REPORT TO LEAGUE VERIFIES FIGURES

many other members of this league I based my opinion on what I had heard to be true and not on what I knew to be the case. Since I went to the city hall and looked into this matter for myself I am personally thoroughly convinced that I was wrong; that the city has made an appreciable gain under the commission form; that there is plenty for the commissioners to do to earn their salaries. The mayor is the only one who says he has not earned his. If the people keep awake they can demand and will get value received for their money. The thing for you doubters to do is not to listen too much to the statements you hear, but go to the city hall as I have done and find out these things for yourself. I went down there doubting and came back in favor of commission government, good and strong.

Other members of the committee expressed similar views. W. R. Brennan, a member of the committee and secretary of the club, was the only one who qualified his personal remarks. He said he was convinced that the commission form had made good and was much better than the old plan but that he was not fully satisfied that the salaries paid were not too high.

About Jim Smith's Statement.

During the reading of the communications another point was forcibly presented, this in regard to taking as the truth some of the statements that were being made by those opposed to commission government. At the meeting two weeks ago when Jim Smith addressed the meeting he made the statement that Des Moines, Iowa, had dropped the commission form. The committee did not accept this as a fact but communicated with Des Moines, receiving in reply a statement, which appears in full in another column, that not only proved the Smith allegation false but shows what splendid results have been achieved in that city.

Jim Smith was present last night. He and ex-Policeman Brooks seemed to be at the head of four or five others whose murmurs now and then placed them as the opponents to commission government. When the meeting was opened for discussion Mr. Smith was asked if he had anything to say. He replied by referring to Attorney J. L. Wallace, who, he said, was an expert accountant and who could probably show where the report of the league's committee was in error. Mr. Wallace stated he had no reason to doubt the figures presented in the report.

Details of Session.

The meeting opened with reports of committees. The one having in charge the investigation into the plans of the school board for consolidation of manual training and domestic science, gave in more detail the plans for equipping the recently-acquired Episcopal church for this purpose.

J. L. Wallace, who represented the league at the hearing on electricity rates before the public utilities commission, reviewed the session, stating what the commission desired was figures from an expert engineer and not general statements from an attorney. He said that the statement made by Auditor Phillips would be examined by the commission's engineer and that he believed the members of the commission would be fair in making their final conclusions.

If Our Grandmothers Had Only Known MUSTEROLE

How they would have welcomed it. For they knew the blessed relief that the old-fashioned mustard plaster gave for colds, aches and pains.

But they had to take the blister and the burn with the plaster.

You can get mustard's wonderful effect, without the plaster and without the blister.

MUSTEROLE does it. It is a clean white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Don't spread MUSTEROLE on a cloth. Don't bind it on with a piece of flannel.

Just massage it in with the finger-

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back-ache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

But less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is expensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Missoula Drug Co., agents.—Adv.

He advised the club not to press the matter of a hearing on water rates, but advocated some step toward public ownership of this utility.

Brown Reads Report.

As secretary of the committee on civic affairs James Brown read the report as outlined above. In the beginning he stated the committee had been promised the service of an expert accountant by the organization opposed to commission government to go with it and present their side of the figures. "For some reason or other this expert failed to put in an appearance," said Mr. Brown. "But the city's books were turned over to us and City Attorney Woody and Mr. Kroone remained at the hall most of one day to answer questions. They did not attempt to show us black ink white as has been intimated. We had the books, made our own investigation and asked questions when the figures suggested some new point. We did our best to find out how the figures presented by the treasurer or other time ago had been juggled, having heard statements to this effect, but no one appeared to help us out although we had requested the help of this expert."

Mike Riley, an engineer, said that he had talked with one of these experts, an ex-city officer, who claimed to show him that the published figures were wrong.

"Who was this ex-officer?" asked Chairman Hallett.

"Former City Treasurer Tom Hatheway," answered Mr. Riley.

"He's the same expert who was to accompany us in our visit to the city hall," said the chairman.

Among the communications read was a letter to Chairman Hallett from Congressman J. M. Evans stating that he saw by the newspapers that the league had become interested in civic affairs and hoped that it would thoroughly inform itself concerning commission government and help support it in support of his argument.

One other letter was from the city attorney stating that the subway matter had been referred to the street railway company to get a definite answer as to the amount it would contribute and that as soon as a reply comes the club will be informed. The "unsigned" letter from the secretary of the league to the council concerning the rate hearing, was also answered in full.

At the conclusion of the business session the members were entertained with a recitation by Mrs. Clara Daly and a vocal solo by Miss Margaret Longley. Each responded to an encore. The program had been arranged by the ladies' auxiliary to the league, a score of members of the latter organization being present at the meeting.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of industrial accidents can be eliminated, 80 per cent by safety devices and 30 per cent by the proper training of the workers.
