroundings that are to be thrown about by William Mowat, a lad of 14 years, who had just arrived at a Canadian point consigned to Alex Stratton of this city. The immigration law requires that the officials investigate the home to which every immigrant youth under the age of 16 is consigned. William Mowat is to make his home with Alex Stratton of 137 Cooper street. Mr. Stratton is a well-known resident of the city and the immigration agent found all conditions entirely satisfactory and wired for the young traveler to be sent ahead to his welcome in Missoula.

BUTTE'S REGULAR PLAY IS IN DUFFY'S SHABEEN

Butte, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Duffy's saloon, near the five-mills house, was held up at an early hour this morning and the cash register robbed of $117. Two bandits, both wearing masks and carrying guns, entered the place shortly after midnight and commanded Jack Duffy, who was in charge, to throw up his hands. Duffy was alone. He was ordered to face the wall, and while one of the men covered him with a gun, the other went behind the bar and emptied the cash register of its contents.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Police are searching today for "the meanest kind of a thief," one who stole a tricycle from a 10-year-old cripple. His first trip was to the home of his minister and while he was inside the parsonage his tricycle was stolen. # BARGAIN HUNTERS ARE THE MEN

CROWD WHICH FLOCKED TO DONOHUE'S STORE YESTERDAY PROVES NEW THEORY.

As a preliminary to the great clean-up sale at Donohue's which opens Monday morning and extends through every department of the establishment, there was a special day for men and men only yesterday that closed with the management highly pleased. The woman bargain hunter is constantly cartooned, talked about and quoted, but anyone who took occasion to look on at the Donohue sale yesterday could not help but be thoroughly convinced that there are men bargain hunters, too. That they can judge real bargains seemed to be certain yesterday from the way that the piles of suits and furnishings of all kinds for men vanished before the usual Saturday night closing hour. Everybody was satisfied at closing time—customers and management equally happy. As this is the big aim in every sale of this kind, yesterday's affair at Donohue's was thoroughly a big success.
