

ADVANCE IS HALTED AND MARKET DRIFTS

WEAKNESS OF A FEW STOCKS GIVES HEAVY TONE TO THE CLOSING HOURS.

New York, April 29.—The advance in stocks was halted today. The market drifted idly through the session losing quickly a slight early advantage and toward the close the tone became heavy.

The late decline in the market was influenced by the weakness of a few stocks such as Canadian Pacific and the Gould issues.

COMBINE IN LUMBER IS ALLEGED IN DETAIL

COMMISSIONER OF CORPORATIONS MAKES A REPORT TO THAT EFFECT.

Washington, April 29.—Lumber manufacturers' associations through combination and agreement have increased the price of lumber and endeavored through lobbying to influence legislation, according to a partial report on the lumber industry made public today by the commissioner of corporations.

The report opposes any effort to exempt lumber associations from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law. This partial report is part four of the findings in a complete investigation of the lumber industry and deals only with combinations to restrict trade or raise lumber prices.

"While some of the avowed purposes of the lumber associations are to foster practices that are beneficial to both producer and consumer, the chief purpose apparently has been to advance prices."

"Wholesale prices of lumber have been raised by associated activities of lumbermen."

"In the earlier years many of the associations openly attempted to curtail the output and to fix the wholesale price. Later, because of fear of the law, they disavowed such purpose, but the prices they professed to abandon were by subterfuges continued through the same groups of men."

"The National Lumbermen's association has been active in its effort to shape legislation. In 1909 it maintained an aggressive lobby in Washington to defeat a reduction of the tariff on lumber."

"Lumber prices, according to the report, had advanced from 80 to 200 per cent between 1897 and 1907."

"During this period and since," said the investigators, "the lumbermen through their associations and otherwise, were industriously striving in concert to maintain or raise prices."

"Prior to 1906, the report continued, lumbermen by open agreement maintained prices. Since then a variety of new methods have been adopted to carry on in essentials the practices ostensibly abandoned by the associations."

"The evidence clearly shows combinations intended to increase the market price of lumber and there is abundant evidence to warrant the conclusion that, as a result of such attempts, prices have been higher than they otherwise would have been."

"Manufacturers in many industries, the investigators found, have organizations similar to the lumber associations. The report said:

"It may be proper and desirable for producers in any line of business to establish standard grades, to collect and publish information and to collect in various proper ways for the common advantage, but it should be pointed out that the standardization of grades is the first step toward price fixing, that the collection of information as to output facilitates the curtailment of production, and that cooperation for harmful purposes affords a convenient basis for combination in restraint of trade."

FISHING LICENSES READY EARLY THIS YEAR

NEW PERMITS RECEIVED AND BAR FOREIGNERS FROM GETTING CHEAP FISHING.

Simultaneous with the plans for the first fishing excursions of the season the new fish and game licenses have been received from the same warden's office and can be found at the usual places in the city, and may be obtained either Deputy Game Warden Kennedy or Evans.

Last year the new licenses were delayed several weeks after the old ones had expired, May 1. This was caused by the time required to get into print the changes made in the game laws by the legislature. This year there will be no delay.

Important Change.

There is one important change in the provision of the game license this year. Last season all citizens or those who have declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States could purchase a license for one dollar.

This year only full-fledged citizens get a license at this price. Aliens are charged $30 for a license covering a season of both hunting and fishing or $5 for fishing privileges. Last season a good many declared their intention to become citizens, got a cheap license and then forgot all about going ahead with their citizenship trip.

The game wardens say that every indication suggests a splendid fishing season for western Montana and they look for an exceptional demand for licenses very early this year.

BOURQUIN DECIDES RECLAMATION QUESTION

OPINION GIVES GOVERNMENT RIGHT OF WAY WITHOUT ADVANCE PAYMENT.

Butte, April 29.—Judge George M. Bourquin rendered a decision this morning in the action brought by the United States against M. A. Hardy, a condemnation suit for a right-of-way for the canal on the lower Yellowstone project, ruling in favor of the government.

The court holds that the United States can take possession of the land needed without prepayment of compensation and damages before the final termination of the action. The decision is of great importance, as it permits those in charge of the irrigation project to go ahead unhindered and save the time necessary to get the money from Washington to pay for the land needed.

In his decision Judge Bourquin said: "Although the state statute prescribes payment of damages into court before the court can award possession to the condemnor, it is usually held that like statutes have no application to the state, if it has provided a method by which compensation is reasonably safe and sure."

All efforts to locate the hulk of the steamer have proved fruitless.

LAWYER ADDRESSES GATHERING OF STUDENTS

PROFESSOR LANGMAID SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION AT UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA.

Professor Stephen E. Langmaid, instructor in law at the university, addressed the students at the regular convocation yesterday morning. Professor Langmaid explained the law years to the other students in an interesting talk, giving as the reason for his talk the need for some explanation after the law school's self-laudatory edition of the Weekly Kaimin, recently published.

The work, the aims, the trials of the lawyer were explained by the speaker, the address concluding with the reading from Cotton Mather, selected for the benefit of the seniors in the law school. The selection was from what Professor Langmaid described as the first address to American lawyers, and follows:

"Gentlemen, your opportunities to do good are such, and so liberal and gentlemanly is your education, that proposals of what you may do cannot but promise themselves an obliging reception with you."

"A lawyer should be a scholar, but, sirs, when you are called upon to be wise the main intention is that you may be wise to be good. A lawyer that is a knave deserves death, more than a band of robbers; for he practices the misery of the distressed and betrays the liberties of the people. To ward off such a curse, a lawyer must shun all those indirect ways of making haste to be rich, in which a man cannot be innocent; such ways as provoked the father of Sir Matthew Hale to give over the practice of law, because of the extreme difficulty to preserve a good conscience in it."

"Sirs, be prevailed withal to keep constantly a court of conscience in your own breast. This plea must operate very particularly in the pleading of causes. You will alibi, sirs, appear in a dirty cause. If you discern that your client has an unjust cause, you will faithfully advise him of it. You will be sincerely desirous that truth and justice may take place. You will speak nothing which shall be to the prejudice of either. You will abominate the use of all unfair arts to confound evidence, to browbeat testimonies, to suppress what may give light in the case."

"There has been an old complaint that a good lawyer is seldom a good neighbor. You know how to confute it, gentlemen, by making your skill in the law a blessing to your neighborhood. You may, gentlemen, if you please, be a vast accession to the felicity of your country. Perhaps you may discover many things yet wanting in the law; mischiefs in the execution and application of the laws, which ought to be better provided against; mischiefs annoying of mankind, against which no laws are at present provided. The reformation of the law and more law for the reformation of the world is what is mightily called for."

NEW SHINGLE MILL NOW BUILDING AT HAUGAN

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN THE STATE WILL BEGIN BUSINESS IN TWO WEEKS.

S. L. Boyd, manager for the Mann Lumber company at Henderson, spent the day on business in Missoula. Mr. Boyd brought news of a big new enterprise now under way at Haugan. "The only shingle mill in Montana will be in operation within ten days," said Mr. Boyd yesterday to a Missoulian reporter. "J. J. Brotherton, formerly with the Stone Shingle company at St. Maries, Idaho, is at the head of the new works to do business as the J. J. Brotherton Shingle company. The mill is located one mile east of Haugan on the Mann Lumber company logging railway, which connects with the Milwaukee road. Mr. Brotherton has contracted with the Mann Lumber company for 20,000,000 feet of cedar timber. He has 30 men in his crew, and expects to have the mill running within the next ten days."

STEPS TO MEDIATE.

Washington, April 29.—President Wilson today asked the president of the Kentucky Mine Operators' association and the president of the Alabama Mine Operators' association to come to Washington immediately, for a conference with a view to mediate the Colorado strike.

The Italian ambassador has asked for protection for Italians in the strike riots in Colorado. The alleged murder of six children was the immediate cause of the request.

Denver, April 29.—Governor Ammons has declared the militia will be withdrawn as soon as the federal troops arrive in the strike districts. Quotient prevailed in the strike zones today except at Fortes.
