GIFTS

That GIVE PLEASURE

NOT EVERY gift gives pleasure to the recipient. "He" or "she" may say it does, but there are many considerations that have to be looked to in making a gift. Our experience in these matters will help you in selecting that Christmas gift. Come in and let us talk it over, and see the many new gifts we can suggest.

FRANK BORG
JEWELER

When our good Pilgrim Fathers set forth in Freedom's quest they imported to this country most of the things we have that we deem best; when they sailed away from England and left its shores behind, they were dour as to visage and sour as to mind; three hundred years ago or more they struck old Plymouth Rock; they held a little meeting, where they took account of their stock; they had some fixed opinions and some very pointed views; but they were short on catkins, on blankets and on shoes; but their stock of ingenuity was fortunately great, and thus they were enabled there to glorify a state; their religious contributions were weighty, firm and fine; but they rendered noble service also in the eating line; when they were not contriving how the devil they could beat; they were skillfully concocting something new and good to eat; they bequeathed to us clam chowder and the luscious codfish ball; they discovered maple syrup where the forest trees grew tall; pumpkin pie was their delectable and they figured out the mince, twisted doughnuts they invented, that mankind has raised its since; then they mixed the dough for brown bread and the succulent baked bean; and they found that boiling lobsters changed their hue to red from green; but their gastronomic triumph which the world proclaims the winner, was that feast that is immortalized as the Baked New England dinner; to the old corned beef and cabbage they gave relish keen and zest, when they threw in beans and turnips, parsnips, carrots and the rest.

All reports, which come down the valley from Stevensville are that the poultry show is a hummer. There are many birds in the show at Stevensville and they are said to be the best that the valley has ever seen assembled. Amos Buck called me over the telephone yesterday morning, to bid me hasten up to see the show. I was sorry I could not accept his invitation. But there is a pressure of engagements at home this week which makes it impossible to leave. However, the Missoulian office has done the best it could to add to the success of the show. Today Wilbur has sent up some of his choice birds to help the cause along. The Society Editor might have sent her hens that lay, but it would have been unreasonable to expect that. A hen that lays is too valuable to be allowed away from home. "It is a great show," said the voice of Amos over the phone yesterday. "There are more kinds of hens here than I ever heard about and I have had a good deal of experience with hens. All of them appear to be having a good time and we are having fun watching them. The weather is making a great success of the show and you tell Bill Houston to keep Bill's shirt tight for the rest of the week. That's all we need."

While all this big-brother talk and action is rife, let's not forget the skating rink which were started for the kiddies. This was the first visible manifestation of the big-brother spirit this season and it is making hundreds of little folks happy. The rinks are well equipped and are receiving liberal patronage. Likewise, they are bringing neighborhood folks together in the finest form of way over on the south side, the little rink house is comfortable and bright. The city hall people found an old stove which was sent over and other friends sent around a load of coal. "We're in good shape now," said one of the managers last night, "expect that we need about a hundred feet of hose to use in flooding the rink. If there is anybody who will help us out by loaning garden hose, our equipment will be fine.

Spending of eggs, I am something of a millionaire, myself; I have six eggs—count them—six. They are from the Society Editor's hens and with gift—priceless in itself—comes the assurance which is yet more delightful, that the Society Editor has no intention of turning away from friends of her days of adversity, even though she is now able to ride home in a taxicab instead of a streetcar. All of which opens the Christmas season with genuine joy in these parts. Likewise, the eggs will make a royal breakfast for the second platoon at our House this morning.

PROMINENT ENGINEER WILL GO TO EUROPE

E. A. Newlon has received word from A. E. Wheeler, a Great Falls engineer who counts scores of friends in Missoula, to the effect that Mr. Wheeler is to leave on January 1 for Europe to accept the position of consulting engineer with the Union Miniere at Haut Katanga. To take this position, Mr. Wheeler has resigned his place as superintendent of the reduction works of the Boston & Montana smelter in Great Falls.

Mr. Wheeler came to the smelter in 1895 after completing a course in metallurgy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. In 1901 he was appointed assistant superintendent of the works and in 1903 succeeded Superintendent John T. Morrow.

Mr. Wheeler's headquarters hereafter will be in London and Brussels. There he will pass half the year, spending the rest of his time at the properties in Upper Katanga, South Africa.

WATCH FOR FLAGPOLE ON MT. JUMBO TODAY

Look! There's Dad Farley's flagpole on Jumbo!

Now, wait a little. Don't look to early this morning. Put it off until about noon. By that time the mast from which Old Glory is to wave on Mount Jumbo's back will have been planted. Dad Farley completed arrangements for a crew of men provided by Manager George Brown of the Missoula Light & Water company to do the work this morning. The start will be made at 8 o'clock, and the pole should be in place by 11 or 12 o'clock. The flag will not be hoisted today. The one ordered, which came as a gift from the Knights of Columbus, was so large that it had to be made to order. This delayed its coming, but it is now on the way from New York. It will be raised with appropriate ceremonies, the details of which will be announced in a day or two.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MARY

"What Happened to Mary" is one of the really enjoyable plays that have come to Missoula this season. The company reached Missoula in the midst of so many other attractions that it did not attract as large a crowd as it would have done under ordinary circumstances. This was unfortunate for the company as well as for the Missoula playgoers who missed the show. The theme of the play is as new as it is old. It sparkles with real wit and surprises, and the cast is well selected. There are few stronger scenes in the season's productions than the closing of the third act in "What Happened to Mary." Those who saw the show would like to see it again next year, and they wish for the company the best of success during the remainder of its tour.

PAUL JACKSON COMING FOR FATHER'S FUNERAL

The remains of Oliver P. Jackson, who died early yesterday morning, will be held at the parish undertaking rooms until the arrival of Paul Jackson from Pittsburgh next Saturday when arrangements for the funeral service will be completed. Mr. Jackson was born in Pittsburgh, August 29, 1845, and came to Missoula with a freight wagon in 1883. He is survived by his wife, a son, Paul Jackson, who is owner of The Pittsburgh Post, and other relatives.
