

WANT AD SHOWS GREAT BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY IN "SONG AND STORY" GAME

Chance to Make Money Offered Readers Every Day; When Put in "Classified" Form It Looks Even More Like Real Finance.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

WANTED—A BRIGHT PERSON, AGE IMMATERIAL, TO "EARN" $100 IN gold for a few hours spent in playing a game; no capital required; no work to do. Address "Song and Story" Editor, The Missoulian, Missoula, Mont.

If you saw an ad like this you would be tempted to answer it.

As a matter of fact The Missoulian has been offering its readers just the same thing, only it has put it in different words.

This is a real business opportunity that The Missoulian is laying before the public.

EARN IT WITHOUT WORK.

The person who solves the greatest number of the picture puzzles in the Game of Song and Story will be rewarded with $100 in gold. That is the First Grand Prize. The prize will be won by mere play, which makes the earnings all the more attractive. There is no "work" required at all to "earn" the $100, and the total gold to be given away in this and other prizes is $500.

GIVES GOLD AND HELPS, TOO.

Not only is The Missoulian giving away $500 in gold, but it is helping its readers toward the golden goal.

When the prizes are awarded the $100 probably will go to some player who has studied his or her catalogue diligently during the progress of the game. The 5,000 titles in the catalogue include the correct answers to all the pictures in the game.

Some of the prizes are going, also, to those who have taken advantage of the twelve free answers in the listing book. That scrap book also gives thirty coupons for free pictures, as does the catalogue, and allows one to seven answers on each picture, without using extra copies of the picture.

Get these books and get in line for the gold.

See the announcement elsewhere in today's paper, with the picture for the day and the coupons with which to get catalogue and listing book.

EXCITING IS STORY OF REPORTORIAL CUB

JOURNALISTIC APPRENTICE DESCRIBES THRILLING DAY IN HUNT FOR NEWS.

(By THE CUB.)

There are days and days. On some of these days the quest for news resolves itself into a struggle having for its ultimate purpose the dodging of various stories which arise on every hand. On other days the quest does not become a matter of evasion. Beating the bushes alongside the daily beat is of no avail. Not a whisper or suggestion of anything bearing a semblance of news value is to be found. Yesterday looked like one of the blue days. The weary round was almost finished. Only the police station and the Northern Pacific depot remained on the regular run and it was certain that nothing of great importance was to be found in either place as some report would have been received already.

Then came word that the North Coast Limited was in the ditch. I hurried down to the depot and found that the Northern Pacific's crack train had been derailed while coming down the Evaro hill and that many had been killed and injured. I was fortunate enough to reach the station in time to catch the wrecker. Trainmaster Showalter, Superintendent Birdsell, Roadmaster Flaahaven and all the available doctors, nurses and hospital equipment were on hand. We arrived at the scene of the derangement and the next few hours were a horrible jumble of hasty sights and feverish activity which, however, served to keep me from keeling over under the nausea resulting from the strain of seeing blood-covered forms dragged from the shattered cars and the sound of shrieks and moans which filtered through the wreckage.

At last the task was done. Everything was complete. All the dead had been identified and the injured were in the hospital. Wearily, I crawled aboard one of the flatcars which had served to bear the stricken to the city and made my way toward the office.

Mayor is Killed.

I got there just in time to learn that Mayor Rhodes was dead. Tired as I was, this item sent new energy speeding through my tired limbs. Two

You'll like the Gen'l Arthur—

It has that mellow flavor with just enough tang to make every puff a delight. It has an aromatic fragrance; it has a smooth draw and an even burn; in short, it has everything you want in a cigar.

such stories in one day and I the only one on the job. One reporter laying off and the city editor sick. I hastily inquired the scene of the tragedy and arrived just ahead of the coroner. There the dead man lay, a bullet hole through his forehead. Again the weary round of interviewing all of the eyewitnesses, who had seen the origin of the dispute which had led to the mayor's sudden taking off. Then to the jail where an interview was secured from the murderer. All the details secured, I started again for the office, knowing that long hours of work confronted me before the news I had gathered would be in the forms.

Arrived at the office I took off my coat and started in. As I whirled the paper into my mill I saw a note. Quickly I read it. "A regimental post for Missoula. Get interviews from C. H. McLeod, P. S. Lusk, S. J. Coffee." The note was from the "brains" and I hurried to the phone. Having run my quarry to earth I turned again to my typewriter. The telephone rang. I answered and heard the gentle voice of S. J. Coffee. He informed me calmly that the chamber of commerce had raised $100,000 for a Y. M. C. A. building. Then he carefully filled me in with about two columns' worth of details.

"Why don't you try sleeping nights?" The rude query startled me and I jumped from Bill Houston's official chair to confront Police Judge Von Platen. "Anything doing?" I asked. "Not a thing," said he, and I wended my weary way toward the Northern Pacific, knowing before I arrived there that "no news" would be the answer I received everywhere and not decided as to whether I was glad that I had collected all of the news in my sleep, or to be sorry because it wasn't true and that I would spend the rest of the night waiting for the good story which never comes on one of those days.

PLAINS NOTES

Plains, Feb. 12.—(Special).—A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coulter, who were recently married, honored them Tuesday evening by a shower at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Coulter. About 35 guests were present and brought with them a quantity of useful and beautiful gifts. During the evening several musical selections were rendered and after a delicious luncheon everyone wished the young couple unalloyed happiness.

The Macabed ladies gave an enjoyable Valentine dancing party Friday evening in the theaterium. The usual splendid luncheon was served at the close.

Miss Agatha Lynch, eldest daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Lynch has been very ill, but is now convalescent. A trained nurse was called the first of the week. Miss Lynch has been teaching in her home district and is very energetic in her work and her sickness is the result of over-exertion. She had two hemorrhages of the lungs before her condition was known and it was only by strong will power and nerve that she was able to continue her school duties. Verne French is in charge of her school at present.

Mrs. Manning and Mrs. McWhiney delightfully entertained the ladies of the O. E. S. on Friday afternoon at the former's home.

Myrtle Shepard and little Henry Coe who were both dangerously ill last week with pneumonia are both rapidly improving in health.

About five inches of snow fell Wednesday night, but the warm sunshine of Thursday and Friday made the roads nearly bare.

Mrs. Stackhouse, mother of E. T. Stackhouse, arrived home from an extended visit in Montezuma, Iowa, last Saturday. She did not know of her son's misfortune of a broken leg until her arrival.

WIRELESS OVER SEA.

New York, Feb. 12.—Wireless press messages between Germany and the United States were exchanged today for the first time over the equipment of the Atlantic Communication Company. Messages were sent to German newspapers, to the emperor and to Ambassador Gerard.

MISSOULA IS QUIET IN OBSERVANCE OF HOLIDAY

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY MARKED BY NO ESPECIAL EXERCISES OR CELEBRATION.

Missoula made no outward observance of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, marking the occasion rather with quiet relaxation than with any outburst of commemorative enthusiasm. There were no public exercises and most of the city's business houses remained open. Only in the city, county and national government offices and in the schools was the holiday observed to the extent of suspending business.

But there was one thing about the day which was not to be overlooked; one thing which set the holiday apart from all others. This was the spontaneity with which admiration for Lincoln was expressed by people of all stations. Of no other American man would just such a feeling be possible.

Perhaps it is the general awakening of the masses of the people, perhaps it is a growing realization of the humanity of this greatest of our citizens that made so many people recall his life and speak with reverence of his achievements. Men who would sneer at the austere father of our country, who know only vague facts about the high lights in our history talked of Lincoln yesterday on the street corners, in saloons—everywhere. Each seemed to receive something that resembled inspiration from what he knew of Lincoln and spoke of it with reverence which is unusual.

A Classic Letter.

One man had found and carried with him a letter written by Lincoln to a mother who had lost five sons in the war. This letter is pretty widely known as a classic; it is so well known, in fact, that a copy of it hangs in Brasenose college, Oxford university, England; but for the sake of those who may not know it, it should be re-printed. This is the letter:

I have been shown on the files of the war department a statement of the adjutant general of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weep and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming; but I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the republic they died to save.

I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave only the cherished memories of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

PETROSKY BEATEN BY CLABBY

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—Jimmy Clabby, the Indiana middleweight, defeated "Sailor" Petroskey today in 20 rounds of fighting at the Vernon arena. It was Clabby's second victory over the former bluejacket, and he went into the ring a big favorite, but his chances were no more than even by the time the 12th round had been reached. He could not stop the sailor and stand off and box as he desired, and Petroskey, landing an occasional smash or swing, badly damaged his mouth and eyes.

Clabby regained the lead after the 12th, and seemed to have the sailor a trifle distressed in the 20th.

Both men fought viciously, and frequently lost all thought of science or defense to clinch and whang away at each other. Clabby at the beginning removed his front teeth, to save a golden dental bridge from damage, and went into the battle with his lower lip cleft up under his nose.

Petroskey bore few scars of the battle out of the ring, but the decision went against him purely on the points scored by his clever opponent.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You
Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy an equal good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrate and composed of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"Widow by Proxy."

"Widow by Proxy" the new farce to exploit May Irwin's genial personality this season, and in which she will be seen at the Missoula theater this evening, is said to be much better in dramatic structure than have been her plays of other years. The new farce concerns the adventures of Gloria Grey (a singing teacher), Miss Irwin, and her chum, Delores Pennington, both of them suffering with a surplus of lack of cash.

Gloria Grey is a woman of business. To quote her own words: "She has inherited all of her father's genius for clipping coupons, but alas, she has inherited no coupons to clip." Necessity drives, and her friend, whose husband is supposed to have died in Alaska, is housed under her roof, the object of her charity. Finally, word comes from the family of the supposed widow, that a legacy is to be had if the widow will appear at the family manor and sign some papers. But the door of that manor has been slammed in the widow's face before, and she rises in her pride and declares that she will not go. It is then that Gloria's genius asserts itself, and she decides to impersonate the widow. Incidentally she falls in love with the cousin of the man whose widow she is impersonating, and just when a proposition of marriage has been made and accepted, word comes that the dead husband is not dead at all, but is coming home again. Then comes the whirlwind of confusion, the proper explanation and a happy curtain.
