What though the wind doth fiercely blow, what though the walks be blocked with snow, what though the pocket-books be low—Milady hunts for bargains. What though the blizzard blows a gale, that makes the stoutest walker quail, if she can find a special sale—Milady hunts for bargains. What though a suffrage meeting calls, what though the baby dismal squalls, what though the mercury downward falls—Milady hunts for bargains. What though her husband makes a roar, what though the family gets sore, what though a crowd blocks up the store—Milady hunts for bargains. What though he says some things most rash, words that we must express with "—" the reason hubby saves his cash—Milady hunts for bargains.

"Our special sales have been unusually successful this season," said a merchant yesterday, "and this was to some extent unexpected. We have used extraordinary care in preparing them, but we had not looked for such a response as we have had. It has been remarkable. And I have watched them rather more carefully than usual, just to satisfy myself upon some matters which I have heard discussed. And I am convinced of one thing now—I am sure that there is not any merit in the contention that the special sales leads many people to buy things they do not want or need. Unquestionably, there are rare instances where the bargain craze reaches that extent, but it is not usual. There are some people who buy heavily at these sales, but checking up their lists we have found that these larger purchases are wisely made and that the women who have made them have simply provided for their household needs by buying this way at one time instead of stretching their purchases over the whole year. This is especially true in the white-goods sale. There have been some remarkable sales in this, but I don't believe any of them have been unwise. Those which we have been able to check up have shown that the purchasing was wise and cautious. It was simply buying a year's supply at once. And if the dealer can handle these staples profitably in this way, why cannot the buyer do the same thing to advantage?"

Even the observer, standing on the outside entirely, cannot fail this reason to be impressed by the great amount of merchandizing that has been done in Missoula since the holidays. There has been a succession of noteworthy sales in the different stores, and each one of them has attracted its crowd. These sales have covered practically every line which the household uses, except the meat and grocery department. Each one has been attended by even larger crowds than usual, and each has been continued longer than usual. The different merchants have reported successful selling, and some of them have showed their sales reports to prove their statements. Certain it is, there has been a tremendous retail business done in Missoula during the past six weeks. And most of the merchants have reported good collections. The mercantile situation seems to be highly satisfactory.

The sleighing is perfect and there are many who are taking advantage of it. There are bob-sled parties and other forms of this diversion daily and nightly, and the music of the sleighbells dominates the mid-winter chorus, all right this week. The snow came suddenly and the devotees of the cutter are taking no chances on its staying. A chink, one of these nights is likely to take it away as suddenly as it came. So the man with a large or a big sleigh has his dates booked far ahead and his horses are getting tired. He will have to arrange for relays, for the sport cannot be interrupted. One man, the other night, got his wires crossed and rented his sleigh to two different parties the same night. The rendezvous was the same in each case, and there was a fine mix-up when the sleigh reported. One party had to surrender, but there was no little grief connected with the incident.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Thick.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

NO PELTS BY MAIL IN PARCEL POST

OFFICIAL ORDER FROM THE HEAD OF THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT SETTLES QUESTION.

Deputy Game Warden Evans yesterday received from Game Warden De Hart a copy of recent order by the postmaster general, covering the shipment by parcel post of furs and pelts. For quite a time, the shipment of beaver skins out of the state, by the use of parcel post, had caused the warden's department some uneasiness and the game officers had been puzzled as to how to deal with the situation. Game Warden De Hart took up the matter with the postal authorities; correspondence ensued between Helena and Washington; now the game warden is armed with this order from the head of the postoffice department:

Can't Post Skins.
Office of the Postmaster General, Washington, Dec. 23, 1913. Order No. 734.

Section 4775. Postmasters shall not accept for mailing any parcel containing the dead bodies, or parts thereof, of any wild animals or birds which have been killed, or are offered for shipment in violation of the laws of the state, territory or district in which the same were killed or offered for shipment. Provided, however, that the foregoing shall not be construed to prevent the acceptance for mailing of any dead animals or birds killed during the season when the same may be lawfully captured, and the export of which is not prohibited by the law in the state, territory or district in which the same are captured or killed.

2. Parcels containing the dead bodies of any game animals, or parts thereof, including furs, skins, skulls or meat, or of any game or wild birds, or parts thereof, including skins or plumage, may be admitted to the mails only when plainly marked on the outside to show the actual nature of the contents and the name and address of the sender or shipper. Provided, however, that no parcel containing fresh game in any form, may be accepted for transmission beyond the second zone. (See Sec. 475.)

3. Postmasters desiring additional information on this subject should address the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Classification.

Note—Sections 242, 243 and 244, act of March 4, 1909, 35 Stat., 1137, make it unlawful to ship in interstate commerce the dead bodies or parts thereof, of any game animal or wild birds, which have been killed or shipped in violation of the laws of the state, territory or district in which the same were killed, or from which they were shipped.

A. S. HURLESON,
Postmaster General.

A Preventive Measure.
The clause in the order which reads "animals which have been killed, or are offered for shipment in violation of the laws of the state, territory or district in which the same were killed or offered for shipment," will necessarily prevent postmasters in Montana from receiving parcels of this nature, unless same are accompanied by a shipping permit in compliance with our state laws.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday was really too warm for a winter's day. The minimum temperature was 20 degrees above zero, while the maximum, which was maintained most of the day, was 34. A few more days like yesterday and the sleighing snow will be seriously threatened. The north side skating rink was ready for business yesterday, but it was too warm for the ice to harden.

COUNTY INSTITUTIONS INSPECTED BY BOARD

The county commissioners yesterday inspected the county poor farm and the jail, making their visits unannounced. At both institutions they found conditions, they declare, which are thoroughly satisfactory. "They are taking care of 40 people at the county poor farm," said Chairman Nelson, "and are doing it very well. We were pleased with the shape affairs are in at the farm. We visited the jail at dinner time, and found nothing about which we could possibly complain. Everything is all right."

MOTHER, THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

If Tongue is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Don't Hesitate!

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, diarrhea, sure throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

WEIGERT MUST SKIP OR FACE THE MUSIC

Police Magistrate von Platen yesterday presented Theodore Weigert, guilty of insulting a woman on the streets, with the alternative of departing at once from Missoula or paying a fine of $100 and serving 90 days in jail. Weigert elected to go and was given until 8:45 this morning to shake the dust of the city.

Weigert is said to have been in almost constant trouble here and his last offense was so serious as to make leniency out of the question. Although Officer Lease neglected to learn the name of the complaining witness and failed to find her afterward, there was no doubt as to Weigert's guilt. He gave drunkenness as his excuse.

THIS IS LECTURE EVERYONE MAY ENJOY

DR. HOLLIDAY OF UNIVERSITY TO TALK ON "AMERICAN HUMOR" THURSDAY.

"American Humor" will be the subject of Dr. Carl Holliday's address at the university assembly room Thursday evening of this week. This will be the fourth number of the university lecture course, and will begin at 8:15.

Dr. Holliday has written the following: "A History of Southern Literature," "The Cotton Picker and Other Poems," "Three Centuries of Southern Poetry," "Once Upon a Time Stories," "The Cavalier Poets," "The Literature of Colonial Virginia," "The Wit and Humor of Colonial Days," "English Fiction From the Fifth to the Twentieth Century," "What to Read in Public Schools," "Opinions of a Pedagogue," "The Poets Laureate of England." He has contributed articles to World's Work, Independent, McClure's, Leslie's, Smart Set, Lippincott's, The Churchman, Youth's Companion, Book News Monthly, American Education, American Educational Review, South Atlantic Quarterly, Sewanee Review, Uncle Remus, Methodist Review, Americana, The Bellman, Business America, The Children's Magazine, Watson's Magazine, New York Times Book Review, New York Evening Post, New York Telegraph, etc.

He will not present all of the above and will not talk all night unless specially requested to do so by the audience. He has a fund of information which he saves for occasions like this. He accents a joke against the wind. A blackboard will not be used and epigrams will be barred. The class in journalism will occupy a special box, while the faculty will take the gallery, so the lecture will not cover their heads. Contrary to usual custom on such occasions, the door receipts will not go to the lecturer. This bit of grim humor will add to the evening's spice, for American humor is usually well paid. Humor got the university lecture course in the hole; we hope American humor will pull it out. While the faculty and students are likely to be away from their accustomed haunts on this holiday we are sure they will all take great pleasure in the Holliday lecture. Citizens are invited to join.
