Caught on the Run About Town

We care not for bloodshed and nothing to us are wars; we how at the shrill of horns and turn our backs on Mars, stronger than burning powder is the onion's intense sweet; a radish beats a cartridge, because it's good to eat; we don't believe a navy is what this country needs; we're satisfied—for Myers has sent us garden seeds; onions and radish and cabbage, indeed it's a glorious show; come and see our garden when those seeds begin to grow; we are much obliged to Henry for the seeds which he has sent; Hank sent seeds of kindness, not seeds of discontent; impartial will be sowing, he sent to one and all; socialists and republicans will have cabbage in the fall; progressives, too, and democrats got seeds sent out on frank; it is good to be remembered by so great a man as Hank; we'll plant these seeds and watch them—no watering-can will tend to each seed is expected to yield at least one vote.

There was a quickened interest in the war news yesterday. Bloodshed always stirs at least the curiosity. But there was, again yesterday, a lack of enthusiasm over the conflict. It was tremendously different from the sentiment which prevailed here in 1898, just before the call for troops for Cuba. There was real enthusiasm then and there was a company organizing on every corner. But there isn't any stir in Missoula over the latest engagement. There is a disposition everywhere to uphold the president now that he is in this mess, but everybody seems to wish he had kept out of it and also to believe that it might have been avoided. The crisis makes business good for the telephone people; the inquiries at the Missoula office increased amazingly yesterday. The night before, baseball and the war had about an even break, but yesterday and last night, the inquiries were all for war news. Not even the Paxson Boy Scouts reported yesterday, to ask about the war. And it isn't much of a war that doesn't bring these defenders out.

But there were other and pleasanter symptoms yesterday. Tulips, which have been blossoming after a fashion for several days, got right down to business yesterday and blossomed in earnest. There are some mighty fine beds of tulips already in bloom and there is at least half a day of bright sunshine. Then, last night, just before sunrise, there was a glorious double rainbow which spanned Hill Gate canyon's entrance in brilliant fashion. It was as bright as rainbow could be and its setting was perfect. Moreover, there had been no rain and this made the display all the more delightful, for it was all unexpected. Just what its promise is, the weather man did not interpret last night. But it was a fine rainbow and if it meant peace, it was a rainbow that will go down into history.

The West-Main-street fella, of whom we are some are beginning to get chummy. We have been feeling rather proud and haughty ever since Koopmann & Wisbrod got an auto-delivery truck, but now that the concrete men are getting the street shaped up with curbs and gutters, ready for the pavement, we are feeling even prouder and haughtier than we were before. The work is getting along well, the rate of progress promises to put us in the list of paved streets before very long. There was no street in town which needed the pavement more than ours did and we have been patient in the mud and dust. But, though the pavement doesn't extend as far east and west as we wish it did, we hope it will grow. The start is a dandy and our other blocks to the westward will be sorry and then envious. The formal opening of the paved Main street will be a hammer. There will be a parade of some sort and there will probably be a night carnival. But we're feeling so comfortable in the prospect that we forget about the war every few minutes. —A. L. S.

GIB RHODES DEAD IN SOUTHERN CLIME

MISSOULA OLD-TIMER PASSES AWAY IN LOS ANGELES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

"Gib" Rhodes is dead. This news came to The Missoulian yesterday in a letter from Mike Cosgrove in Los Angeles. Mike writes: "Our old friend died April 4. He came here several months ago from Seattle, where his health had been poor, in the hope that the change would benefit him. At first he seemed to be better, but he failed rapidly, later. As long as he was able to get around he used to come down to my store and spend most of the day. He liked to talk about you and the other Missoula friends, and we spent a good many hours going over the old times there. "Gib" Rhodes was for a long time a resident of Missoula. He came to western Montana in the days of the Cedar creek placer stampede, and was well known in Forest City, when that mining camp was in the zenith of its wealth and glory. He came to Missoula with the passing of the placer boom and conducted a pawn business here until he left for the coast, ten years ago, in quest of health. It was a sign pointer of unusual ability; old-timers remember his quaint decorative work in the Cedar creek days. He was a good citizen and had a host of friends here. Mrs. Rhodes, a daughter and two sons survive him. The children were all born in Missoula. "In a postscript to his letter, Mike Cosgrove adds a word about himself. He has been running a cigar store in Los Angeles for two years, and says he is doing well. He was one of "Gib's" close friends, and it must have made the last days pleasanter for "Gib" to be where he could talk with his old cronies.

HIGH SCHOOL WORK DISPLAYED TONIGHT

County Institution Will Welcome Visitors to Special Session Tonight—Work of Whole School Will Be Open to Inspection of Entire County.

Every man in Missoula county who is at liberty to do so should attend at the county high school this evening the exhibit session planned by Principal G. A. Ketcham for the benefit of those whose business will not permit of visits during the regular school hours. The whole working arrangement of the county school will be on exhibition this evening and all who are interested in the development of a good educational system should attend that they may see whether or not Mr. Ketcham and his staff of teachers are doing all that the county expects of them.

During the last year the Missoula county high school has attempted educational experiments new to the state. Missoula is far ahead of the rest of the state in the curriculum it covers and in the methods it uses. Whether or not this advanced work is being done as it should is a question which the exhibition this evening will answer. The exhibition will be wholly informal, consisting only of a session regularly held in the morning transferred to the hours usually devoted to study. All of the Friday morning classes will be held, the only difference between this and any ordinary morning session being that these classes will assemble only in the afternoon will assemble out of schedule time in order that visitors may see all of the school's activities.

The high school people have gone to a lot of trouble in order to arrange this exhibition. They deserve a whole-hearted response from the citizens of Missoula. If the high school's work is not what it should be now is the time to find it out. If it is, as has been claimed by observers, far ahead of all other such institutions in the state, the people should know it and should give the department the recognition which is their due.

The following program of the evening's activities has been arranged for the convenience of visitors. Copies of it will be distributed to all who attend the session. It explains the purpose of the exhibition and details the things which the visitors will see. The program:

General Purpose. 1. The idea behind this session is four-fold: First, to hold a session at a time when those who are occupied during the day may attend; second, to show the work which the school has done in departments where such work accumulates in visible form; third, to furnish opportunity for observation of these departments whose subject matter does not result in accumulations of exhibitible material; fourth, to give all visitors an opportunity to see the high school organization in actual operation. 2. This session tonight will follow the regular forenoon program. It is intended to make the session truly representative of an average forenoon session. There will be no attempt at spectacular effects. We shall be satisfied if the public knows the school as it really is. 3. If you approve of what you see and hear we shall be glad to have you tell your friends. The school cannot do for the boys and girls of the community what it should do without general public approval. You can help. If you do not like some of the things you see, tell us. Perhaps your judgment is not based on full information; perhaps your suggestion will be of real assistance in some of the innumerable problems that a high school presents. 4. The periods are shortened to 35 minutes each for this session. Allowance must be made for this fact. Students and teachers alike will be made nervous by your presence. We are unfortunately extremely unaccustomed to visitors. Kindly remember, also, that the school has already done a full day's work today. Not all of the school will be in attendance, pupils living at long distances having been excused. The total enrollment is now 115. The total enrollment last year was 96. Interruptions between classes will be five minutes instead of two, as usual.

Quality shows in service! The Majestic is bought by those who see the economy of paying a little more at the start and a whole lot less in the end. That little extra you pay for a Majestic is an investment in quality that will pay dividends in service long after the ordinary range is worn out. The Majestic is made of malleable and charcoal iron, a combination that resists wear and rust three times as long as any other range metal. The Majestic saves fuel because it is cold-riveted, making over-air-tight without putty. This eliminates open joints and requires less fuel to maintain uniform heat. The Majestic is made in many styles and sizes, but only one quality—the best. You will do yourself an injustice if you don't examine the Majestic before you buy any range. Come to our store and see the Majestic. Compare it with any other range at any price. We know you will never be satisfied to buy an ordinary range after you know the quality and the advantages of a Majestic.
