On the Run About Town

O. Leslie Bush, you gave a push to Missoula's lasting fame; you pulled for you, two hours through, the while you won your game; you did your best to boost the west, you're sure a jolly boy; your speedy shoots were Bitter Roots; they brought the fans great joy; gruff John McGraw with sorrow saw another game slip by; the best he had went to the bad—you shot them low and high; and what you did, you Batted KID, historians will tell; on pages bright they'll all recite the game you played so well; you had the steam, you made 'em scream as they burned through New York's air; you had the sand, and while they fanned, you made the giants swear; ente Connie Mack had held you back, but he showed you yesterday; and you made good, we knew you would, for we had seen you play; your bulky game adds to the fame of old Missoula town; and you can bet we'll not forget the way you held 'em down; and if there's need for further speed to win that pennant race—you'll be on deck and then, by heck, C. Mack will cap the flag.

"There," said Uncle Eickenbach yesterday as the bulletins told the story of a great victory won.

SURELY IT PAYS

There are more people all over the country talking about Missoula today than there ever were before, and it is baseball that has done it. And last night when the Associated Press story came over the wire, with its reference to Missoula and Blankenship, and when the eastern editors of the Associated Press wired for a Missoula story on Bush's career in Missoula—then the Sports Editor had a few remarks which had to be heard before he would give anybody any peace.

A CRAZY CROWD

The prospect for a crowd was not good until the megaphone announced that Bush was the pitcher upon whom Connie Mack had pinned his faith for the day. Then, as if by magic, the crowd poured out from everywhere. They had to "stand in the mud," a good many of them, but they were glad enough to get the news and they didn't mind the mud in the least. And for two hours there was a correct imitation of a lunatic asylum broken loose. Always a Philadelphia crowd, its interest was intensified yesterday by the fact that Bush was in the box. Every man in the crowd has some personal reminiscence of the fox-headed Brainerd youth who was transformed into a baseball player by the Peerless Leader, here in Missoula. These tales were rehearsed as the play progressed and there were some good ones. When Bush got himself in a hole, once or twice, there was always somebody who remembered when he did just the same thing in Campbell park and who told how he got out of it all right. "And he'll get out of it this time," was the inevitable conclusion. And he always did. There were calls for a speech from Hugh Marshall, the discoverer of Bush. Hugh was too modest to reply, but Dad Farley made an eloquent address every time Campbell refused to wear a happy crowd and it got the news. And how it cheered. The cheers were over and the crowd had gone back to work when other bulletins got the final score.

GREAT NEWS

The Sports Editor calls attention to the fact that Brainerd is a great little town. From Brainerd came the two pitchers who won Connie Mack's two games, Chief Bender and Bush are townies and there is every reason to believe that there wasn't any red fire left in Brainerd last night when the home folks got through celebrating. And the Sports Editor reminds us once more—this time that Blankenship has sent up to the big leagues. Walter Johnson and Leslie Bush are a pair that will make Blank's recommendation come true for much in the future. And there is Hohen, coming up. It was great news and it was a

Weak Lungs Often Lead to Serious Illness

If you have weak lungs, you are generally subject to colds or throat trouble and easily susceptible to serious lung trouble. In many cases pneumonia or bronchitis troubles leave the lungs in a weak condition. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for the throat and lungs which has been found to be very beneficial. It is a change of climate and other treatments failed to bring relief. Read of this case: 223 S. Atlantic Ave., Haddonfield, N. J. "Gentlemen: In the fall of 1907 I contracted a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. At first I began to cough and spasm, and my physician then told me to go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alternative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve, and after a few days' work in January, 1908, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now seven years since my recovery has been effected, and I cannot praise Eckman's Alternative too highly. (Signed) W. M. TATEM. (Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven in many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Cures nervousness, palpitations or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet containing list of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and George Freishelmer, and Missoula Drug Company.

FLATHEAD DAIRY HERD IS HOPE OF FARMERS

A. B. Beckwith arrived here last evening from St. Ignace and after getting a line on the baseball dope took time to say a few words in boost of his own country, where, he says, the weather has not been as cold as it has in Missoula. Next to his baseball enthusiasm Mr. Beckwith takes delight in the fine herd of dairy stock which is the Flathead farmers' pride. "We bought mostly young stock," said Mr. Beckwith, "but they are doing fine. They are being brought right along by the farmers as they promised and there is every indication that another year will find the dairy business firmly established on the Flathead. The stock, 283 head, arrived in good shape and seem to have become acclimated already."

REQUIEM HIGH MASS FOR JOHN F. HAYES

The funeral of John F. Hayes was held yesterday morning in the church of St. Francis Xavier. Requiem high mass was celebrated and a large number of old-time friends paid tribute to "Jack" Hayes' memory. Profuse and beautiful were the floral tributes. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery and the pallbearers were James Corbett, Harry Shepard, Otis Worden, Dan Curry, Patrick Callahan and John J. Sullivan.

LOCAL SOCIETY

North-Side Mothers' Club. The North-Side Mothers' club will be entertained at the Whittier school this afternoon by the young people of the eighth grade in that school. The program is to begin at 2:30 o'clock and all members are asked to be present promptly at that hour.

Meeting Postponed. The meeting of Mrs. Hoskins' section of the Lend-a-Hand society has been postponed from this afternoon until next Tuesday afternoon.

Sewing Club. Misses Inez and Margaret Summers entertained on Wednesday evening a company of ladies who meet regularly once in a fortnight for a social evening with needlework. Those present at this meeting were Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Apple, Mrs. Evanson, Miss Jennie Rowe, Miss Maymo Robson and the hostesses.

A Birthday Surprise.

A company of young people surprised Raymond Coen at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Coen, Wednesday evening in honor of his 14th birthday. A merry time was spent with dancing and music followed by a late and delicious spread. Many beautiful gifts were brought to the popular young man whose birthday was being celebrated. Those present were Misses Marie Owens, Kathryn Donohue, Gay Pritchard, Ruth Small, Bertha Smith, Olive Dailey, Hilda Marion, Juliette Marqure, Messrs. In addition to the display of water color paintings and gift novelties from the Higgins studio of old colonial homes. A great variety of hand craft in the form of needlework and jewelry as well as household utensils will be on exhibition. A cordial invitation is extended to all persons who may be interested to attend.

FEDERAL FORESTERS' FAIRNESS TO ALL SUGGEST PLAN FOR SCHOOL YUAN SHI KAI PROMISES

UNIVERSITY FORESTRY COURSES MAY BE ARRANGED FOR LOGGING ENGINEERING. EXISTING AGREEMENT WILL BE OBSERVED BY THE CHINESE PRESIDENT.

A school of forestry with a definite aim and mission in addition to offering general work along every branch, may be the result of a conference held at the university yesterday between President Craighead and District Forester F. A. Silcox of Missoula and W. B. Greeley, assistant to Chief Forester Graves of Washington, D. C. Mr. Greeley was formerly at the head of this district but accepted a promotion to have full charge of the silviculture work of the service. When he arrived in Missoula President Craighead asked for an interview with him and Mr. Silcox and last night the president stated that he was considering a suggestion to shape the courses of the university school of forestry so as to graduate students trained especially in logging engineering. The president's plans are still tentative but he said last night that he favored the idea and that it may be carried out. A curriculum embodying heavy courses in engineering and planned particularly to produce experts in logging engineering would, he said, give the Montana school distinction among the other colleges of forestry in the country.

Peking, Oct. 9.—The friendly intentions of the Chinese government toward foreign interests will be strongly emphasized in President Yuan Shi Kai's inaugural message to parliament tomorrow. On this subject he will say: "The attitude of the foreign powers toward us has always been one of peace and fairness. They have given us cordial assistance whenever the occasion arose. This, of course, is due to the civilization of the world, yet all the same we highly appreciate the good will of the friendly powers. It is most important for all citizens of the Chinese republic clearly to understand this and to endeavor to strengthen international friendship."

YUAN SHI KAI.

President Craighead spent some time with the two foresters in conference and in looking over the equipment at the university. He chose them as advisors in determining the policy of the school and also asked them for recommendations of additional members of the faculty in forestry. Several new professors will be selected soon. President Craighead expects to leave in a few days to see the men recommended and said that at least one would come to the university in a short time and the others will follow as soon as the curriculum is increased so as to need them.

Logging Engineers. "The crying need of the present age in the forestry work of this country is for thoroughly trained logging engineers," said District Forester Silcox yesterday. "Silvics should be a part of the work in any school of forestry, of course, but it is the practical engineers who can go into the woods and work out the peculiar problems which scientific lumbering now presents, problems which are fast growing away from the old-time loggers." Mr. Greeley, who has had charge of silviculture during this time is in a position to judge the needs of the country in forestry matters, is strongly of this opinion and urged the university to make the first aim of its forestry course the equipment of young men as practical logging engineers. The University of Montana is located within touch of magnificent forests and within a few minutes' ride are two of the largest lumbering plants of the west, each the most modern of its kind of this age. The opportunities for practical work in forestry could not be surpassed and it is the hope of the foresters that this institution will build up a great training school which will fill the need of the times. That the plans for the school have interested the forest service and that its hearty co-operation has been thus far promised and expressed should be encouraging to all interested in the university and especially to those students who are planning to enter the forestry school.

to the civilization of the world, yet all the same we highly appreciate the good will of the friendly powers. It is most important for all citizens of the Chinese republic clearly to understand this and to endeavor to strengthen international friendship. "Furthermore, I declare that all rights, privileges and immunities enjoyed by foreigners in China by virtue of international engagements, national enactments and established usages are hereby confirmed. "This declaration I make with the view of maintaining international unity and peace."

BOY PLAYS VIOLIN MARVELOUSLY WELL

The rare talent of Clyde Gates, a seven-year-old musical prodigy, amazed and delighted the visitors at the Orvis music house who happened to be there yesterday when the boy was playing his violin. His father, Charles Gates, is here in charge of the piano sale now being conducted by the J. M. Orvis company. The little fellow has been in concert work ever since he was three years old. He is a wizard with the bow and at the same time he is as unaffected and boy-like as the average youngster who thumbs his second reader in the primary grade at school.

RAILROAD NOTES

A new tariff of round-trip winter fares to destinations in the southern states, Cuba and Mexico is published by a number of connecting railroads among which are the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee. It is now possible for Missoula people to buy excursion fare tickets from Missoula over a choice of carriers to southern winter resorts. The special rates are effective from October 12 to April 30, 1914. C. D. Lake, one of the best known conductors of the Northern Pacific, was here yesterday wearing "The smile that won't come off" the cause being the arrival of a ten-pound son and heir to the Lake fortune. The streets were not wide enough nor the heavens high enough for Mr. Lake after the event had occurred. Mrs. Lake and the baby are at the Northern Pacific hospital.

ATTENTION, TEACHERS.
