Darkness Ends Game.
Boston, April 21.—Boston and Philadelphia battled for 13 innings today without a decision, darkness ending the game with the score 1 to 1. Both Leonard and Shawkey pitched brilliantly.

Rallies Win.
New York, April 21.—Through spectacular ninth and tenth-inning rallies the New York Americans evened their series with Washington by winning the second game in the 19th inning, 3 to 2 today. Boehling, the visitors' young left-hander, pitched great ball until the ninth inning, when, with the use of pinch hitters and base runners, Chance's men tied the score. Both Washington's runs were the result of infield errors.

White Sox Hit Well.
Chicago, April 21.—The Chicago Americans played a killing game today and won the final contest of the series from St. Louis, 4 to 1. The visitors were saved by a shutout as a result of Schalk's error.

Naps Lose Seventh.
Detroit, April 21.—The hitting of Cobb and Crawford today was responsible for Cleveland's seventh consecutive defeat, Detroit winning, 7 to 4. John Williams, the Hawaiian pitcher, made his major league debut for Detroit, lasting only one inning, in which Cleveland obtained four runs.

Kick and Hits Do It.
Victoria, April 21.—Harrah and Lamb gave today's game to Tacoma. The former was hit hard in two innings and the latter belted with an error. The Tigers scored four runs in the ninth and won, 5 to 3.

Seattle Beaten Again.
Seattle, April 21.—Vancouver hit Bonner hard today and defeated Seattle, 7 to 5. The locals were helpless until the eighth inning, when they knocked Jones out of the box and came within one of tying the score.

Spokane Wins Another.
Spokane, April 21.—Spokane won again from Portland today by a score of 9 to 6.

Rome Observes Birthday.
Rome, April 21.—Rome kept a holiday today in celebration of the 2667th anniversary of the founding of the city. Although the year of the founding of the city by Romulus is officially recognized as 3961 of the Julian period, or 753 B. C., recent archaeological discoveries indicate that it should be moved back many centuries.

Baseball and the Law

The manner in which legal bickering have taken a prominent part in baseball developments of late is beginning to alarm the fans of every league. Since the first battle waged by the Feds in their great war against organized baseball, most every trade or deal has been the subject of wrangles and disputes in the courts. All of which has perhaps added a bit of zest to our favorite diversion but just the same if things continue in this direction the result will be unpleasant. If the law comes to take an active part in our ball games it will be a hard matter to play a game through without a great deal of annoyance to both fans and players.

Umpire within a short time will be required to pass the bar and be thoroughly informed on all legal points. A dispute arising in the third inning may develop technical angles that would send the fans home late for supper with the game unfinished. A ball player might be enjoined from taking more than two bases on a clout over the fence. He might be tried and sentenced for contributory negligence when he fails to bring a runner home from third. He would probably be haled into court on a charge of vagrancy if he stayed on second base all through the inning without moving along. The unpleasant possibilities are without number.

It is to be hoped that baseball and the law will never become mixed up in such a distressing manner. Baseball fans, as it is, have work enough informing themselves on the batting averages of every player in the league and if they were obliged to pore over Blackstone in addition, the attendance at big world series would fall off considerably.

Chip, wisely handled, McCoy should last quite a while, even though he hasn't all the qualities of a whirlwind in the ring. He'll now step into some very profitable little bouts and draw nice houses. And if they match him with Chip later on he'll be able to go after George with all the best chances and probably trounce him again. It's going to see where that k. o. wallop is going to make a nice fall for Al.

Sport Snapshots
The professional ball player is the large noise at present, and don't you forget it. And I would beseech him to take advantage of his present great good fortune. Mr. Seaton has lately been having a gay time with the officials and owners of the Feds and they've been spending lots of money on long distance phone calls and so on. All a player has to do is assume a petulant air and the officials crowd around him and give him nice fat rolls to play with and keep him quiet.

Rube Waddell, like Hener, has upon his demise left several towns disputing as to his birthplace, all claiming the honor for themselves in other respects perhaps there's no great resemblance between the two except that each was a mighty fine fellow.

Nap Lajoie isn't a bit cranky about his bats and how always more than willing to let the other players use them. However, it proves him unspeakably when a pitcher picks one up to use in batting practice. "They don't know what to do with a bat," says Larry, "one bat is as good as another to them and I wish they would lay off of mine."

Baseball styles change as do all others. Years ago when the game was young and tough there wasn't all this song and dance about signals and one thing or another. No, sir, in those days the big bunch was to whang away at the ball and get around the bases by fair means or foul so to speak. Old Jim Keenan, who is still extant, was one of the first pitchers to ever use a curve, and that was some thirty years ago. He was with the Teamster team of Canada at that time. He was playing semi-pro ball and working in a coal yard and he managed the art of curving by throwing lumps of coal into the river. Not so long after he became one of the star twirlers of the Pittsburgh team and showed other pitchers of the team his trick. They didn't steal bases then, either, says Jim. When a man got on base he stayed there till another player advanced him with a clean wallop. And the batter had a pretty good chance to hit safely because he could call for his kind of a ball he wanted. If he asked for a high one and the pitcher by mistake threw a low one it wasn't called a strike if he didn't want to hit it. A foul at that time if caught on the bounce was an out.

It is rumored that if a Federal team was the world's series next fall, Charlie Weegham will banquet all Fed fans at his restaurants. And the Ward brothers will give a year's supply of bread to all Fed widows and orphans. As it has already been proved that the Feds will cop the world's title by default we see where everyone is in for a free food supply.

Call it a lucky stab or what not, Mr. Al McCoy, the Cuban pug is going to get a neat little piece of change out of his k. o. victory over George

Spokane, April 21.—L. M. Cox, a well known fruit grower of Zillah, Wash., has suggested to Manager Gordon C. Corbaley of the seventh national apple show the holding of a "One hundred tree contest" among apple growers of the Pacific northwest this year. The board of trustees are considering the suggestion favorably.

The plan proposed is to have each contestant assume personal supervision of 100 specified trees in his orchard, keeping a record of the date of each operation, equipment used and kind and amount of material used. Photographs would be taken after pruning, one when the trees are in full blossom, one after thinning and the last just before picking. It is proposed to base net returns on the market price at the time of the seventh national apple show, November 16 to 21.

Mr. Cox would have each contestant exhibit at the show ten boxes of extra fancy apples from his 100 trees, in addition to five boxes of fancy, four boxes of "C" grade and one box of culls, all packed for commercial purposes.

He proposes to have the following considerations used as a basis of award: Total yield, percentage of extra fancy, fancy and "C" grade, records, accounts, photographs and net profit.

As prizes he would give 10 per cent of net profit for first, a rolloff desk for second and a set of blank records for keeping farm accounts for third.

Valuable publicity for the apple is to be given by the United States department of agriculture, according to word just received by the Spokane Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Gordon C. Corbaley of the chamber, in response to a suggestion made to the department of agriculture stating that the department is accumulating material for use in bulletins dealing with the utilization of the more important fruits, including the apple. Mr. Galloway indicates that a broad investigation of the field is to be made in order to disseminate information of an accurate and dependable nature.

League Ball in Missoula

Union Association Teams Likely to Stage Series in Garden City.

Missoula fans may expect to see two of the Union association clubs in a week's series here some time during August, according to E. C. Mulrooney, former president of the league and one of the best baseball boosters in the city.

Mr. Mulrooney met President Murphy of the Union league in Butte a day or two ago and suggested to him that he transfer a series from Butte or Helena to Missoula. Mr. Murphy welcomed the suggestion and promised to do his best to arrange the transfer. Some series in which the Murray club, Blankenship's new charge, is engaged will be most welcome to the Missoula fans, of course.

Murray doesn't play in the north during August and may be hard to secure, but if Blank can't be brought here some other club will be. Missoula seems pretty sure of one week of real baseball, anyhow.

ATHLETES OF VICTOR AND CORVALLIS HIGH SCHOOLS HOLD GAMES.
Hamilton, April 21.—(Special.)—The dual meet between the Victor and Corvallis high school track teams held last Saturday at Victor, proved an interesting contest. While the Victor team won the meet by a score of 79 to 47, the Corvallis athletes made a good showing in most of the events. Especially was this true of the relay race, which proved to be the fastest and prettiest race ever run over the Victor course. In this race the Victor team was pushed to the limit, being forced to cover the course in one minute and 50 seconds to win. The Victor team captured the sprint, the mile run, the pole vault, hammer throw, shot put and high and broad jumps. Corvallis, winning firsts in the half-mile run, the high and low hurdles and the discus throw. Forvallis proved a good man in the hurdle races, winning both the high and low hurdles. A strong, cold wind stiffened the athletes to a certain extent.

The medals for the county interscholastic meet have been received in Victor, according to a report from William McWhinney, superintendent of the Victor schools. There are 65 medals, four cups and four banners, making the nicest array of prizes to be hung up at any interscholastic meet held in the county. As soon as the Spaulding cup arrives at the trophies will be exhibited in Hamilton, Stevensville and Victor.

WASHINGTON STATE WILL HAVE GOOD TRACK TEAM

PULLMAN COLLEGE WILL SEND FORMIDABLE ARRAY OF TALENT TO MISSOULA.

Fullman, Wash., April 21.—With the Montana meet less than a week away the track team has rounded into such condition that Coach Bohler feels fairly confident of two victories in the Treasure state. He is to take a squad of 15 men to Missoula next Saturday, and on the Monday following will go to Bozeman for a meet with the Hozenman Agler. Only one difficulty has been bothering the squad. The Montana team still use the hammer throw, discontinued by the northwestern conference. The javelin throw, which conference teams use in place of the hammer throw, has but recently been adopted by Montana colleges. In order to make the meet fair for both teams, both events will be included in the program. Bohler has had Luden and Kramm, two of his weight men, working with the hammer since the Montana meets were arranged, and as both are throwing it more than 150 feet, Washington will not be absolutely helpless.

NEW MEN ARE PROMISING
A wealth of new material is out for the squad, and some of the new men are giving the veterans a race for honors. The whole squad is in good shape and will be a strong contender for conference honors this spring.

Captain Cooke is showing up well in the sprints and is picked to beat the record this year. Two new men, Ross of Wenatchee and Bensch of Ellensburg, are doing good work in the sprints, and are giving Cooke some good races. Dietz, last year's star quarter-mile, is in fine shape and has a good partner in Dickson of Tacoma. Schultz is just out of the hospital, where he was confined with an attack of the mumps, Perkins of DeWana and Horn are going nicely. Schlafer of Rosalia, last year's state interscholastic champion, and Hathaway of Vancouver, will make a strong run for the honors in the mile.

Veteran Milers Back.
Hanson, both veterans. The hardy look strong. McCroskey is taking the short sticks in great shape, and should be a strong contender in the conference. Tyrer is out and showing up well. The new material, Crane and May of Tacoma and Ueberwurst of Harrington, are giving the old men all they can handle. Crane, scholastic record holder in the high jump, is getting up in form and is picked to smash the collegiate record this year. Monroe is back in school and showing up in his old-time form. The weights are well taken care of with Dietz in the javelin and Love in the discus and shot. The new men in the weights are Luden of Rosalia and Pearne of Harrington, both interscholastic record holders.
