SOCIALIST NOTES

(By Martha Edgerton Plassmann)
With election day, our municipal campaign ended successfully, but it brought us no success from effort—so I gave us a little more courage to enter upon the new campaign, which began on the following day.
This is always the case with the socialist party; it never rests. Ceaselessly its educational work is carried on, and for this purpose every one in the party is utilized. There is no member too weak or too ignorant to help spread the good news; to be a potent factor in advancing the movement. For this reason—if for no other—so he a member of the socialist party is to have increased self respect.
And there is no lack of work to be done—there is no question of unemployment among the laborers in the socialist field. Already plans are under way to accomplish more at the next election. This does not mean, necessarily, that we shall elect our ticket—our success does not depend upon that—but it does imply that the victors of whatever party, must put into practice some of the socialist teachings.
Said a county employe after an election in Butte: "If the democrats win, they will never dare to graft so openly as has been the custom heretofore; the socialists have set too good an example."
But there are other ways than by example, to put the old parties on their good behavior—publicity will do it. Now that socialists have their own press, it is impossible to conceal much that formerly was hidden. The America people are proverbially easy going—they take considerable jolting, but once aroused, they are ready for action. This action is not always along the best lines, but as the direction it may take is uncertain, officials realize that it is the part of wisdom to prepare for the worst. There is a vast amount of office cleaning going on right now. From this it can be seen that whatever party holds the offices, the socialist party is victorious.

We have reason to congratulate ourselves that a happy combination of circumstances aided us in gaining control of the city government by the election of Mr. Gotchell and Mr. Hudson. Now, all we have to do is to "make good," and we shall do it.
But there is another election that taught us valuable lessons for the future. We were last on the list in the school election. Our defeat was not so humiliating as it would have been, if a working class ticket had not been elected, but it demonstrated that there is need for education in the true meaning of socialism among our own members.
If we once admit the wisdom of compromise and political trading, we deal a severe blow to our organization; and yet there were many socialists—or those who style themselves such—who failed to vote a straight ticket. Excuse themselves as they may, it might have been a fatal error.
It is constantly borne in mind that the socialist party does not fight individuals, but the system; it has not for its main object the securing of votes, but education; not office, but the improvement of social conditions. If we lose sight of these facts, our cause is weakened.

Another mistake that was made grew out of a false estimate of the relative importance of the municipal election. In their desire to gain control of the city, most of the members of the party concentrated their efforts on the city election, and the school election received little attention. This was a grave mistake, as the question of how our schools are to be conducted, decides the character of our future citizens. No man or woman is a true socialist who places the temporary conduct of municipal affairs above the management of schools.
Women, even many party members, failed to register. This was the fault of all of us. There should have been a committee appointed by the local to see that none overlooked their duty to the party. An effort should also be made to have the school election on a date that will not conflict with other elections—or, to be more accurate—on a date when other elections will not conflict with school election.

As one of our number has already pointed out, the American people apparently value an office for what it pays. This, in a measure, accounts for the difference to school elections, but socialists should have a higher standard than the winning of money or office. Let us begin at once to prepare for the next school election, and go into the fight determined to succeed. "We fall to rise again."

When the result of Monday's ballot was made known, the streets of Missoula became a waiting place for the enemy. Again and again was reiterated, "The city is going to the dogs, now the dogs are in." It is "going to the dogs" because:
"It may hurt business"—kind not specified.
"It will keep out factories and prevent the reduction of wages."
"With socialists in control, there will be the mischief to pay."
Above all, and crowning calamity, "the city is to be turned over to the ministers, and all the saloons will be closed."

These are only a few of the things which are to indicate that we are "going to the dogs," you can hear the rest any day that you have time to stand on the street corner and converse with the faithful, but the worst that can be done by the incoming officials is as nothing to the fate that awaits the saloons.
There is a few thoughts that might furnish some consolation to the calamity howlers, if they choose to consider them. We will mention some of them.
None of the Missoula clergymen are members of the socialist party, and but few of them have evidenced much sympathy for the movement. It would be the height of folly for the socialists to "turn over" anything to those who are not allied with them—at least in sympathy.

Clergymen have undertaken many reforms, and most of them have proved abortive. This was due to their being "reformers," and not revolutionists. The remedies were not drastic enough, and they hesitated to perform a surgical operation.
The saloon is called "the poor man's club," with some truth. Do away with it at once, and what is its substitute? Where can the poor man go for the sociability he craves? When those who believe that the saloon is wholly evil have a people's home, means for entertainment and amusement, we can talk of abolishing it. Clergymen are well versed in social affairs—at least some of them are—and are not likely to fight windmills.
If those who desire the abolition of the saloon would undertake it in the right way, there might be some hope of success. Men are in the saloon business for profit. Eliminate the profit, and half the work is done. The next or preliminary step—is to give a people's home, where every one will be welcome, and means provided for their education and entertainment; where the hungry can be fed—and lodged if need be. We can thrive morally with less churches, but a building like the one above is a vital necessity in every community. Until Missoula has such a house the saloons will remain.

GALLATIN DEFEATS MISSOULA
IN SEMI-FINAL DEBATE FOR STATE HONORS TEAM AT BOZEMAN WINS.
Bozeman, April 11.—Gallatin high tonight won unanimously over Missoula in the semi-finals of the state inter-district scholastic debate. The question was: "Whether the United States should grant the Philippines liberty by 1920 and guarantee them protection for 10 years afterward." Gallatin argued the negative.
The winning team is Llewellyn Luce, Lee Park and James Stotesbury. The judges were Professor Clark, Dillon; Professor Howard Harry, Boulder, and H. H. Swan, Helena.
The Missoula team was composed of Street, Murphy and Roberts, all debaters who have won victories and recently won in the district debate with Butte.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES
The statement is made that thousands wear glasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with their prescription files and get the following prescription filled at once: Go to the active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bath the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataracts, sore eyes, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eye-glasses are only like crutches, and every year they must be changed to fit the ever-increasingly weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong eyes, through the prescription here given.—Adv.

Important Corset Notice

Before you buy your corset from a canvasser or agent, who may claim that it is made "specially for you," come to our corset department. We will sell you a G. D. Justrite or Nadia, a better corset, and for less money than you can possibly get from an agent or mail order house. Every corset is sold to you with the guarantee that it will give satisfactory wear. You know just where to find us if it should go wrong.

G-D Justrite CORSETS

STYLE 555, THE UNCORSETED EFFECT—Front laced, Tricot model, extremely low top. The wearer of this dainty model is hardly conscious that she is wearing her corset. So supple is the boning and so sparingly placed, that it allows the knitted fabric to cling to the body, avoiding all suggestions of stiffness. No boning whatever from the front to the back of the garment, giving a free hip. The extension skirt is tailored to fit snug to the body; an elastic lacer below the regular lacing allows for any needed expansion; rustless walohn boning; tricot, mercerized. Price $6.50

STYLE 471, TOPLESS MODEL—Fashion's demand for a very low top, broad waist model with few and exceedingly supple bones and long skirt is fulfilled in this new corset. The straight line is effected with the broad waists and clinging skirt containing elastic inserts. The corset clings to the figure, thereby losing all stiffness of corseting; three pairs of supporters; made of batiste. Price $2.50

STYLE 515, VERY LOW BUST—Front laced, suitable for wear with evening gowns; the broad waist and snug hip line gives a very straight effect; both front and back supple boning so placed to avoid any pressure over hips. The extended skirt snugly encases the figure and the elastic lacer allows for sufficient expansion when wearer is seated; two pairs of heavy supporters. Price $2.25

STYLE 2660, LOW TOP MODEL—The trend of fashion has been towards low top corsets; even in this, so in the popular priced garments. This model has a low top and medium length skirt; not an extreme straight effect, but with pleasing lines; reinforced in front, giving added strength; two pairs of wide supporters. Price $1.25

STYLE 301, FOR MEDIUM FIGURE—For the woman who prefers an inexpensive garment this model is exceptionally good; medium high above the waist; plenty of room for deep, full breathing; the long skirt takes good care of the lower portion of the figure; this is a splendid model and with present fashion lines; two pairs of hose supporters. Price $1.50

STYLE 3205, FOR THE AVERAGE FIGURE—Not an extreme model, and most satisfactory for those who do not care for the ultra-fashion; the waist and hip line: slightly rippled in waist with extended skirt, distributing the flesh and giving an unbroken line appearance; the long back permits freedom in sitting, and does not allow any unsightly break in the boning; four sets heavy supporters. Price $3.00

STYLE 212—Medium tall figure and ideal model for one who does not want the ultra-fashion; the waist here has just a suggestion of being rippled, in medium length of skirt, extending over hips and back; fitted with two sets wide supporters. Price $2.00

STYLE 689, BATISTE FOR FULL FIGURE—It is generally admitted that the stout figure requires a corset giving support; this model is reinforced across the front, thereby adding to its effectiveness; strongly bound throughout; medium high bust and with sufficient fullness above the waist; the extended skirt prevents the flesh rolling from under the edge of the corset; four supporters. Price $2.00

Your Justrite May Be Laundered
It may be welcome news to some to know that Justrites may be laundered. There are two methods of cleaning. They may be sent to the dry cleaning establishments or they may be cleaned by washing as follows: Use Ivory soap and a medium stiff brush with luke warm water, for elastic inserts and also the supporters will be effected if water is too hot.
DO NOT remove the bones for all Justrites have rustless boning.
Lay the corset on a table or smooth surface and rub both sides with brush and suds. After cleaning rinse thoroughly and dry as quickly as possible. Just before the corset is entirely dry iron it just as you would any other garment.
Justrites are ironed with great care in the process of manufacture, and as a result they are smooth and without wrinkles.

HOW NEW MAYOR AND CONSTABLE SWAP GLOVES AND PATHETIC AND TRAGIC IS SCENE WITH BIG GUNS
LINCOLN WORKING OF HELENA AND G. A. BAILEY OF HAM-ILTON HAVE JOKE.
STORY FROM LOS ANGELES THAT IS MOST INCREDIBLE IN ITS CONDITIONS.
OPPONENTS OF ADMINISTRATION WILL MUSTER THEIR FORCES EARLY.

Hamilton, April 11.—(Special)—An interesting situation in connection with Mayor-elect Lincoln Working of Helena came to light here yesterday through a statement made by C. A. Bailey, a constable of this township. It seems that these two men have the distinction of wearing the same pair of gloves at the same time, or rather, half of the same pair. Mayor-elect Working is minus his left arm, while Constable Bailey gets along nicely without his right arm. The two men are good friends, with the result that Constable Bailey is in the habit of sending a glove to the mayor-elect every time he purchases a new pair. One pair of gloves answers every purpose for the two men, and as a result they are able to take a decided fall out of the high cost of living. Mr. Bailey has shared gloves with Mr. Working while he held the office of police judge in Helena, and there is every reason to believe that the courtesy will be continued with Mayor Working.
Stomach Trouble Cured.
Mrs. H. G. Cleveland, Arnold, Pa., writes: "For some time I suffered from stomach trouble. I would have sour stomach and feel bloated after eating. Nothing benefited me until I took Chamberlain's Tablets. After taking two bottles of them I was cured. For sale by all dealers.—Adv."

Los Angeles, April 11.—Fourteen-year-old Lillian Palmer denied the charge tonight of Philip Kilfoil, the putative father of her two-weeks-old child, that she had confessed to him the murder of his sister, Mary Kilfoil, who died under mysterious circumstances January 2 last. With childish naivete, the child-mother related the circumstances of the breakfast at the Kilfoil home at which she as well as Mary, the dead woman, partook of poisoned chocolate and was stunned when Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney, told her for the first time of the accusation made by Kilfoil of sending a glove to the mayor-elect every time he purchases a new pair. One pair of gloves answers every purpose for the two men, and as a result they are able to take a decided fall out of the high cost of living. Mr. Bailey has shared gloves with Mr. Working while he held the office of police judge in Helena, and there is every reason to believe that the courtesy will be continued with Mayor Working.
"Why, no," said the girl, surprised.
"But Philip Kilfoil says you did."
"Why—? I never heard of it."
After a while she added, "how could Philip say such a thing?"
Miss Palmer's baby, a little girl, lay in the next room. When asked if she wanted to keep it she replied that was a foolish question.
"Of course I want to keep my rosbud baby. It's mine."
When run down with kidney trouble, backache, rheumatism or bladder weakness, turn quickly for help to Foley's Kidney Pills. You cannot take them into your system without having good results. Chas. N. Fox, Nirmrod, N. Y., says: "Foley's Kidney Pills have done me more good than $150.00 worth of medicine." They give you good results. Missoula Drug Co.—Adv.

Washington, April 11.—The heaviest artillery opponents of repeal of Panama toll exemption for American ships can bring to bear will be trained against the administration's flat repeal policy before the senate committee on interoceanic canals next week. Every possible argument that can be raised is to be brought forward in the hope of prevailing on the committee to make an adverse report on the bill as it passed the house and falling in that to lay a foundation for continuing the fight in the senate itself.
In addition to the general resolution to defeat repeal there will be arguments by democratic senators who agree that exemption for American ships is in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and that the government should reserve its policy.
Whatever may be the report of the canals committee—and there is a possibility that several proposed measures may be reported without recommendation—administration and opposition leaders conceded the first fight will be over an effort to amend the Sims bill, which passed the house. Champions of the president's position insist that there will be no compromise. They adhere to their confident predictions that toll exemption for American coastwise ships will be repealed.

GOOD TURN.
"The worm will turn!" Those words so true. There's no one will deny. For oft we know it turns into A pretty butterfly.
